KHS Students To Celebrate Thanksgiving Day With Traditions of Eating Turkey, Beating County

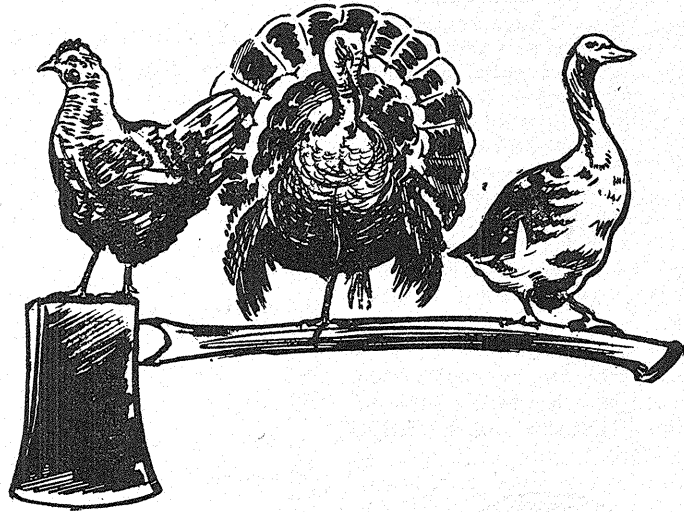

By Rose d'Armond

There's snow on the meadow
And spice in the air.
To table, my comrades!
Feast royally there.

Little did our flat-footed friends, the Pilgrims, dream as they sat down to a loaded feast table that someday their day of Thanksgiving would be celebrated by a cruel, howling mob that stamped its foot and yelled, "Beat Central!"

Little, of far too little, did our buckled, hose-legged friends comprehend the change in minds and manners of men. Berift of the necessity of killing animals for the Turkey-day dinner, the maudlins of today vent their blood-lust on a poor creature called Central. Year after year, with wrath and gleefulness overflowing, the youthful KHS'ers pull him out into an arena, where they torture him and usually bring him to submission by means of ugly words, soft drink bottles accurately aimed, war chants, and javelins decorated with blue and white streamers to attract his attention.

Central, who is generally conceded to come from the country, has been dragged into the arena and is confronted by a row of blue and white gladiators of ferocious men. What this horrible creature has done to deserve such terrible, unending punishment and consuming hatred is surely incomprehensible, but needless to say, the very mention of his name arouses antipathy at KHS. "Beat Central,"

"Knockimdown" and other such epithets are hurled by the raging crowd.

How Bobcats Are Clawed

Thereupon gladiators with such titles as Slack, Dance, Cooper, Black, and Gordon, pounce on the unfortunate victim and shake him until his teeth rattle. If he survives this, he is immediately dragged across the dust, sat upon, throttled, and aimed at in every conceivable manner. Surely there will be a show of sympathy from the stands.

One filance reveals them screaming and yelling, and jumping up and down on their seats and their neighbors' hats and ten-cent cigars.

"Gettim, gettim, gettim!" they screech with steel in their hearts. "Eeeeeeh—Cooper! Roll 'im over, go at 'im Slack! 'Bounce 'im Black there he goes hesgoinforuhtouch-downyiii!" At this point their sanity deserts them and they concentrate in wearing off Thanksgiving dinner fat with grotesque calisthenics. Moral: Beat Central!

Student Council Officers Convene at St. Petersburg

Bill Minnich, Peggy Rumbley, and Lonette Wyrick, SC president, co-president, and secretary, represented KHS at the annual Southern Association of Student Government held in St. Petersburg, Florida, November 7 through 9. They were chaperoned by Miss Gladys Million, KHS math instructor.

For the main part of the business program were three discussion groups of one hour each on the theme, "Student Participation in School Affairs." These groups were the nuclei of the convention, and were carried on for the purpose of improving student government. They included such topics as, "How can the noon recess recreational program be made more effective?" "Is the honor system practical for high schools?" and "What do students expect of their leaders?"

Election of officers for next year's convention was held on the last day. Corpus Christi High School, Texas, will serve as host next year.

General assemblies were held in the auditorium of the school. "Their balcony is nearly as big as our whole auditorium," said Bill, "and clean—why, I could wear a white shirt all the time and never get it dirty." Incidentally the school colors are blue and white.

Bryan, Hood Made Council Presidents

Melvin Bryan, SC president; and Betty Jean Hood, SC co-president, will head the Council for the spring term, to succeed co-presidents Bill Minnich and Peggy Rumbley of the fall term.

Melvin was chosen by an election held in the groups on Thursday and Friday, and was given a close race by his opponent, Bill Minnich.

Secretary and treasurer for the spring term will be elected from the seniors by the new council. Students eligible for treasurer are: Robert Aug, fall term treasurer; and Bill Minnich. Candidates for the position of secretary are Lonette Wyrick, fall term secretary; and Juanita Hicks.

Election of 10B Council members was held in the groups on Monday and Tuesday. 11B's will be elected during the first of next week.

Candidates for president made their campaign speeches in chapel both Wednesday and Thursday. Co-president Betty Jean Hood was the only member qualified for the co-presidency position.

B-W Editors Attend WBIR News Clinic

By Martha Brady

WBIR sponsored a news clinic for selected staff members of eleven junior and senior high school papers Saturday, November 16, at the YWCA.

Pan Dodd, of the WBIR news room, introduced the speakers and led the panel discussion on high school newspaper problems.

Speakers included Steve Humphrey, U-T professor of Journalism; Duke Merritt, feature writer of the Knoxville Journal; John P. Hart, WBIR manager; and Mr. Civic Pride, Knoxville citizenship promoter.

"Give a darn" was the motto given to the clinic by Miss Dodd. Miss Dodd was editor of her high school newspaper in Nashville in her senior year and has been connected with newspaper and radio work since.

Cokes and potato chips were served during the intermission between the speeches and the group discussion. Delegates from the various schools sat around in a circle group during the discussion period.

Representatives from Oak Ridge High, Catholic High, Central High, Park Jr. High, Tyson Jr. High, and six other schools attended the clinic.

Staff delegates from the Blue and White were George Kirby, Martha Brady, Haywood Harris, Sharon Waddell, and Katharine Ann Everett.

Dr. George Crane, Speaker in Chapel, Cites Typical Problems of Teen-agers

By George Kirby

"Do you have indigestion?"

This is the way many speechless high school boys try to make conversation while on dates, illustrated Dr. George W. Crane, noted psychologist, who addressed a special chapel Friday, November 15, while in town to speak to the Women's Institute, under the auspices of the Knoxville News-Sentinel.

Dr. Crane, whose widely-read column appears daily in the News-Sentinel, spoke to the group on the various problems of teen-agers, and stressed the importance of developing "extrovertive" traits, or those which tend toward making friends and liking people in general.

Among the most important of these traits he classed being able to carry on a conversation. He said that a common failing of many high school people, particularly boys, was the lack of this ability, and that the surest way to develop it was to join his "Compliment Club", in which the member makes a point to give a compliment to everyone with whom he deals.

To Start a Conversation

"It's just like starting a car," he said, in illustrating how to begin a conversation. "The boy puts it in low by saying, 'My, but you're looking pretty tonight!' Then the girl should ram it into second by saying: 'Thank you, and that's a pretty tie you have on.' After the boy shoves it into low with 'Thank you, how did you like the show last night?', the conversation has gotten off to a good start.

Dr. Crane, a handsome, convincing man of around 40, has been noted for his sound, logical judgment on all problems with which he deals in his column—not only

The Significance of Thanksgiving

To the majority of us high school students, needless to say, the celebration of Thanksgiving means little more than a lot of turkey and a big football game. All of this is right in its place, but yet there is a deeper significance to this feast on the calendar that should dominate our thoughts as we go into this day set aside for the giving of thanks to the Lord for all the blessings of the earth.

We are all quite familiar with the story of how Thanksgiving began. The Pilgrims, grateful for the many blessings received in the new world and for the bountiful harvest just reaped, wished to show their thanks by observing a feast for all their blessings. And thus the tradition was handed down to us. And with it have other traditions, of a more secular nature, which are fine and right to have, but which should not eclipse the true meaning of the occasion.

As high school students, our form of thanks should not come just in the form of gratitude for the the fruits of the earth, but also for the many personal blessings which have come unto us. There is not one in our midst who, in some form, has not been highly blessed; the great majority of us have the blessings of comfortable homes, security, understanding parents, wise teachers, a good school, and many countless advantages, which fortunately are common to most of us, but sad to say often go unappreciated.

Have we ever stopped to think: How have I personally been blessed? I am sure that if we were to name all our blessings, the list would be infinite. Every good thing that happens to us, even many bad things, comes to us as a blessing; yet we seldom realize it, and even less often appreciate it. On the other hand, if all our blessings were taken away from us, we should surely appreciate them then.

The way to show our gratitude for our blessings is not only to thank God for them, but to increase them by developing our talents, bettering our homes, churches, and schools, and using every opportunity to its best advantage. —G. K.

BE GOOD SPORTS AT COUNTY GAME

Tomorrow is the big game of the year for the Trojans and for Trojan rooters. KHS takes on Central once more, and as the game stands for the built-up rivalry between the schools, so let tomorrow's game be a symbol of good sportsmanship. If the Trojans win, then be glad; but if they should be defeated, be able to take it with a smile and look forward to next year. Remember that no amount of bad sportsmanship can change the score.

Of course there will be a large crowd at the game, and it will present many chances to exhibit bad sportsmanship. But let's overlook these and watch the game for the sake of the game. Also, everybody be present, and root the team home to victory. —H. H.

A Collect for Thanksgiving

MOST MERCIFUL FATHER, who hast blessed the labours of the husbandman in the return of the fruits of the earth; We give thee humble and hearty thanks for this thy bounty; beseeching thee to continue thy loving-kindness to us, and that our land may still yield her increase, to thy glory and our comfort; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

—From the Book of Common Prayer

The senior mixer, held in the KHS gym last Saturday seemed to be a big mix-up, but everybody had a swell time.

Fleming

The atmosphere was very corny which was quite all right because the gym was decorated with corn and Fall colors.

Several numbers at the mixer were dedicated to such renowned people as "Lard" Baker, "Snooky" Rowntree, "Squeeze" Davis, and "Cutie" Friend.

Coal strike or no coal strike, there will be a hot time on the old gridiron Thursday when KHS meets CHS.

This Thanksgiving Knoxville High will eat, instead of turkey, Bobcat fried on the gridiron.

Teachers like to give us all drop quizzes, but Oliver Jones says quizzes ought to be dropped.

Fun night did not go flat, so the Thespian Club now has money to buy the stage flats.

Junior Urges KHS Hold More Mixers

To Editor of Blue and White:

In my opinion, the Senior Mixer held last Saturday night in the gym was a wonderful success. The officers of the senior class should sponsor more of this type of entertainment for KHS students. The junior class could also sponsor entertainment if the officers are ever elected.

The decorations were very effective, especially when a piece of "corn came flying across the room and down a boy's back."

It was as much fun, if not more, as a formal dance with flowers. I think more people would turn out if they knew how much fun this one was.

I hope the sponsors of the Senior Mixer plan more affairs for this year. Maryann Friend, 11B

Who's Who—

D Company Duke and Duchess

JOHN TRENT

The big grin you see marching beside Norma in Company D is Johnny (I Sleep in Mr. Turley's First Period Geometry Class) Trent.

Some of Johnny's weaknesses include women, shrimp, hiking, women, head lettuce, and women. His favorite color combination is red and white, and "There's No One But You" and "Sweet Dreams, Sweetheart" grab top places on his Hit Parade.

Although Company D captaincy takes time, John finds time to be on the track team, and to be vice-president of the Hiking Club. His two ambitions are to be an aeronautical engineer in the Navy, and to have a mind like Mr. Jobe.

"D Company is a good bunch of boys, but I wish they would clean their rifles better," says John. "Norma is the best sponsor I ever had. If you don't believe me ask Hughie!"

By Margie Shoemaker

NORMA DAVIS

All for Company D, that's honorary captain Norma Davis, a 105 pound package of petiteness and charm—she's a blonde, too.

Norma

This popular lass likes to play the piano and listen to Vaughn Monroe's music, especially "It Had To Be You". Cherry pie and the color blue are two of Norma's favorites.

Football and basketball games rate highest on her entertainment list, and for some reason she likes Wednesday afternoons.

She was thrilled when she was elected sponsor by the wonderful "D" boys, but was even more thrilled when they won the first monthly inspection. Of Johnny she says, "He's the best captain in the who battalion and a swell person to work with."

FASHION FLASHES—

Gals Dress Up For Big Battle

By Katharine Ann Everett

Honestly, this isn't clairvoyancy, this is just a lot of answers to a lot of questions. For instance, Norma Davis sweetly states that she has about decided to wear a suit to the County game—one with a white skirt, blue jacket, and many metal contraptions. In fact it's exactly like seven other girls' suits that will be seen.

On the other hand, Carolyn Pierce prefers to wear something a little unusual. She has chosen a pale green suit of light wool. The jacket is cut like a vest—waist length in back, with two points in front formed by the double-breasted closing. Sleeves are large and full, gathered into a tight cuff.

Joanna Myers says she will probably be seen in a red plaid jerken suit. The skirt is precious—one of those wrap-around affairs with fringed edges held closed by a massive safety pin. A white blouse with big flowing sleeves, tight at the wrist, will complement the outfit.

When Priscilla Leach answered my question, she said she would wear a skirt and sweater. The rest of the answer is hardly printable.

As for Barbara Blankenship she has chosen to wear a green pleated skirt and a pale pink cardigan sweater. And who would ever guess why? Because Thanksgiving is the second anniversary of her and Red's going together, and because on their first date she wore a green pleated skirt and a pale pink cardigan sweater!

thur Murray was found within our midst—none other than Gerald (Twinkle-Toes) Kelly, who tripped the light fantastic with Edna Gilenwater. Throngs of admiring spectators gathered around the couple to watch Gerald's talented toes maneuver gracefully over the floor.

Bill Pollock, with his loud speaker, was the master of ceremonies. The no-breaks were dedicated to the senior class officers, with the other dances being dedicated to various people and organizations.

Among the honorees were "Lard" Bacon, "Snookie" Rowntree, and the three gardenias; and of course, "Twinkle-Toes" Kelly.

"We really had a swell dance," says Jack Morgan, president of senior class, "and I think everybody had a grand time." BEAT COUNTY!

A Company on Top Inspection Shows

By Fleming Reeder

A company came up from third place to win the second monthly inspection with 89.94 points, while D company was third with 88.27 points, and B company was fourth with 86.88 points.

The following message was sent to Col. Burns as a result of the battalion's participation in the Armistice Day Parade:

"On behalf of Knoxville Post No. 2 of the American Legion, I want to express our appreciation of the participation of the Knoxville High School ROTC unit in the Armistice Day Parade.

"I am sure you are justifiably proud of the fine performance of your organization. Thank you very much for your participation which contributed greatly to the success of the parade." (Signed) American Legion Headquarters.

Congratulations to the KHS rifle team which defeated the University of Tennessee team by a 15 point margin last Thursday. Those making the best scores for the KHS cadets were Everett Smith, John Hollingsworth, Gavin Gentry, and Bob Bruner. Four who shot for the Vols were on the KHS rifle team last year. A lot of credit goes to the instructors, Major Vaupel and Sergeant Adkins, for the work they have done with the team.

Results of weekly inspection for November 19 are:

A Company—second year men: first place, Bill Farrar; first year men: first place, Conrad Payne.

B Company—second year men: first place, Gavin Gentry; first year men: first place, John Williams.

C Company—second year men: first places, Edmond Sealand and Bruce Shuler; first year men: first place, David Wiggs.

D Company—second year men: first places, Emmett Adkins, Alex Murray, and James Hail; first year men: first place, Bill Popejoy.

Favored KHS Trojans Renew County Feud

Trojans Rated First in State Race

TROJAN CHATTER

By Bob Cochran and Speedy Flowers

Turkey, a pep rally, and a football game are on the local pigskin menu next week. Fans will turn out in droves to cast their peepers on the annual high school classic that makes people forget their Thanksgiving dinner, rush away from home to yell, cuss, laugh, boo, and eat peanuts while having a general good time. Of course, we're talking about the Trojan-Bobcat affair next Thursday, that yearly is the undoubted cause of a lot of hot tempers.

It's to each his own opinion as to the outcome, but here are the opinions of a few Trojans (and who should have more inside dope than they!):

Capt. Joe Black: If everybody is feeling strong, we'll take 'em.

W. C. Cooper: We'll win but it will be tough sledding.

Red Sanders: This will be one game they will remember.

Charlie Johnson: Wish us luck; we'll need it.

Bob White: It'll be a hard game, but we'll take them if the team will pull together.

City-Central games have been noted for their dirty playing in years gone by, but this year Central has played one of their cleanest seasons, so has High School. This year's game should be good, hard-played football and not boxing. We hope that if any dirty work is started Central begins it and not the Trojans. We hope the game is sportsmanlike throughout and that good straight football will be played.

The Big Feud

Since 1906 the KHS Trojans have battled the Central Bobcats every year with three exceptions. In these contests KHS has come out on top with 20 victories against thirteen defeats, with four games ending in a tie. In all of these contests the Trojans have compiled a total of 349 points compared with 225 for Central.

State Crown Hopes Brighten as Baylor Beats Chattanooga

Litkenhous Crown Depends On Result of County Game To Be Played Thanksgiving

Baylor Prep School's stunning 27-0 upset victory over previously number one rated Chattanooga Central last week put the Knoxville High School Trojans into the number one slot in the state, Dr. E. E. Litkenhous, football specialist announced.

The Trojans, rated second in the state before Chattanooga's loss, helped their own cause by beating a game but powerless Oak Ridge team, 46-7.

The Trojans had to get into first place the hard way, as they were rated behind both Chattanooga and Kingsport. Kingsport was rated first in the race, when the Trojans, resting third, overpowered them and won 20-12. At that time KHS was expected to jump into first place, but Chattanooga, who had previously been defeated by the Indians, was given the nod.

Finally the Trojans, with the help of Baylor, took over the number one slot. However, this week they will meet tough opposition in the Central High Bobcats, and are only rated 5.8 over the Bobcats.

Trojans Conquer Morristown 11

By Speedy Flowers

Coach Sam Jones' Trojans have successfully surpassed their last barrier of the season except County, which is the only team standing between the Trojans and a state championship provided the good doctor's calculations live up to expectations.

Sanders kicked off and after two downs of no gain the Trojans took over and quickly scored. Three minutes later, recovering a fumble they scored again. Just before the second half the score stood at 19-0, and the second string was sent in to replace them.

The ball was back and forth the rest of the half with neither team dominating the play. Just before the half, Morristown completed a long pass and run to set up a touchdown. In two plays they scored to make it 19-6.

First String Comes Back

The first string came back in the second half to score early. Morristown was unable to gain due to the great line work of James Johnson and Andy Meyers, tackles. Emmett Adkins was sent in for Cooper and in two plays pushed the ball across to wind up the scoring for the night.

Reserves took over for the rest of the game.

The final score was 33-6. This is not the complete story of the scoring however. Gus Seiber and Andy Meyers each scored one on a recovered fumble and a fifty yard jaunt across the goal. The offic-

Both teams use the same Tennessee system, but the Trojans employ the Vanderbilt "short kick" system along with the latter.

"We'll be putting everything we have into this game," remarked Coach Jones. "There is no reason for overconfidence on our part, as we will be playing the toughest team of the season."

On this game between the two arch rivals depends the city championship and if the Trojans win by a good margin they will probably be state champs.

The contest will probably be rated a toss-up, with victory going to the team that has the best breaks. The Centralites have lost only one game and that being to the Charlotte South Carolina Cats, 19-6, the same team that whipped Miami High, who defeated the Trojans 14-13.

The Trojans have racked up a total of 321 points against 72 for its opponents, while the Bobcats have a total of 295 points against 63 for its opponents.

Probable line-ups are:

Knoxville	Pos.	Central
Sanders	LE	Kreis
Myers	LT	Musselman
Pavlis	LG	Rouse
White	C	Baker
Black (c)	RG	Henson
J. Johnson	RT	Black
Seiber	RE	Sherrod
Dance	B	Roberts
Slack	B	Beeler
C. Johnson	B	Laugherty
Cooper	B	Fogarty

ials disqualified the two scores and the Trojans had to be satisfied with a 33-6 score.

TRIALGEO Society gluttons will take themselves this evening out to the Fountain City Park and stuff on red hot talmals and all the accompanying delicacies. The party will begin at seven o'clock and there is surely no telling when it will end. Charles Francis, social chairman of the club, has planned many entertaining games to keep the members and adviser, Miss Gladys Million, in gay spirits.

COMMERCIAL Club, under the direction of Miss Clara Sweeney, has been reorganized this year after inactivity during the war. ## Fashioning Fun at the Frolic

These were two of the entertainers at the Thespian-Masquer Frolic given November 17 and then again November 25 by popular request. Jack McKeehan gave a magic show, and Joe Canady imitated Spike Jones and Beatrice Kay.

Gala 'Frolic Night' Proves Fun For Young, Old; Give Two Shows

By Katharine Ann Everett
 "Never had so much fun in my life!" — "Laughed till my sides split!" — "Did you see . . . ." were some of the comments on the Frolic Night given by Thespians and Masquers November 18, and then again on Monday, November 25 because of popular demand.

Nothing could beat Mr. Sander's rendition of "Mrs. Smart Learns to Skate" except the fact that a lot of people didn't recognize him for all his fancy garb, high heels, and stockings!

Miss Catherine Brown also caused quite a sensation when she recited "An Old Maid." Casey Stephenson blushing took pity and hunted for her most of the evening, and when he found her—!

Announcers Johnny Cullum and Sammy Debord were feeling so high and mighty in their swank clothes that they forgot their jobs, and W. D. Samples had to pinch-hit. Let's forgive them though, considering they were hidden under barrels (Sammy's had ruffles around it) just 'adancing away.

Please help Joe Canady find his tongue. Heard a rumor that it came loose during an imitation of Spike Jones. But wait, have you looked inside your tux coat, Joe?

Did you hear what Jack Hamilton carried across the stage in his paper bag? Can't print here, but it nearly upset Jack McKeehan's magical show! Not really, because that show was really something to gasp about.

Several people swooned when Troy Belle Lane sang "Carmena" and "Who Calls". Of course sever-

Dr. Crane, Noted Psychologist, Cites Problems of Adolescents

 the psychological problems of marriage, work, adolescence, social adjustment, etc., but also on the affairs of the day. He makes lecture tours each year, and is always a sought-after speaker because of his firm, interesting, and sometimes humorous delivery. Although a rapid speaker, each sentence he speaks seems to be pungent with sound judgment.

In his talk, he said that he decried some of the teen-agers' attempts at copying some of the less desirable, but more sophisticated habits of adults. He also gave a sound reply to atheists and skeptics to their question of "Is there a God?", saying that "just as we know that everything that goes up comes down, we know that there is a God."

In a special interview with Blue and White reporters. Dr. Crane stated that the American system of free enterprise was the best, and that the nation should not adopt communism.

"Communism spoils incentive," he said. "It's just like in a football game: if you beat another team 7-0, you don't want to have to share the score with the other guy and make it 3½-3½. But communism works on that very principal."

Says Men Greater Egotists

When asked which were the greater egotists, men or women, Dr. Crane replied, "Definitely men. That's why men are reluctant to change their dress. They are so self-sufficient that they see no reason for keeping up with the styles."

"On the other hand, women see their failings and want to be like the others; hence the women's habit of always being fashionable."

He also said that the reason that women were more talkative and more fickle than men was that since they did not have the brawn and prowess of the men, they had to make up for it by using their brains to get along in the world.

"Women are better psychologists," he said.

al others were still in a faint after the "Sweet Melody Boys" had been on the stage. Don't know whether it was the songs or the jokes.

Johanne Thompson, Jane Miller, Barbara McDonald, Mary Fields, Rosemary Gentry, and Margaret Ann Long did their darn'dest in their cute plaid bloomers and skirts to outdo Amo Ledgerwood's solo dance. And then along came Bill Fields, Vernita Lee, Agnes Dougherty.
