East DAR Winner Named

Betty Jean Carper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Carper, 202 Hillview Avenue, has been chosen the winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Award. The members of the faculty judged Betty on scholarship, service, leadership, character, and loyalty.

She will receive a D. A. R. pin and a certificate of award. Her name will be sent to Nashville to be entered in the state competition along with the winners from high schools all over Tennessee. The James White Chapter sponsored the East High award.

This busy East High senior holds these positions in school organizations: president of the bank, as well as head bookkeeper; chairman of the projects committee of the Student Council; secretary of the National Honor Society; business manager of the Beacon; and a member of the Anchor Club.

She also enjoys sports and is on the championship volley ball team.

In addition to this busy schedule, she is a Sunday school teacher at Timothy Street Baptist Mission.

Betty plans to have a business career. She now works as a part-time employee at McLellan's Store.

"On A Hallowed Hill"

[illegible] a hill overlooking a busy industrial city is the University of Tennessee. It has been acclaimed by many as one of the South's finest.

Under the maiden name of Blount College, the University of Tennessee was chartered in 1794. As time went on, this small college developed and became well established, but at the start, it had to struggle to keep its doors open. The college was renamed East Tennessee University and still later became known as the University of Tennessee.

Since then many students have studied under the school's fine professors. Among these students have been several East High teachers. Mrs. Anne Neyland, a favorite among the freshman class, has made several suggestions on choosing courses at U-T, especially for those who are going to teach.

"I have a major in natural science at U-T. Since I am not familiar with the education colleges from other universities, it is difficult for me to say that the course was good or bad, as I have nothing with which to compare it. I do have a word of advice to students who plan to teach in secondary schools. Certain education courses are required and you have no choice as to whether you have a choice please make inquiries to find what courses are of practical value to the classroom teacher. Select a major and take as many courses as possible in your major and its related fields. The degree to which you understand your subject matter will have a lot to do with your success as a teacher."

Mr. I. E. Gillenwater, a distinguished history teacher, said, "I think there has been a great improvement in the University of Tennessee since I attended. It has grown in size and service. Many new buildings have been added, the faculty is better trained, and the athletic department has grown. Their football team ranks among the best in the nation. Boys really have to be good to make this fine football team."

Mrs. Jo Goodwin, a new and popular teacher here at East, points out the three most important advantages in going to a state school such as the University of Tennessee.

"Perhaps the major advantage to me is the academic freedom to be found on campus. The teacher has more freedom to express her views and to teach as she is best able, without pressure from political and religious factions. The student is able to seek knowledge without any limitations except those inferred in the search for knowledge. This makes a broader, more well-rounded individual.

"Seconly, the rates are usually cheaper than those of a private institution of comparable size. The institution is aided by the state and enables students whose finances are limited to gain as good an education as he might obtain in a more expensive private institution.

"Finally, the state university or college usually has more facilities and offers a broader range of studies than can be found in many schools. This gives greater selection and enables students to have

Miss Jessie Lou Neubert is honored this month by the Future Teachers of America.

Miss Neubert, born in Knoxville, attended Mount Olive School and graduated from Central High. She received her Bachelor of Arts Degree and Master of Arts Degree at the University of Tennessee. She also attended Columbia University and the University of Chicago.

Before coming to East, Miss Neubert taught at Knoxville High where she was head of the Department of Social Studies for fifteen years.

Traveling, hiking, house-keeping, cooking, and collecting wooden dishes are among Miss Neubert's many hobbies. She also has a beautiful flower garden at her home in North Knoxville. She is very interested in sports and attends many of East High's games.

Miss Neubert is a member of First Baptist Church. On the roll of an impressive number of service and recreational clubs and organizations, Miss Neubert has been honored with positions of leadership again and again. For instance, she is a member of the League of Women Voters, past president of the Teachers' League, and chairman of the International Relations Group of the American Association of University Women. At present she is also a member of the City Teachers Pension Board.

Miss Neubert, a tireless worker, teaches history, human relations, and psychology, and is sponsor of the senior class. Members and officers agree that Miss Neubert has contributed much of her time, leadership, and loyalty to the senior classes of East and Knoxville High.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY—

Offers Two Scholarships

The National Honor Society is sponsoring two fifty dollar scholarships for the senior boy and girl who have maintained the highest average in the science curriculum during their high school careers.

Requirements for this competition, which originated this year, are three years of science, three years of mathematics, and two years of a language. Next year the requirements will be more exacting.

A plaque engraved with the winners' names and the year awarded will be conspicuously placed in the school. The National Honor Society will place an appropriate inscription on the plaque to the effect that the purpose in awarding these scholarships is to further scholastic endeavor among East High students and to commend worthy students.

The service committee chairmen, Joanne Riggins and Sam Fields, and their committee are in charge of this project.

Inducts New Members

New members were inducted into the National Honor Society, Thursday, February 13, during the program recognizing students who made term honors. The induction ceremony took place in the school cafeteria.

Membership in the Society is limited; only those who display the highest qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, and service are eligible.

The three main requirements are

1. Maintenance of three point scholastic average.

2. Proof of definite qualities of leadership through service to school and community.

3. Proof of good character through relationships with teachers, classmates, and family.

A member of the N.H.S. should have seriousness of purpose, initiative, influence, concern for others, responsibility, and emotional stability.

All teachers are asked to propose students for membership and to list any reasons why probationary members should not become active members. They are also asked to recommend sophomores for probationary membership.

The grades of those nominated are checked and a final list is submitted to the faculty. The N.H.S. Council makes the final approval.

The new senior and junior members or the new sophomore probationary members had not been announced at the time that this paper went to press.

Mike Oliver, president of the N.H.S., gave the welcoming address at the induction ceremony. Anne O'Dell, Judy Edwards, Frank Murphy, and Stephen Cash spoke on the requirements for membership — leadership, character, service, and scholarship.

Mr. Gale Gardner, principal, issued certificates to all students making highest honors and honors for the term. The number of students receiving certificates was about one hundred and twenty-five.

Cookies and punch were served afterwards. Judy Edwards and Barbara Zwick served and were in charge of refreshments.

Sue Learns That 'Love Conquers All'

By Betty Lee

"I wonder who ever thought of a Valentine day anyway," grumbled Sue as she climbed wearily into bed. All day long she had done nothing but fill, straighten, and rearrange, over and over again. Valentines, Valentines, Valentines. She thought if she ever saw another one, she would go completely nuts.

"And what does it mean anyhow," she mumbled as she snuggled down deep under the covers. "Probably just something else to worry us poor sales girls." As she dropped off to sleep, she recalled a cupid that she had seen on one of the cards. It had been kinda cute!

As she was dropping off to sleep, she heard the curtains rustling. She opened her eyes in time to see the cupid she had seen on the card come flying in the window and perch on the bedpost!

"Oh, no!" cried Sue as she rubbed her eyes. "Maybe I ate too much spaghetti or maybe . . . maybe I'm having a nervous breakdown! I knew those Valentines . . ."

"So you're the one I've been having so many complaints about."

"Huh . . . what . . . did you say something?"

"Of course I said something. Don't you think I have enough to do without having to worry about people like you?"

"Con . . . convince me," stammered Sue.

"What question did you just ask, or don't you remember that far? No! Don't say a word. I am going to answer that question and I don't want any interruption.

"A long time ago, before the ole man in the moon ever looked down on Sweethearts as they strolled beneath his silver light, the old world was pretty dull. Life went on, but youth didn't have the joy and spirit it has today. Now Mr. M. (that's what we'll call him), didn't like it and one night he decided to do something about it. So he called together all the stars and told them the problem. The meeting continued on through the night and all the next day. They all agreed that the problem was the lack of love. People just didn't care.

" 'But what can we do about it?' " chimed in the North Star. For a while Mr. M. looked puzzled, but then a smile broke out on his face.

" 'Well,' he said, 'to make it right, Love will have to come in the springtime of life. We will make it so beautiful and holy that it will become universal and people will smile and be happy again.'

" 'But how can we do this thing,' broke in another star, 'up here so far above people?'

" 'I have even thought of that,' said Mr. M. with a wise smile. 'We will get one of heaven's own angels, a small one so he can get around easily, to be our messenger to earth. People all over the world will know him when they see him because of his little golden bow and arrow.'

" 'Now listen and let me finish. He will use that arrow on the hearts of boys and girls, whom we

St. Valentine's Day

There are many legends and myths pertaining to Valentine's Day, but when one hears the word Valentine, he usually thinks of love or cupid.

Love is the main idea of Valentines, and through six centuries of observance, many different customs have been followed and expressed by both sexes, young and old.

Bishop Valentine was observed as the original saint of Valentines Day, but this is of fictious character and the Bishop would probably be shocked if he knew of this.

Although love is seldom seen in the halls of East High, the students have a very strong friendship towards their fellow students.

C.A.B.

Co-operation Needed

East P.T.A. recently sponsored a "Family Night" as a fund raising project.

The P.T.A. has given supplies to the medical room, furnished teachers' rest rooms, helped to raise money for the Band's uniforms, and given assistance in many other ways.

Students didn't support this "Family Night" to the expectations of the P.T.A. Since the P.T.A. has done and is doing so much for the students of East, why can't the students support the P.T.A.

Are You A Loup-Garou?

Glen Frye: "Guess so! I don't know."
Janice Doyal: "Yeah, why?"
Bill Tonkin: "No!"
Sandra Smith: "I don't reckon. I probably am."
Joy McMahan: "Yeah."
Phil Haun: "Um-hmmm."
Brenda Essary: "I don't know. Let me go ask Jerry."
Ted Pierson: "Due to circumstances beyond my financial control, I can't be one."
Charlotte Denton: "I'm too shy."
Jimmy Moore: "I ain't saying nothing."
Beverly Profitt: "If it has anything to do with an Alley."
Lee Bailey: "I don't know, what's that?"
Ginger Watts: "I am on Saturday nights."
Ross Greene: "Sure am, frog. All frogs are."
Becky Seale: "I plead insanity."
Wayne Hunter: "I'm a loup-garou, what are you?"
Norma Callahan: "I am if I can get anything out of it."
Chubby Watts: "A whazzat? Guess so."
Judy Threlkeld: "Am I a loo-ga-who?"
Stud: "No, I'm positive."
Pat Valentine: "Noop."
Instead of us using loup-garou, we could have used were-wolf. Now how do you feel about the situation?

Valentine's Day

Valentine, Pat that is, should be mentioned here of course.

A few girls will receive boxes of candy this year. Lud Spier has been planning to buy one for Ezarine Snodgrass. Lud sure seems snowed over "Ezzie".

Now's the time to reveal the ten cutest couples at East. (minus one due to Cupid's arrow shortage.)

Colleen Clifton and Glen Frye
Linda Crowell and Tommy Anderson
Janie McBride and Dick Eason
Carol Jean Griffith and Jimmy Moore
Ann Murray and Ray Edmonds
Freida Brown and Phil Haun
Ann Rose and John Murphy
Carol Shamblin and Frank Murphy
Anne O'Dell and Eddie Beeler

I hear that "Tom the Bomb" Eggleston has been writing Jayne Mansfield. Wonder if He'll buy her a box of candy.

Nancy Grove seems to always have a crowd of boys around her at the box office.

Everyone must have sweethearts because everybody is going to Sweetheart Banquets.

Sounds like Cupid is busy. — Smack!! Smack!!

Does Mr. Bible really help Cupid? I doubt it.

All the best of luck and wishes for a wonderful Valentine's Day to You—all.

Recipe for a basketball game:

1 hard-boiled coach, 5 players coated with good sportsmanship, 4½ cups spectators, 2 teaspoonsful yells, 1½ tablespoonsful excitement.

Directions: Place all the ingredients together and mix with school colors. Sprinkle lightly with goals. Serve in a stuffy gym.

Mountain Ears

Howdy agin' buddies! I thought I'd mosey down to East High and see what's goin' on now that it's St. Valentine's Day.

Thar shore is a lot of courtin' goin' on among some of the guys and gals. Among them are them there Murphy twins. They both got two o' the cutes' gals you kin git.

Cindy Prince will probably git a big ol' Valentine card from a Rule feller. Let's see now, I believe his name is Jurry Dook.

"Moocher" has him a luv now named Flossie. Flossie is one of them thar little ol' jewel pick-up trucks. She's green and air-conditioned.

Seems that thar's a tall, willery basketball player, that one that gits all of them thar rebounds, shore does git a lot uv attention from the cheerin' section. I believe her name is Jeannie.

Me and Clementine have been doin' quite a bit of snoopin' here lately and saw a few romances brewin'. That thar Jimmy Moore seems sorta snowed over Carol G. They do look purty cute together, don't they?

That "Git" Cooper is plenty cute. By way of the grapevine, I hear thar's a lot uv girls flipped over him.

Well little bittie buddies me and Clementine'll have to mosey on. See ya next issue.

Cupid's Corner

I, Cupid of East High, have seen many couples strolling through these halls and have heard many wishes of what they would like this Valentine's Day.

Mary Evelyn Brown simply expressed a wish for Gay to be home. He's the only Valentine she wants.

Anne O'Dell says that two dozen red roses would suit her just fine, but if Eddie doesn't want to get her that, anything will be okay.

Freida Brown, when I asked her for her wish, said that I should already know the answer. Phil, of course, is all she wants.

Carol Jean Griffin and Jimmy Moore seemed so engrossed in each other that I couldn't make myself disturb them to find out her wish. Just so Jimmy finds out, everything will turn out fine.

Richard Ray told me that I would have to go to Carter to find out the wish of his current ideal. But, time ran out so I'll just let him find out for me.

June King said that her wish would come true this summer when she gets out of school. I'll just bet that it will be a wedding band to go with her engagement ring.

Ann Rose said that all she wants is something that Cupid will bring. John, have you got it?

Judy Threlkeld only wants a promise that Johnny will not have to work. He's already working on that tho'.

As a surprise to Ann Murray, Ray Edmonds has decided to start calling her each and every night.

A perfect Valentine's Day gift for the three classes of choir would be for Mr. Gardner to find a music teacher so they won't have to disband.

Glen Frye is as yet undecided about whether to tell what he got Colleen or wait and surprise her.

I received a note from a girl today and she appeared to be a bit discouraged. It seems that the arrow I aimed at Dick Burnette's heart missed him all together. I assured her that I would try again.

Now it's time to start thinking of my targets for the next issue. See you then.

There is no man living who cannot do more than he thinks he can.—Henry Ford.

Life is a long lesson in humility. —J. M. Barrie.

FLASHES OF RED

What is the color that stands out most at the ballgames, socchops, and in the halls? You guessed it—red. This color always becomes more popular around the month of February. Here are some examples:

Eddie Cooper has been seen wearing a grey sweater that has a red collar.

The news came over the grapevine that Sue Ella Hankins has an eye-catching red jumper that looks nice with her ruffled, white blouse.

Everyone stand aside! Here comes Chubby Watts in his red, v-necked sweater. Wow!

Freida Brown looks nice in her red sweater with the white, checked collar. (Doesn't she Jehu?)

Have you seen Connie Sue Bell in her rose, grey, and white sweater worn with a rose colored skirt?

The color rose also does things for Carolyn White. She looks nice in her rose, wool sheath dress.

Ross Greene and Gordy Brown have a red-striped, crew-necked sweater.

Sophomores make a hit in the fashion world just as they do on the honor roll. Some good examples are Carol Shamblin and Bertha Sue Walker in their red, skirt and sweater set, Betty Jane May in her red, full dress with push-up sleeves. Red sweaters are worn by David McMahan and Jimmy Kite. Jimmy Moore also wears a bright, red shirt. Julie Bean and Mary Rae Lewis are chic looking in their red outfits. Julie in her red, wool dress, and Mary Rae in her red, velveteen jumper. Barbara Moser has a red skirt and sweater that is worn with a white collar.

Bulky, crew-neck sweaters are popular this year. Barbara Zwick and Peggy Wolfe are seen around the halls in their red, crew-neck sweaters.

Does anyone care to have a pair of red socks? Just ask Marca Ogle where she bought hers.

Other items of importance are red. Such as Mary Jone's, Nancy Tipton's, and Gerald Armstrong's red hair. Everyone's red nose when they come out of the cold weather. Jerry Headrick's red beard.

Fulton Dims East's Title Hopes

Low Down With Lovell

By David Lovell

In our last get together we gave you a short preview of the Knox Prep League "B" team basketball tournament. In this issue we are going to give you a complete picture of the tournament.

According to tournament director Clayton Hancock, seventeen teams will take part. Those seventeen teams which have answered yes to Coach Hancock's request to participate are: Gibbs, Young, Fulton, South, Rule, Hall's, West, T.S.D., Powell, Holston, and host team, East.

It was erratically stated, on the sport page in the last issue, that the "B" team tourney had been held at East for the past three years but it was quickly brought to my attention that the tournament has been held at East from the beginning of its organization, which was seven years ago.

Giving you an outline of the rules and date of the tournament we find: 1. No senior can play. 2. A maximum of twelve players to each team. 3. The tournament will be held on the following dates: 15, 17, 19, 20, and 21.

Two trophies will be given to the winners. One to go to the runner up.

Jack Williams will be assisting with the directing of the tournament and according to "BB", (Jack's nickname) this should be the best tournament thus far.

Scotty Manley will be in charge of the concessions, and if you want a refreshing lift between games see the concession counter.

Admission will be 40 cents for students and 50 cents for adults. Please come and support your team.

Coble and Doyal Managers for 57-58

To run a basketball team it takes, besides coaching and practice, somebody to clean up after the players, keep their equipment, and also help care for them when they are injured. This is just what Gary Coble and Darris Doyal do, so look for these men behind the scenes at the next ball game.

GARY COBLE

Standing at 6'2", weighing 155 lbs., Gary is completing his junior year at East. He makes his home at 2553 Woodbine Avenue and attends Epworth Methodist Church.

Along with being basketball manager he also helps manage the track team in the spring.

DARRIS DOYAL

Darris, who lives at 3700 Selma Avenue, is a freshman who is just beginning to find his way around East. He stands at 5'5", weighs 130 lbs. and has blue eyes and brown hair. Other than his basketball duties he is out for football, member of Student Council, and is group representative to the Blue and Gray.

East Downs West High

East continued to dominate play in the basketball games with West High this year as the Mountaineers won their third straight from the Rebels on Feb. 7.

East jumped off to an early lead during the first eight minutes and Coach Bill Wright's Rebels never managed to catch up.

The fourth quarter was probably West's hardest quarter because they could manage only ten points while East was busy putting 25 points through the basket. Gordy Brown was East's big gun, getting eight points in this quarter. Brown finished the night with a total of 14 points. Noel Cramer also contributed greatly in this quarter getting six points to run his total for the night to 23, high for both teams.

Bud Lobetti was also an offensive mainstay for East, getting 14 points and 18 timely rebounds.

Rounding out the high scorers for East Captain Mike Oliver, who collected 13 points. The third quarter was Oliver's best as he managed six points.

Otis Delaney, transfer from Farragut High, was West's sparkplug accounting for 14 points. Delaney coupled two field goals with four fouls to get a total of nine points during the second quarter. It was his ball handling which put West within six points of East, 28-34, at one point. The final horn sounded with East out in front by the margin of 77-51.

A small boy came home from school and his mother asked him if he learned anything in school that day. His reply: "No mother, I have to go back tomorrow."

Anger is just one letter short of danger.—Tower Ticker.

Jr. Cheerleaders In Review

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar, all for East High stand up and holler!"

This is a familiar chant you would probably hear between 7 and 8 o'clock in the East High gym on Tuesday and Friday nights when the junior cheerleaders cheer the East High B team on to victory.

The cheerleaders elected this year from the ninth and tenth grades show their well developed skill during the B team games.

BONNIE BAKER

Petite Bonnie Baker, a freshman at East and only 4 feet, 11 inches tall, adds zip and vitality to the cheering squad.

Being an only child, she lives with her parents at 2077 E. Fifth Avenue. She attends New Beverly Baptist Church where she is an active member. She is in the Pep Club and is secretary of her home group.

CAROL SHAMBLIN

Another cute freshman is Carol Shamblin who lives with her parents at 2932 Woodbine Avenue. She is fourteen years of age and will celebrate a birthday on February 19. She is an active member of Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. She has taken dancing lessons for 12 years and is active in Pep Club, Masquers, and the Knoxville Chapter of Rainbows.

JANIE RAGSDALE

Janie Ragsdale, a vivacious and attractive freshman, lives with her parents and older sister, Martha, on Crestwood Drive. Only a freshman, she is already a member of the swimming team, Masquers, Pep Club, and is active in the King's Daughters. She attends the Central Methodist Church and has, for unknown reasons, a feverish interest in all of Holston High's activities.

BRENDA McCOY

All the boys that haven't noticed that cute, friendly and always smiling Brenda McCoy, take note. She lives at 3331 Shield Avenue where she is an only child. Brenda, who attends Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, has a hand in quite a few things including the Pep Club, Masquers, and Latin Club.

GINGER WATTS

Ginger Watts, a pert sophomore with a ready smile, hails from 3228 East Fifth Avenue where she lives with her brother, Chubby, her sister, Melody, and her parents who are very active in school affairs. Ginger attends Park City Presbyterian Church and is a member of the Spanish Club, Choir, and ran for football queen.

JULIE BEAN

Julie Bean is another member of our cute cheering section. She lives at 2516 East Fifth and has a birthday December 5. A girl with artistic inclination and creative interest, she also has a very profound attraction to boys, the majority of whom think she should pursue the latter.

CHARLOTTE DENTON

Charlotte Denton, a sophomore and secretary of Mr. Esposito's group, comes from a family of five. She lives at 2524 E. Fifth and attends Park City Methodist Church. Charlotte is president of the Spanish I Club and is taking mostly business courses in school.

"Mudge," commonly known as Mary Frances Wise, lives at 2755 Wilson Avenue. She attends McCalla Avenue Baptist Church where she takes an active interest and is president of her Sunday School class. For more information, please dial 5-1101.

Frank Turner Leads Falcons

By Glenn Frye

East High School's chances of winning the Knox Prep League basketball championship were dimmed when they lost a thriller to Fulton by a score of 76-68. After a slow start Fulton has developed into one of the powers of Knoxville.

The loss put East a full game behind Central who leads the league with a 10-1 record. After trailing 22-17 Fulton came to life in the second quarter to go ahead at the half, 44-37.

Fulton was led by 6'7" Frank Turner who scored 23 points. Noel Cramer had 25 for East and was high scorer of the game. Fulton hit an unusual 45 per cent of their shots while East hit for 35.2 per cent. East, led by Bud Lobetti, had a slight edge in rebounds, 47-42.

The victory for Fulton was their second in the last 10 starts with East. East still has an outside chance to win the Knox Prep League title if Fulton can again beat Central and if East can also defeat Central. East was beaten the last time they played Central by 3 points on the Central floor. East will play on their floor next game.

Looking Forward To Spring Practice

The East High Mountaineer Footballers are preparing for a tough Spring Practice. All outward appearances are pointing to the fact that this squad of boys are really dedicated to the game.

The linemen are learning the fine points of blocking, tackling, and defensive line play. To toughen up they are engaging in the strenuous sport of wrestling. With twenty-one candidates for the line, a spirit of friendly but intense competition prevails.

Backfield candidates are not taking life easy, by any means. These seventeen hard working boys are keeping in condition by exercising, and practicing taking handoffs. There are a few potentially good backs who should develop by mid-season to provide a good offensive punch.

Spring Practice will begin about February 20. Those interested in coming out should talk to Coach Reasonover to find out the exact date.

Girls' Basketball

By Judy Threlkeld

Several girls at East High, who have started an independent basketball team, the East Siders, have been playing basketball at the old Knoxville High gym every Thursday night for six weeks.

The team includes girls from the junior and senior classes who are interested in playing basketball outside of the regular teams at East.

Evelyn Edwards, who graduated from East in 1955, is the team's manager. Her fine ability and knowledge have helped the girls to have a good team.

The East Siders are in no way connected with the school and belong to the Junior League at Knoxville High. The team has met the Rockettes from South, Bluegrass girls from Farragut, Bearden High C team, Falconettes from Fulton, and the Catholic High Shamrock's C team.

Forwards on the team are Mickey Wayland, Pat Valentine, Pat Ely, Mary Burkett, and Carol Asquith. Judy Threlkeld, Betty Sue Lane, Dorothy Duckett, Gail Evans, Prissy Albright, and Joyce Gregg are guards.

These girls show good sportsmanship and display teamwork in all of their games.

New Students Enroll at East

East High School has several new students this semester. They are Roger Stephen Hodges and William Hubert White from Etowah High School, Etowah, Tennessee; Charles Keminer and his sister Sue Ellen join our student body from Charlotte, North Carolina; and David Hull, transferred from Fulton High School.

The students of East High School welcome you.

P-TA Sponsors Study Course

A study course on science subjects for parents of East High, Park Junior High, Fair Garden, Mountain View and Park City-Lowry Elementary Schools is being sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

A series of lectures on the general topic of "So That We May Know: Our Part as Parents of Future Scientists" will be given this month and in March at East High School.

Thomas B. Smith, city schools' supervisor of elementary education, spoke on "Science in Elementary Grades" at the first meeting. Mrs. Edna Clark, Park City-Lowry teacher, and a group of students gave a science class demonstration.

The other meetings will be as follows:

February 21, 10 a.m.: Rollin McKeehan, county schools' director of instruction, will speak on "Science Interests of Junior High Students". Film strips on junior high science will be shown.

March 10, 7:30 p.m.: Dr. Roger Rusk, U-T associate professor of physics, has as his topic, "Science for the Future". C. A. Browning, East High physics and chemistry teacher, will talk on "Science Program in Knoxville High Schools: Its Adventure and Its Needs."

March 17, 7:30 p.m.: Dr. John Burkhart, City Board of Education member, will discuss "Achieving One's Goal." There will also be a speaker from the Atomic Energy Commission, Oak Ridge.

Mrs. J. M. Carr, president of the East High P.T.A., has said that East High students are urged to attend the two last meetings, which are held at night. Those who attend might find the discussions of value.

Club News

The Evans Club of the FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA will be busy soon, in fact, today. February 14 is the date of the sixth District Convention of the F.T.A. The University of Tennessee Student Center is the site of the convention. Ten schools are participating. The theme is "Education Moves Freedom Forward". Mr. Thomas Yates, English exchange teacher at East, will speak. Barbara Parkhurst, Evans Club president, is vice-president of the convention.

The State Convention of the F.T.A. is set for March 28 at the David Lipscomb College in Nashville. Representatives from East's club will attend the all day session.

The ANCHOR CLUB is selling name labels to raise funds in order to purchase drapes and obtain murals for the school cafeteria. The price is one dollar for three hundred gummed labels, which may be used on envelopes, phonograph records—anywhere you want your name and address to appear.

Members of the A.C. are planning two programs—one for the ladies at the Mount Rest Home in March, and one for a meeting of the Pilot Club in February.

Rachel Yarnell, senior, is a new member of the service club; membership now includes 40 girls.

The STUDENT COUNCIL has ended its paper drive, but will still pick up papers and magazines that are of a quantity and that are bound. Contact Miss Mary K. Scarbrough and Miss Edith Horton.

Students In Review

As we stroll down the halls of East we see gay young couples and with one glance we can tell that they have felt the sting of Cupid's golden arrow. Such a couple would be Anne O'Dell and Eddie Beeler. During their four years at East they have proved to be great assets.

Anne takes an active part in girls sports and cheers the boys on in victory or defeat. This is her second year as cheerleader.

Being president of the Pep Club, treasurer of the Anchor Club, and a member of the National Honor Society, keeps Anne busy, but these activities don't keep her name from appearing on the honor roll.

While snooping around (behind her back) we found some of her likes and dislikes. Her likes are Eddie, her dog, roses, stuffed animals, the Muddy Creek "Swishers" ,ice in her cokes, and dill pickles. Being a very congenial person we find that she has only three main dislikes, chemistry tests, sweet pickels, and being called "Slats".

Just keeping up with Anne makes Eddie about the busiest boy in the school, not counting the fact that he is treasurer of the National Honor Society, a member of the Key Club, and a "Muddy Creeker". Still, we find his name, deservingly enough, on the honor roll.

Some have been wondering why Anne, who used to wear her hair in duck tails, is now letting it grow out. After looking into matters we find out why. One of Eddie's pet peeves is short hair. Some of his likes are pony tails, scrambled eggs, pop-corn, Anne to wear socks rolled up, and to sing on television.

Anne and Eddie both share with their families a great interest in their church, Burlington Methodist, and take active parts in youth work. Anne belongs to the Girls Society of Christian Service. In their M.Y.F. Eddie is president and Anne is secretary, and they both sing in the choir.

Looks like Cupid did a pretty good job of matching this time. Anne and Eddie are both good Christian youths and all who know them speak well of them.

have chosen. We shall make a magic potion of moon beams and star dust to put on the tip of the arrow.'

" 'We can set aside this day out of every year to make this potion, as time goes by, people may begin to realize what true love stands for. It is not merely day dreams or starlit skies. It is pure and holy unselfish devotion. Love is kind and good and the best of all, it is a true gift from God. Our job is to make the world see that.'

"Well," said the cupid, "the next day I was sent to earth for the first time; and, if I do say so myself, I think I've done a pretty good job these past few thousand years."

"Oh, I see," said Sue, "Valentine isn't merely a day to send cards and buy candy. We should renew our love for others and thank God for His wonderful gift." Dreamily she closed her eyes and sank back on her pillow. "I never realized. But Cupid tell me," said Sue as she opened her eyes slowly . . . "Why, where is he?" But of course, now that he had finished his work with her, he had to go. The world was calling him.

Sue got up and walked to the window. The moon up above was giving a silver lining to the earth. Dreamily she looked up at the moon. Old Mr. M. had a big smile on his face and . . . why . . . he had actually winked at her.

an opportunity to pursue his chosen course of study."

Along with the academic phase of campus life the University of Tennessee offers many extra-curricular activities. There are many honor fraternities to which one could belong, and they are varied enough that most anyone could find one to suit his liking. The university also boasts the famous "Pride of the Southland" band and excellent athletic teams.
