

S. S. Henry, Famous Magician, To Appear At K.H.S. January 9; Hi-Y Clubs Sponsor Program

Ranks High Among Magicians of Present Day—Now With New Company.

ONE PERFORMANCE
Now On Twenty-Seventh World Tour—Time Set At 8 P. M. Monday.

S. S. Henry, internationally famous magician and artist, will appear in the Knoxville High school auditorium at 8 p. m. next Monday evening, January 9, under the auspices of the K. H. S. Hi-Y Club and the affiliated Hi-Y clubs of Knox county.

Mr. Henry has had a long and distinguished career and today is considered one of the three best magicians in the world. He is at present vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, which has in its membership over five thousand magicians in twenty-five countries throughout the world.

In starting his twenty-seventh annual tour of the world, Mr. Henry has completely reorganized his company, and his presentation will contain many features and exhibitions of mystery never before shown in Knoxville, according to Jewell Watson, Knoxville High's amateur magician, who is in charge of publicity and ticket sales.

"To see Mr. Henry's marvelous sand pictures alone would be worth the price of admission," said Miss Mary Grainger, head of the art department of Knoxville High. Admission to students will be 25 cents, while outsiders will be admitted for 40 cents. Those who wish reserved seats may get them at an extra charge of 25 cents. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Hi-Y club.

SPEAKERS TO DISCUSS TODAY'S BATTLEFIELDS

"The Great Battlefields in America" is the general subject selected for the address to be made by the commencement speakers at Commencement, Friday, January 27.

Paul Horner will speak on "Unemployment," Almeda Converse will discuss "Poverty," while John Rowntree will tell about "Crime." "Is the Modern Family Breaking Down?" will be discussed by Evelyn Randall.

Seniors Present Modern Comedy

"Come Out of the Kitchen," a comedy in three acts by A. E. Thomas, will be presented by the senior "A" class.

This comedy is based on the story of the same name by Alice Duer Miller. There is to be one performance, on Thursday evening, January 26.

There is no leading part in the play. The main parts are the Dangerfields and Burton Crane. Following is the cast for the play:

Olivia Dangerfield, Helen Moon-ey; Elizabeth Danderfield, Laura Rogers; Mrs. Falkener, Frances Clark; Cora Falkener, Pauline Kinser; Amanda, Cecelia Burchfield; Burton Crane, Johnny Byerly; Thomas Lifferts, Harley Rich; Solon Tucker, Bill Adcock; Charles Danderfield, Jimmy George; Randolph Weeks, James Horton; and Paul Danderfield, Bill Lichtenwanger.

Night School Opens Tuesday

Enrollment Reaches 325—Many Subjects Offered.

With an enrollment of 325, Night School started again Tuesday night, January 3, at Knoxville High school. Sessions will be on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9 p. m. for three months. H. J. Betts is principal.

Courses are offered in fundamental subjects, dressmaking, cooking, interior decoration, algebra, geometry, wood carving, psychology, bookkeeping, typing, English, shorthand, business spelling and penmanship, business mathematics, commercial law, retail selling, auto mechanics, wood working, card writing, electrical refrigeration, electrical mathematics, marble drafting, mechanical drawing, radio servicing, and art.

Any other course can be organized if as many as eight persons enroll for it. Fifteen persons enrolled guarantee a class to be continued throughout the term.

An enrollment fee of $2.00 is charged for each subject taken. Persons enrolled in fundamentals classes pay $1.00 fee except total illiterates, to whom the course is free. 12-A students who wish to do so may enroll. Enrollment can be made at any time.

Voice Definitely Off, Declares Miss Henry

"Because of the great financial stress at present, the Voice will not be published this year," declared Miss Nelle Henry, faculty adviser of the Voice.

Miss Henry further stated that the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council of Knoxville disapproved of any effort to publish the annual this year because of the depression. Also merchants are not advertising as much as in former years, and the Voice cannot be published until this proposition is taken care of.

"All in all," Miss Henry concluded, "the financial depression is the real fault."

Best K.H.S. Riflemen Win Places On Team M. Warren Highest

Cdt. Sgt. Wilkins Wins Position of Team Captain—Long Places Next.

The fifteen best shots in the school have been picked for the K. H. S. rifle team. The president of the school chapter of the National Rifle Association, Junior Rifle Corps, is Cadet Sgt. Charles Wilkins, who has the highest score of those eligible for the rifle team.

The officers of the club were chosen according to their ability to shoot. Cadet Sgt. Wilkins' score is 130 points. The other officers are as follows: James Long, vice-president, 128; Kenneth Christenberry, secretary, 124; Clarence Badgett, treasurer, 118; Eugene Haun, executive officer, 112; Robert King, publicity officer, 111.

Cadet First Lieut. Millard Warren has excelled all other riflemen this year with a score of 133 but is ineligible for the rifle team because he graduates with the mid-year class. "Warren has been one of the best shots that has ever been in the school," stated Sgt. W. A. Pratt, instructor of the team. He is the only Expert Rifleman in K. H. S. at the present time.

"The New Age" Publishes Seventh Poem By Jobe

"Autumn Interlude," a poem written by A. L. Jobe, English instructor, was published in the last issue of "The New Age," a Washington, D. C., magazine.

This is the seventh of Mr. Jobe's poems to be published in this magazine. Three of these were Christmas poems; three, including "Autumn Interlude," were nature poems; and one was on "Shakespeare's Birthday, April 23".

SENIORS ASKED TO PAY B. & W. SUBSCRIPTIONS

Because of the short period of time left this term, high school students are urged to pay their Blue and White subscriptions.

It is especially necessary for the seniors who are to graduate at mid-term to pay now before the many demands for money for the various graduation activities come to them.

Chapel Programs Next Week Open Final Election Campaigns Of Student Council Candidates

Kodak Club Opens Under W. Varnell

Is To Study All Phases of Scientific Photography.

Photography is to play an important part in the life of K. H. S. students of the future. A Kodak Club has been organized recently with W. D. Varnell, one of our new faculty members, as adviser. He was in charge of such a club for several years before coming to K. H. S.

The room in which the club conducts its work and research is located under the stairway near room No. 119 in the basement. This room is small, but is used because it is dark.

Only boys are admitted into the club now because the club room is small and insufficient supervision will not allow the admittance of girls. Later, however, when supervision and a larger room are available, girls will be invited to join.

The club is especially interested in photographing snakes, insects, birds, plants, and any kind of nature life that is connected with the science department.

New Linoleum Covers Stairs and Corridors

Upon returning to their studies after a week's holiday, students of K. H. S. were surprised to find new green linoleum on the hall floors.

About 650 square yards of new linoleum were placed on the floor of the halls on the second floor and on all of the steps in the school. That which had been on the second floor was used to patch the old linoleum on the third floor.

A large amount of the floor covering has been placed on the floor upside down to take care of the expansion of the linoleum. After it has been that way for a few days it will be turned over.

This is the first time that the halls have had new carpets on them in twenty-two years.

Millard Warren of the band has been the highest scoring member of the shooting squad.

Philosopher Uses Wrong Diplomacy In Untieing Economic Love Affair

The sky was blue and so was the boy that sat on the front steps of the little old marble school house on Fifth avenue, starting into space with a solemnity that Solomon would envy.

But the blue one's colorful silence was soon disturbed by the appearance of philosopher Phil who tickled his wisdom tooth with a tooth pick and said:

"Why so depressed, 'Little Boy Blue', have you lost a city warrant?"

"Worse than that, I warrant you," said the 'Blue Boy'. "I bought my girl a ten-dollar compact for her birthday, and on mine she gave me a one-dollar pipe; that made me smoke."

"I'll bet the first three letters of your sir name spell 'Mac'," said Phil.

"Amazing," said Mac. "You must be a clairvoyant."

"No, I'm Scotch too," Phil replied as he flung off some of the latest steps of the 'Highland Fling'.

"And is this frail chiseler a Scotch lassie?" Phil asked.

"Alas, no," cried Mac. "She's an American beauty; her name is Rose Bush, but let's change the subject because every time I think of her I see red."

"The philosopher took a laurel wreath from his pocket and placed it on his head at an angle that would make Socrates turn a flip in his grave, and said: "Even the best of rose bushes have their bad points, and in plucking the rose you will sometimes get stuck."

"This 'Rose' sure stuck me," said Mac, "but I haven't the pluck to go on."

But at this psychological moment Rose swaggered into view. Her hair reflected her name, and her eyes were as gentle as thorns.

"There's a good show on at the Strand, Mac," she said.

Mac's sense of thrift won over his sense of love, and with an effort he shifted his eyes from her hypnotic gaze to Phil. "Help me, Phil, or I'm Stranded."

"Pardon me, Rose, but Mac doesn't care to play Santa Claus anymore," Phil said.

"That's too bad, a friend gave me two theatre tickets and I was going to take Mac," Rose said, as she did a fade out.

The philosopher felt the impact of an angry Scotchman's fist. He came to at the hospital in a somewhat mummified condition, judging from the bandages that encircled his body. He started to groan but changed his mind and said, "He who plays with fire can not complain of burns."

WELCOME, 1933 !

As the new year starts, we feel that America is entering a year of improving economic conditions and increased happiness to her people.

Twenty-five years ago the country was leaving 1907 behind and was entering 1908 with courage and confidence that it had successfully weathered the worst panic which the world had experienced up to that time.

We feel that at the present time the American people are facing 1933 with the same confidence and courage that the country felt at the start of 1908. The depression, while unfortunate in many ways and undoubtedly a hardship upon everyone, has nevertheless served to bring America back to earth and make the people of the country realize the fundamental responsibilities of life in the world today. Dreams of fabulous wealth to be attained with little or no effort in a comparatively short time have been smashed; and all realize that only by perseverance and diligent application can we become prosperous in the true sense of the word.

The Blue and White earnestly believes that 1933 will prove to be a banner year for America!

WHOOPS! NEW RUGS!

A member of the faculty who should know has said that the old linoleum that has been replaced had been on the hall floors of K. H. S. for nearly a score of years. Good linoleum, eh? If the new floor coverings are half as good we will all have forgotten when they were laid by the time they are replaced.

Someone made the remark, "We have to wear the under side out before we see what color the rugs are."

"And for the planks that are on the edges, a fellow has to avoid them like open man holes."

The students all appreciate these new rugs. We can't ask them not to walk on them to make them last longer because they are there to walk on. But we can say, "Thanks for the new addition," on behalf of the student body.

Hope they are all that pretty shade of green.

A RESOLUTION

At this time of the year there is always more or less talk about resolutions. Most of us consider the subject lightly, but there is one resolution which we all should strive to fulfill.

This resolution is that we should endeavor to make the new year happier for others in every way that we can. Many little acts and deeds which are seemingly insignificant will bring happiness to the hearts of others.

The Spectator

"Irresistible Tow Head" is said to have a date with "B" company's sponsor for the next Hi-Y banquet.
Good going if true, "Tow Head."

As long as Harry Gervin has been going with girls and driving cars it looks as though he could keep in the road instead of driving up a tree. Perhaps Margaret Thompson can explain.

Then there is Leslie McCook, who bent up the fender on his car
when he looked at Wansley Abels.

This week's nomination for Prince Charming is Roy Chappelle.

We've just received the latest returns from the Foster-Whittle fight. Foster is ahead.

Evidently Mack Gordon has found another good-looking girl at High School; namely, Rosa Gray.

When and how did the Myrtle Booth-Alvin Smith combination start? They were seen at the Riviera together.

Frances Johnson and Dub Whittaker said they enjoyed a New Year's party immensely. Why didn't you invite anyone else?

Why won't Beaman give Sarah Martin and Edwin Lowe a chance to get acquainted with him?

K. H. S. vs. C. H. S.—Willie
Ruth McCoy and William Taylor.

Paul McCall and Natalie Lovette look like a congenial pair.

Hank Foster and Anna Jo Hawkins—just another couple.

Flora Burkhart has definite plans in her mind about what she is going to do after she graduates.
Can't you tell us, or must we use our imagination?

To whom are the Kingsport letters addressed that Jim Leach and Bill Jones write?

Martha Brown, former conductor of this column, has fallen in love, but she won't answer any questions.

Helen Goebel is Jack Crawford's
ideal.

We don't know the details—but there's something between Betty King and "Goot" Reeder.

Josephine Adecock thinks "Red"
Sharpe is handsome.

"Towhead" Marshall is rating high.

Bill Jones and Jim Leach have been writing to a Kingsport girl.
Which one is head man?

TENNESSEE

The New Year brings to us bigger and better movies at this fine house, also bigger prices, the latter not appealing to me quite as much as the former. Now the main floor seats are twenty-five cents until 12 p. m., thirty-five until 6
p. m., and forty until closing time;
the balcony boasts six hundred good seats at twenty-five cents each anytime.

Ending a two day run tonight is a comedy offering called "You Said A Mouthful". The star is appropriately the capacious mugged and popular favorite, Joe E. Brown.
Joe is aided and abetted by the quite note-worthy efforts of Far-ina, Our Gang Comedy player, and Ginger Rogers.

The new management's second stellar and much heralded offering this week is none other than
"Strange Interlude", Eugene
O'Neill's Pulitzer Prize play that scored such a tremendous hit on Broadway. This unique play brings us lovely Norma Shearer, and many a girl's secret thrill, Clark Gable.

As you may, or may not, know,
this production has the novel plot of baring the players' thoughts to the audience. Lots of people say one thing and think another, and in this picture you learn both their thoughts and their words.
Thoughts are distinguished from words by the fact that the players' lips are absolutely motionless when thoughts are conveyed to the audience.

One can hardly afford to miss a super-opus like this, so you'd better go and see it.

BOOTH

Another theatre turns around and bites us patrons in the back;
yes, it's a boost in price, but not quite such a vigorous one as its uptown cousin made.

From now on, and until further notice the Cumberland Avenue cinema house will be open to anyone for fifteen cents at their matinees and twenty cents at night. Two days are exceptions, however, in that Monday night twenty-five cents is the fee for a gent, the accompanying lady sneaking in gratis. Thursday night the whole family is welcomed for the quarter part of a dollar.

Today and tomorrow Richard

Dix, anvil-jawed he-man, returns in his Chinese bandit endeavor called "Roar of the Dragon". This is a picture with enough action in it to suit anybody. Dix is supported ably by a comparative newcomer to the screen, but a ravishing creature, Gwilli Andre.

BIJOU

This house, long known as Knox-ville's last legitimate stage frontier, has turned over a new leaf, hung up a screen, and now offers talking pictures as its bill.

The Bijou, the name meaning
"jewel", was recently remodeled inside by the Peruchi-Booth Company and is quite a swell, elegant, and comfortable house. Now showing, and continuing through tomorrow, is "See America Thirst", with two popular comedians, sad faced Harry Langdon and Slim Summerville of the hang-dog demeanor. These two hounds clown their way through a very clever and amusing picture with a gang war as the immediate background.
I believe you'll like it.

School Daze

By Douglas Bean

Nineteen hundred and thirty-three and it's ring out the old and ring in the new!

Probably all the wringing done
this year will be with our hands.
Anyway, the old year has been wring out and the new year wring in as Mr. Turley knows.

Prof. Turley, in one of his classes, expounded one of his famous geometric equations, if there is such a thing, and asked:

"Is that right or wrong?"

"It's wringing, of course." (this said brilliantly).

"What's wrung?" Prof. Turley equally as brilliantly queried.

"The bell, teacher. See you tomorrow"—and the bright young thing passed out the door.

Came to school last Monday
A. M. and felt both wrung out and wring in. However, like the stout lady who was learning to ride a horse, we all have our ups and downs. Usually it's up with an airplane and down with a duck but with a roller-coaster it's up and down both.

In Knoxville High school the average student studies at least four hours a day. The other nineteen hundred and ninety-nine don't study at all.

And twenty years from now
when we return to visit our Alma Mater, we shall look with pride at the new floor covering and proudly exclaim: "I attended this school when the Bored of Education bought this decorative battleship linoleum."

Weakly pome:

There was a lass with hair
so yellow,
Who also had a voice so mellow
That once she sang, and I've ne'er forgotten almost That her voice was so mellow that it was rotten.
Weakly choke:
Lady (buying fur coat): "Can I wear it in the rain without hurting it?"

Salesman's reply: "Madam, did you ever see a squirrel carry an umbrella?"

Monday night Henry, the famous magician, will be in town and "magish" right here in our own auditorium. You come on out and we'll take the show in. Anyway, bet our friend the magician is not as good as Jos. E. Brown, who can open his mouth and make his face disappear.

Six Fast Hardwood Games Initiate Independent Loop

Deery Street, Circle Park, De Molays Defeat Opponents Monday.

Six basketball teams of the K. H. S. Independent league got into action Monday afternoon at the K. H. S. gym.

The second round will take place Monday afternoon after school. The first round in the junior loop is scheduled for Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the K. H. S. gym. "So far only three teams have registered, but I expect more," said Coach Sam Jones, who is director of the K. H. S. intra-mural sports activities. A weight limit of 125 pounds is set for entrance in the junior independent league.

Those teams entered in the junior loop are The Fighting Irish, Park Wave, and Avondale. Clyde Roberts and Dexter Christenberry have been chosen intra-mural sports managers. The pair have already taken up their duties.

Clinton Johnson, Leslie Wrixford, and Sidney Hankins are acting as referees for the games. Johnson and Wrixford are on the K. H. S. varsity team. Hankins is not on the first team, but is on the squad. The official score book of the senior league shows that the games of the opening round were close.

Deery Street, led by M. Horner with eight points and "Fats" Monroe with six, defeated the Red Wave team 19-15. Cottrell and Keys were best for the losers.

Circle Park, titlist of last year, ran true to form, defeating the Blue Wave 22-15. Chesney with eight points led for C. P.

After a desperate fight the DeMolays, led by Moffit and Hunt with six points each, defeated the Ramblers 19-15. "Barnacle Bill" Baker and Frank Theile, Trojan footballers, were outstanding for the Ramblers. Baker scored eight points and Theile scored four.

"All teams are evenly matched," said Coach Jones. "It really is going to be a hot race."

Trojans Overcome Gibbs' Lead To Win

Come from Low End of 11-9 Score To Win Game 25-13.

In what was termed by many the best game of the year, the Trojans downed the Gibbs five, 25-13, last Tuesday afternoon in the K. H. S. gym.

At the end of the first quarter the score stood four all. Early in the second quarter Gibbs gained a five point lead, but before the rest period came the Trojans had closed up on the lead. The half ended with Gibbs leading 11-9. This was the Trojans' first experience on the small end of a score this year. Probably this fact threw a scare into them, for they came back and held the visitors to a mere two points during the last half. The lone score came early in the third quarter; from then to the end of the game the Trojan defense was like a stone wall.

Gibbs, a small team, plays much the same style of play as do the Trojans. Their offense was led by Bright, a guard, who scored five points. Luttrell, the center, was best on the defense.

The entire Trojan team rose to a high standard of play during the last half. The two Johnsons, Gene with six points and Clinton with five, were the offensive stars. Sharp, Sharpe, Leach, and Foster were all outstanding in the Trojans' defense, which was the feature of the game.

Lineup:
K. H. S. (25) Gibbs (13)
G. Johnson (6) F Davis
Tharp (5) F Harless (3)
C. Johnson (5) C Luttrell (2)
Wrixford G White (5)
Sharpe (4) G Bright (3)
Subs: K. H. S.—Leach (4), Foster (1). Referee: Looney.

Bud Perrin said, "Mary Louise is MY girl."

Gene Stillman told us that he hadn't had his name in the Spectator this year and that he wanted it in with Mary Katherine Figura.

Writer Reveals Why Coach Collins Now Wears New Cravat

Although Christmas has come and gone, Santa Claus, in the person of a postman, brought Coach Wilson Collins a gift last Tuesday from New York.

For the past five years Mr. Collins has purchased the jerseys and uniforms for the various athletic teams from the Champion Knitwear Mills of Rochester, New York, and each Christmas he receives an attractive sweater, tie, or pair of socks in appreciation of his purchases.

This year, or rather last year, Christmas came and passed and no gift arrived.

"I guess they have forgotten me this time," mourned Mentor Collins.

But to the delight of the Coach, his annual Christmas remembrance, although a fortnight late, arrived safe and sound Tuesday in the afternoon mail, and Mr. Collins is now the proud wearer of a silk, English style, blue and white tie.

"It's just the company's way of advertising," smiled Coach Collins, "but I certainly like the way they do it. I think I'll tell them when my birthday is."

TO PLAY AT YOUNGS

Only Fifteen More Games For Trojans—Central Tops League.

Defending their clean slate, the K. H. S. basketballers will be out to cop their seventh straight game tonight as they entangle with the fast Youngs High quintet. The game will be played away from home.

"I consider Youngs, along with Central and Knoxville High, one of the three best teams in the Knox County league," declared Coach Wilson Collins. "One of these three teams will probably win the championship."

After submerging Gibbs under a 25-13 score last Tuesday, the Trojans held second place in the league with six victories and no defeats. Coach Quinn Decker's Central High Bobcats are perched atop the league with seven wins and no losses.

Counting tonight's game with Youngs, the Trojans will play fifteen more contests before the annual district tournament the last of February. Nine battles will be away from home.

Only three games will be played with teams outside the league. January 25 the Trojans will journey to Maryville, and on an undecided date will go to Jefferson City. Maryville will play the Trojans a return game February 1.

The complete schedule follows:

Scoop Yarns To See Basketball Crowd Grow

By 'Scoop' Harrington

Now that the holidays are over, basketball can start in earnest. So far the crowds have been staying away in droves; why, we can't find out. The team has won every game, at least up to the writing of this article; most of the games are fast and entertaining, and last but not least, the games are over in time for one to get home by not later than 9 p. m. Tonight the Trojans meet Youngs. Come on out and see the game; you will enjoy it. (Not one cent was paid for this statement.)

By the way, John Thomas, U-T student and K. H. S. grad, was recently placed on the 1932 All-American junior basketball team of the Y. M. C. A. Congratulations, John!

The Trojans now have new sweat suits to go with their regular playing uniforms. The playing uniforms are also practically new, having been purchased about three weeks ago. The sweat suits are solid blue with white numbers on the sleeve. With the purchase of the new suits the Trojans have complete uniforms. Formerly the players on the bench or the players warming up were protected from the cold only by the old football sweat shirts.

In case any of you readers would like to see some real basketball, make your plans to see the world champion Celtics. They play the U. T. Vols on the Memorial Auditorium court Saturday night. This professional basketball team is to basketball what the Yanks are to baseball or what Tennessee is to Southern football. Without reflecting on Tennessee's team, we wish that the Celtics were meeting a team more nearly their equal. No doubt the Celtics will not have to put out to defeat the Vols. This fact, however, will not keep them from showing some of their famous tricks. Still, we believe that with competition the game would be much better.

Meandering around: Well, Southern California dragged Pitt through the mud to the tune of 35-0. What of it? We still think that Colgate should have represented the East, or, even as Mr. "Trig" Miller has said, "Colgate or Alabama should have gone to the Rose Bowl." "Alabama," says Mr. Miller, "would have put up a good game, as they seem to have a psychological advantage when they are playing on the West Coast." Anyway, the game is over and the West made a monkey out of the East, so what can we do about it? (I know, we can make excuses and boost the Tennessee Volunteers for the game there next year.) . . . Central is to have a football field in Fountain City next year. Now won't they miss all that good old train smoke that we get out at Caswell Park? . . . Bob Rule, ex-Trojan basketballer, and now U. T. basketball candidate, injured his leg in practice at the hill. Sorry, Bob; be careful with your neck. . . . This column refuses to mention anything about the New Year or resolutions. They have probably been mentioned enough already.

George Carmichael, independent candidate for Student Council, is a representative of the 12-A Class and is highly recommended by his teachers for his scholarship, dependability, and conduct. He has been a member of the K. H. S. student body only this term and a small part of last term, but during this time he has placed himself among the leaders of his class.

Recommendations from his teachers are as follows:

"George Carmichael, candidate for the Student Council, deserves commendation for his attitude and scholarship in Chemistry. I firmly believe he is competent to serve in the capacity that he desires."—J. W. Johnson.

"George Carmichael is an 'A' student in Physics and also in conduct. He is capable and reliable and can be depended upon to do what is expected of him. He is thoroughly competent to serve on Student Council."—Ira Stineman.

"I take pleasure in recommending George Carmichael. I have had him for nearly a year, and he makes splendid grades, is trustworthy and dependable."—A. L. Jobe.

"He is one of the most dependable, industrious, and capable students I have ever taught."—Mrs. Emma Rice.

Picked Chorus On K.H.S. Hour

A. W. Torresani and Paul Brewer To Speak on Industrial Arts Work.

A special picked chorus of twenty-five voices, chosen by Edward Hamilton, director of music in Knoxville High, from the combined choruses and glee clubs, will present a group of selections on the K. H. S. hour next Tuesday evening from 7:15 to 7:45. A. W. Torresani and Paul Brewer, of the industrial arts department of K. H. S., will speak on the purposes and work of the industrial arts program.

The program of the picked chorus will include selections by both classical and modern composers. The most famous classical composition will be the Pilgrims' Chorus, from the opera Tannhauser, by Wagner. The Bells of Saint Mary's, by Adams, and The Gypsy Love Song, by Victor Herbert, best-known of the modern composers, are two of the contemporary selections. The remainder of the program includes Swing Along, by Cook; Love's Greetings, by Elgar; Passing By, by Purcell; and the Vikings' Song, by Deems Taylor, another promising young composer.

Last Tuesday the orchestra presented an entertaining program, supplemented by Principal W. E. Evans' interesting talk entitled "Extra-curricular Activities."

Bijou Theatre To Offer Special Priced Matinee

Beginning Saturday, January 14, and continuing every Saturday at 10 a. m., the recently reopened Bijou theatre will offer what is termed a "school children's matinee" with special prices of 10 cents for small children and 15 cents for the older children.

The manager is planning to use amateur children performers in addition to the regular program. There will be a newsreel, a comedy, and a "Krazy Kat" besides the feature picture.

First and second runs of the very best pictures will be shown.

Scientists Study Dreaded Reptile

Venomous Gila Monster Examined By Johnson's Science Classes.

Small, steely eyes, a baleful glare, and a beaded hide are the most impressive characteristics of a Gila monster. Through the courtesy of Dr. E. B. Powers and the zoology department of the University of Tennessee, one of the reptiles was lent to J. W. Johnson and his science classes.

The Gila monster has a diamond shaped head and is found in the Arizona wastelands. It is about eighteen inches long and resembles the lizard.

Its skin is comparative to an intricate network of black and white beads, and it is said every letter of the alphabet can be found on its body. Like other reptiles, it sheds its skin annually.

Having always inhabited the desert lands where food is scarce, the Gila monster does not have a very big appetite. It can live for several weeks on two eggs.

The tenacity of the Gila monster is similar to that of a bulldog. When it bites it clings to the victim until the poisonous saliva passes through the wound and into the system.

Although the Gila monster is the only poisonous lizard in the world, it is not as venomous as commonly believed. Its venom is about as virulent as that of the rattlesnake. The reptile is very sluggish and likes to bluff. It will not bite unless forced to do so.

One of the unusual things about the Gila monster is that it likes to be petted and will sit very still while being entertained by some obliging person.

Quill-Scroll Society To Edit Journal Soon

For the third consecutive year, the Knoxville High school chapter of the Quill and Scroll will edit one issue of the Knoxville Journal, during the latter part of February, through the courtesy of R. H. Clagett, managing editor of the Journal. It has not been decided as yet who will fill the various positions on the paper's staff.

On the day before they edit the paper, students selected to do the work will shadow the present holders of the respective positions. On the following day they will completely publish the paper, gathering and editing all news, and selling all advertising.

Profits realized from the advertising and sales of the paper will be shared with the Blue and White.

Orchestra Plans Concert As Climax of Term's Work

As a climax of this term's work, the orchestra plans a concert, which will probably be given January 20, no definite date having yet been set.

The orchestra is giving this concert to enable it to buy a new oboe for next term. The oboe costs over $100. The present player graduates this term. If the new oboe is bought, two new players will be trained for next term.

Bank Workers Get Experience

Commercial Students Also Aided By Work In Various School Offices.

Little notice has been given to the work done by the students who work in the bank at K. H. S., but this is one of the most vital departments of the school. Girls in the office practice, typing, and shorthand classes gain practical as well as laboratory experience in the bank.

Various members of the office practice class have helped Supt. Harry Clark and Principal W. E. Evans in their offices by taking dictation, transcribing letters, and typing letters.

The bank does not only the regular banking work of the school but also that of sixty different organizations in K. H. S., and all the bookkeeping that goes with the banking.

Copies of plays for the dramatic department, programs for the radio committee, and notices for the office are typed by the students. These students also made 180 copies of the class song to be distributed among the members of the senior class. Class lists, honor roll lists, and bulletins are all in the work done by the commercial department.

Some of the girls from the office practice class worked in Mr. Evans' office making tabulations on statistical sheets that were to be sent out all over the state. This was a project of the East Tennessee Educational Association.

For six weeks, every period, various girls from the class in office practice went over to the child accounting department in Supt. Harry Clark's office and aided his secretary in typing and filing cards.

During Miss Katherine Webb's absence from the office for three days one 12A girl, Irene Wallace, took dictation from Mr. Evans and cut stencils and then ran off copies of the daily bulletin on the mimeograph in the bank. Another girl in the stenographic department is typing a thesis for one of the teachers who is working for a M. A. degree.

This phase of K. H. S. work is undoubtedly valuable to the students for the experience it gives them.

Cut-Away Motor Aids Instruction

On display in the front hall this week is the cross section of a Ford motor, set up by N. F. Peterson's auto mechanics classes. The work was all done by the boys in the classes. The purpose for setting up this engine is to see the principle on which the gasoline engine operates.

Each part of this engine was set up and painted separately and then the parts were assembled. An electric motor is used to aid in demonstrating the engine and in studying the principles of engineering that go into the building of an engine and the "four-stroke cycle" of operation.

Inside casings are painted white so as to reflect light and the moving or revolving parts are painted red so the mechanism of the motor can be more easily understood.
