

Blue & White To Receive Share Of Proceeds From 'Smilin' Thru' At Booth

Film Starring Norma Shearer To Be Shown At Benefit Wednesday.

PRICES ARE 15c, 20c

Tickets May Be Obtained From Members of Blue and White Staff.

On Wednesday of next week the Booth theatre will share the gate receipts of the Booth with the Blue and White. The picture showing at that time will be "Smilin' Thru," starring Norma Shearer.

Blue and White staff members started selling the tickets in school Wednesday afternoon and will continue selling them until next Wednesday night. If tickets are not gotten at school they can be secured at the Booth. Prices are fifteen cents in the afternoon and twenty cents at night.

Students tickets will be good both Tuesday and Wednesday.

Last year the Booth shared receipts with the music department of K. H. S. The money made by this department was used to help pay the expenses incurred during the music convention at Chattanooga.

Dramatics & Journalism Classes Start Enrolling

Students who intend to take either dramatic reading or journalism next term are requested to confer with either Miss Elsie Waddle or Miss Emma Becton today or the first of next week if they wish to be sure to get in their classes.

NEWSWRITING PAPERS DISPLAYED IN HALL

On display in the front halls are many features written by Miss Emma Becton's news writing classes. These features are a climax of the term's work in journalism and each contains 2,000 words or more.

Some of the topics and writers are: "Facts of National Interest," by Nell Piper; "Speed," by Ruth Brannum; "Smoky Mountain National Park," by Mary George Rule; and "Books and Their Influence," by Lonas Robinson. Many others wrote on different phases of journalism.

B. & W. To Have Senior Issue

On Friday, January 20, a six or eight-page issue of the Blue and White will be devoted almost entirely to the senior class and its activities. This is being done because the Voice will not be published.

The paper will probably contain pictures of the four 12-A groups, which are those of Miss Mary Arants, Clyde Lowery, C. L. Northcutt and Miss Mary Champe. Besides group pictures, individual cuts of the senior class directors and commencement speakers will be printed.

Each senior will be charged 25 cents to cover the cost of photographing and engraving. Extra papers will be sold for ten cents each.

Latin Club Holds Meet Wednesday

Program Includes Talks On Roman Banquets.

"A Roman Banquet" was a subject of interest to many of the members of the Latin Club who attended the monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The program was opened with music. Margaret DePue gave helpful suggestions to those interested in the culinary art in a talk on "Roman Cookery." "The Meals and Menus" of these people were discussed by Louise Cate. Marjorie Hubbard told the club members of many of the "Entertainments at Banquets." Noeline Yarnell talked on "Dido's Banquet," and Helen Watson on "A Banquet at the Home of Lentulus."

Another Roman home was entered in the speech "At Trimalchios' Dinner," by Laura Rogers. Mary Arthur Swan pictured "The Roman of Old," and Virginia White spoke on "An Invitation to Dine," from Horace to Virgil.

The program was closed with the solving of a Latin crossword puzzle.

A practical sample of the program appeared in the form of solid American refreshments.

KENNETH WATSON, SENIOR A, IS ILL

Kenneth Watson, one of the most outstanding members of the 12-A class, has been seriously ill most of this term.

For several weeks Kenneth was in St. Mary's Hospital, but a short time ago he was removed to his home on Minnesota avenue.

He was outstanding in several school activities, having taken part in many of the plays and in the student council activities and ranks among the highest in class in scholarship.

Kenneth graduated from Rule Jr. High, where he also played an active part in various activities in the school. He is one of the most prominent students of the present 12-A class.

Activities To Be Presented To PTA At Meeting Wed.

All Branches of Clubs and Organizations To Be Represented.

At 3:15 in the afternoon on Wednesday, January 16, the Knoxville High School Parent-Teachers' Association will meet in the assembly hall. A program is planned, consisting of representations of each school activity.

Classifications of the activities and the representative of each are as follows:

Citizenship and School Government—Mary Scarbrough.

Music—Clarence Beaman.

Class Extension Clubs—Charles Hudson.

Character Building Clubs—James George.

Athletic Organization—C. A. Henry.

Banking Club—Evelyn Davis.

Masquers' Club—Josephine McGee.

A demonstration will be given by the Blue and White.

Luncheon Served By Foods Class

Members of the Board of Education were served luncheon by the advanced classes in foods, Monday, January 9.

The color scheme used was green and yellow. Yellow flowers decorated the table.

Besides members of the Board, Dr. Harry Clark, W. E. Evans, and E. L. Adcock, business manager of the Board, were present.

The following menu was prepared by the foods classes:

Grapefruit and Orange Cocktail with Green Mint Cherries

Veal Birds Glazed Carrots

Chantilly Potatoes Broccoli with Mock

Hollandaise Sauce Fruit and Ginger Ale Salad

Hot Rolls Saltines

Russian Cream

Coffee Mints

Factors which aided the girls in preparing the luncheon were the new gas stoves recently installed in the Home Economics department.

"Coaches Collins and Jones, who are co-operating with the R. O. T. C. department, are making it possible to hold these extra drill periods," said Sergt. W. A. Pratt Wednesday. R. O. T. C. boys are being excused from physical education classes to drill for the inspection.

Wednesday's inspection has been postponed to Thursday, January 18, at which time the monthly inspection will be held. All other drill periods will be spent in drilling for the February inspection.

Commissioned officers are required to remain with their respective companies until after the Honor School inspection, regardless of graduation. This makes it possible to hold the inspection under command of experienced officers.

Cops Much The Same Everywhere, "Light Hands" Concludes Sadly

By ALFORD ORR

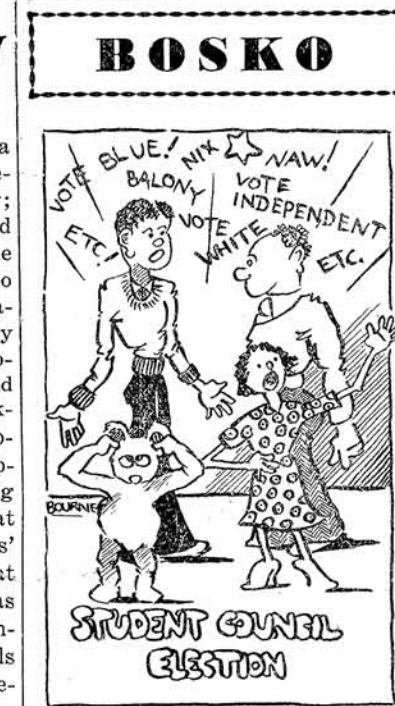

In continuing our little series of parodies on the great and famous characters of the past, we run across the story of a Dutch lad named "Light Hands" Brinker, so-called because of his adeptness at the ancient art of filching pocketbooks. Incidentally, this little habit of his kept him in Dutch most of the time. In fact his modest and retiring lawyer, a gent named Shy Stir, but not because of his meekness, had just sprung Brinker from the cooler or gaol, as I believe the Dutch so quaintly put it.

Now, "Light Hands," through various disagreeable experiences with local flat-foots, had a faint idea that the good people of Four Flushing didn't trust him any more. This lack of faith hurt Brinker's feelings, so, after a good cry, he decided to leave the pretty little village and his wife, who was hollering about the back alimony, and pull out for Handover, Germany, the name appealing to him greatly. And so we find our winsome hero safely in Handover, after a long and tiresome ride on the rods of an inter-country freight.

His first little job was to knock an aged and infirm crippled man over the konk and relieve him of his life savings of forty shekles, a right tidy sum in those days. This heroic and daring misdemeanor won for "Hands" the plaudits of the hamlet's bad boys who turned out with a brass band to show their admiration for so fearless a soul. Spirits ran high at the demonstration in honor of Brinker; spirits also ran down throats and kindred spirits ran to escape the clutches of 'at old devil Law, who rudely interrupted the polite parade, which was characterized by lootings and shootings. The coppers seemed the same the world over, always butting in and sticking their schnozzles into other peoples' business, even if that did happen to be only a gentle thugging or a "red" demonstration. That there was no respect for citizens' rights was the conclusion that "Light Hands" sadly came to as he found himself once more ensconced within the homelike walls of the rat-infested Handover hoosegow.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Ex-President Calvin Coolidge's death, which occurred last week at his Vermont home, has brought an order from the national government to keep all flags at half-mast for a period of thirty days.

The military sign of mourning, the flying of flags at half-mast, is a tribute that is being paid the statesman by the entire nation. Since leaving the presidency he has occupied himself with literature and law in his Vermont home.

The body has been placed in the family cemetery in Vermont in preference to a military burial in Arlington Cemetery at Washington, D. C.

Simplicity marked the burial of the nation's former leader, as it did his entire life.

THE SENIOR ISSUE

Since it was decided so late in the term that the Voice would not be issued this year, there is not sufficient time for the Blue and White to have individual pictures of the seniors made to publish in the Senior Issue of the paper.

But to approach this as nearly as possible four group pictures of the entire graduating class will be made.

The reason that the individual pictures could not be made is that the remaining time is too short for the photographer to make the pictures and show the proofs, for the seniors to select the poses they desire, for prints of these poses to be made, for these prints to be mounted on a plaque for the engraving cut, and for this cut to be submitted to the engravers. All this must be done before the printer receives the cut ready for printing.

Use of individual pictures would cost the seniors considerably more than the group pictures will. A very small charge to each member of the senior class will pay for the engravings, photography, and printing in part and the remainder of the cost will be covered by the proceeds from the senior class play. The printing bill will be paid by the Blue and White if enough advertising is secured to cover the cost of printing the picture pages. The complete charge to the class member will not exceed twenty-five cents.

There are to be four group pictures, which will cover the entire graduating class. Individual pictures of the directors and commencement speakers will be made.

The entire issue will be composed of the senior pictures and articles concerning their activities in the clubs and organizations in which they have done outstanding work. Reviews of the work of the clubs will be presented together with news of the activities of senior week. There will be an increase in the size of the paper from four to eight pages. Extra copies will be on sale for ten cents.

THANK YOU, MR. DENTON

Through the courtesy of George L. Denton, manager of the Booth theater, it has been made possible for the Blue and White to sponsor the appearance of the picture, "Smilin' Thru", featuring Norma Shearer, at the Booth next Wednesday. The paper will receive one-half of the total receipts after the actual cost of showing the film is paid, and one-half of the proceeds from the sale of student tickets, which will be honored on both Tuesday and Wednesday.

This is but one of many favors which Mr. Denton has bestowed upon the Blue and White, and the students of Knoxville High School. Each semester the Blue and White has been given Booth passes, to be issued to those who pay their subscriptions promptly, and various classes have viewed pictures relating to their work free of charge.

The high place which Mr. Denton holds in the minds and hearts of the people of Knoxville is his reward for thinking of how he may best serve the interests of others. The Blue and White wishes to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Denton for his courtesy and thoughtfulness to the students of Knoxville High School.

AT THE THEATRES

By Alford Orr

TENNESSEE

This afternoon or tonight is your last chance to see Frank Buck's animal thriller, "Bring 'Em Back Alive", which is composed of his shots of various jungle episodes while collecting specimens thruout the world for divers zoological gardens.

Packed with action from start to finish, the movie presents a series of wild animal brawls and native village scenes with sound effect, gorgeous settings, and shots of some of the wonderful places we'd all like to visit.

It might not be a bad idea to take your girl along, for she's pretty sure to shrink right into protective arms at the sight of snakes crushing tigers and the like.

Opening tomorrow is Helen Hayes' second picture here in two weeks, "The Son-Daughter". It is fairly generally known that the birth of a daughter to a Chinese is like a slap in the face, a son being the real McCoy that every yellow papa welcomes. So we may deduce from this movie's title that the daughter is quite unusual to rate such a title. The make-up on the principals, Ramon Navarro and Helen Hayes, looks pretty shoddy to me and one may expect the usual banalities of sing-song voice, lock-step walk, etc., that characterize Oriental productions in which the players are occidental types.

BOOTH

Another jungle picture is showing in Knoxville this week-end; this time it's "Kongo", at the Booth. In this, Walter Houston does a Lon Chaney, and sports quite a gruesome face. The plot consists of a good dose of horror, jungle, vengeance, voo-doo, and brutality, all of which mixed up produces an elixir bizarre enough for the most thrill-thirsty. Blonde Virginia Bruce, as the much abused white girl, and brunette Lupe Velez, as the native hot-cha, round out the cast.

BIJOU

"Homicide Squad", a police picture, makes its timely arrival in our fair city upon the heels of the recent crime wave. This endeavor deals with the hardships and trials of the members of the police division in the investigations of violent demises. A splendid actor, Leo Carrillo, leads the rather good cast; others emoting in his company are Mary Brian and Noah Beery.

School Daze

By Alford Orr

A few people occasionally entertain a thought but the majority never give a party.

Heard a good joke over the radio the other night; here it is:

"Dreamed last night I ate too much gooseberry pie, died, and went to the hot place."

"What did you do down there?" "Shoveled coal and bossed the imps around."

"Did they obey you?"

"Naw, they went to the head man and he came around to see me."

"I'll bet he gave you an awful roasting; what did he say?"

"He was pretty sarcastic and asked me if I thought I owned this place. I said, 'Sure I own it.'"

"Since when?" he demanded.

"My wife gave it to me while I was on earth!"

Aesop Foible—

Once upon a time there lived in the deep, deep forest a family of foxes. There was old man Foxy Fox, a gay old dog (fox, rather), mamma Furpiece Fox, to say nothing of their offspring, little Faux Pas.

It seems that one night as the old boy staggered in from Eve's New Year party, the spouse was patiently awaiting the souse. As he fell through the door she fed him a couple of stiff ones that put him to sleep for the rest of the night.

Night after night this disgraceful scene was repeated, until finally Mr. Fox learned his lesson; he had been wasting his money. Why not just stay at home and let the wife biff him once or twice? That would give him the same groggy feeling and didn't cost him anything but a word back.

This is how the beautiful reformation of Foxy Fox came about, folks—truly a great moral lesson. Always remember, folks, the old adage: if there's anything in a man—the sea will bring it out.

Bobcats Hold Slight Lead In Cage Tilts

Trojans Are Underdogs As C. H. S. Game Looms on the Basketball Horizon.

Central High school of Fountain City is predominating the teams of the Knox County league. The boys representing the Red and Black have won eight games and lost none. Nine games should have been played by each team of the league up to date, but due to bad weather some of the games have been postponed. Powells High is the only team that has played every game of its schedule. K. H. S. and C. H. S. will probably clash within the next two weeks.

Trojans Defeat Circle Park Five

Exhibition Played During Chapel To Arouse Interest.

Freshmen and sophomores were treated to a sparkling basketball game yesterday as the first string Trojans annihilated the fast Circle Park quintet. The battle was played at chapel time. To create more interest in basketball and to give the students a chance to see their team in action was the purpose of the game.

"Many pupils," said Coach Wilson Collins, "have not seen the boys in action this year and we thought that an exhibition contest would give them this opportunity."

Saturday night the Trojan squad witnessed the Celtic-U-T game and several tricks of the world champions were tried on the Circle Park five.

Last week Chuck Taylor, former member of the Celtics and at present connected with the Converse Shoe Co., gave the Trojans a few pointers and taught them new formations. These new plays were evident as the varsity ran roughshod over the opposition.

G. Johnson and Wrifford played best for the Trojans, while Wise and Holder starred for Circle Park. "The students seemed to enjoy it," declared Coach Collins after the game. "We hope that they will show their appreciation by attending the remaining games."

Circle Park, Ramblers, And Blue Devils Are Victorious In Second Senior Independent League Meet

Irish and Park Wave Take Initial Games In Junior League Meet.

Circle Park, the Ramblers and Deery Street ran true to form in their second meeting of the Senior Independent League, as they won their games Monday afternoon.

The first meeting of the Junior Independent League found the Irish and Park Wave winning the initial games of that league.

Chesney, with 10 points, led Circle Park to her 47-22 victory over the DeMolay team. Moffett with 6 points was best for the losers. The Ramblers, led by Warren, who scored 10 points, defeated the Red Wave 33-29. E. L. Foster scored 8 points for Red Wave. Brown, of the Red Wave, made 6 points.

The Park Wave victory over the Blue Devils featured the play in the Junior League. The Wave victory to a great extent was due to the stellar play of Coker, who scored 18 of his team's 27 points. Yarnell, with 12 points, was outstanding for the losers. In the other game of the Junior League, the Irish defeated the Avondale five, 21-13. R. Bogart and L. C. Stair were best for the Irish. Martin led Avondale with 8 points.

The second round in the Junior League will be played Wednesday at 3 p. m. instead of Tuesday, due to the fact that the varsity team will play the Gibbs five at that time.

Girls' Kickball Teams Organize

Kickball teams have been selected from each class of girls of the Physical Education department and captains have been selected. They are Captains Catherine DeArmond, Ella Bevins, Mary Fitzgerald, Grace McLin, Mary Johnston, Frances Howard, and Lucile Hodsden.

The first round has been played with Captain Frances Howard's team winning by a close score over Lucile Hodsden's team. Two games were played Tuesday after school with Grace McLin's team defeating Captain Mary Johnston's team, and Mary Fitzgerald's team winning over Ella Bevins' team.

This afternoon Grace McLin's team will play Captain Howard's team. On Monday, the 16th, Fitzgerald meets Captain Catherine DeArmond. The winners of these two games will play during the week in the gymnasium to determine the champion.

Trojans Roll Youngs Under In Early, Cramped Battle

By 'Scoop' Harrington

Another close score featured the basketball game Friday night between K. H. S. and Youngs. The final score was K. H. S. 24, Youngs 20. "Little" Gene Johnson reached a new offensive height as he scored 14 points.

"The High School team was a little off offensively," said Coach Wilson Collins.

"The fact that the floor was so small seemed to hinder our passing attack," he continued.

According to the Coach, the teams of the past had trouble on the Youngs court. He cited instances when teams on which Greenie Greenblatt and Ernie O'Connor played were held to low scores.

According to the starting time of this game, it must have been the last course of a three course dinner. A group of K. H. S. supporters, including the writer, drove onto the Youngs High campus slightly after 7:30 p. m. expecting to see the battle, but lo! what met our eyes? A large crowd was leaving the gym. After a series of questions it was revealed that the game was over and Knoxville High had won. The game started early as the Youngs High Senior play was scheduled that night.

Speaking of crowds, there were at least three hundred people out to see the K. H. S.—Youngs game last Friday night. The Youngs supporters came out in droves, herds, Austins, Fords and Chevrolets to see their basketball team play. How they came is not the point; that they came is the important thing.

It was the pleasure of the writer to interview Luke Foster, petite Trojan quarterback, who sings his swan song to K. H. S. this month. Here are the actual words that were spoken:

Writer: Mr. Foster, I represent the press. Will you tell me what was your most thrilling play during the 1932 season?

Foster: None of your business!

Writer: Mr. Foster, do you know that what you are saying will go into print?

Foster: Well, that touchdown play in the County game was my big thrill.

Writer: Tell just how that play worked.

Foster: It was fourth down and we were about six yards from the goal line; the play called for me to throw a pass to either Howard or Troutman, but both were covered so I had to run with the ball.

Writer: Thank you. Did the fair sex inspire you?

Foster: Shut up!

Luke really is a good guy, even if he does not like to be interviewed; perhaps a feminine reporter should have interviewed him; at least his activities in the K. H. S. halls indicate that fact.

COACHES' GYM BOYS FOLLOW NEW FULL TIME GYM SCHEDULE

Approximately 500 boys, under the direction of Coaches Wilson Collins and Sam Jones, are following a gym schedule that will require the remaining time of the present term for completion.

The program requires six periods a day, five days a week. Each period class is divided into two sections with two leagues in each section and four teams in each league. While the teams of one league are playing basketball on the regular court, the others are drilled in another section of the building on exercises.

During the last week of school, the class tournament will be held. The class teams having the most victories in their respective periods will meet and the winner will be declared class champion.

This gym schedule was planned and developed by Coach Sam Jones.

Trojans Face T.S.D. On Their Court Tonight

K. H. S. Regular Lineup To Face T. S. D. When Game Opens At 7:30.

K. H. S. WIN PREDICTED

Tilts Scheduled For Tonight Will Decide Leader of County League.

In quest of their eighth straight victory and the leadership of the Knox County League, the undefeated Trojan basketballers of K. H. S. will journey out to the Tennessee School for the Deaf courts and meet the T. S. D. quintet tonight. The game will start at 7:30 and a large delegation of loyal fans is expected to follow the Trojans for the game.

Unless a startling upset takes place, K. H. S. will probably emerge victorious.

"However," declared Coach Wilson Collins, "we can't be too sure of winning. T. S. D. beat Gibbs last week 54-23, and any team that can do that is dangerous."

The same line-up that has started the majority of games this year will probably begin tonight. G. Johnson and Capt. Tharp, forwards; C. Johnson, center; and Wrifford and Sharpe, guards, will probably face the T. S. D. boys when the opening whistle sounds.

"Two big 'ifs' hang over tonight's battle. If the Trojans come out with a win and if Powells triumphs over the County Bobcats, Knoxville High will be the undisputed leader in the Knox County League. However, should both the Trojans and Central come through with victories, the County School will still be in the lead with nine wins against no losses to eight triumphs and no defeats for K. H. S.

Probably within the next two weeks, basketball fans will have the opportunity of seeing K. H. S. and C. H. S. in action on the hardwood court. The game will be the playoff of the postponed battle before the holidays. Another delayed contest will be settled as the Trojans journey to Carter High January 24.

With Karns as opponents, K. H. S. will enter its ninth game of the season next Tuesday afternoon after school. The contest will be played at home.

"We hope to have a large attendance for this game," Coach Collins stated. "The support and backing of the team this year has been far below the standard of previous years, and unless we get more help, basketball will probably be abandoned in Knoxville High.

"When we go to other schools, a large crowd always turns out, but when we play at home, the bleachers are usually empty except for a very few."

Admission for the game tonight and next Tuesday's battle will be only ten cents.

Delegates from Knoxville High school's Hi-Y left this time last year for the state Hi-Y conference at Nashville. John Moore acted as chairman.

Preparations for senior week were drawing near in the year of '32. The class song was written by Ruth Ann Mann and Clara Stargardt. The sermon was to be at St. John's church and the senior banquet was to be at the Hotel Andrew Johnson.

While graduates were giving their regrets, Jack Thomas was heard to say that he hated to lose the privilege of wearing that pretty uniform and being called "Major". Wonder if Keller Smith feels the same way?

McDonald Birch, nationally known magician, signed a contract to show his talents in Knoxville High school.

This was found in the Spectator: Evelyn Jones has not broken up with Bob Stubbley and it was said that Jack Hansard had renewed with love for Frances Johnson.

The Martin Rotary Club offered $150 for the two seniors who made the best speech on World War Peace Promotion. The contest was to be held at Martin, Tennessee.

STATE HISTORY IS SHOWN ON SCREEN

During the third and sixth periods on Tuesday, the 12-B history classes were shown lantern slides of historical landmarks in the development of Tennessee, and portraits of famous personages in the state's history.

The slides were prepared and released by the Colonial Dames of America and brought to Knoxville by the East Tennessee Historical society. They were shown at the Andrew Johnson hotel and at Park Junior High school last week.

An explanation of each of the slides shown here Tuesday was given by Miss Jessie Neubert, history instructor.

Led by Cadet First Lieut. Millard Warren and Cadet Second Lieut. Fred Richmond, the K. H. S. rifle team entered the first stage, prone position, of the Fourth Corps Area rifle match, making a score of 973 for Wednesday, January 10, out of a possible 1,000 points. Last year's score was 966.

"This is probably the highest score ever reached by K. H. S. shooting in the prone position," said Sergt. W. A. Pratt, Wednesday at the completion of the match stage.

Warren and Richmond, the high point men of the match, made 99 out of a possible 100 and tied for first place.

We have often heard of negroes "shaking in their shoes" at the thought of a cemetery, but we would hardly connect the same sort of incident with our dignified president, Fay McGuire.

However, there is just such a story to relate. The scene of the incident is at Lexington, Va., at the cemetery in which lies the tomb of "Stonewall" Jackson.

Naomi Ravenscroft was there with a boy friend and Fay had been escorted by Leslie Clark. Robert Izat was also included in the party. Naomi, Vernon, and Robert eagerly went in.

But not our Fay! She stayed outside and was very, very happy. Leslie would have liked to go in, but gentleman that he is, he stayed out with his girl friend. What this country needs is more Leslie Clarks.

Typing Contest Held In Chapel

Typewriter Mfgs. To Present Typing Pupils Prizes For Speed Test.

On Thursday, January 19, in upper class chapel a typewriting contest will be held for the 11-A, 12-B and 12-A students.

Four prizes will be awarded. First prize, a handsome fountain pen and pencil set, with the owner's name engraved on each piece, will be given by the Remington Typewriter Co. The other three prizes will be given by the Underwood Typewriter Co., Princeton, and W. A. Johnston Typewriter Co.

The first prize will be given for the highest number of net words made by a 12-A student; the second prize will be given to the 12-B student making the greatest number of net words. The 11-A student writing the highest number of net words will receive the third prize.

"Net words" means the total number of words written, less a deduction of ten words for each error. Fourth prize will be awarded to the student making the fewest errors while writing during the contests.

All this week elimination contests for the final contest in various typewriting classes will be held. For the final contest ten students from each of the three classes will be selected to compete for the prizes. These students will write before the upper chapel for five minutes.

The contest, made possible thru the co-operation of the above-mentioned typewriter concerns, is being sponsored by Miss Mary Ellen Champe, supervisor of the commercial department.
