Sara Martin, Edwina Lowe, Elizabeth Kerr, Southern, and Kidd Defend K.H.S.

FINALS IN MAY

A. Smith, Mary Currier, F. Brehm, and C. Johnston Form KHS Debate Teams.

Climaxing a number of weeks of strenuous preparation, the "Big Six" contest will be held today at Ayres Hall. The chances of K. H. S. for victory rest with Gillis Kidd, Sara Martin, Edwina Lowe, Elizabeth Kerr, Charles Southern, Alvin Smith, Mary Currier, Fred Brehm, and Charles Johnston.

Just this year the "Big Six" was made by the addition of the declamation event. The contest is sponsored by the Educational Division of U-T, and the several teacher-training institutions of the state. Its purpose is to further (Continued on Page 4)

Photographers Make More Pictures Today

Jim Thompson Photographers said Tuesday that the pictures of those pupils that were absent on the days that the school pictures were made would be made yesterday and today. Some of the pictures made for the senior class to be published in the Blue and White can be made again for the additional cost of twenty-five cents.

Since the pictures that are to be published in the paper have been, for the most part, made by Jim Thompson Photographers, all of them will have to be made by the same photographer so as not to have varying sizes and types of pictures.

A large number of the pictures have been satisfactory and have been or may be purchased at the school bank by the graduating class members for seventy-five cents, which includes the costs for engraving and printing. According to Sidney Licht, business manager of the B. & W., the class voted almost unanimously for the pictures to be published in the final issue of the school paper.

Senior Class Play Leads

Charles Southern, Margaret Love, Nannette Manning, and Robert Akers have been chosen for the leading characters of the Senior Class play. Mr. Southern and Miss Manning will portray the first leads of the production, "A Full House."

Chas. Southern, Nan. Manning Are Play Leads

Second Leads In "A Full House" To Be Played by Bob Akers and Margaret Love.

FOURTEEN IN CAST

To Be the Funniest and Most Entertaining Play Presented Here, Says Sams.

Charles Southern and Nannette Manning will take the leading roles of the senior class play, "A Full House," while the second leads will be played by Bob Akers and Margaret Love. Oscar Sams, dramatics coach, announced yesterday the entire cast is as follows:

George Howell, Charles Southern; Ottilly Howell, Nannette Manning; Ned Pembroke, Bob Akers; Daphne Charters, Margaret Love; Miss Winniker, Caunita Francis; Susie, Margaret Curtis; Parks, Joe Silva; King, Bill McDonald; Dougherty, Ed Stokely; Mooney, a cop, Carl Huffman; Clancy, Lamar McCampbell; Vera Vernon, Katherine Gaston; Mrs. Pembroke, Gladys Agee; Mrs. Fleming, Evelyn Carter.

Charles Southern is a member of the Masquers club and the Open Forum, and has worked quite a bit in high school dramatics.

Royal Co. Offers $200 Ad Prize

Well-Written Sincerity To Be Deciding Factor.

Two hundred dollars in cash will be divided among twenty-seven students submitting the best written advertisements on the Royal Signet Typewriter as a graduation or a vacation gift. Ten high school newspapers in schools where students submit the best layout or arrangement sketches with their advertisements will receive this ad as paid page copy in a May or June issue.

Originality in writing the advertisement will count, but the judges most of all will look for well-written sincerity. Awards in cash for students who write the advertisements will be divided: fifty dollars first prize, twenty-five dollars second prize, five third prizes of ten dollars each, ten fourth prizes of five dollars each, and ten fifth prizes of two dollars and fifty cents each.

The selection of ten winners for the high school newspaper advertisements will be based upon the artistic and advertising merit of suggestions covering the physical appearance or arrangement of the advertisements.

Competition closes midnight, on May 2, 1933, and winners will be announced in the May 27 issue of Scholastic.

Plaque To Be Given Class With Highest Percent Of Rating

Four Points To Be Considered — Plaque To Be Awarded Each Term.

To create more class loyalty and to give honor where honor is due, the school plaque is to be awarded to the class getting the highest rating on the following four points: promptness, attendance, scholarship, and students participating in curricular-activities. The plaque will be placed in the auditorium with the colors of the winning class on it. At the end of the term the numerals of the class winning the plaque will be engraved on it. This plan was presented by Prof. John Walker to the Upper Class Council last Tuesday at their regular meeting.

C. A. Browning gave a talk on morals, in which he said, "The people of this high school and the entire world are developing the idea that it is all right to do wrong if you can get by with it. Cheating on tests and in daily work is a very bad policy. We must change this attitude and create the feeling that wrong is wrong because it is wrong. The superior citizen is the one who does right because it is right and not because a law officer is watching him."

S-C Staff Pupils To Receive Pins

Three Students Win Awards For Special Work.

Bertha Nius, Virgil Watson, and Capitola Shannon will be awarded special pins at the next meeting of the Student Council, April 24, in recognition of their services as staff members, if they have completed the requirements for staff membership by that time. These students, while not elected to the Student Council, have very efficiently carried out work that the elected members were not able to handle.

In accordance with the Student Council Constitution, the president has the right to appoint staff members when the elected members are unable to care for any special phase of work such as typing, art, or public speaking. To be eligible for staff membership a student must be passing in four subjects with at least a C-plus average; he must have special ability in the particular type of work which he is to handle; his character and conduct must be above reproach; and he must be able to devote a minimum of forty hours' service per term to Student Council work.

Bertha Nius, a 12B student, has done much of the typing for the Student Council, and has assisted on lost and found duty. She has already completed all requirements for staff membership and is entitled to wear the staff pin. (Continued on Page 4)

Issue New Library Passes For Reference Work Only

As there are a limited number of seats in the library, and some people need access to the library more than others, a new plan has been worked out so the people needing to do special work may be admitted.

Teachers are to have passes to issue to students who must do special work in the library. The student may use these passes any period and they will be sent to the study hall, as has been the previous custom.

Pupils who choose books for recreation should get them before and after school, leaving the library open during all regular periods for special reference work.

Previously, students have taken text books into the library, but this will be prohibited. No books can be taken into the library except note books and library books being returned.

Book Stickers Placed In Students' Texts

As a step toward preventing theft in K. H. S. stickers bearing the student's name, date, number of book, and teacher's O. K. were placed in all text books Wednesday by the class teachers.

Books which do not bear one of these stickers will not be accepted by the book exchange or any second hand book store. If there should be any question as to whether the book has been stolen, the class teacher's list may be consulted.

The stickers, which are about an inch wide by three inches long, were placed in the upper left hand corner of the inside front cover. The name and date were written in ink by the pupil, while the number and O. K. were filled in by the class teacher.

The stickers were printed in the K. H. S. printshop.

Hardtack Ike Leaves Happy Home, Sheriff To Find Content, Freedom Among Wolves

A tale I'll tell of Hardtack Ike, He hailed and rained from the cold Klondike. Shave with a blowtorch? No, not he, Just blasted his beard off with T. N. T!

Through the bluster of the blizzard that hardy buzzard Ike had mused and milked for two days and as many nights. Close upon his heels a pack of camels (pardon me, wolves) dogged his faltering footsteps. Old Ike had reached the end of his rope, but, like the tenacious prospector that he was, had tied a knot in the end and was hanging on.

Stopping at last from sheer exhaustion, our hero builds a fire and broils a tender grub-steak to appease his hunger. Three Percent Two, Ike's faithful Siberian soup-hound, who accompanies him, goes out beyond the fire's range and knocks off a couple of wolves for his own supper. At last Hardtack's meal is done, and he curls up like your winter underwear and drifts off into dreamland.

Awakening the next morning, Ike wearily staggers to his feet and presses on. On and on he presses, but still the brakes refuse to hold. Oh, Ike is in a desperate situation!

Another night falls; in fact, it falls so hard that poor old Ike can't get out of the way in time and is knocked out colder than an ice cube.

Lying there unconscious, Hardtack dreams of spring and home and the boys on the corner who wait for him in vain. It's been many a year since he left his dear little old mother out in the kitchen washing out home-brew bottles, and he knows that there's a light in the window, and a light sentence of thirty years back in the old home town.

Dawn breaks, making such a racket that it awakens Ike from his slumber.

Sitting up and rubbing his head where night had hit him, a curious scene greets the startled eyes of old Hardtack. Strewn around him in various and sundry graceful positions of repose are the bodies of six hundred and forty-five full-grown wolves. While he had been asleep the pack had sneaked up and bit the tough old egg and died of chronic poisoning.

Two weeks later, in Nome, Ike reaps a rich harvest from the wolf pelts and shoves off for home, mother, and the girl who has been waiting with a breach of promise suit.

KEEP MOVING

Knoxville High's present senior class is to be congratulated for its early start on the various senior activities.

The commencement speakers have been at work for more than a month, and at present the cast for the semi-annual senior play is being selected and plans for senior week are being completed.

The Blue and White commends the senior class, and hopes that the seniors themselves will follow the example set by their class and that they will pay all senior dues as early as possible in order that this year's senior week will be the most successful in Knoxville High's history.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

A question before the school is: Will we have "Daylight Saving Time" or not. Several points may be listed both in favor of and against the plan.

Some may say it makes school start too soon. But since the hour of retirement is moved up to cope with the situation there should be no serious conflict with one's sleeping time.

The main reason for the project is to have the extra hour of daylight in the late afternoon. No one can deny that this is a point firmly established for the affirmative.

An objection is the fact that the student will not regard the 10, 11, or 12 o'clock a slate hour, thinking that it is an hour ahead of time.

The question that will decide the issue is: Will the student strictly observe the same hours by the clock that he has in the past? If so, the Daylight Saving time will be as good for Knoxville as it is for any city.

It is fully up to the individual until the pros or cons are determined by the majority. Until then, be open minded, listen to reason, and then be willing to accept the verdict of the majority. This is the only thing we can do.

THE NEW LIBRARY PLAN

In order to distribute the opportunity to use the school library more evenly, a new plan for issuing library permits has been devised.

Since there are a limited number of seats in the library and the first comers are first served under the present system, students who have classes near the library just before their vacant periods have an advantage over those who come from remote class rooms. The student who arrives when the last chair has been assigned may have more urgent need to use library facilities than many of those already admitted. Since the school organization does not permit pupils to return to study hall after the tardy bell rings, it is not possible for the librarians to investigate the merits of each case and to assign seats to those who have definite library work to complete.

In order, therefore, that preference may be given to pupils wishing to do reference work, a new plan has been devised.

Each teacher will be furnished with passes to the library and the teacher will issue passes only to the students to whom he assigns reference work. Each student will fill out his own pass and present it to the teacher for signature. The subject of the assignment will be indicated as specifically as possible to aid the librarians in getting the right books for the students.

The student, after receiving his pass, may come to the library during any of his vacant periods. Passes will be collected and sent to the study hall as usual. No books except note books and library books that are being returned will be allowed in the library. All other books must be left in lockers.

Pupils should choose books for recreational reading before and after school, thus leaving space in the library for students doing reference work. Students may continue to come to the library before and after school without passes, and may enter the library between periods to borrow or return books.

We feel that every K. H. S. student will realize the superiority of this plan and will do his best to make it a success.

The Spectator

Notice, boys! If you haven't met the cute little "Miss" from Texas—Joan Handley—you'd better get to it.

Izzy Prater and Leslie Stapleton are "at it" again. Luck to you both.

Did you notice how Gwen Bittle watched Cowan last week in chapel? The cause?—Bus.

At The Theatres

By Alford Orr

TENNESSEE

"All good things come in big doses," the proverb has it, and to me that looks to be about true. Following "Rasputin" is "Private Jones", with the popular and dynamic Lee Tracy. This latest film featuring the glib Lee is an opus about a slacker's army life after the draft finally got him. Tracy is supported, and well, too, by shapely Gloria Stuart, whom you will remember played in "The Old Dark House" last week-end.

Saturday brings "Gabriel Over the White House", with Walter Huston and Karen Morley, to this theatre. Huston has the role of President of these United States and is said to put pep into the story with his able acting and fiery oratory.

BIJOU

Here it's Lee Tracy again, this time in the second run "The Half-Naked Truth". This show is about a press agent who could talk anybody out of or into anything. Tracy is cast as the high pressure and sure fire agent and makes a great hit. Lupe Velez, as the carnival cooch dancer whom Lee prompts into Merl Farrell's Vanities, is also good. The show boasts the added asset of having Eugene Paullet, a most amusing gentleman, in its cast.

This week's nomination for Princess Charming is Kathleen King.

Nell Piper and Frank Sherrod enjoy psychology too much. Can't someone break it up?

Imagine Jewell Watson teaching a college graduate to kiss. We can't either.

Why can't Gillis Kidd decide between Juanita Gray and Helen Murphy?

Buddy Worsham said to tell everyone that he was in love with Anna Lee Wolfenbarger.

Ed Evans can't make up his mind about his girls. Why not use the process of elimination?

School Daze

By Alford Orr

Well, folks, that picture in this column last week was just as much of a surprise, and, I grant, a much bigger one to me than it was to you long-suffering subscribers. Just in case you did not recognize that ducky little girl, it was our old friend Charmaine Winterbottom, B. C. By B. C. I mean Before Christmas, 1919, when she was merely budding into her own brand of bucktoothed beauty.

I hear a voice so sweet and low,
At times rising high as yeasted dough.
It echoes, thrilling as a dream,
And is sour enough to curdle cream.

Would suggest that the B. and W. run a picture of an anteater, elephant or anything else of a nosey nature in the column below and to the left of this one.

100 Men Enter Spring Practice; Get Equipment

Gridsters Go Through Fundamentals At First Outdoor Meet.

"Old Man Sol" greeted Coach Wilson Collins and his gridiron candidates in their first workouts on the K. H. S. practice field this week.

Uniforms were issued to about 100 men Monday and Tuesday, and after two weeks in classrooms the boys are ready to go.

"We will carry out on the practice field what we have been learning in the classroom," Coach Collins said. "The plans include blocking, tackling, and other fundamentals," he concluded.

Many new men have reported for their first year in varsity competition and the coaches may not have much trouble in filling the few vacancies left by graduation.

Capt. Harold Harris, who has been a bulwark of defense for the Trojans for the past three years, will be hard to replace at center. After conferring with W. E. Evans he thought it better that he graduate with the June class.

Among the other lettermen missing are John Troutman, end; Stan Warren, back; and Bill Jones, back.

X-Trojans Forming Baseball Team Now

Knoxville High will have a baseball team after all!

Stan Warren, Trojan footballer, decided that himself, so he organized an X-Trojan playground nine that plans to play independent ball this summer.

Any boy in Knoxville High school who has won his "K" in some sport is eligible for a try-out.

At present Warren has the following men lined up for try-outs: Harold Harris, John Troutman, Bill Baker, Clinton Johnson, Charles Monroe, Bill Jones, Ardlist Pease, Oscar Howard, Gene Johnson, and Leslie Wrifford.

12A Champs Rate Two Men On Class All-Tourney Team

All-Knox County team, all-District team, all-Regional team, R. O. T. C. honor team, this all-star team and that all-star team. All-tournament selections galore and what's worse—here's another one! But—and here's good news to you—this is the final selection of the year. No more all-star teams this season!

With so many outstanding players in the tourney it was really a difficult job to pick an all-star team. Here's the one we finally concluded would be the best all-around five that could be chosen:

Maurice Cottrell, 10B.....	Forward
Jimmie Wise, 12A.....	Forward
Clarence Beasley, 12B.....	Center
Bob Akers, 12A.....	Guard
Jack Keys, 10B.....	Guard

For the second team we find something like this:

Ardlist Pease, 12B.....	Forward
George Creswell, 11A.....	Forward
Jim McKamey, 12B.....	Center
George Krisle, 11A.....	Guard
Wyman Clark, 10B.....	Guard

The players were selected on the basis of value to their teams, and offensive and defensive strength. There were several other outstanding players that were worthy of honor team selections but the above named seemed more deserving.

Senior Quint Downs Sophs To Take Class Cage Title

12A's Annex Close 14-12 Triumph In Finals of Tournament Tuesday.

Knoxville High's annual inter-class basketball feud is settled for another year, and the haughty 12-A Seniors are champions by virtue of their close 14-12 triumph over the 10-B Sophs Tuesday. The game was an extra period battle, the score being 12-12 at the end of the regular playing time.

The seniors were anything but dignified as they battled desperately in the last half to forge ahead. They scored only one field goal—that by Pat Sproule—in the first half and were behind 11-5 when the half closed.

Still trailing the fighting Sophs by six points at the start of the last quarter, they came out with the well-known "do-or-die" look on their faces. Led by Doug Bean, who scored seven points in the last half rally, the seniors proceeded to tie the score, a foul shot bringing the point that knotted the count.

In the play-off Jimmie Wise, captain of the 12-A's, sank a one-handed shot to give his team the victory.

Jack Keys led the losers in the scoring with seven points to tie for high-scoring honors with Doug Bean, who scored a like number for the winners.

Bob Akers, Glenn Jenkins, and Cecil Stansberry led the seniors on defense. Oliver Shetterly and Wyman Clark were best for the Sophs on defense.

"Fats" Monroe called a good game in his job of referee.

Annual Net Meet Starts Tomorrow

Entries Must Be in B-W Office By 2 P. M. Today.

Prospects are bright for an excellent season for the K. H. S. tennis team this year. Three lettermen, Bob Bogart, Marshall Neal, and Vernon Grizzard, return from last year's strong squad, and the other two places will be filled by capable men.

Ressler, Lavender, Kuhlman, and Bean have shown up well and will probably wage a merry battle for the two open spots in the annual K. H. S. tennis tournament which starts tomorrow.

The tournament this year will be conducted differently from the system used in past seasons. In past years, the four semi-finalists, together with one other player from the annual tourney, formed the K. H. S. team. This spring the three lettermen, Bogart, Neal, and Grizzard, will not participate in the tournament, and the two finalists in the tourney will be the fourth and fifth men of the tennis team.

"This seems to be a good plan," said Coach Wilson Collins. "Now there can be no kicking about the drawings, as there has been in the past."

The tournament may be entered by any boy in K. H. S. All entries, together with the phone numbers of entrants, must be in the Blue and White office by 2 o'clock today. Drawings will be posted on the bulletin board in the front hall at 3 o'clock. First round matches must be played by next Thursday, and second round matches by the following Monday. In case of rain, all dates will advance a day. All matches will consist of two out of three sets, except semi-finals and finals, which will be three out of five sets.

Matches are tentative with Morristown High, and Baylor and McCallie schools of Chattanooga. The entire team is expected to enter the Tennessee State High School Tournament at Morristown in May, and members will probably attend the Southern high school meet at Riverside Military Academy, Gainesville, Ga.

Harry Carter says he "lurves" a little girl who has black hair, who doesn't wear make-up, and whose last name is Dempster. Can you guess?

Tracksters Go Against Frosh This Afternoon

Time Trials Slated For 3 P. M. At Shields-Watkins Field Today.

NEW BOYS PLEASING TO COACH SAM JONES

Several Newcomers Approved By the 'Gentleman' In Time Trials.

If you are planning to watch or attend any of the track meets in which the Trojan cinder path artists are entered, you will have a chance to see how they stack up against fast company this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when they meet the U-T Freshmen in time trials at Shields-Watkins field.

Coach Sam Jones was rather pleased with the way the Trojans showed up against the Frosh and Varsity Saturday. Though no points were kept, the K. H. S. squad was right in the thick of the contest.

"Several new boys caught my eye, and with a little more work I'm expecting great things from them," Coach Jones said.

Acuff, a new man, pleased Jones in the half-mile, as did Stout, Badgett, Matthews, Hunt, and Roberts in some of the other events.

Bill Jones, dash man, will have keen competition in DeWitt Roberts, who has been showing steady improvement.

All the boys are working hard in preparation for one of the best schedules arranged for the team in a long time.

Trips to Kingsport, L. M. U., and Nashville will be made.

April 22, the squad will journey to L. M. U. to participate in the Tri-State meet being held there. April 29, they go to Kingsport to take part in the East Tennessee meet, which was voted to Kingsport this year. On May 6 Nashville, Tennessee, will be their destination, as they travel there to try to capture the state title.

The complete schedule is as follows:

- April 7—U-T Freshmen.
- April 14—Kingsport, here.
- April 22—L. M. U. (Tri-State, there).
- April 29—Kingsport (East Tennessee, there).
- May 6—Nashville (State, there).
- May 13—Morristown, here.

Famous Movie Dog, Silver King, Visits Schools

Goes Thru His Stunts and Demonstrates His Intelligence at KHS Monday.

Knoxville school children had the opportunity of seeing a "real movie dog" this week, when Silver King, famous motion picture dog, visited the city schools.

The dog and his trainer, Arthur Butler, have been traveling throughout the United States, giving safety programs and forming safety clubs at the many schools which they have visited.

K. H. S. students were invited to attend a demonstration given in the assembly hall Monday afternoon. Teachers and representatives from the various schools were also present, and at the end of the performance made arrangements for the program to be presented in their schools.

Stunts by the dog, such as playing the piano and singing, pretending to be wounded, and imitating a mad dog, as well as a brief address by Mr. Butler, were included in the program.

Silver King is a member of 88 American police forces. He can direct traffic and will not allow anyone to cross the street on a red light. He is the grandson of Strongheart, first American motion picture dog.

Senior Champs Hurl Challenge

Faculty Accepts Offer To Play 12A's A Game.

After trouncing the 10-B Sophs in the finals of the annual K. H. S. basketball tournament, the champion 12-A Seniors immediately challenged the faculty to a game to be played sometime next week.

The challenge, received by Coach Wilson Collins yesterday, read:

"Whereas, on this fifth day of April in the year 1933 A. D., the 12-A Senior basketball team has gained the title of class champs of K. H. S., we, of the aforementioned 12-A team, do hereby hurl a challenge to the faculty of Knoxville High to play this same Senior team one (1) game of basketball within the next week, preferably at chapel time next Tuesday or Thursday.

"We await your reply (hoping you accept).

"Sympathetically,
"THE 12-A CHAMPS."

"Sure we accept," said the pleased Mr. Collins. "Any time, any place, any date—we will play!"

So watch the daily bulletin for announcement concerning the battle of the year!

MASQUERS GIVE INDIAN PLAYLET ON K.H.S. HOUR

The K. H. S. Masquers' club presented an interesting Indian playlet last Tuesday evening on the Knoxville High hour.

The playlet, directed by Oscar Sams, K. H. S. dramatics director, portrayed the saving of John Smith by the Indian princess, Pocahontas, daughter of Chief Powhatan.

Those who took part were Edwina Lowe, Sara Martin, Vitcha Makers, Robert Ray, Joe Silva, and George Trammell.

The playlet's musical accompaniment was furnished by Howard Walters, violinist, and Ralph Neal, pianist.

Prof. Fred DeRobertis, conductor of the K. H. S. orchestra, played two saxophone compositions with flute obligato by Margaret Farmer.

member of the Spanish and Masquers clubs, the National Honor society, and the Student Council.

Bob Akers, better known as Mr. K. H. S., is secretary of the Hi-Y and associate sports editor of the Blue and White.

Margaret Love, sponsor of "C" company, has served two years on the Blue and White staff, and is a member of the Quill and Scroll society. She has won recognition in several dramatic productions.

"I would have liked to have given each contestant a part," explained Mr. Sams, "but there were fifty of them from which I had to pick fourteen. I selected persons whom I thought most suited for the characters."

Mr. Sams wishes to meet all members of the cast this afternoon in the auditorium.

an interest in civic questions, to cultivate an interest in speech, and to promote the development of sound public opinion among the people of the state.

The contest held today at the "Hill" is only one of seven similar contests being held throughout Tennessee. The winners of each of the seven districts will meet in May and decide the state champions. The persons who are so fortunate as to win in the state contest go to the National contest held sometime in the future. K. H. S. has several times won this distinction.

Gillis Kidd is representing K. H. S. in original oratory. He has chosen as his subject, "The Man at the Wheel." In this he discusses the good and bad angles of machinery for a value-of-man viewpoint.

Sara Martin is the contestant in dramatic reading. She will read "The Angelus" by Eleanor H. Porter. The theme of this reading is drawn from the writer's conception of the picture of the same name.

Edwina Lowe is the extemporaneous speaker for High school. She will speak from articles in several of the more important periodicals, drawing most of her information from Time, the Literary Digest, and the Review of Reviews. So far as can be determined by the present status of current problems, the topic will be either "Hitler and the Situation in Europe" or the "Muscle Shoals Project."

Elizabeth Kerr is the representative in humorous reading. Her reading concerns the antics of a typical high school boy when he has a mix-up with his girl friend.

Charles Southern will defend K. H. S. in declamation. From a wide field of possible orations, he has chosen Roosevelt's Inaugural Address.

The affirmative debate team is composed of Fred Brehm and Charles Johnston. The negative, Alvin Smith and Mary Currier. The subject for the debate is "Resolved that at least half of all state and local revenue be derived from taxation other than tangible property."
