

Today Is Last Day Of Classes For Graduates

Senior Play To Be Presented Tomorrow Night In the Auditorium.

COMMENCEMENT MAY 31

Baccalaureate by Dr. Barbour Is Sunday Night at Second Presbyterian.

Today is the last time graduating seniors will be together in classes and tomorrow at three o'clock seniors will be given their report cards in the assembly hall. They will also rehearse marching for the class play.

"A Full House," the senior class play, will be given Friday night at 8 o'clock. Leads for the play are Nannette Manning, Charles Southern, Margaret Love, and Robert Akers. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

Rev. Clifford Barbour will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday night at 8. Seniors are to meet at 7:45 at the Second Presbyterian church on the corner of Walnut street and Church avenue.

Monday night at 6:45 the Publication Banquet, Monday, May 29, at 6:45 p. m. The three persons receiving the highest number of votes were Ralph Wilson, Sidney Licht, and Vernon Grizzard.

FIFTH PERIOD MONITOR STAFF ADJUDGED BEST

To the fifth period monitors go the "spoils of the victory" for having served best during the past term. With Bob Osborne as head and Jean Shubert as assistant, these monitors have been adjudged the most efficient for the first and last six weeks of this term.

First place during the second six weeks was won by the fourth period monitors under the leadership of John Parker and John Pelton.

Much of their success should be attributed to Allan Hart, chairman of the monitor system. In addition to his regular routine work, he has installed monitors in the new building at positions known as E1, E2, E3, and he has worked out a plan whereby the monitors can be more closely checked.

Schultz, Wallace To Lead Blue And White Next Year

James Allen Schultz, a member of the National Honor society and a reporter on this term's staff, will head the Blue and White staff next term when he becomes editor-in-chief, and Harry McNabb, recently appointed to the reporting staff from the newswriting class, will assume the duties of associate editor, it was learned today. Ralph Wallace, who served on this term's staff as advertising manager and was adjudged the best-drilled cadet in the K. H. S. R. O. T. C. battalion last Friday when he was awarded the Morgan medal, will be business manager of the new staff.

Heading the news department of the new staff will be Charlotte Wilson, a member of the National Honor society and a reporter on the retiring staff. Carolyn Anderson, Gennie Kent, Josephine Shepherd, Dorothy Ann Ford, Virginia Joffe, Alva Pease, Margaret Smith, and Aileen Tipton, comprise the new reporting staff. Johnny

Senior Class Play Leads

Charles Southern, Margaret Love, Nannette Manning, and Robert Akers will be the leading characters of the Senior Class play, to be presented tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the K. H. S. auditorium.

B & W Banquet To Be Monday Night

Wilson, Licht Winners—Grizzard Student Speaker.

Ralph Wilson, editor of the Blue and White, will be presented with the Quill and Scroll medallion, given to the person who has done the most for journalism during the year, at the tenth annual Publication Banquet, Monday, May 29, at 6:45 p. m. The three persons receiving the highest number of votes were Ralph Wilson, Sidney Licht, and Vernon Grizzard.

Sidney Licht, business manager of the paper, will receive the Herff-Jones cup for getting the most advertising for the paper during the year.

Bob Murphy, sports editor of the Journal, will be guest speaker at the banquet. Ralph Wilson is to be toastmaster. Vernon Grizzard, student speaker, will discuss "On Tips."

Guests at the banquet are to be Dr. Harry Clark and members of the Board of Education, Publication Council, Benton Stong, and M. B. Chambers, editor and business manager, respectively, of the News-Sentinel, R. H. Clagett and Gordon Garlington, editor and advertising manager of the Journal, former editors and business managers of the Blue and White, and members of the new Blue and White staff.

MORGAN MEDALIST

RALPH WALLACE

Cadet judged the most proficient in the school of the soldier at the competitive drill Friday. He has drilled two years and was commissioned a second lieutenant at the officers' banquet Tuesday night.

HI-Y CLUB TO INSTALL NEW OFFICERS TONIGHT

Knoxville High's Hi-Y club will install its new officers at its final banquet of the year tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:30.

The students who will lead the club next semester are Marshall Waller, president; L. C. Stair, vice-president; Earl Bradley, secretary; and Erskine Brown, treasurer. They succeed F. G. Denton, Bob Bogart, Bob Akers, and Bill Chamberlain, who have served this term. Denton will be toastmaster at the banquet.

T. Bauer Elected 'Miss Commercial'

Defeats Treva Brewer In Contest Closing Monday.

Thelma Bauer, 12-A student, has won the title of "Miss Commercial" by the votes of members of the commercial department. The contest, which will be an annual event in the future, closed Monday afternoon.

There was a tie between Treva Brewer and Thelma Bauer, and the final decision was made only after the judges counted and recounted the votes several times.

"The contest," said Miss Mary E. Champe, "was one of the closest ones that I have ever heard of. It was difficult to pick the winner, as both girls were so representative of the commercial department, and both possessed the qualities necessary for 'Miss Commercial'."

Thelma is an honor student and has done outstanding work in the bank and in the office. She has also been active in all commercial activities.

Eight girls were in the primary election. They were Mildred Stinnette, Annis Draper, Elizabeth Ramsey, Lena B. Nichols, Reva Sorrells, Velma Peters, Treva Brewer, and Thelma Bauer.

'33A Seniors Will Present 'A Full House'

N. Manning, C. Southern, M. Love, B. Akers Have Leads In Annual Play.

TIME IS 8 TOMORROW

Promises To Be Most Entertaining Play Given at K. H. S.—Sams.

In the auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the senior class will present its play, "A Full House." Price of the play to all will be twenty-five cents.

The cast of the play is as follows: Nannette Manning and Charles Southern have the first leads, while Bob Akers and Margaret Love take the second leads. Other characters are: Miss Winniker, played by Juanita Frances; the maid, by Margaret Curtis; the English butler, Joe Silva; the crook, Bill McDonald; chorus girl, Katherine Gaston; chief of police, Ed Stokely; policemen, Carl Huffman and LaMar McCampbell; Mrs. Fleming, Evelyn Carter; and Mrs. Pembroke, Gladys Agee.

The plot deals with a young bride and groom, who have rented an apartment furnished, not only with

ALTOS NEEDED IN BAND, ACCORDING TO CROUCH

According to W. H. Crouch, director of the K. H. S. band, there will be openings for clarinets and altos for the band next fall. He stated that he would like to have the boys see him soon to organize a Knoxville Boys' Band to be maintained during the summer months.

This band will be comprised of K. H. S. boys and members of the U-T band, according to Clarence Beaman, drum major of the Knoxville High school band. Beaman further stated that Mr. Crouch is expecting to take a band to North Carolina during the summer and is also planning a trip for a well-organized band to the Chicago World's Fair before next September.

Skunko Travels Far, Wide, Barely Escapes With Hide

By Alford Orr

However untrue to history this may be, Pray disregard, and bear with me, While Skunko wars the savage Turks And slits their throats with their own dirks.

Many a moon hath waxed and waned since Knighthood's flower, Skunko, the Valient, sought the repose of a grassy mound. But to carry on his famous name is Skunko, the Second, offspring of that great old soul (and heel).

Faring forth in company with the gallant band of bullies in tin vests under Dick the Lion Lung, Skunko trots easily along, his horse swaying gracefully in the saddle. However, Skunky has always been a puny lad, so, after crossing France, he orders the horse to get off and give him a rest.

For days and days, league after league the company pursues its goal. Finally Robin Hood gets over a beautiful place kick, and the score is tied, six thousand to nothing. With a lead like that Dick's team thinks that the score is not only tied, but sewed up in the bag. They travel on, and on.

Reaching the Holy City at 4 a. m. (D. S. T.), an ungodly hour at best, they put up for the rest of the night at the "Dirty Dishtowel Hostelry." The innkeeper, who is a pleasant old buzzard with but one eye and as many arms, regales them with three point two and bargain jokes (slightly soiled); at last even the intriguing tales of the old innkeeper can no longer keep the boys awake, so they fall, one by one, asleep.

Roused from their slumber some two hours later by the lusty crowing of barnyard fowl, Skunko and his companions discover that, during their sleep, they have been done up, taken down the creek, and sundry other choice phrases, by

NEW FRONTIERS

Another June has come, and one of the largest classes ever to graduate from Knoxville High faces Life in its stark reality. But in spite of the seeming chaos of world affairs, no other class has ever had the opportunities which await the June class of 1933.

It was Louis Pasteur who said toward the end of his notable career as a scientist and servant of humanity, "Science has extended the frontiers of life."

Never was the significance of that statement more evident than today. The old frontiers that were geographical have almost ceased to be. Even the icy barrier of the Antarctic Pole has been penetrated.

But new frontiers of the human mind and spirit have developed. In the realm of the physical and social sciences we are exploring untrodden territory. That is why there is urgent need today for trained minds, for minds trained to be observant, to be analytical, to be expert in following trails and applying facts to useful ends.

More than ordinary leisure exists today for mental training, and there are few who, having the will, cannot find the opportunity to employ that leisure to advantage. No mind need lie fallow because its owner cannot go to college. Instructive books are cheaper than at any time in history and better written. Correspondence schools of high standard are offering special inducements. Public libraries will provide courses in reading.

The home student has advantages that the college student lacks. To the ambitious student there is a big stimulus in being thrown on his own resources. In college there are many parasites who get by through picking the brains of their more diligent companions. Trained minds are not made that way. The disciplined mind is the result of personal digging and problem-solving.

Every senior of Knoxville High should endeavor to use to the best of his ability the opportunities which exist today, and should do his part in the conquering of the new frontiers.

"THANK YOU"

There is almost an unlimited number of persons who have helped the Blue and White in one of its most successful years. These people have not only consented to do the things asked of them, but have entered into the projects of the paper with an apparent personal interest.

George L. Denton, manager of the Booth Theatre, presented the staff with more than two hundred passes to his theatre as an aid in the semi-annual subscription campaign. Mr. Denton has done this for several terms in the past and it has proved an effective aid in obtaining subscriptions.

All activities and industrial art classes have shown a fine co-operative spirit toward the publication of the paper during the past by contributing in every way possible.

Principal W. E. Evans has shown an interest in the paper that was far beyond his duties. His personal interest has helped in many instances.

The personnel of the Blue and White expresses its gratitude for these things that have helped to make this a record year for the school publication.

SEVEN COLUMN PAPER

"Will the student body support a seven column paper next year?"

This is a question that has been seriously considered for sometime by Miss Emma Beeton, faculty adviser of the Blue and White, and other members of the Publication Council.

Certainly a school the size of K. H. S. merits a larger paper than the present five column one. Throughout the South all the best high schools have seven column publications. A seven column paper is always the winner of every high school newspaper convention and contest. The High News, seven column publication of Greenville High school, Greenville, S. C., was rated as the second best high school paper in the South in the recently held Atlanta Journal—Emory University contest.

The main factor to be considered is: "Can enough subscriptions be secured to make a seven column paper possible?" At least 2000 subscriptions must be secured to make this plan possible. With the present five column paper and 800 subscribers the Blue and White costs seventy-five cents per term. If 2000 subscriptions could be obtained next year a larger paper would be assured, and, in addition to being larger, it would be cheaper, costing only $1.00 per year.

With the larger circulation more advertisements would be secured, and, as ads are the chief incomes of a paper, would be a great aid financially.

If a seven column paper is attempted next year, will you not do your part toward making it a success? Only the whole hearted co-operation of everyone will make it possible, and if you and everyone else will back it, this dream may become a reality.

PROGRESS

Progress is sometimes apparently indiscernible. For example, consider a spiral spring. In following its convolutions with your finger, you seem to be merely tracing and retracing your original path. But in reality, your finger is at the same time reaching a greater height with each revolution around the spring.

Likewise, progress in education and life is often invisible. We spend years in school, and apparently make little material progress although we move from grade to grade and school to school. But we are constantly broadening our outlook and increasing our intelligence.

We may work for months at the same job and seemingly make no progress toward success in business. But we are unconsciously obtaining a firm foundation of sound business principles, and are making a part of our character those valuable traits which help to make our lives distinct contributions to mankind.

Katherine Gaston — Charles Southern.
Virginia Williams—Alford Orr.
Camille Parsons—Walter Marshall.
Gwen Bittle—Bill Chamberlain.
Vivian Gies—Bud Stansberry.
Mary Nell Cooper—Sidney Licht.
Beverly Taylor—Ed Stokely.
Elizabeth Miller—Guy Smithson.
Willa Steen Alexander—Lamar McCampbell.

We ask you, Vera Brooks—could Bootie's "Jerry" be Jerry Giuseffi?

Claude Riley and Blondie Scarbrough might give us a little information about the foursome who were riding about in a field on the night of May 6.

This week's nomination for Princess Charming is Marion Bankson.

Doug Bean and Jane Wayland are finishing up a good year's work. They're still going strong, too!

The affair between Estelle Lunsford and George Ruble seems to have lasted all term. The question is—will it last thru the summer?

School Daze

By Alford Orr

Well, folks, I'm sorry, but after this issue there'll be no more columns by yours truly. You see, it's this way:

President Roosevelt has declared a moratorium on my School Daze. He claimed that it made the students think too much and was undermining their health in this way.

As a friend of mine once said, it's taken us seniors twelve years of work to get this last week's vacation.

Alford Orr

THE DEPARTING

Oh, say can you see by the flickering light
The masses of seniors, gaily bedight?

Red dresses, red faces, or vice versa places,
Stiff as horses between the traces;
Dignified seniors; they stutter, they stumble,
Faces are blank, their minds are a-jumble.

Why, can't you see they're all scared stiff,
With the hard, cruel world they now have to tiff?
Frilled, tittering bunny,
It won't be so funny

When your hands match your pink dress
From washing, cooking, and all the rest.

Nor will you grin, you gawky ape,
When pennies and shekles you have to scrape.

But all in all, with a pinch of salt,
These noble seniors sans peer or fault,
Are such that no one can condemn.
Why do I say this? 'Tis very plain,

I'd shout of it on land or main,
For, you see, I'm one of them!

Here and now, in closing, I'll just say that Adlebert told me to say "Adios" to you for him. Charmaine, not being able to speak German fluently as Adle, gives you her parting shot after the Ben Burdick manner; she wishes you a fond farewell, pleasant dreams, and a bit of a toodle-doodle!

As for our friends of the deep, deep forest, Sir Skunko, Tight Hands, King Sex, and all the rest, they, one and all, say they've enjoyed being with you and beg to bid you merry, merry cheerio, and that goes for me, too!

'A Full House' Ends Dramatic Work For Year

Three Act Comedy Features
N. Manning, C. Southern,
M. Love, and B. Akers.

SAMS DIRECTS WORK

'The Rivals' and 'Joyland'
Presented—Students Take Part In 'Macbeth'.

Knoxville High school's dramatic schedule for the year has been exceptionally interesting. The last performance of the year, "A Full House," will be presented tonight in the auditorium. This hilarious three-act comedy farce is featuring Nannette Manning, Charles Southern, Margaret Love, and Bob Akers.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" was the senior class play of the January graduating class.

The first play to be presented by the Masquers' club last fall was "The Rivals," given November 15 and 16, in which Nona Lee Brown played the part of Lydia Anguish and Ray Adkins the part of Captain Jack Absolute. "The Rivals" is a comedy in five acts written by Richard B. Sheridan.

Joyland, high school's annual vaudeville show, was presented on December 9. Approximately fourteen clubs participated in a successful performance.

The James Hendrickson and Claire Bruce Hendrickson presented Shakespeare's tragedy, "Macbeth," on March 13. Various K. H. S. students were selected to portray the parts of guests and soldiers which were characterized in the play.

Several one-act plays have been presented during Masquers' club meetings, one of which is "The Strange Man," written and directed by high school students. The play was directed by Myrtle Byrd, its author, Alvin Smith, and Ray Watson.

Practically all of high school's dramatic work this term has been

K. H. S. Print Shop Busy During Year

The K. H. S. print shop, under the supervision of Paul Brewer, has during the past year turned out an almost incredible amount of work. The shop has printed practically everything, ranging from calling cards to football posters.

Printing classes are made up of Printing I, II, and III. Printing I and II prepare the run of small school jobs, while Printing III does purely production work. There is one girls' class, the work of which is more general than the boys' classes, doing in one term about the same amount as the boys do in three.

Following is a list of some of the shop's more important jobs of the year.

18 program jobs for 15 different school activities; 35,000 tickets for 47 different school affairs; 25 poster jobs; 50 miscellaneous jobs which include stationery, church entertainments, lost and found cards, office forms, health record cards, and election ballots; 24,000 book stickers; 28,000 office program cards; and 20,000 calling cards.

under the supervision of Oscar Sams, jr., English teacher, who was appointed March 3 to succeed Miss Elsie Waddle in supervising the work of the Masquers' club and the coaching of the senior class play.

Sands Of Sea, Stars Of Sky, Hares; All About Same Number

While strolling through the woods one day

In the merry month of May, I was taken by surprise, By a little bunny wise,

And this was the theme of his lay:

Wee Harry Hare, scion of a family about as numerous as the much mooted head hairs, had come to the crossroads. Yea, by all the water in the mill pond and by all the carrots in christendom, the day of days was drawing nigh. Having completed the curriculum of education afforded by the local institutions of learning, Wee Harry was to graduate at Hollyhock High in the fast approaching month of June.

Dreams of lazy days beside the brook; cool lanes of leisure stretching endlessly before him; visions of victuals of rarest raw juniper and tender tangy lettuce; all of these crowded the teeming mind of the near-educated hare. The first thoughts were conjured up by anticipated freedom from the drudgery of the three R's of Bunyndom schools; the visions of tidbits came from expected graduation gifts.

The latter thought was what had transformed the languidly dreaming bunny into a furry comet streaking for his hollow tree home just bursting with an idea for immediate drafting. Reaching home all but breathless, Wee Harry had electrified the home circle with the suggestion that they put their heads together and draw up a list of prospects for graduation gifts.

The plan met with the instantaneous approval of the household and especially with Harry's doting mother. Procuring some sixty reams of birch bark paper, Mrs. Hare busily engaged herself in jotting down the names of relatives, acquaintances, etc., to whom to send invitations.

At last the list was completed and submitted to the general inspection. Our little hero gazed dazedly at the filled-in pages of name after name; there were names of all the rabbits from old Methuseleh, great grandpa to the sixty-third decimal point, on down to the iceman's brother-in-law's sister Minnie Titmouse's great nephew.

"Oh, I see," he sweetly said, "it's just gonna be one of those little private affairs. I suppose you intend hiring either the Rose Bowl or Yankee Stadium for the select few you have so carefully chosen."

"Now, son, don't take that attitude," then musingly, "Oh, I forgot Cousin Charley's little girl. Just imagine that!"

The last vestige of sanity left poor Harry Hare and he became a raging demon of outraged pride and vanished hope.

"Too bad poor old Abe Lincoln couldn't have lived to see this day; how proud he would have been to have received an invitation."

Deep in thought, and but half hearing, Mrs. Hare unwittingly touched the match to the fuse. "Yes, indeed, son, I'm sure he would have," she soothingly remarked.

Off came the lid, roof, and leash on Wee Harry's mentality. He was led, howling, to Screwly Squirrel's Nut Hatchery for Deranged Forest Denizens, there to remain to his dying day an uncontrollable and hopeless case.

S. C. Members Break Former Service Record

Increase In Work Has Been Keynote of All Departments of Council.

1,000 ARTICLES FOUND

Charter Group Committee
List 61 of 67 K.H.S. Groups
—Chapel Promoted.

An increase of service has been the keynote of this term's Student Council. Every committee has set as its goal the surpassing of previous records, and all have been successful.

The Lost and Found department, most widely known of the Council departments, has succeeded in returning to the students over a thousand valuable books and articles, thus passing all previous marks. It also reports success in returning lost locker keys, a phase of its work taken up and made prominent this term. Over 500 keys have thus far been given back to their rightful owners, representing a saving of over $125 to individual students. A great number of articles which can not be identified and returned are being put to use through Miss Nelle Henry and the Parent-Teachers, who distribute them to needy students.

The Charter Groups committee also reports new high marks, with 61 of the 67 groups in high school participating in this department of Student Co-operative government.

The usher squad, trained and uniformly dressed, has given service at eleven performances this term. Under the leadership of Donald Cooley and the training of Oscar Sams, the usher squad has made presentable showings on several occasions. It is expected that the girls' usher squad will appear in uniform for both the senior class play and the Commencement exercises.

This term for the first time the Student Council took over the production of student talent chapel programs, a lower and an upper class committee being organized for the purpose. Assigned three programs per term, each group has presented popular and amusing programs. This activity will be continued by future councils and is expected to develop into a major activity.

Other committees contributing to the achievements of the spring term council are the monitor system, which was recently extended to include the annex; the freshman sponsorship committee, whose work is centered chiefly at the beginning and end of each term; and the publicity committee, which has presented the work of the council to the students with the co-operation of the Blue and White.

Four Scholarship Keys Given By National Honor Society

New Plan Used In Announcing List of Those Elected This Term.

New members were introduced into the National Honor society by a new method this term.

The names of the forty-seven members were kept secret by the election committee until the chapel program when the members were introduced. At that time the secretary read the names as a complete surprise. The new members came to the stage and the president, Charles Hudson, administered the pledge.

The election from last term had been omitted and was held at the beginning of this term.

Since the National Honor society is mainly an organization for recognition of outstanding students, and most of the members are actively engaged in other fields, there is no active participation of the society in school life.

The officers for the term are Charles Hudson, president; Viola Hunt, vice-president; Evelyn Carter, secretary; and Philip Pelton, treasurer.

It is the custom of the society to give a scholarship key to the boy and girl who have made the highest marks in scholarship. The boy and girl are chosen from the two classes that graduate each year. This year it happens that there are two girls and two boys who have made all A's. Consequently, four keys will be awarded at the close of this year.

Early in the term, the society sponsored a skating party at Sterchi Park. A business firm was holding a series of skating parties, with the proceeds going to the high school organization which sponsored it. Some money was gained from this and applied on the cost of the four keys.

J. C. Lowery has been the faculty adviser for the club during the term.

"In looking back over the club's activities for the term," said Mr. Lowery, "I feel that we have accomplished a great deal. The honor conferred by election has been well deserved by those elected, and the members who were already active have carried on their high standards. Character, leadership, scholarship, and service have advanced as far as possible. I only hope that next year shows up as well as this."

Washing Windows Increases Count

6,500 Panes of Glass In
Openings in K. H. S.
Building.

According to the latest count, there are 530 windows in Knoxville High school. Wilmer Thomas, head janitor, insists there are 620. No doubt he would think there are more since he has to wash them. (He washes them about once a month.)

Taking in windows, doors, skylights, and cabinets, there are 6,500 glass panes in this building, believe it or not! If you don't—go count them.

SPANISH CLUB HOLDS MEETINGS IN ENGLISH

After trying all-Spanish programs for Spanish club meetings, the club has now returned to regular meetings which are spoken in English. The attendance has been much better and the programs interesting and pleasing. There have been Spanish crossword puzzles, talks on South America and Spain, and at one meeting the play of "The Three Bears" was successfully given in Spanish. Refreshments have been served after every meeting.

Grasscutting Is Bane Of Janitors

Many Materials Used In Care of School Buildings.

"How many janitors are there in K. H. S.? How often is the floor swept? How often mopped? How many mops and brooms used per month?"

These are a few of the questions answered by Wilmer Thomas, head janitor, when interviewed recently by an enterprising cub reporter.

"We have six janitors, one maid, and one fireman," said Thomas. "We sweep the classrooms once a day and the halls three times. We mop the floors once a year and oil them twice."

"We use sweeping compound, a mixture of sawdust and water, on the floors. Each man gets one mop and one broom per month."

Wilmer then quoted the following as a list of things used by the janitorial department:

PER TERM—52 brooms, 60 mop fillers, 6 mop buckets, 6 dust pans, 6 radiator brushes.

PER WEEK—36 packages of washing powder, 36 cakes of hand soap, 20 cakes of lava soap, 100 bundles of square towels, 12 cakes of laundry soap, 6 dust cloths.

"What job do you dread most?" he was asked.

"Cutting the grass," was his smiling response.

B & W Finishes Successful Year Under Wilson, Licht

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

RALPH WILSON
who has directed the policies of the Blue and White as its editor.

Thirty Issues Published—
Paper Takes 3rd Prize At CSPA Convention.

Under the leadership of Ralph Wilson and Sidney Licht, the Blue and White has completed one of its most active and successful years. A total of thirty issues, including the special Thanksgiving, Christmas, April Fool, and Senior numbers, has been published.

The regular publication, however, was by no means the only factor in the Blue and White activities. Last term the staff entertained Miss Hazel Olson's first grade class of Moses school with a Thanksgiving party in Miss Emma Becton's classroom. At Christmas a similar party was given at the home of Ailene Brown for the first grade pupils of Miss Mary Scales' class, also of Moses school.

On November 22, the Quill and Scroll society gave a banquet at the Farragut Hotel, at which Ralph Wilson was elected president. Other members of the Blue and White staff were guests.

Two contests, a word-building contest from the phrase "Blue and White" and a jig-saw puzzle, as well as the regular popularity contest, were sponsored by the Blue and White during the past year.

Turning their attention from school activities to a broader realm of journalism, the Blue and White, through the courtesy of R. H. Claggett, editor of the Knoxville Journal, had the privilege of editing the Journal on February 22.

Not only has the Blue and White made local progress, but it has distinguished itself nationally through achievements of its staff members in interscholastic contests. Vernon Grizzard, associate editor, won the first prize for the best news stories written at both the Southern Interscholastic Press Association convention held at Washington and Lee University and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention at Columbia University. At the latter convention the Blue and White received a third place, competing with 1000 other outstanding school publications for this honor.

As usual, George L. Denton, manager of the Booth Theatre, gave free tickets to all students paying their Blue and White subscriptions within three weeks. Mr. Denton also gave the Blue and White part of the gate receipts from "Smilin' Thru" last term.

The year's work will formally close with the annual publication banquet next Monday night at the Farragut Hotel. Vernon Grizzard will be student speaker and Ralph Wilson will serve as toastmaster.

KHS 'Light' Will Reach 3-10 Mile

530 Light Bulbs In Building—270 Tons of Coal
Used Each Month.

If all the light bulbs in K. H. S. were laid end to end, they would reach 2,044 inches, or about 3-10 of a mile. There are about 530 light bulbs in the high school building and on the first of every month about $218 of the Knoxville taxpayers' money goes toward K. H. S.'s light bill.

"During the cold days some times as much as eleven tons of coal a day are used to heat the buildings," declared Wilmer Thomas, head janitor of K. H. S.

This makes the average amount of coal for the month about 270 tons.

SCIENCE DEPT. STUDIES BOTANY MOST OF TERM

In the science department this term most of the work has been done in the field of botany. Some of the students have made a collection of 200 or more different specimens of flowers when only 50 were required.

Many animal specimens have been brought in in order to add interest to the department.

Probably one of the most valuable aids to the department was hibernum mounted and classified, donated to the department by an old alumnus of Knoxville High.

Mr. Longmire: "James, my boy, give me a sentence using the word 'flippancy'."

Jimmy Leach: "Let's flippancy whether or not I pass."

Vacations Are Varied By 12-A Class Members

Working, Loafing, Resting,
Traveling Among Plans
For Summer.

AKERS, RUBLE TO WORK

Martina Brown, Nannette Manning To Travel—Bessie Mitchell To Camp.

Working, loafing, resting, traveling, and doing nothing—such are the various intentions of the seniors who have before them the question of how to spend the summer.

Nannette Manning, class president—"In the summer I usually go up North, but I didn't go last summer. However, I think that I shall spend this summer in the North."

Bob Akers, "Mr. K. H. S."—"I'm going to work a year, starting this vacation, then I'm going to a school of journalism."

Ralph Wilson, editor-in-chief of the Blue and White—"I'm going to work, too. This summer I'm going to help "Mr. K. H. S."

Martha Brown, "Miss K. H. S."—"This summer I'm going to Elkmont and I shall spend a large part of the summer there. Then, later, I'm going to visit my brother at Montgomery, Ala."

Charles Hudson, president of National Honor society—"I shall work, if possible, but the chances are there won't be any work. I shall probably spend some time up in the mountains, loafing and doing nothing. The rest of the time I'll be resting for college."

Betty King, sponsor of Company "A"—"Oh, I don't know yet what I'm going to do during vacation, but I shall enter U-T the fall quarter."

Sidney Licht, business manager of the Blue and White—"I'm going to work part of the time, and perhaps I shall go to New York."

George Ruble, Cadet Major—"During the summer vacation, I think that I shall work. Then, later, I plan to enter West Point on appointment."

Margaret Love, sponsor of Company "C"—"I don't know yet what I'll do this vacation; perhaps I shall go to Pennsylvania."

Bessie Mitchell, battalion sponsor—"This summer I shall probably go to camp. Then, I shall enter the University of Tennessee or go to Gulf Park in Mississippi."

Grocer (regretfully): "No, son. I'm afraid I can't hire you. We can't use much help just now."

Gene Johnson: "That's all right, sir. I wouldn't be much help."

Red Cross Council Lists Year's Work

Accomplishes Twelve Outstanding Projects.

In reviewing the accomplishments of the Junior Red Cross Council for this year, there are twelve outstanding projects. These show the alacrity of the K. H. S. students to aid the less fortunate.

The accomplishments are:

1. Collection of buttons for Red Cross headquarters, from each group, for old clothing.
2. Collection of cereals, beans, and sugar from each group for Pickle and Perkins schools.
3. Float representing K. H. S. in Armistice Day parade.
4. Junior Roll Call—$67.35.
5. Making and dressing of dolls for Pickle school by girls of Applied Design class and girls from different groups. Woodwork department made wooden toys. Also Mr. Stineman's class made "jumping jacks."
6. Giving of milk fund of fifteen dollars to Pickle and Perkins schools.
7. Filling of seventy-five (75) Thanksgiving baskets for needy families.
8. Providing of dresses for girls at Pickle school.
9. Providing of First Aid room for the girls.
10. Taking of fruit to the Mount Rest Home.
11. Sending of a portfolio to Japan in reply to a game received from there.
12. Selling of candy in the lunch room by Red Cross.

New Library Plan Improves Quality Of K.H.S. Reading

Library Has Successful and Constructive Year—Miss Ashcraft.

"The library has endeavored to share with the other departments of the school the responsibility for fruitful social training. In our library lessons we have particularly stressed good citizenship," declared Miss Estelle Ashcraft in her report of the K. H. S. Library.

Although very few books have been bought—something over 100—the collection has been supplemented by books that were borrowed from Lawson-McGhee Library. These have been mostly expensive books that were borrowed for only a few days.

The library has worked steadily this year on the pamphlet and picture file and added a great many useful pamphlets.

"The public library has also been most generous in its loans of pictures to us," stated the librarian.

Since the new system was started April 10 the crowd is more varied and the quality of the reading has improved, according to the librarian's report.

"The new plan has been received most cordially by practically everyone. Two of our best teachers told me at the end of the first month that there had been a marked improvement in the outside reports given in their classes," pointed out Miss Ashcraft.

That the library attendance dropped off considerably after the new plan was put into effect but that a decided improvement can be seen in the way students are using

'Mikado' Heads Glee Club Work

Choruses Also Present Special Programs, Concerts.

Successful production of "The Mikado," most famous of the many popular comic operas written by Gilbert and Sullivan, was the most important accomplishment of the combined K. H. S. choruses during the past year.

K. H. S. students played the leading roles in the operetta. The featured singers were Tipton Masterson, Edward Howard, James Allison, Josephine McGehee, Juliet Wilkes, and Virginia Wayland.

The production, given on March 28 in the K. H. S. auditorium and repeated in the Alumni Memorial Auditorium at U-T on March 30, was declared by music critics to be one of the best amateur performances ever produced in Knoxville.

On Friday, February 24, a picked chorus gave a joint concert with the orchestra in the auditorium. The proceeds were given to the K. H. S. Parent-Teachers' association for use in their welfare work. The same chorus presented a program before the Women's club of the University of Tennessee on December 10.

A special Christmas program of carols was rendered at the two chapels held the Thursday and Friday preceding Christmas. Members of the chorus also sang carols at General, St. Mary's, and Fort Sanders hospitals for the entertainment of the patients.

In celebration of national music week, programs of classical and popular selections were given in chapel on May 3 and 9.

the library were points reviewed by Miss Ashcraft.

The students who use the library most are the teachers and speakers.

"I believe the quality as well as the quantity of books read at K. H. S. has risen. More boys and girls are borrowing books of non-fiction and better fiction books," emphasized the librarian.

New Plan Used On Radio Hour For Past Year

Chorus, Orchestra, Band,
Furnish Entertainment
For Broadcasts.

CLUBS GIVE PROGRAMS

Vocal Auditions Held In Fall —Wayland, Allison Declared Winners.

Knoxville High completed its third and most successful year on the air over WROL with the final program last Tuesday night.

Under the direction of the radio committee, composed of S. B. Parker, chairman; Miss Emma Becton, Edward Hamilton, and Fred DeRobertis, a new plan for the program was developed. The three musical organizations of K. H. S., the chorus, orchestra, and band, have furnished the musical entertainment on the broadcasts. One-third of each broadcast has been devoted to explanations of the purposes and accomplishments of various departments of the school. Teachers and students representing the various divisions have prepared and delivered the explanations.

The first program of the present school year was on Tuesday, September 27. Principal W. E. Evans, in his opening message to the parents, expressed the thanks of the entire student body to station WROL for the donation of the time on the air for the K. H. S. program. He afterward discussed the high school curriculum of today and explained the importance of regular and punctual attendance of pupils.

Something entirely new to K. H. S. students was presented on two Knoxville High hours this year in the form of radio auditions for student singers only.

The contests were similar to the annual Atwater Kent auditions, and the rules which governed the Atwater Kent audition applied to the K. H. S. programs. Identities of singers were kept secret, and judges in the radio audience selected the winners. Miss Virginia Wayland was declared winner of the girls' audition, held October 25, while James Allison was given first place in the boys' contest of November 15.

In December 6 the Knoxville Girl Reserve and Hi-Y clubs were in charge of the program. Miss Helen Tilley and Jimmy George, presidents of the organizations, and Miss Mary Nuchols and George P. Turley, faculty advisers, gave short talks explaining the purposes and ideals of the Girl Reserve and Hi-Y movements.

On February 7, Grant Boyer, former editor of the Blue and White, and Ralph Wilson, present editor, explained the benefits and pleasures derived from their work in high school journalism.

A special picked chorus presented selected excerpts from "The Mikado" on March 21, and Edward Hamilton, director of the K. H. S. glee clubs, briefly told the history and story of the operetta.

In April the K. H. S. Masquers' club presented an interesting and entertaining Indian playlet depicting the saving of Captain John Smith by the Indian princess Pocahontas.

Fes Lowry: "That makes the sets five apiece. Shall we play the eleventh one now?"

Bob Bogart (completely exhausted): "Say, can't we settle this thing out of court?"

Forensic Activities Pass All Previous Marks During Term

Charles Hudson Leads Open Forum As President and Student Coach.

Forensic activities during the past year in K. H. S. have gained more prominence than at any time in the past.

The active members in the Open Forum numbered only about ten at the beginning of the term. At present the membership includes some fifty students, over half of whom are active members.

The officers are Charles Hudson, president; Edwin Lowe, vice-president; Alvin Smith, corresponding secretary; and Gillis Kidd, recording secretary.

Hudson was named student manager and coach of all activities by W. T. Miller and C. S. Montgomery, the faculty advisers. In that capacity he took care of all arrangements, including scheduling debates, publicity, coaching, and arrangements for the "Big Six," which was held April 7 at U-T.

Recognition in several forms has come to high school entries in the various contests the school has entered. In the "Big Six," which is sponsored by the Tennessee Inter-scholastic Literary League to promote interest and training in the six different forms of public speaking, K. H. S. placed higher than any other school in the East Tennessee district.

Edwin Lowe won first place in extemporaneous declamation and the negative debate team, composed of Mary Currier and Alvin Smith, won third place in the negative debate section.

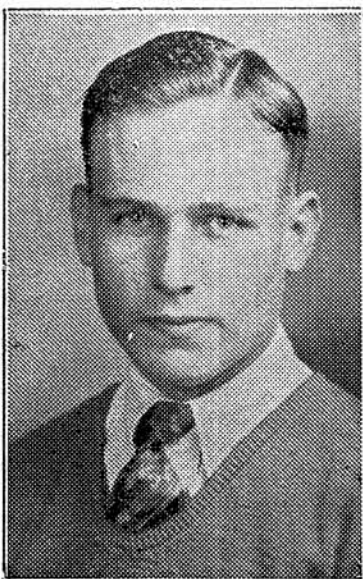

In the state finals of the "Big Six" all the first place winners in the six events from each of the seven districts of the state met at U-T on May 5 to select state champions in each event. Miss Lowe and Miss Martin placed second in the state in extemporaneous speaking and dramatic declamation, respectively.

The first and second place winners from each state met at Wooster, Ohio, the week of May 7-12 to try for national recognition. Miss Lowe and Miss Martin both participated in this contest.

Thus K. H. S. secured not only state but even national honors in the activities of the "Big Six."

From all outward appearances, there were more students interested in Open Forum activities than could be recognized.

There were about thirty prospects who tried out for places in the "Big Six" contest, but only nine could be used. The nine who represented K. H. S. were Gillis Kidd, original oratory; Charles Southern, declamation; Sara Martin, dramatic reading; Edwin Lowe, extemporaneous speaking; Elizabeth Kerr, humorous reading; Alvin Smith and Mary Currier, negative debate; and Fred Brehm and Charles Johnston, affirmative debate.

The several debate squads in K. H. S. have likewise been active. They have debated Bristol (Va.) High school and Farragut High school from Concord on the taxation question; and Claiborne County High school in Tazewell on the question, "Resolved That the U. S. Should Recognize Soviet Russia."

Bristol defeated both the affirmative and negative teams of K. H. S. in a dual debate April 21. Mary Currier and Fes Lowry upheld the negative, while Fred Brehm and Herbert Davis supported the affirmative.

Farragut High defeated the negative team of Virgil Watson and Alvin Smith here on May 4. The affirmative team of Fred Brehm and Herbert Davis overcame the Farragut team at Farragut.

K. H. S. defeated the affirmative on the debate with Tazewell. Tazewell, however, defeated the K. H. S. team composed of H. P. Shelton, Jean Converse, and Fauntleroy Grant.

The Open Forum sponsored a school-wide contest to select two entries in a nation-wide League of Nations examination. First prize is a trip to Europe with all expenses paid.

Aside from all these activities, the Open Forum has held regular meetings every other week with programs relating in some way to forensic activities.

Although a number of the prominent members are graduating seniors, there is promise for a successful season next year as there has been this year.

Orchestra Gives Formal Concerts

One of Most Successful Terms By Musicians Led By Prof. DeRobertis.

Closing one of its most successful terms, the Knoxville High school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Fred DeRobertis, has given six formal concerts, as well as having played for many other school events.

Starting the term's work, the orchestra, assisted by the chorus, gave a benefit concert for the P-T. A. in the high school auditorium on February 24. The program consisted of six numbers by the orchestra and five by the chorus.

When the combined K. H. S. and U-T Glee Clubs presented "The Mikado," the orchestra took an active part, playing the accompaniment for the singers and filling in between acts.

Giving the junior high school students a chance to hear "a real symphony orchestra," programs at both Park Junior and Boyd Junior High schools were then given.

Two out-of-town concerts, one at Clinton on March 31 and the other at New Market on April 2, were then presented. The out-of-town concerts, although a new venture, have proved to be one of the outstanding accomplishments of the year.

Two numbers, "Blue Danube Waltz" and "Pirate Overture," were played by the orchestra at Open House, April 20. The orchestra also played several selections at the Physical Education Demonstration.

On May 2 the orchestra gave another concert in the high school auditorium. A violin solo by Miss Anna Pearl Mitchell and a flute solo by Miss Margaret Farmer were included on the program.

The musical portion of the Knoxville High school radio hour has been contributed by the orchestra once every three weeks.

Only two more engagements remain yet to be filled, namely, the senior class play and the commencement exercises.

Home Ec Department and U-T Have Joint Programs

One of the most interesting of educational departments in our school is the home economics department.

This year the Home Ec. club has been very active, and has been co-operating with the U. of T. Home Ec. club in joint programs.

Students are given the opportunity to study cooking, sewing, and applied designs, and then practice what they have learned. Home hygiene is taught to those girls who wish to become nurses.

The Foods III classes have prepared many meals for teachers, students, and visitors throughout the year.

Don Akard's theme song: "I think that I shall never see a poem lovely as my sweet pea."

Art Classes Assist School Activities Much During Year

MISS CADET MAJOR

BESSIE MITCHELL
Who is sponsor of the R. O. T. C. battalion this term.

Stage Decorations, Football Posters Among Year's Projects.

Art classes of Miss Mary E. Grainger and Miss Rebecca Cole have contributed a great deal to the school activities since last fall.

According to Miss Grainger, the regular course of study in art at K. H. S. as in all other departments of the school, follows a definite plan of work, with credit given as in other electives.

The main objectives in this course are the development of appreciation and skill.

"We are not trying to make commercial artists or professional artists of any kind out of the students, but to enrich the lives of the students and to broaden their interest. Although there are many talented students, there are very few talented students who will make art a profession. These are given every opportunity to develop along some particular line of work and are fitted for art school entrance," explained Miss Grainger.

In connection with extra-curricular activities, the students have been working on many projects throughout the year. The following is a partial list of these: football posters, exhibit at the E. T. E. A., radio talk on art department by Miss Grainger, stained glass for Christmas entertainment by Ida Goodstein, Allan Noe, Emily Jones, Lora Bond, and Kendrick Woolsey; and decorations for the January and June commencement. These were designed by Jewell Watson.

The annual art exhibit was also successful. Floats for safety parade were decorated by Jewell Watson, posters for dental health, drawn by the sixth period class, were in the windows of the Knoxville Power and Light Company. Book plates for K. H. S. library were designed by the pen and pencil classes. Stage decorations, cuts for programs, and window decorations for "The Mikado" were worked out by Lora Bond, Virgil Watson, and Jewell Watson.

For "Come Out of the Kitchen" linoleum cuts and posters were planned by Herman Wayland, Marcella Holland, Virginia Underwood, and Mary Pellgrenelli.

Work is given in design, nature study, lettering, still life, landscape, figure drawing, and picture study, according to Miss Cole. She explained also that the special courses are historic ornament, pen and pencil technique, and commercial art.

Glenn Jeffries, Herbert Cox, and Martha Broome made the scenery for the marionette stage for Miss Isabel Butler.

Kodak Club Aim Is Interest In Photos

The main object of the Kodak club for this year was to create a greater interest in photography, especially nature photography. In order to do this many hikes were made, wherein the beauties of nature were photographed.

A large king snake was adopted by the club as its official mascot. The snake was caught on one of the hikes to Cherokee Bluffs.

The officers who have served the Kodak club for this term are Ed Hinsdale, president; Nelson Venable, vice-president; K. P. Baum, secretary-treasurer; and J. Beardsley, club photographer.

Latin Club Gives Plays During Term

The Latin club has presented many interesting features this year. Two plays have been the outstanding performances, the casts being made up of members of the club.

The meetings were sponsored by Miss Lucile Evans and Miss Helen Galbreath. Officers of the club corresponded to those of the Roman government. William House and Charles Hudson, the two consuls, were presiding officials; the other officeholders were the praetores, quaestores, censors, dediles, and scribae.

By contests, practice in remembering the language and myths was given. At the close of each meeting refreshments were served.

The membership of the club has always been large, and this year totaled from seventy to ninety members.

French Club Meetings Conducted In French

Throughout the year the French club has, at its regular meetings, done a great deal toward the advancement of French in K. H. S. The officers of the club have planned interesting programs of songs, plays, and talks for the students.

Last term an enjoyable play was given at one of the French club meetings. Each part was spoken in French.

A French moving picture show was given at the Tennessee Theatre this term, and this, too, was sponsored by the French club.

Miss Willamette Barksdale and Miss Betty James, French teachers in K. H. S., sponsor the work of the club.

Jack Fletcher, again we ask—are you bashful? Do you have a silent love? Do you ever give the girls a thought? Are you embarrassed easily? What kind of tooth paste and soap do you use? That's all.

The Blue and White has reviewed, in this final issue of the year, the entire high school activities of the preceding year. Since the Voice was not printed this year, the school paper has taken up the project of printing the accomplishments of each club, organization, or activity.

These two pages are dedicated to the graduating seniors. Seniors whose pictures do not appear above are:

PRINCIPAL W. E. EVANS

In spite of the fact that we have been at the bottom of a serious economic depression, I sincerely feel that we have had a very successful school year. Pupils have been more serious about their work and are developing a better philosophy of life than in the frivolous, care free days of prosperity; the teachers of the school, facing one problem of uncertainty after another, have steadily and persistently maintained a morale of hope and optimism; the Parent Teacher Association has certainly been at our right hand during every moment of each difficult experience. Back of it all has been the fearless leadership of our superintendent of schools, and a Board of Education which insisted that the doors of the school must be kept wide open in order that the children might not be denied their rightful heritage.

May I congratulate the senior class of 1933 for the exceptionally good record you have made in High School? You are living in a favored section of our nation. This message is penned on the day when East Tennessee is celebrating the beginning of a new era for the Tennessee Valley. The sun is coming out of the clouds. Who knows but that the Promised Land is just ahead? Courage is the word to place on your shield.

W. E. EVANS, Principal.

Competitive Drill Climaxes Year For ROTC Battalion

Company "D" Wins Title of Prize Company Third Straight Year.

Competitive drill, held last Friday, May 19, was the climax of the year for the R. O. T. C. battalion. As main features the best drilled company and the best drilled cadet were named.

For the past semester the battalion of the Reserve Officers Training Corps has been led by Cadet Major George Ruble, who was winner of the Morgan Medal in May, 1932. Cadet Major Ruble commanded the battalion on the field last Friday as he has several times in the past in parades and similar demonstrations. When he assumed cadet leadership of the battalion he succeeded Keller Smith, who commanded the organization the first semester of this year.

In September, at the opening of school, the vacant office of Professor of Military Science and Tactics was filled by Major E. C. Seeds of the Coast Artillery Corps in Panama. When the major assumed the office of commandant he approved the promotions made by Staff Sgt. W. A. Pratt and Sgt. J. J. Rotchford, instructors, except for a few changes. Lieut.-Col. R. B. Woods, U. S. A., retired, held the position of P. M. S. & T. last year.

During this year a few changes have been made in the organization of the battalion. One of these was the abolition of several commissioned officers in the band and in Headquarters company. Under the present organization there is only one captain in these organizations and fewer commissioned officers of lower rank than there were last school year.

Miss Bessie Mitchell was chosen by the battalion as its honorary Cadet Major or battalion sponsor on February 9. During the following week the companies selected their sponsors in a close election.

The selections were as follows: Company "A", Miss Betty King; "B", Miss Mildred Bowles; "C", Miss Margaret Love; "D", Miss Joyce Austin; Band, Miss Cynthia Cowan.

As a part of the battalion, the K. H. S. Rifle team has taken a part in activities by winning and placing high in several rifle matches, both national and international. Wednesday, March 1, the R. O. T. C. officers received the news that the K. H. S. riflemen had won the Junior Division of the Fourth Corps gallery match. Cadet Lieutenant Kenneth Christenberry has won the rank of Distinguished Rifleman and Cadet Sgt. James Long, who led the team in shooting percentage, was only two targets short of acquiring the same high rank.

Company "D" won the title of prize company for the third successive year, a feat never before accomplished by any R. O. T. C. company in K. H. S. Company "C" was leading "D" Company by one point as they entered the competitive drill, but Company "D" won the company competition, thereby gaining the title.

Ralph Wallace, of Company "B", won the Morgan Medal over William Hixon, "A"; Herman Blair, "C"; and James Gordon, "D".

John Harbison was awarded the Band Medal over John Weber and Bill Ellison.

Pictures of the battalion and of individuals appear in this issue of the Blue and White.

G. Reserves Have Varied Program

To get new members and to assure themselves of faithful workers for the coming year the combined Girl Reserve clubs of C. H. S. and K. H. S. gave a tea to which all prospective members were invited. These new members were later initiated at a candlelight service which was followed by a weiner roast at Mildred Clark's home.

One of the impressive meetings of the year was held December 5 at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Ruth Bourne spoke on "Seeing the Beautiful."

Another outstanding speaker, Rev. Hensley, pastor of Central Methodist church, related a few of the interests he found in his "Travels in the Holy Land," at a joint meeting of the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve clubs at the Y. W. C. A. April 20.

The club members have participated in several programs this year, sponsoring a Joyland act. With an Irish background, an Irish song, and Irish costumes, the girls completed the setting with a toy band. McNamara, the leader of the band, was Ray Adkins, a K. H. S. graduate.

Several of the girls helped in a pageant given at the Y. W. C. A. which portrayed the history of the organization of the Y. W. C. A. All members of the "Y" were invited to this pageant given November 18.

A number of the members attended the Y. W. C. A.'s annual banquet January 20. Helen Tilley, club president, took part in the pageant given there.

With Mrs. Eaton Bennett, four of the club members, Helen Tilley, Mildred Clark, Wansley Ables, and Frances Abrams, were able to attend the conference at Kingsport for Girl Reserves all over East Tennessee.

On April 16, an Easter sunrise service was held at the Y. W. C. A. Helen Tilley had charge of the prologue and devotions.

In the broadcast over WNOX on December 7, Helen Tilley gave the Girl Reserve code and Miss Mary Nichols, faculty adviser, explained it.

Among the main school events were the candy pull given with the Hi-Y boys, November 10, at the home of Mildred Clark; the supper meeting for the officers, February 23; the "Farewell to Seniors" buffet supper and theatre party, January 13; the shower and tea benefiting the Red Cross room at K. H. S., and a progressive supper given for best dates and senior club members, May 5.

K.H.S. Torch Club Studies Vocations During Past Term

The Torch club, an organization sponsored by K. H. S. freshmen and sophomore boys, has had an interesting and valuable program during the past term, according to Fred Stair, president of the club during the spring semester. The club, recognized by the Student Council point system, meets at regular intervals at the Y. M. C. A.

At the beginning of the 1933 spring term, an organization meeting was called to install officers and new members. Fred Stair was elected to head the club as president, and other officers, Bill Bolin as vice-president, Bill House as secretary, and Douglas Lovejoy as treasurer, were chosen by the thirty members who joined the club at that time.

At the second meeting a week later, Stair requested the members to offer suggestions for a desirable program for the year. The members were interested in having prominent people in the city talk to them on subjects pertaining to all types of engineering, vocational guidance, and boy and girl relationships.

"We found everyone willing to co-operate with us by giving their time in speeches on these subjects," recalled Stair as he summarized the club's accomplishments during the term. The speakers were selected according to their prominence in their particular fields of work and their experience with such problems outlined in the term speaking program.

Meetings that followed during the remainder of the term alternated between business discussions of the club and addresses by guest speakers.

Prof. W. E. Evans addressed the club at one of its first meetings sponsored a benefit bridge party, sold costume jewelry and compacts, and had a style show. Twelve K. H. S. girls acted as models and a special program was arranged.

This year two delegates will be sent from the club to Camp Merriwood, North Carolina, for the week beginning June 20. To obtain all the necessary funds a bunko party has been planned.

Shops Do Variety Of Work In Term

Shops in K. H. S. have been very busy this semester repairing lockers, making furniture, drawing parts of machinery, and repairing automobiles.

N. F. Peterson, one of the auto mechanics instructors in K. H. S., said, "This semester the boys in my classes have repaired 800 lockers. People in general think that the students in my classes are instructed only in various phases of automobile repair; this is not true. Aside from repairing lockers the boys have built a portable air-compressor and a generator test bench. The air-compressor has many uses, such as supplying air for torches and auto tires, and it is used extensively for cleaning purposes."

"The generator test bench is to test the operation of motor coils, generator coils, and wiring circuits."

P. O. Coyner, instructor of machine and architectural drawing, said, "The boys in my classes have been pretty busy this term, having used over 7,700 sheets of drawing paper and 2,000 pencils in just this one semester."

on the "School Curriculum and Subjects to Take," giving the members many examples of various courses offered in K. H. S., and advising them to take subjects which would be recognized for credit for university entrance.

Other speakers during the term were Prof. Clyde Wilson, instructor at U-T, who spoke on "Vocations"; Walter Taylor, prominent business man, who gave an interesting talk on "Vocational Guidance"; Dr. H. E. Christenberry, prominent member of the city board of education, who discussed "Boy and Girl Relationships"; and Si Sehorn, one of the city's outstanding architects, who last addressed the club on "All Types of Engineering."

The Torch club was organized in 1930 by Edward Stokely, Charles Hudson, and Arnold Mayo, who foresaw the need of a club for the freshmen and sophomores ineligible for the Hi-Y. Its purpose to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school high standards of Christian character has had a registered success as an extra-curricular activity in Knoxville High school.

KHSHi-Y Ends Active Year

Installs New Officers At Final Banquet At Y. M. C. A. Tonight.

With the installation of its new officers at the final banquet tonight at 6:30, at the Y. M. C. A., the Knoxville High school Hi-Y club will conclude an active and successful year.

The club was one of the first in the school to organize for the new year. The first meeting was held on Thursday, September 15, in the first week of school.

The K. H. S. club has participated in two important Hi-Y conferences, the Tennessee Valley Older Boys' conference and the Sixteenth District conference, during the past year.

Jimmy George, president; Vernon Grizzard, and Ray Adkins were the three members of the Knoxville High club who attended the Tennessee Valley conference, which was held at Farragut High school, Concord, Tenn., on Saturday and Sunday, October 1 and 2.

At the various sessions, in which problems that confront Hi-Y clubs of today were discussed, the delegates were addressed by Victor Davis, of the U. T. "Y"; Howard Hubbell, field secretary of the State Y. M. C. A.; B. Frank Vincent, boys' secretary of the Knoxville "Y"; and Dr. Harry Cook, pastor of the First Christian church of Knoxville.

Ray Adkins, of K. H. S., was elected president of the conference and was also chosen to be chairman of the Knox county council of Hi-Y clubs, which position he held until the end of the current school year. He represented Knox county at the state convention in Nashville in February.

In December, Knoxville High's club was host to the Hi-Y clubs of the sixteenth district. Representatives were present from Farragut, Central, Sevierville, Lenoir City, Alcoa, Maryville, and Knox Central high schools.

Discussion groups were led by Ben Duff, adult adviser of district sixteen, and Mr. Vincent. A banquet was held in the K. H. S. cafeteria at 5:30 and then the delegates were addressed by Dr. J. Kelly Giffen, president of Knoxville College.

The aims and ideals of the Hi-Y movement were explained to the citizens of Knoxville by George P. Turley, faculty adviser of Knoxville High's club, and Jimmy George, president of the K. H. S. club, on the K. H. S. hour over WROL.

Boys in the drafting department have also drawn maps for the Health Parade showing the line of march to be taken and the location.

Drawings were made by architectural students for a garage, lunch stand, and a cabin, all to be built this summer.

O. Oakes, auto mechanics instructor, explained, "One hundred and eighty-seven autos have been in my shop this semester for repairs, eight having been complete motor overhauls and sixty-eight valve jobs. These different jobs have been distributed equally among the boys, with the exception of the overhauling jobs which I reserved for the seniors. I am proud of these boys that will graduate this term and I feel sure that they will make worthy men in the auto field."

A. W. Torresani, woodwork instructor, declared, "Aside from regular shop work my classes have made stools for the machine drawing classes and have completely refinished the home economics department, making special lockers for the girls' smocks and refinishing the floors."

Trojan Basketeers Go Through Season With 24 Wins, 2 Losses

Win Knox County Title, 14th District Title To Enjoy Successful Year.

With the exceptional record of twenty-four games won and only two lost, the K. H. S. Collins-coached basketball team closed another successful year last March.

Climaxing an excellent year, the Trojan sphere-pushers copped the Fourteenth District title for the second straight year, conquering the Central High Bobcats in the finals. The Blue and White team left such teams as Friendsville, Maryville, and Townsend strewn in its wake in its march to victory.

Entering the East Tennessee regional meet, the team from K. H. S. was knocked from the running by Kingsport High, who went on to win the top honors. That defeat in the regional tourney, and a previous loss to Maryville during the regular season, were the only two games that went on the wrong side of the ledger last season for the Trojans.

Much credit for the winning team must go to Tab Sterchi, amateur basketball enthusiast, and LeClaire Greenblatt, former U-T star. Sterchi and Greenblatt patiently drilled the prospective players through long hours of work many weeks before the regular season started, while Coach Wilson Collins was still attending to his football duties.

Led by Capt. Billy Tharp, the lettermen are Jimmy Leach, Leslie Wrifford, Red Sharpe, Gene Johnson, Tip Masterson, E. L. Foster, Clinton Johnson, Bob Bogart, and John Troutman. Leach was named captain for next year's team after the close of the season.

During the course of the basketball year, the Trojans more than avenged the football defeat handed them by the C. H. S. Bobcats last November. Three times did the K. H. S. team come out with triumphs over Central. Two of the games were the deciding factors that gave Knoxville High the Knox County Basketball League title, and the third game was the finals in the District meet.

The brightest spot in the Trojans' victory march was the all-around work of Gene Johnson. Flashing an accurate eye for the basket and displaying cool floor work, Gene time after time was the shining light in the K. H. S. attack and defense. A great future is predicted for Johnson.

Although Gene Johnson was easily the star of the year for the Blue and White five, every player fought his hardest for Knoxville High and played steady, consistent basketball. Without that brand of basketball, K. H. S. would not have enjoyed nearly so successful a season.

Anniversary

Collins Completes Seven Years Work In K. H. S. Sat.

Conversation is never lacking when one is with Wilson Collins, friendly Trojan coach. The following facts were obtained in a recent interview:

Collins rates his 1930 Southern champion football team the best he ever coached here . . . that was the year that Needham was captain . . . the best backs he ever coached, in his opinion, were Vaughn, Sharpe, Moses, and Brackett . . . best linemen: Sheriff Maples and Howard Bailey.

For basketball he will take his '28 team, which included Greenblatt, O'Connor, Hodge, Reeder, and McAmis.

Mr. Collins was graduated from Vandy in 1912 . . . launched coaching career soon after that . . . got in the argument with the Germans in '17, being in the First Division of Third Machine Gun Battery in France . . .

Before coming to K. H. S. he was coach at Columbia Military Academy . . . can coach anything in sports except track.

Day after tomorrow Mr. Collins will observe the completion of seven years work for K. H. S. . . we wish him every success and hope he stays seven more years!

Tennis Team Ends Year In Tourney

Netsters Break Even During Year, Losing 3 of 6 Matches.

With its participation in the state high school tournament at Morristown, the Knoxville High tennis team will close its 1933 season.

The Trojans were favored to defeat Morristown Tuesday on the U-T courts for three wins out of six matches. They had previously defeated McCallie school and the Sequoyah Hills A. C.

The season was opened in Morristown April 26, when the Trojans lost to the Roosters, 4-3, after a hard battle. On the 27th the Roosters were victorious on the U-T courts, 5-2.

On May 11 and 12, the Trojans netters invaded Chattanooga, gaining an even break with two Look-out City teams. On Thursday they defeated McCallie 4-3, but lost to the crack Baylor squad, 6-1, on Friday.

The Trojans are favored to capture the team cup in the tourney at Morristown.

Spring Practice Best Ever Held

Coach Collins Lauds Work In Recent Sessions.

"We have experienced our best spring football practice since inaugurating it in our football program," said Coach Wilson Collins, when asked of the success of the practice just ended. "I feel that we have taught the boys how to cope with any situation that might arise on the playing field."

The practice started with classrooms. Collins was assisted by Johnny Walker and J. W. Holland, who have had previous football experience.

About sixty boys reported for the opening session. They were assigned to classrooms where the fundamentals of blocking and tackling were taught.

After two weeks of classroom work the boys moved to the football field. Two more weeks of intensive training were entered into. Every candidate was battling for a team position, as the squad this year will be cut to twenty-seven men in order to save expenses.

The session closed with the annual game between the Blues and Whites. The battle ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

Golf, Aquatic Teams End Second Season

Starting their second year as regular K. H. S. varsity sports, the Trojan golf and swimming teams went through their short season successfully.

Due to the fact that other schools did not have swimming teams the local water team had much difficulty in securing meets. The K. H. S. swimmers defeated McCallie in the local Y. M. C. A. pool and then journeyed to Chattanooga last week and captured a triangular meet from McCallie and Tech High of Atlanta, completing its second year undefeated.

Jimmy Wise was captain of the swimming team this year. Other lettermen were Jack Fletcher, Weller Gleeson, Frank Waters, Bill Chaffin, and Harry Crowther.

The golf team, after trouncing Morristown here in the season opener, dropped a close decision to McCallie. The team went to Morristown and lost to the Roosters there last week. Again there was great difficulty in securing matches.

Captain M. C. James led the golfers through their season. The other lettermen were Earl O'Fallon, Lawrence Berney, Fred Post,

Year Closes With Jones, Collins Continuing Excellent Work

Girl Sport Year Very Successful

Kickball and Basketball Champions Are Crowned.

Activities of the girls' gym classes have been outstanding this year with many girls having prominent parts. This has been one of the most successful years with more girls taking part than in former years. Champions have been crowned in two important activities which are under the direct leadership of Miss House. These are kickball and basketball.

The winning kickball team last fall was composed of Katherine DeArmond, captain; Wansley Ales, Dorothy Allen, Mary R. Bean, Henrietta Bishop, Almene Borden, Vera Brown, Martha Broome, Virginia Frank, Mary Duck, Martha Harris, Pauline Lindley, Marian Moore, Nell Pressley, Louisa Robbins, and Naomi Smith.

This team won every game by a good score with several outstanding players contributing. These winners received white K. H. S. letters with the exception of two who had previously won in this event. They received blue and white K. B.'s.

Next came the big basketball tournament which was won by Robbie Richmond's team. The winners' good teamwork was the main reason for their victory. The real star of this tournament was Ellen Taylor, a forward on the winning team, who was high scorer for the tournament. The members of the team were Captain Robbie Richmond, Ova Bright, Jane Roberts, Ellen Taylor, Helen Tarwater, Juliette Hughes, Ruth Long, Sarah Adams, Ethel Rule, Dorothy Horne, Opal Rhodes, Margaret Slaughter, and Mildred Williams.

All of these were given white B. B. letters with the exception of Ethel Rule, who received the special blue and white award.

and H. W. Irwin, who won the annual K. H. S. golf tournament. The golf team is entered in the state meet at Morristown today, tomorrow, and Saturday.

Trojan Coaches Pilot Blue and White Teams Through Successful Seasons.

As the last whistle shrilled for the close of the spring practice Blue and White football game, and as the final event was completed in the State high school track meet at Nashville, the worries that come as the result of coaching duties vanished from the minds of Wilson Collins and Sam Jones, Knoxville High athletic directors.

This present season marks the sixth straight year that these two genial Trojan coaches have been in harness together at K. H. S.

Starting back in '27, Collins and Jones swung right into the midst of their duties from the very first and haven't let up since.

"Still," they both smiled, "we're pretty glad to see vacation time roll around. It's not that we actually do not want to keep going, but—would you like to go to school all summer?"

During the period of years of the Jones-Collins regime, K. H. S. athletics have soared to unprecedented heights, gaining local, state, and, on numerous occasions, even national recognition. Such results come only from capable men.

Scanning briefly back over the year just completed, success, both in athletics and character building, once more came to K. H. S. as the result of the teachings of Jones and Collins. This "perfect combination" led the football, basketball, track, spring football practice, tennis, golf, and swimming teams through highly successful seasons, besides directing six hundred boys in five gym classes a day through the term.

Needless to say, Knoxville High feels a warm friendship towards her two Trojan coaches and a keen appreciation for the valuable work they are doing.

So then, to Mr. Collins and to Mr. Jones, the best high school coaches in the nation, K. H. S. says:

"We're proud to have you as our athletic coaches and honored to refer to you as such. You bring credit to our school, both as athletic directors and gentlemen of the highest order. We wish you the greatest luck and the best of wishes in the future. Keep up the good work."

Jones & Trackmen Enjoy Fine Season

Another year, a successful year for Coach Sam "Gentleman" Jones and his Trojan cinder path artists, has ended. For the second straight year the High school track stars have carried off the state crown.

Starting the year with the loss of several outstanding lettermen, Jones developed a team that lost only two meets and both by close margins.

In time trials with the U-T freshmen the Trojans showed potential power by capturing many of the first places.

On April 15, in a dual meet with Kingsport, the Upper East Tennessee boys barely nosed out the Trojan flyers by the score of 58 to 51.

In the track events the local boys were superior in every way, but lost enough points in the field events to lose the meet.

Seeking revenge, the Trojans journeyed to L. M. U. April 22 to participate in the Tri-State meet being held there. They carried off first honors easily.

Not satisfied with being Tri-State champs, the squad left for Kingsport April 29 to take part in the East Tennessee meet. But once more they were set back by their nemesis, Kingsport, who defeated them by one point.

The Trojans felt they had to redeem themselves. In a triangular meet with the U-T freshmen and Morristown May 5, they emerged victorious by a large score.

Nine boys journeyed to Nashville May 22 to enter the state meet, and to defend their state title. They were successful, defeating many schools from over the state.

Coach Sam Jones, who has been the track coach since entering school six years ago, has for five years coached his team to the East Tennessee championship, losing his first one this year. For two straight years he has won the state title.

Four sterling performers will be lost from the team next year. Captain Charles Cottrell, who for three years has been an outstanding performer in the pole vault, will be greatly missed. Cottrell set a new record for the pole vault in the Tri-State meet.

Bill Jones, the "Blonde Blizzard," who lost only one 100-yard dash in the past two years, will probably leave the biggest gap to fill. His place will be taken next year by the newly elected captain, DeWitt Roberts.

Glenn Jeffries, who hurdles and throws the shot, javelin, and discus, has also proven to be a versatile performer.

Sam Sharpe, known as "Red" to most of the boys, developed in his first year out, becoming a winner in the discus, shot, and on the relay team.

If plans are carried forward and with his usual success, Coach Sam Jones will find little trouble in developing another championship team next season.

Say They Did?

It's said that a wagon maker who had been dumb for years picked up a hub and spoke, that a blind carpenter reached for a nail and saw, a deaf sheep rancher went out with his dog and herd, and a noseless fisherman caught a netful of herring and smelt.

Wotta Woman!

Red Sharpe (anxious to do good turn): "May I accompany you across the street, Madam?"

Old Lady: "Certainly you may. But I should think a boy as big as you are could take care of himself."

Trojans To Elect Grid Captain After Second Battle Next Fall

Howard, Leach, or Baker Likely Leaders For Blue and White Team.

Knoxville High's captainless football squad will not choose its leader until after the second game of the season next fall, and after the votes are counted the new Trojan field general will be either Bill Baker, Jim Leach, or Calvin Howard, with the latter as the probable choice.

"A captain will be appointed before each of the first two games to give the boys a chance to show their qualities of leadership," said Coach Wilson Collins. "Maybe the captaincy will be divided up into quarters so that more of the boys will be given a chance."

The custom of choosing for the K. H. S. leadership a two-year man has never been broken, and as Baker, Leach, and Howard are the only ones meeting this requirement, the race for the honor is between them. Stan Warren, backfield letterman for two years, is out of school this year and will not be eligible for next season.

"What we need is a live, wide-awake man on the field—a clear, quick thinker that is a real leader," declared Coach Collins.

Harold "Fats" Harris, captain-elect for next season who decided to go ahead and graduate this year to enter college next fall, expressed

McCallie Golfers Take KHS Match

McCallie Prep School of Chattanooga won a 13-5 victory over the Trojan golfers Wednesday afternoon on the Municipal course.

The following scores were registered:

Capt. M. C. James, 75.
Earl O'Fallon, 79.
Irwin, 94.
Berney, 88.

a sincere regret at leaving the school and the team he was to lead.

"I'd like nothing better than to stay and play football again next year," said Harris, "but under the circumstances it is not possible."

The extremely crowded condition of Knoxville High has brought urgent requests from the office that all who are able to graduate do so. This is the reason for Harris' decision to finish his high school work this year.

Calvin "Oscar" Howard, star backfield man, appears to be the likely choice for the '33 Trojan leader. In the election which saw Harris named leader, Howard ran a close second, and in all probability he will be chosen to lead the big Blue and White eleven next fall.

Girls' Hiking Club Now Has 41 Active Members

With forty-one members, the Hiking Club under the sponsorship of Miss Mary House and Miss Margaret Carroll, has been making one hike a week alternating between Tuesday and Thursday.

The following girls are considered full-fledged members as they have attended all hikes: Ruth Brewer, Ova Bright, Juanita Draper, Beulah Brisson, Dorothy Horne, Viola Hunt, Evelyn Lawson, Ruth Long, Grace McLin, Robbie Richmond, Elsie Simmons, Margaret Thompson, Lucy Tindell, and Aileen Tipton.

Others who have attended two of the three hikes are: Sarah Adams, Ella Bevens, Louise Childs, Ova Lee Keith, Edith Lemon, Aileen Lutz, Helen Pollard, Margaret Slaughter, Grace Chapin, Helen Hatcher, Arminta Miller, Helen Nickles, Frances Peavy, and Ruth Stewart.

To become a member a girl must attend only one hike. Several whose names are not mentioned are members, but have attended only one hike.

HAVE NO FEARS

If time has come, old Knoxville High,
When we, your seniors, must say goodbye,
Let us be gay, not sad and sigh.
Our parting is a happy one,
Filled with memories fond;
Let's look at leaving as a milestone won
And life's way, and look beyond
The veil of years when we shall meet again.
Comrades true, and loyal friends,
We leave not for a great unknown,
But rather our path toward victory tends;
A trail, not of trials, but of happiness wends
Toward honor with God, and fraternity with men.

B&W Closes Banner Year

By MORRIS BART, JR.

There must be some factors that cause a school paper to win state and national recognition, and those factors are Miss Emma Becton and the capable Blue and White staff. Although a depression year, the business staff, through hard work, has kept the paper on a good financial basis, a feat not accomplished by many high school papers this year. Subscriptions do not cover even the cost of the paper on which the Blue and White is printed, making the work of the business department very important to the success of the paper. Nearly all the students on the staff of the Blue and White are prominent in school affairs. The 1933 Morgan Medal winner, and both "Mr. and Miss K. H. S." are members of the paper's staff. The president of the Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, and Open Forum are also members.

Senior Banquet To Be Held Tuesday Night

The banquet for the June graduating seniors is to be held next Tuesday, May 30, at the Cherokee Country club at 8 p. m. Ralph Wilson will fill the role of Class Grouch, and will liven the program by his antics. Kathryn Tindell will give the class poem. Marian Bankson and Bob McMillan are to present the class voyage. Nannette Manning, the first girl president of a senior class, will be toastmistress. Several members of the class have planned toasts, humorous or serious as the person sees fit. Skeet Tallent's orchestra has been secured to give a musical background to the program. Other staff members are the two second leads in the senior class play, a company sponsor, ten Honor Society members, five Hi-Y boys, several Latin, Spanish, French, and Science club members, and the captain and another member of the tennis team.

Virginia Keith and Holly Hornbeck took the leading roles in "Boomerang," the senior class play which was given on May 31. Benjamin Zwick, Margie Lady, Flora Rule, and John Moore represented their class in the commencement exercises as the speakers. Bob Rule and Kathleen Russell (now Mrs. Albert Disney) were, respectively, elected Mr. and Miss K. H. S. by the popular vote of the student body. Ralph Wilson, as editor-in-chief, and Sidney Licht, as business manager, were to replace Grant Boyer and Julian Harriss on the Blue and White staff for the year 1933. On Friday, October 6, the band visited Chattanooga to support the football team in its game against Chattanooga City High school.

Major Seeds Makes Announcement at Officers' Banquet Tuesday Night.

Major C. C. Seeds officially commissioned Cadet Sgt. Charles Wilkins to head the K. H. S. battalion as Cadet Major next year, when the commissioned officers of the Knoxville High school R. O. T. C. battalion held their final banquet at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock last night. Principal and Mrs. W. E. Evans, Major and Mrs. Seeds, Dr. Harry Clark, and Sgt. W. A. Pratt were the guests of honor. Cadet Major George Ruble was master of ceremonies. Prior to the beginning of the banquet, officers introduced themselves and their dates at the table. Captains of the four companies, A, B, C, and D, respectively, Captain Beaman of the Band, and sponsors followed with talks on their work in the R. O. T. C. department. Ralph Wallace, who was adjudged the best drilled cadet in the entire battalion when he was awarded the Morgan Medal at the annual competitive drill last Friday at the Winona street athletic field, was present. Sgt. W. A. Pratt, drill instructor, gave a short talk on the work of the R. O. T. C. department during the past term. "Although this is the first of your battalions which I have seen, it is the finest I've seen. Next year we hope to improve in our work immensely because I will have had some experience in the work," declared Major Seeds. Dr. Clark, the speaker of the evening, gave a short talk on the merits of the R. O. T. C. department, after Principal Evans spoke. Both Prof. Evans and Dr. Clark highly acclaimed the department for its success in winning the title of "Honor High School" in the Fourth Corps Area inspection.

Class Poem

By Catherine Tindell.
We have spent four years of study,
And our high school life now ends;
As we recall pleasant memories,
You'll be still our dearest friend.

With a heavy heart we leave you
As we start our life's career,
But we'll never forget the happy times
We've had while we were here.

As we go away to college,
Which some of us will do,
We will always, Knoxville High School,
To you for e'er be true.

You have given us strength and courage,
You have helped us face the foe;
You have prepared us in every manner,
So now we are ready to go.

Our societies, clubs, and socials,
I am sure, have done their part
In making us happy and cheerful
And in developing a higher art.

We owe our teachers tribute
Who have started us in life,
For they've aided us with patience,
And prepared us to face the strife.

As we're gathered here together,
And our radiant faces beam;
We're happy to take our places,
And honor our colors silver and green.

On many pleasant recollections
We have not time to dwell,
So we'll say in simple language
We bid you all farewell.

Girls' Net Meet Reaches Semi-Final Rounds

Final Matches Played Over Week-end—Kathleen Carl Defending Champ.

With the semi-finals in by today, May 25, the girls' tennis tournaments will be finished by the end of this week and the awards will be made in a special chapel Monday.

Three of the semi-finalists in the singles meet are Virginia Wayland, Kathleen Carl, and Ailsie Young. Kathleen Carl, the defending champion, will meet Virginia Wayland, who went to the semi-finals last year. This will be a close battle. In the other semi-final match, Ailsie Young will meet the winner of the quarter-finals between E. Wilson and H. Hylton. The winner of this tournament will certainly deserve the honor as best in school because of the great competition between the girls.

In the doubles tournament, the participants haven't been succeeding as well, but two teams have reached the semi-finals. These are Eloise Simmons and Helen Goebel, and Jeanette and Ethel DeSautelle. These two couples will meet in a semi-final match in the upper bracket. The lower bracket also has many good partners in it. The finals in the tourney will be played over the week-end.

As in other years, this tournament has been sponsored by Miss House, gym instructor. Points toward the emblem are given to the winners. Also special awards of white felt in the shape of tennis racquets are given to winners of both singles and doubles tournaments.

Herold Carmichael and Mildred Eggens make a most delightful couple.

Another one we hope will last all summer is the affair of Bob West and Velora Ford.

Too Bad Now!

Rather Late News Tells How "Pedie" Jackson Might Have Entered K. H. S.

Not to bring back sorrowful memories to the track or basketball teams, but here's some rather late news that was discovered by the writer the other day.

Readers probably will remember Mansfield "Pedie" Jackson, the Kingsport High star who played havoc with the Trojan cinderpath and cage teams this past season. But did you know that only by a tough stroke of luck was Jackson kept from attending Knoxville High?

Turn back to the basketball season last winter and think of what the addition of Jackson would have meant to Coach Collins' sphere of influence. . . . then, after the completion of the cage season, imagine the K. H. S. track team, with Jackson on hand, in action!

Mansfield was slated to enter Knoxville High after he graduated from Park Junior, but Dame Fortune intervened and took a hand in the game. "Pedie's" father, who is a Methodist minister, was transferred to Kingsport, and he entered that high school instead of K. H. S.

Thus it was that Knoxville High lost an outstanding all-around athlete by a stroke of luck.

SEASON TICKET DRIVE CONTINUES; 800 SOLD

Last week's season ticket drive netted approximately 800 sales, according to Wilson Collins, athletic director and football coach at K. H. S.

The campaign is being continued this week to reach a goal of 1500. If this number is sold, prices, formerly $1.50, will be reduced to $1.00.

"We're holding it over for the students," explained Mr. Collins. "The drive will be continued in each group, and we hope the necessary three-fourths of each group will get tickets."

SPORT DOPE

Grads Pass From High School To Combat Great Game Of Life

By "Doug" Bean

One hundred thousand fans leap wildly to their feet, cheering and screaming hoarsely as two great football teams battle furiously for a championship. . . .

Excited murmurings ripple over an enthusiastic track crowd as it watches a "dark horse" flash down the 100-yard fairway to a new world's record. The murmurings swell to thunderous applause with the announcement, for the throng likes the sensational. Unleashed from the very center of the court, the ball arched upward toward the basket, unerringly swishing thru it to bring victory and the title. . . .

Three hundred and fifty graduating seniors sit tense and eager, breathing into their very souls the noble words of the speaker. It's a game this speaker is talking about, too—as exciting and thrilling as a game as there is. Not a desperate football struggle, not a close track meet, and not a furious basketball battle—not an athletic game, but the game of Life!

These seniors, who a week ago were so exultantly proud, but now so pitifully, perhaps even dreadfully, pleading for a look into the future, are stepping out to play this new game of Life. They may be classed as "rookies."

Humble, and very probably discouraged, they gaze timidly upon the world. These young men and young women are opening a new door that leads into a new era of their lives and are looking fearfully into the beyond.

What they perceive has immediate results. Fear, dread, timidly vanish, and in their stead flows courage, hope, and resolute determination.

"Ah," they resolve soberly, "we shall play this game of Life fairly and squarely, for all it's worth."

"We shall be an honor to our country and useful to our fellowmen. Failures today will bring new strength, hope, and opportunities on the morrow, and we shall meet the morrow with a brave heart, a calm mind, and an undaunted spirit."

"Without boasting, we simply say that we are too fine to be crushed by defeat, and we shall always rise above it. When discouragements arise we shall trample them under foot and look upon the bright side of life. We shall make these obstacles serve as stepping stones to success, and conquer them and turn them into opportunities."

"Finally, we shall do our best in all things, and leave the rest to the Infinite. We look upon this game of Life as the greatest and most serious problem we have ever undertaken, but if faith, honor, courage, and determination mean anything, then we shall come out winners. We leave this tremendous little poem to those who are yet to face the world:

If, when climbing up Life's ladder,
You can reach a hand below,
Just to help the other fellow
Up another rung or so,
It may be that in the future,
When you're growing weary, too,
You'll be glad to find there's someone
Who will lend a hand to you.

Games of all kind—football, basketball, baseball, or what not—may come and go, but the great game of Life must be played fairly and squarely because a final Reckoning will come.

How are YOU going to play this game of Life?

GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK !

Vacation time is here! School will soon be over and we shall all go our separate ways. "School days, school days, good old golden rule days" will be a thing of the past until next fall.

But wherever we go and no matter how far the distance, the writer bids all, GOODBYE AND GOOD LUCK!

Nine Trojans Off For State Net, Golf Meets

Leave Today By Automobile For Morristown, Scene of Tourneys.

FINALS SATURDAY

Awards Presented To Team Winner—Individual Trophies Also Presented.

Morristown will be the destination and the Tennessee High school tennis and golf championships the objectives of nine Trojan athletes who will leave this morning to try to "bring home the bacon" to K. H. S.

Captain Vernon Grizzard and the four other members of the tennis team, Bob Bogart, Walter Lavender, Doug Bean, and Bill Ressler, will attempt to capture the net trophies for Knoxville High.

There will be a large silver loving cup for the team winner, individual awards for the singles and doubles champions, and smaller awards for runners-up in both events.

At the same time the netsters are endeavoring to win state honors, the golfers, Captain M. C. James, Earl O'Fallon, H. W. Irwin, and Lawrence Berney, will try to do likewise on the Morristown Country club links. The awards are similar to the tennis trophies. Starting today, the tournaments will continue through Saturday, with the finals in both meets being slated for that day.

While no favorites are named, the K. H. S. boys, in both the tennis and golf divisions, have excellent chances of carrying off most of the honors.

Sam Jones Official At S. E. Track Meet

Sam Jones, director of physical education at K. H. S., acted as one of the three official timers at the Southeastern Conference track and field meet held at Birmingham last Friday and Saturday.

"I didn't know a thing about it until they asked me to be one of the judges," Jones said.

"I saw many old records fall and new ones established by the pick of the outstanding athletes of the south," commented Jones, "but two of the most beautiful races I have ever witnessed were run by Chauncy Stout and Harold Wolfe, of Tennessee."

"I hope to make this an annual trip," ended the "Gentleman."

Track Team Elects Roberts '34 Leader

DeWitt Roberts, the chunky little sprinter, has been elected to succeed Charles Cottrell in 1934 as captain of the track team.

DeWitt has been a letterman for two years. He has been a consistent point-getter in the 100 and 220 and is a member of the relay team that set a new high school record this year.

Roberts will succeed Bill Jones, who graduates, as number one dash man.

"The squad could not have chosen a better leader than DeWitt, and he will be an inspiration to the team," commented Coach Sam Jones.

"Fish? This is Friday, ain't it?" brightly volunteers Skunko.

"Yes, but that's not getting my new simonized, chromium-plated, double riveted, mosquito proof armor back, or getting the city away from the Turks, either," Dick bel-lows.

"Aw, we can wear barrels," Skunko offers.

"Well, barrels it is then; into 'em, men."

They don cast-off casks and sally forth, looking not unlike pickled herring.

"I've had a lot of liquids out of these things in me, but I've never been in one of them before," a bright knight pipes up.

The conversation is cut short by the sight of the Turkish hoards sweeping over the plains toward them. Lining up in battle array, a line of barrels (with men in them) confronts the howling heathen.

"Don't fire 'till you see the spots on their vests," admonishes the sage old leader.

Curiously they dismount and peep into the barrels, where-upon they are seized from within and throttled like the Pan American on an up grade. Having dealt with some sixty swarthy desert rats in this manner, and won (lucky dog, he got all the good cards), Skunko calls it a day, and remembering the pretty barmaid at the "Dirty Dishtowel", hastens thitherward.

furniture, but with a butler and a maid.

On the day after his wedding, the groom, receiving an anonymous manage, had to go to Cleveland on secret business.

The truth is, Ned Pembroke, who is in love with Daphne Charters, the bride's sister, has persuaded George Howell, the groom, to go to Boston. There he is to recover, by cunning legal procedure, certain incriminating love letters which he has written to Vera Vernon, a gold-digging chorus girl.

Having recovered the letters, Howell accidentally exchanges suit cases on his return trip with King, a crook, who has just relieved Ned Pembroke's mother of a thirty thousand dollar necklace.

You can easily imagine the ensuing complications, and there are many of them. But everything ends as a good play should and life becomes a bed of roses.

"This is going to be the funniest, craziest, and most entertaining play ever given at Knoxville High school," said Mr. Sams. He added that he wishes to thank all persons who tried for parts.

Summer School To Open June 12

Coming Session Probably Most Successful Yet.

Indications are that the coming session of the K. H. S. senior summer school, which opens June 12, will be the most successful in its history. Numerous out-of-town applications have been received, along with many from regular students in school at present. More and more, worthwhile students are coming to realize it is poor policy to waste a summer when good work can be done under such advantageous circumstances.

The classes in English, history, mathematics, science, and commercial subjects will be well filled and each instructor is planning to give a splendid course in his specific course. Conditions in summer school are thoroughly conducive to study and past experience has shown that summer study has proved highly profitable. Credit for a semester's work of eighteen weeks can, by proper application, be easily earned in eight. At the end of the season, the student feels the full pride of accomplishment in work done to make up some prior deficiency or for the purpose of going into advanced studying.

All Hail To Our New Leaders.....

Whether good fortune or providential foresight have guided this nation in the selection of its leaders to confront the most critical periods of the past, we have always found men destined to deliver us triumphantly to a statue of peace, honor and national prosperity.

Washington, Lincoln, Wilson encountered no greater problems of governmental policy and reconstruction than have been entrusted to the men we have in office today.

With wholehearted Americanism let us dedicate our individual support to the greater issue of national recovery and fortify the responsibility we have imposed upon Roosevelt and Garner with our earnest cooperation, loyalty, confidence, and coordinated purposes of good citizenship.

Our national welfare, our national integrity are in the balance. The eyes of the world are upon us. May this new administration be inspired with such wisdom, statesmanship, vision and courage as to re-establish world-wide prosperity, tranquility and good will.
