Hi-Y Honors 15 'Freshies' With Supper

New Members Introduced At Meeting Last Night—Initiation Begins.

TO CLOSE NEXT THUR.

State Meet To Be Held Here This Month—Many Expected To Attend.

Fifteen "freshies" were welcomed into the Hi-Y last night with an introduction supper at the Y. M. C. A. These new members were elected at the regular meeting of the Hi-Y club last week to fill the vacancies left by those who graduated in the mid-year class.

The new members are as follows: Frank Waters, Earl Ford, Wyman Clark, George Gaines, Bill House, Paul Flinchem, Tate Carty, Gerald Hendricks, Maston Callison, Maurice Cottrell, Bob Patterson, Ed Bowman, Harold Stone, Ralph Wallace, and Nelson Venable.

Their initiation, which began last night, will continue through the week and climax with an installation service, in the form of a weiner roast, at the Boy Scout farm next Thursday night.

Sometime this month, the K. H. S. Hi-Y will sponsor a state Hi-Y meet. Representatives from clubs from various parts of the state are expected to attend this fellowship meeting. Such topics as the "Hi-Y's Place in the Community" and the "Purpose and Platform of the Hi-Y" will be discussed.

Several of the programs this term will be given over to the discussion of various occupations in order to aid the members in choosing their life work. These discussions will be carried on by leaders in various occupations and professions. Other meetings will be devoted to the study of the Bible and will be conducted by members of the club.

The term's activities are scheduled to close late in May with the election of new officers and a Best Girls' banquet.

R. Sherrill Asks Student Body To Cooperate.

With the election and inauguration of new members and officers for the ensuing term completed, the Student Council is now ready to begin its work in earnest.

The new monitors, under the direction of Nelson Venable and Tommy Stevens, have been placed in the halls to protect the lockers and to keep order. Since the first day of school, the Lost and Found department, with Margaret Thompson and Lucy Tindell in charge, has been open.

"It is the purpose of the Student Council to serve the student body and uphold the high ideals of our school," stated Robert Sherrill, newly elected president of the Council.

"This can be accomplished only through the whole-hearted cooperation of every student. With this support, the Council will attempt to make this one of the most successful years of its service."

Miss Helen Galbreath, faculty adviser of the Council, returned to school recently after a long period of serious illness.

Quill & Scroll, B. & W. Members To Work on Paper.

Members of the Quill and Scroll, international honor society for high school journalists, and the Blue and White staff will publish the Knoxville Journal Wednesday, February 21.

The Journal has cooperated with these two K. H. S. organizations for the past three years, giving them complete charge of publishing one issue of the paper each year. On Monday, January 19, the student journalists will go around with the regular Journal writers to learn the beats and prepare for gathering the news for Wednesday's paper. On Tuesday they will cover the beats themselves while the student published paper will appear the following morning.

Part of the proceeds of the advertising and all extra circulations will go to the K. H. S. organizations.

Trials Of John Jones, Jr., Freshman 'Stewdent', Aired

By Grady Blazier

Freshmen to the right of me; Freshmen to the left of me and all around me, all surging and pushing and then they charged. (Don't ask me, Oscar. Can't tell you why they didn't pay cash.) The bell had rung and the hall was filled with a dazzling greenness from the outside. They stormed in, pushing the aged and dignified seniors aside in the rush to the lockers. The lockers open, that is the ones that hadn't forgotten their keys, and their books tumbled out onto the floor. The books shoved back in, they proceeded down the hall.

However, in every school you'll always find at least one student who is really dumb. This boy's books did not tumble out on the floor, because he had left them at home. He didn't walk the halls with a girl because he didn't have one. He spent the next half hour searching for Room 312 in the basement. The warning bell had just finished ringing when Johnny Jones, jr., as our hero-wine is called, took a seat belonging to someone else. He picked himself up out of the floor and sat down "elsewhere". The reason—a blonde.

The 8:15 rang and the teacher called the roll. It went on so forth and so on until she reached the J's. "Johnny Jones", called Dear Teacher. No answer. Still no answer and still silence. She looked around and saw him. "Mr. Jones, jr.," she said, "what is the matter?"

By this time it had penetrated and he answered.

"Teacher, were you calling me? At home they call me Junior."

The bell rang again, as they eventually do, and Junior started rambling. "Did you ever see a

Q. & S. To Give Five Prizes For Best Contest Entries

As one of the special features of the Tenth Annual Scholastic Awards contest, the Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, will award prizes to the winners in five groups of journalistic competition.

First prize for each of the five divisions will be a Royal Signet Typewriter of the latest factory make; while the second and third place winners will be awarded ten dollars and five dollars respectively. In addition to these three awards, forty-eight state certificates of honorable mention will be given in each group.

The journalistic contest includes the following five classifications: news stories, of any event reported for a high school paper; feature stories, of any of the five types commonly included in newspapers; interviews, of either the newspaper or magazine type; sports stories, of any athletic event; and columns, taken from three consecutive issues of a publication.

All entries must be mailed to the contest committee in time to reach the judges by midnight, March 20. No manuscripts will be returned and each must be accompanied by an entry blank, certifying that the submitted piece is entirely the work of its author and not copied from some other manuscript.

The Scholastic Awards, of which the Quill and Scroll Journalism Awards is a branch, was founded ten years ago for the purpose of promoting the creative side of education. Since then the student number of the Scholastic has been given over entirely to the reproduction of outstanding material submitted for the Scholastic

THE NEW SPONSORS

When the list of R. O. T. C. officers for the year was announced, many thought that the game was all over except for the shouting. Well maybe so; but, in that case, the shouting turned out to be a most important and interesting affair. Reason: the sponsors for the battalion, staff, band, and companies were chosen on Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

This year, for the first time in the battalion's history, there were places for seven sponsors; and—the fact cannot be emphasized too much—there were sponsors for the seven places.

The Honorary Lieutenant Colonel, the Honorary Major, and the five Honorary Captains are all outstanding members of the Senior class which graduates in June. That their popularity is well recognized and appreciated is evident, for they were chosen for their positions from one of the largest senior classes which has ever attended Knoxville high school.

The Blue and White congratulates the new sponsors for the outstanding recognition which they have gained for themselves and assures the R. O. T. C. cadets and officers that they have made a choice upon which they may well congratulate themselves.

STUDENT COUNCIL ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The announcement by Robert Sherrill that the Student Council would attempt, with the support of the student body, "to make this one of the most successful years of its service" brings to one's mind some of the worth while things that the Council has done during the past semester.

The Lost and Found Department was responsible, last term, for the return of some 315 articles of various types and 296 books to their owners. Of course, the cataloguing of these lost possessions and the notifying of the persons to whom they belonged was a large undertaking and required a great deal of time and effort on the part of the Council members.

Next, the work of the monitor system might be cited.
With the protection of lockers against theft and the maintainance of order in the halls as its chief duties, this branch of the "service" has "had its hands full". But, despite the responsibility and opposition which it has had to face from time to time, it has accomplished its task remarkably well.

All of this work will be continued this semester. If it is to make the greatest headway, however, it must have every student's support and cooperation.

Get behind the Council and help it in every way that you can, for its mission is to be of service to you.

COURTESY

In the age in which we live, it is virtually impossible for a person to isolate himself from the world. Most people find themselves inevitably coming in contact with the public—a public composed of good and bad, reasonable and unreasonable, patient and impatient. If one is to be happy and progressive, he must equip himself with the necessary qualifications to deal with this seething, changing mob which is on all sides of him. He must take it as it is and not as it should be.

In the ensuing search for some tool to smooth out the problems created by the various dispositions, ideals, and moods of this so-called "general public", courtesy has proved to be the only sure solution. The man who learns to use this tool properly will find his work pleasant and worthwhile; he who does not, will behold himself rapidly advancing from bad to worse, with no hopes of ever reaching the top.

To serve its purpose most effectively, courtesy must be used alike at all times. Even as an experienced carpenter is not likely to become angry and throw his tools out of the window when he strikes cross-grained wood, so no one but a foolish amateur would fly into a rage and throw away all prospects of promotion and success when confronted with the resistance furnished by the unpleasant attitude of some one with whom he is forced to deal.

Statistics show that many who appear rude and mean are really not at all so, but are rather suffering from some temporary nervous defect which is responsible for their present disposition. Often these very persons are the ones who, if patiently and courteously dealt with, can and will figuratively "take a man by the hand and lead him from the depths of obscurity to the heights of respect and renown".

To become an expert in the craft of dealing successfully with the public, one must constantly practice his art. He must start early in life and exercise his skill at every available opportunity. If you have not already learned to make use of that master tool, courtesy, do so at once, for the ability to employ it effectively is indispensable to success and happiness.

SPORT DOPE

Morristown 'Roosters' Defeat Trojans By Two Point Margin

By Johnny Moffett

Keen rivalry between Knoxville high school and Morristown high school continues. After the Blue and White Trojans defeated the Roosters on Tuesday, January 23 by a score of 26-21 in the K. H. S. gym, they traveled to the fair city of Morristown last Friday night.

Playing on their own hardwood and tossing the inflated spherical pig-skin at their own baskets, the Roosters eked out a two point margin win over the Trojans. This victory meant sweet revenge for Petie Siler and all his laddies.

These two games between the Trojans and the Roosters have been hard fought games with both quintets displaying the basketball art and skill.

Coach Wilson Collins has developed a fairly strong team out of this year's candidates, but the combination has received more than their share of the tough breaks and has lost four games this season.

C. H. S. GAMES

Two of the Blue and White clans greatest games remain on their schedule. As in all sports this opponent is the Central high Bobcats.

Coach Quinn Decker has a winning quintet this season. His Red and Black team has disposed of all opponents that have faced them this season.

If only the Trojans can dispose of these Fountain Citians I believe that the 1934 basketball campaign will be considered successful. One way that we can help to beat our ancient rivals is to attend the games and support the Trojans.

TRACK SEASON COMING!

Coach Sam "Gentleman" Jones delight—track season. Soon the K. H. S. lads will be kicking up dust and cinders, pole-vaulting, hurdling, shot-putting, and slinging the javelin.

Judging from the prospects in Knoxville high school at the present, Coach Jones will no doubt develop a strong track team.

Cage Tournament Started By Girls

Pellegrinelli and Rogers Are Victorious.

Captain Hazel Rogers' team defeated Captain Reba Hammond's team 3-0, and Captain Mary Pellegrinelli's team defeated Captain Ruth Brewer's team 2-1, Tuesday after school in the first round of the girls' basketball tournament.

Each team may lose twice before being eliminated from the tournament, since the team losing only once has a chance to win third place.

Captain Cleo Walker's team will play Captain Vitcha Makres' team and Captain Mildred Taylor's team will play Captain Martha McMillan's team today after school.

Bobbie Hull's team will meet Hazel Rogers' team and Josephine Lea's team will meet Mary Pellegrinelli's team in the second round to be played next Tuesday, February 6, after school.

Ten basketball teams have entered the tournament.

University To Feature State Athletic Meet

Program To Include Big Six and Play Day.

Something new in athletics and scholastic contests is to be held at the University of Tennessee on April 13 and 14. This combination of Play Day, and the Big Six will include practically all athletics such as track, swimming, tennis, and gymnastics for both boys and girls.

University Day is the title which has been given these contests. Participants include students of any high school within the bounds of Tennessee.

Dr. L. R. Hessler, of the Botany department and member of the Athletic Council, is in charge of affairs. Although the plans were destroyed by the Morrill Hall fire, new ones have possibly been completed.

Knoxville high will have at the time of University Day, a track, swimming, tennis, golf, and "what have you" team, and these activities should prove interesting to all pupils of K. H. S.

For the scholars of K. H. S. the Big Six will be the principal feature. For spectators the events will be interesting because of the athletic and scholastic aspects which they present.

Trojan Cagers To Play Young Quintet Tonight

K. H. S. Five Will Battle Yellow Jackets on Young's Hardwood Court.

MEET T. M. I. TOMORROW

Collins and Team Will Travel To Sweetwater For Game With Cadets.

After playing the Young high school basketball team tonight, the Blue and White Trojans of Knoxville high school will travel to Sweetwater, Tennessee tomorrow night to battle T. M. I.

The K. H. S. quintet defeated Young high in their first scheduled game of the season by a score of 33-8. It has been reported that Ted McClain, Young basketball mentor, now boasts of a much improved squad. The Trojans will probably find much competition as they face the Yellow Jackets tonight on the latter's hardwood court.

Although the Blue and White clan is favored over Young high, they battle a tough foe tomorrow night at Sweetwater, Tennessee. The Military Institute has had a successful basketball campaign this year and will be out to give Coach Wilson Collin's team a defeat.

Victory for the Trojans depends on such hardwood players as Captain Jimmy "Goldie-Locks" Leach, George "King-Kong" Gaines, E. L. Foster, George Krisle, Maurice Cottrell, and Roy Chappelle.

The K. H. S. players who will probably be in the starting line-up against the cadets are Capt. Leach, Gaines, Foster, Cottrell, and Krisle.

Spanish Club Has Successful Term

Playing games and singing songs which are played and sung by the Mexican and Spanish children at Christmas time were the plans carried out at the last Spanish club meeting held before Christmas.

One of the games played was Pinata. To play this game a bag of toys and candy is placed in the center of the room while one person is blind-folded. This person tries to burst the bag. When this is accomplished all the children scramble for the contents of the bag.

Miss Mary Flenniken, faculty adviser of the Spanish club says, "I am well pleased with the work of the club this semester, and I hope it will be more successful in all its undertakings next term."

Cavaleri Addresses Lower Class Chapel

"Building" was the subject of the talk given by the Rev. E. E. Cavaleri, pastor of the Oakwood Methodist church, in lower class chapel Tuesday. Harry A. Webster, his associate evangelist during the revival now being held at the Oakwood Methodist church, sang.

"If you don't build as God meant for you to build, you pay," the pastor stated. He pointed out that first there must be a firm foundation, a suitable place, and good material.

Dr. Webster also told the story of how the house built on the sand was destroyed and compared it with the house each human is building for himself in the Hereafter.

Mr. Webster sang a hymn, a popular piece, and played the harmonica.

dream, rambling?" He saw George Gaines and asked how the weather was. George replies, "It's all right, but where are you speaking from?"

He wandered on, going nowhere in particular, until a bright thought struck him—maybe he'd better go to his first period class. He sauntered in and took a seat between Vitcha Makres and Patsy Daly—"Move your seat boy, you can't pass there."

Teacher called the roll and looked over at Junior.

"Aren't you Grady Blazier?" she said. He swelled up visibly at the compliment but was forced to answer no.

"Well, you talk just about as much as he does"—He shut up then, and humiliated thusly he "slunk" out into the hall. The second period ran off well as did the sixth. But the third period, between lunches and the class, he didn't know what to do. As he came into the third period, his heel taps clinked loudly. The teacher shot him a "steely" glare which he put into his pocket to win all the boys' marbles. "Why did Columbus discover America—To get away from his wife?"

"Yes," answered Junior. They excused him.

The fifth period was study hall and amid the clang of bells and the popping of fire crackers, he managed to grab three minutes of study.

The only trouble with the sixth was that it should come first. I agree. It was geometry.

There goes the bell but he doesn't go with it. That surging, rushing throng is still the seniors, beg pardon, Freshmen, rushing for the door. Pardon them, they've only spent six hours while I have spent six years.

Johnny, I'll stay in with you, but no wonder you had to stay in. The very idea of a freshman writing notes to Lois Whitehead and Mary Currier.

PICK 'WHITE' OFFICERS

Miss Henrietta Wiegler's 11-A Group Starts Term With Clean Record.

With a bunch of "White" officers, Miss Henrietta Wiegler's group started off the new term with a clean—nay a "White-washed" slate.

After searching the vast metropolis of Knoxville, no spot (not even the new post-office) was found that could compare in "White"ness with the little 11-A group up in 303.

This fastidious little class is led by President White, Vice-president White, Attendance officer White, and Red Cross Representative White. The given names of these Whites are respectively: Tivis, Carl, Albania, and Tom. The Whites have it. Whatever IT may be.

Last term the Joneses had IT. Miss Jessie Neubert's class elected Joneses to offices. Yeah Smith—you're next!

Honor Society Discusses Plans At First Meeting

Holding its first meeting of the term, the National Honor Society assembled in room 113 last Tuesday afternoon, January 30.

Plans were made to collect dues and to raise money to buy the emblems given to the two graduating students with the highest honors, and to prepare for the installation of the members to be elected to join the society within the next two months. Buying of the honor society pins was discussed and it was planned to send for them in the near future.

Maston Callison, newly elected president of the club, presided.

More 'Big Six' Contestants To Be Selected February 15

Lessons In Library Given Eng. Classes

"Lessons in library work are given to English classes of the sophomore, junior, and senior years. Arrangement of the library and the use of the 'Reader's Guide' is taught," stated Miss Mary Bates, K. H. S. librarian.

"Although fifty-two books were bought for the library last semester, no new books can be purchased this term because of the lack of money," announced Miss Bates.

Students who wish to go to the library during a study hall period should obtain a library permit from one of their teachers. This permit must be signed by the teacher and given to the librarian at the entrance to the library.

Latin Club Meets Every Fifth Week

During the fifth week of every six weeks period, the Latin club meets. This club is sponsored by the Latin teachers, Miss Lucille Evans, and Miss Helen Galbreath.

"All students who are taking Latin or who have taken Latin are invited to join the club. The dues are ten cents a semester. The money thus received is used for refreshments," stated Miss Evans.

"The Latin club is organized along the lines of the governments of Ancient Rome. We have consuls, praetors, senators, plebes, and many other officials," Miss Evans further explained.

Each meeting begins with the singing of songs in Latin. Then a program of talks about Roman customs or a play is given. Several contests are then held and last the refreshments are served.

R. Cardwell Added To Open Forum Committee — Appointed by W. E. Evans.

Additional tryouts for "Big Six" contestants will be held Thursday, February 15. There are yet two debators and one original orator to be chosen.

The debating part of the contest consists of two debators and one alternate on each side of the question. This year's national debate question for high schools is "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt the British System of Radio Control."

The Original Oratory contest is one in which a student gives an original composition. This contest also requires an alternate.

"We want to interest students in this oratory contest who will take a live problem of today, and give their own views on any topic they choose in a peppy way," stated W. T. Miller, faculty adviser of the Open Forum.

R. C. Cardwell, English teacher, has recently been appointed by Prof. W. E. Evans, to the committee of advisers of the Open Forum. This group of advisers now consists of W. T. Miller, C. S. Montgomery, and R. C. Cardwell.

Mr. Cardwell has specialized in a study of history and civics in relation to Tennessee government. Recently, among his students there has been work on the plan for reform of the constitution of Tennessee.

"I feel that Mr. Cardwell will be a great help to the efficiency of the club," concluded Mr. Miller.
