

Helen Seivers Places First In B-W Contest

Edna Rose Takes Second; Woodrow Human, Third; Georgia Carter, Fourth.

9 PRIZES TO BE GIVEN

H. Jones, H. King, R. Word, R. Patterson, M. Hopkins Are Other Winners.

Helen Seivers, representative of Miss Mary Nuchols' 11-B group, is the winner of the Blue and White subscription contest with a percentage of 63 out of a possible 100.

The eight other winners in their respective order are: Edna Rose, Ira Stineman's 12-B group, 60%; Woodrow Human, Miss Betty James' 12-B group, 56%; Georgia Carter, R. O. Biggs' 10-A group, 51%; Herbert Jones, N. F. Peterson's 10-B group, 50%; Horace King, Miss Rebecca Cole's 9-A group, 42%; Ruth Word, J. C. Lowry's 10-A group, 40%; Robert Patterson, S. B. Parker's 12-A group, 35%; Martha Hopkins, W. B. Bruce's 12-A group, 33%; and Sally Ann Blaufield, C. A. Brown-jing's 12-B group, 31%.

The nine winners in the contest are asked to report to Miss Emma Becton immediately after school today to receive their awards.

Proceeds From Skating Party Go To Library

Proceeds of the skating party which was sponsored by the lower class groups at Chilhowee Park on Friday, February 3, went to buy new books for the K. H. S. library.

This is the second skating party which the lower class groups have sponsored this year. The proceeds of this one amounted to $11.30.

"We appreciate the fact that the pupils are interested in the library and I am going to choose two members of the group which helped to make the party a success to help select the books for the library," commented Miss Mary Bates, librarian.

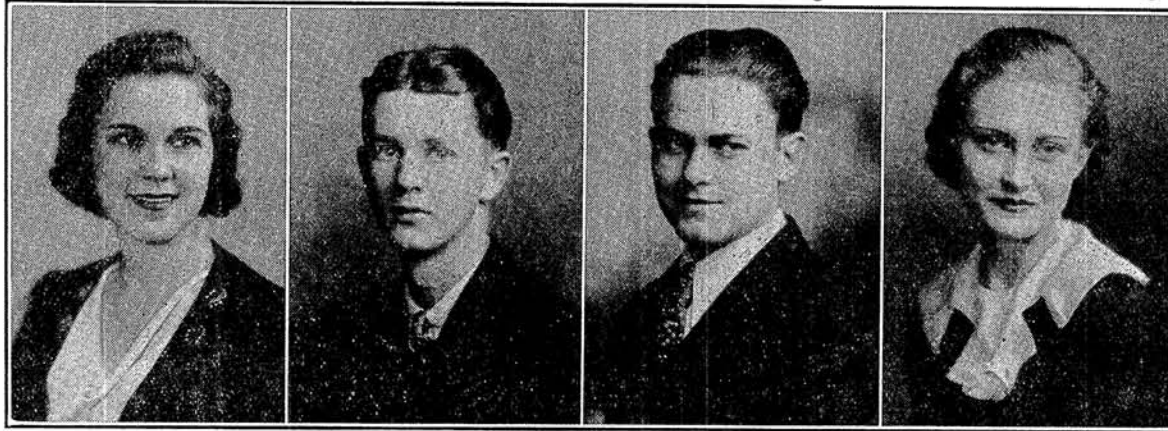

'Nertzzy' Reporter Offers Chocolate Covered Cheese Grater In Contest

By Charles Ewing

What is your name? What's in it? It may win a big prize for you! Here's how: If the first seven letters of the alphabet ('a, b, c, d, e, f, g,') are the first seven in your group teacher's name and the last seven in your own, you can receive the prize (a chocolate-covered cheese grater) by arranging these letters so that they will form the word 'Houyhnhnm' and coming to the staff room with a definition for 'It'. The second prize is a picture of my Uncle Elmer in the uniform of the Busy Bee Chewing Circle, and may be had by any freshman that is gullible. Third prize is a locker key belonging to Jack Curtis and the picture of Kay Francis that Grady Blazier found in Jack's locker. No honorable mention will be awarded and no honorable men will be rewarded.

All of which reminds me that this year one of our cub reporters found out that the first name in

N. Venable Elected Kodak Club Pres.

J. Guisseffi and S. Jones Also Elected Officers.

To elect new members and officers, the K. H. S. Kodak club met Wednesday, January 31.

Nelson Venable was re-elected president; Jerry Guisseffi was elected vice-president; and Shirley Jones, secretary.

Three new members were elected into the club. They are: David Wright, Jess Marcovitch, and John Burney.

The boys plan to hold get-together luncheons once every six weeks of the coming term. At each luncheon there will be speeches on subjects in which the club is interested. In the weekly meetings to be held each Monday, they will study the developing and printing of pictures, how to best take photographs under unusual conditions, and enlarging.

Because of the limited amount of space in the dark room, no girls, and only boys who are most interested in photography, are admitted into the club.

STUDENTS MAY RECEIVE 'VOICE' REFUNDS TODAY

Since K. H. S. is unable to have an annual this year, all students who have paid for part or all of their "Voice" can get their money back if they will report to the school bank today.

G. C. Ruhle Praises Botanical Wealth Of Great Smokies

Says Region Contains Approximately 150 Different Kinds of Trees.

"The outstanding feature of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park is, without a doubt, its great botanical wealth," stated George C. Ruhle, a member of the United States National Park Commission, in a recent interview.

"There are approximately 150 different kinds of trees in this region, a greater variety than that of any other National Park; and as a flower and plant community, the Smokies are far above the average," he continued.

Mr. Ruhle, who has been in East Tennessee only two months, is laying the foundation for a naturalistic and educational program in the Smoky Mountains region. He was especially complimentary in his praise of Knoxville and East Tennessee, declaring that he considered it the most friendly and congenial community he had ever visited.

When asked for his opinion on how the Smoky Mountains National Park, when completed, would compare in interest and beauty with other parks of the United States, he replied that a comparison would be quite as impossible as a comparison between a beautiful painting and a beautiful song, (Continued on Page 3)

Book Stickers Are Issued This Week

Bruce Has Charge—To Protect Books From Theft.

To protect the owners of textbooks, class teachers have been issuing ownership stickers, this week.

This practice was started last spring by the President's council. A ruling was made that no books could be sold through the book exchange or book stores without these stickers, and that they be kept in the book permanently, each new one being placed under the last one.

W. B. Bruce has charge of the work and distributing while the printing is done by Paul Brewer's printing classes.

The stickers for this term have five green stripes down the right and across the top is "K. H. S. Book Exchange"; at the left is a space for the owner's name under which is the date; at the right is the code number for that particular book and below that is the teacher's signature.

Ralph Wallace Is Officers Club Head

As if being Cadet Lieutenant Colonel of the Knoxville high school R. O. T. C. battalion were not sufficient military honor for one person, the Officers club chose Ralph Wallace as its president for this term at a meeting Tuesday.

Cadet Major Harry Carter was elected vice-president; C. L. Holt, Captain of Company "C", secretary; and John Harbison, Captain of the Band, treasurer.

A committee composed of C. L. Holt, Harry Carter, Herbert Davis, C. A. Henry, and John Harbison was appointed by the club's new president to make plans for the Officers' banquets and other social events.

Virginia Simpson Named New Red Cross President

To elect new officers, the Red Cross representatives met Monday, February 5.

The officers are as follows: Virginia Simpson, president; L. D. Word, vice-president; Maxine Graham, secretary.

A contest to provide books for the state prison at Petros has been planned. The contest started February 6, and will continue until February 26. The representative collecting the most books from his group will be given a prize.

A skating party was discussed and is to be given in the near future.

Leading Roles For Masquers Play Assigned

M. Currier, F. Leek, R. Ray, and F. Dunkin Principals In "Dying To Live".

7 OTHERS IN CAST

Deals With Wife's Insane Jealousies of Her Husband—To Be March 9.

Mary Currier, Fairy Leek, Robert Ray, and Frank Dunkin have been chosen for the leading parts of the annual Masquers club play that is to be given Friday night, March 9 at 8 o'clock.

The play, "Dying To Live", by Wilbur Brown, is in three acts and deals with a wife's insane jealousies of her husband.

Mary Currier plays Olivia Winlock, wife of Samson Winlock, played by Robert Ray. Wanda Armstrong is the maid who is continually reciting her own poetry. Fairy Leek plays the part of a charming young girl, and Frank Dunkin plays Chick Breen, a handsome young man of the out-of-doors.

There are seven other students in the cast.

The part of Mrs. Naomi Estelle is played by Louisa Robbins; Melva Jones, Wanda Armstrong; Mrs. Nina Royston, Henrietta Bishop; Montrose Langdon, D. M. Walker; Estelle Gay, Billie Lynch; Mrs. Dillon Dilworth, Mary Price; and Savoldi Yutaka, Ray Watson.

This annual play is to be the culmination of the work of the Masquers club for this term. Each year the club works up to their one big play by putting on short one act plays, studying dramatics, and writing short dramas.

Robert Sherrod To Head Upper President's Council

During lower class chapel Tuesday, Robert Sherrod, 12A student and publicity chairman for the '34-B senior class, was elected president of the upper class group president's council.

Tate Carty was chosen as vice-president and Mary Currier, as secretary.

The problems brought up before the council dealt with tardiness to classes and crowding in the halls.

The retiring officers are John Parker, president; Weller Gleason, vice-president; and Jane Boyd, secretary.

WHAT! ANOTHER CUT?

A Washington newspaper recently called attention to the fact that the City of Knoxville spends only about $59.14 per capita for the education of her children each year, whereas the average amount for other cities in the United States of like size is something like $91.69 per capita per year. This means that Knoxville is spending only about 65 per cent as much for the education of her young people as she should if they are to compete on an even basis with others of their age in the national competition for livelihood.

On top of these disheartening statistics comes the tragic revelation that, at present, there are 1,003 Knoxville school children who are forced to attend on a half time basis because of crowded conditions and shortage of school funds.

This year, the school board is asking for an appropriation of $994,422.47 to defray the expenses for 1934. Almost half of this amount will be paid by the State. Considering that sixteen new teachers will be needed to accommodate the increase in school population which has been largely brought about by the influx of T.V.A. workers and their families, this seems a very insignificant increase over the $987,024.54 which was spent for the operation of schools in 1933.

Yet, with these figures and facts before it, the City Council has recommended that only $970,422.54 be appropriated for the schools this year—$24,000 less than will be needed as the minimum amount for school expenses during the year of 1934!

In an effort to help the city economize last year when the closing of the East Tennessee National Bank created a difficult financial situation, the school board agreed to attempt to operate the schools for about $90,000 less than the city charter states must be levied. This it did. And now the City Council proposes to cut this skeleton appropriation!

For the school board to obtain the sum which it needs for 1934, the average taxpayer would have to give only sixty cents more than would be required of him if the amount which the City Manager recommends were adopted.

Will the citizens of Knoxville let such an insignificant amount as sixty cents deprive their school system of the absolute necessities of operation? Will they continue to stand for the reduction of school funds when everything else is advancing? Past records show that they are not this narrow minded, and it is to be hoped that they will not make a change at such a time as this.

THE GREAT SMOKIES

The statement by George C. Ruhle in a recent interview that the Smoky Mountains National Park, when completed, would rank high in natural interest and beauty among other national parks of the United States should make every East Tennessean feel a bit of justifiable pride, for Mr. Ruhle has been actively connected in his work with many of the best known national parks of the country.

The truth of his statement is certainly unquestionable. The Smoky Mountain region presents one of the best examples of primeval growth and beauty that can be found anywhere. Undoubtedly, the Appalachian Park Committee realized this fact when, after a careful investigation of several promising areas, it names the Great Smoky Mountains as its choice for the site of a national park. This decision was reached, it stated, "because of the height of mountains, depths of valleys, ruggedness of area, and the unexampled variety of trees, shrubs, and plants".

Anyone who has spent a happy day in the Smokies among its tall sentinels of primeval growth; who has heard the jabbering chorus of its swift mountain streams, mingled with the shrill clear notes of the colored feather folk; who has studied and admired its density of wild plant growth and varied geological wealth; or who has gazed spell-bound upon its majestic mountain peaks, partially obscured by a dreamy blue haze, knows in his heart that a creation so gorgeous and lovely, yet so mysterious and awesome, must have been conceived and builded by none other than the Great Master Architect.

As Winter abdicates in favor of Spring, the pure white blanket which has protected this enchanted region from the fury of inclement weather during the cold months will mysteriously vanish. Tender young plants will shyly peep out, and, finding themselves in a Paradise of happiness and beauty, will boldly grow and blossom to add their bit to the magnificence of the scene. The Great Smokies will then be at the height of their grandeur.

Then, if you would like to spend "a day in Paradise", visit your national park. Enjoy the lovely views which you will perceive on all sides of you, for you will be gazing on one of the Great Builder's most perfect handiworks, the Great Smoky Mountains.

"Well, some paper said it."

"Probably it was the Centralite," suggested James.

Ramblers Win To Take Lead In Independent League Standing.

PLAY NEXT TUESDAY
Blue Devils and Fourth Avenue Also Victorious Last Wednesday.

Beating their rivals by a score of 19-17, the Ramblers took the lead in the Independent League last Wednesday by defeating the N.R.A. team. This league, which is under the direction of Coach Sam "Gentleman" Jones, is a part of the Knoxville high school intramural program.

N. R. A. vs. Ramblers
In this fast game, the Ramblers took the lead early in the first period of the game and the National Recovery team was unable to check their scoring. During the half the Ramblers held a two point margin of 11-9.

L. Berney set the pace for both teams by tallying nine points for the Ramblers. Richie played a brilliant defensive game and also scored six points for the winners.

Daniel Davis and Abe Joffe each scored six points for the losers.

Summary:

Ramblers 19	Pos.	N.R.A. 17
Rice 2	F	Davis 6

'Y' SWIMMERS MEET LASSIES TOMORROW

With three victories and no defeats to its credit, the "Y" Aquatic club meets the girls' swimming team from the local Y. W. C. A. tomorrow night in the "Y" pool.

This meet will be a handicap affair. The girls will probably be given a certain number of seconds in each event. With this provision a boy may touch the finish line first, yet he could lose the respective swim.

In the last of its contests, the "Y" Aquatic club defeated the University of Tennessee swimmers. This meet, however, was only an exhibition contest, held principally for the debut of the U. T. swimming team. Because of this, no official score was recorded.

Present students and former grads of K. H. S. swimming in this meet are: Weller Gleeson,

SPORT DOPE

Trojans Win Cage Contests From Young High And T.M.I.

By Johnny Moffett

Those Blue and White clad Trojans are improving and also proving themselves a worthy foe to any high school basketball team.

Last Friday evening the Conquering Trojans defeated the Young high school Yellow Jackets by a large score. Ted McClain, Young's mentor, and his quintet were overpowered by a brilliant attack led by Knoxville high school's man mountain, George "King-Kong" Gaines.

Then the following night, last Saturday, the K. H. S. five traveled down to the fair city of Sweetwater, Tennessee. There they gave the T. M. I. Cadets their greatest surprise on their basketball schedule.

Again the giant Gaines, followed by Leach and Chappelle, led the attack which gave the Trojans two consecutive wins on the hardwood.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

When you speak of gym or physical education, many think that you are talking about exercise or some other grammar school tactics.

But instead of these, the course in physical education at K. H. S. offers real physical practice. These include basketball, wrestling, tumbling, and other contests which develop the students mentally and physically.

The students, under the direction of Coach Sam Jones, are now forming a tumbling team. This organization is an annual event. Those on the team receive school emblems.

WHATNOTS

"Bounding Barnacle" Bill Baker, last year's football captain, plans to play football next season with dear old Knoxville high school. --- Be that as it may, we don't know this for a fact, but the colors of Blue and White are predominating. The new auto license bear the Trojans' colors. Could this be because we were 1933 National Champions? --- Captain Jimmy "Goldie-Locks" Leach delights in being called "Goldie-Locks". --- Bill Badgett, 1934 grid captain, has been reported as candidate for the rope skipping team—plenty of competition, girls. --- The 1933 Trojan quintet defeated the Black and Red Bobcats two straight games last season. --- Gene Johnson, 1933 star forward, is now looping the baskets for the U-T freshmen five.

Sittin' on a log --- pettin' our dog --- but none of us are feeling blue after the great 12-6 victory over the Central high Bobcats last Tuesday night.

The conquering Blue and White Trojans kicked the little "dope" bucket over before the game started and smoothly clicked out a six point victory over their most bitter rivals.

George "King-Kong" Gaines was in the spotlight throughout the game. The Trojan giant center shot eleven of the twelve points made by the Knoxville high quintet. Hitting the basket from all angles of the court, the Bobcat's defense could not stop his attack.

Captain Jimmy "Goldie-Locks" Leach played a very brilliant game on the defense as well as effectively passing the spherical pig-skin to aid in scoring.

Roy Chappelle, who scored the other point, also played an outstanding game.

Clarence "Sonny" Beasley, Maurice Cottrell, George Krisle, and E. L. "Hank" Foster played a smooth game of basketball. They passed and handled the ball with perfection to help keep the Trojans in a safe lead over their Red and Black foes.

Bill Maples, the lanky Bobcat center, was outstanding on the hardwood for Coach Quinn Decker's five.

This defeat which the Blue and White five handed the Central quintet, was its second defeat of the season.

Cage Tournament For Girls Played

By the score of 1 to 0, Josephine Lea's team defeated Mary Pellegrinelle's team, and by the score of 8 to 6 Hazel Rogers' team defeated Bobbie Hull's team Tuesday after school in the second round of the girls' basketball tournament.

Ruth Long made the point for Josephine Lea's team, while Ruth Stewart with 6 and Gennie Kent with 2 totaled the 8 points for Rogers' team, and Bobbie Hull with 4 and Tivis White with 2 ran up the 6 points for Hull's team.

Friday, February 2, Mildred Taylor's team won over Martha McMillan's team by the score of 9 to 4. Mildred Douglas starred for the winners with 5 points and her teammate, Imogene Dodson, scored 2 points each for the losers. Because of absence of players, Cleo Waller's team forfeited a game to Vitch Makres' team February 2.

Today after school Bobbie Hull's team will meet Cleo Walker's team, and Martha McMillan's team will meet Mary Pellegrinelle's team.

Tuesday, February 13, Hazel Rogers' team will play Vitcha Makres' team, and Josephine Lea's team will play Mildred Taylor's team in the semi-finals.

MORE ABOUT RUIHLE

since all parks are noted for different features of interest. That it would rank unusually high in national popularity, however, was his firm belief.

Mr. Rühle is convinced that the Smoky Mountains region can be converted into a park which will excel in primeval nature. Although some parts of the region have been stripped of their natural wealth and beauty by lumbermen, he believes that they will, in time, regain their original appearance and growth. Only about one-third of the land which will eventually be included in the Park is still in the hands of private owners, he stated.

Charles Brown Stars For Trojan 'B' Five.

As a preliminary game to the Trojan-Bobcat basketball tilt, the Knoxville high "B" team won over the Central "B" squad by a close score of 17-12. This was a fast played game, but the "little" Trojans managed to hit the basket more often than the Centralites.

The Blue and White team got off to a flying start, but the Red and Black five soon tightened their defense.

Charles Brown, K. H. S. guard, was high point man of the game, having scored ten points.

Theodore Land scored four points for the K. H. S. "B" team while also starring for the defense. George "Freck" Creswell, Bill Luttrell, and Steve Maglio were also outstanding for the winners.

Ray Cannon, Central football star, led the C. H. S. "B" quintet, scoring by looping eight points. McDonald, guard, also played a great offensive game.

Trojans To Play Jefferson City Hi

Having played the T. M. I. cadets a closely contested game last night, the Trojan basketball team journey to Jefferson City tonight where they will play the Jefferson City high quintet. Featuring one of the strongest teams of the vicinity, the Jefferson City boys should furnish plenty of competition for the Trojans.

On Friday, February 23 the Trojans will play a return game with Jefferson City in the K. H. S. gym. The C. H. S. Bobcats, who recently played Jefferson City, defeated them only by a small margin.

With a game at Maryville on February 13 and a game with the C. H. S. quintet on the 15th, the K. H. S. players should be in excellent shape for the district tournament.

The Trojans having defeated the Bobcats by the narrow margin of 12-6 last Wednesday will probably be more closely contested on the Bobcats' own court in the February 15th game.

Bill Maples Stars For Central—Captain Leach Plays Great Game.

Playing a smooth, passing game, the Knoxville high school basketball team defeated Central high school last Tuesday night in the K. H. S. gym. The K. H. S. Trojans won over their ancient rivals by a score of 12-6.

George "King-Kong" Gaines was the outstanding star of the game. Gaines tallied eleven of the winners twelve points. The man-mountain Trojan center not only displayed accurate shooting, but was also strong on the defense.

The other point scored for the Blue and White team was tallied by Roy Chappelle, forward.

Other Trojan basketballers who shared in the great win over Coach Quinn Decker's Bobcats were Captain Jimmy "Goldielocks" Leach, Maurice Cottrell, Clarence "Sonny" Beasley, E. L. "Hank" Foster, and George Krisle.

Bill Maples, Bobcat center, totaled three points to lead the scoring for his team-mate. Taylor scored two points to capture second scoring honors for the losers.

A large crowd saw the K. H. S. team defeat the Bobcats in their first game of the season. This is the second time that the Fountain Citians have tasted defeat this season. Students from both schools were present to support their teams with yells and cheers. Bill Baker, 1933 K. H. S. grid leader, acted as cheer leader for the Knoxville high school fans.

Central high school cagers are now preparing for the game in which the Blue and White team will play on the Bobcat's court.

Summary:

K. H. S. (12)	C. H. S. (6)

Could it be possible that the famous Adcock and "Chappy" affair is beginning anew? Can't tell about the "Chappy". Won't mention Jackie's excuse.

Radio Schedule For This Term Is Announced

Programs To Feature Different Clubs, the Faculty, and Alumni.

Continuing the K. H. S. radio programs over WROL at 7:45 p. m. each Tuesday evening this semester, the programs will be varied by the different clubs, the faculty, and the alumni.

Next Tuesday evening the Science club will conduct the program. C. A. Browning, science teacher at K. H. S., will speak on the Byrd Expedition.

The following Tuesday, February 26, the K. H. S. library will be the topic, the programs being arranged by the P. T. A. with music by the P. T. A. chorus.

The Masquers club with O. E. Sams, English and dramatics teacher, in charge, will conduct the program March 5.

Dr. Harry Clark, superintendent of Knoxville city schools, will speak for the alumni hour March 12. Music is to be furnished by K. H. S. alumni.

March 19 the K. H. S. orchestra, led by Professor Fred De Robertis, will entertain with a quarter hour of music.

March 26 is University of Tennessee night. Dean Massey will probably speak. However, this is tentative.

The K. H. S. band will furnish entertainment for the K. H. S. hour April 2. W. H. Crouch, director, will lead the band.

With C. S. Montgomery as its leader, the Open Forum club will assume the responsibility of a program for April 9.

Although it is uncertain, April 16 will probably be K. H. S. faculty night.

The K. H. S. chorus, featuring the operetta to be given this year, will have charge of the program April 23.

The Masquers club will again have the program April 30.

During the month of May, the first week's program, May 7, will be devoted to the commercial and industrial arts department.

The second week, May 14, the orchestra again will entertain while the last two weeks' broadcasts which come May 21 and May 28, will be given to the 12-B and 12-A classes respectively.

EXCHANGES

(Leaves From Other Trees)
Eight thousand dollars will be expended in two PWA projects at Central high school of Nashville. The main building will be painted inside and out, and the rooms of the gymnasium redecorated. The athletic field will be improved and enlarged. Concrete seats are to be installed to seat one thousand.—Central High News.

W. O. Oakes Makes Likeness Of Son

W. O. Oakes, K. H. S. 'shop' teacher, has an image of his son, Billy Oakes, 'always before him' on his office desk.

The likeness was made by Mr. Oakes at odd moments over a period of two weeks. It is done in bas-relief on dark wood and polished highly. Only the face is shown and the carving is framed by a serrated border, the pattern for which, Mr. Oakes explained, was copied from that of a French chest of the fifteenth century. (The design in front, however, is Mr. Oakes' own.)

Mr. A. W. Torresani's classes in woodwork have completed several projects, several of which have been displayed inside the showcase in the front hall of K. H. S.

WHAT! NO LYNCHING?

K. H. S. Portals Removed To Capture Escaped Members of Bug Collection.

Maybe as some of you came to school last week and saw all the rope around in the front, you had a thought that there might have been a lynching here on the school grounds.

Imagine that. The portals of K. H. S. forever disgraced by the awful stigma (look it up). But, folks, no such thing happened. Some of Miss Beard's valuable collection of bugs had escaped and as their value was so great, they had to tear the wall down to get to them. Miss Beard vigorously denies this, however.

All kidding aside, the wall was giving away and had to be reinforced. So they took off the marble and made it more secure. You know we would have hated to have the whole wall fall out!

I'd like to get a feature story on unusual names in high school." Presto!! Watso!!! The shape dwindles and looks admiringly up at our Dennis.

"From the Blue and White? How nice—just come over here and sit at the desk while I read out the names to you. When we reach a strange one, tell me and I'll stop and write it down for you."

So-o-o-o-o, Dennis does not claim any credit for getting this story and all he asks is that the editor put his name above it in one-half inch type. So what?

Miss Becton, 11-A
Harry Brooks, president; Donald Browning, vice-president; John Brooks, secretary; Anita Bowman, Red Cross representative; Robert Buffet, B. & W. representative.

Mr. Biggs, 10-A
George Child, president; Mildred Carman, vice-president; Margaret Bailey, attendance officer.

Mrs. Rice, 12-A

22 Groups Apply For S. C. Charters

Miss Emily McLaurin's 11-B group again has the distinction of being the first group to apply for a charter from the Student Council this term. Twenty-two groups in all have already turned in applications.

All charters issued last term have been taken up and will be re-issued when the groups have passed inspections by council members. When given out they will bear the signatures of Robert Sherrill, president of the council, and Sarah Bishop, chairman of the charter group committee.

For the past several years Miss McLaurin's group has been the first to apply for the charter, pass inspections and receive it. Last term all the groups in school with the exception of three received charters. It is hoped that this term the school will go 100%.

KHS Library Receives 200 New Volumes

Books Include Such Subjects As Sports, Aviation, and Journalism.

Have you seen all those pretty colored books in the library? Are they new? Of course, they are. And there are 200 of them too, mind you. Boys, girls, teachers, and freshmen, you can find a book after your own heart in our school library now. Don't be afraid to touch one, and yet don't touch them too much with those dirty hands.

There's one book especially interesting for boys—"Play the Game" by Charnley. It is a book of sports, containing all the best games and sports, such as basketball, football, polo, and swimming. Besides having the methods of playing these games, the book gives accounts of the best sportsmen throughout the years. It is good as a reference book as well as an enjoyable book to read.

"Night Flight" is a story of air mail service in South America. It has recently been made into a movie.

Darling's "Ding Goes to Russia" is a fascinating travel book, written in a breezy journalistic style, of the clever and witty comments of a newspaper reporter on his travels through present-day Russia.

An interesting story of English Gypsies during the time of Queen Elizabeth is found in Crew's novel, "Shawl with the Silver Bells".

Princess Der Ling, using her married name, White, has written a fascinating book, "Two Years in a Forbidden City", about the life at the Chinese court—what they wore, what they ate, how they gossiped. Princess De Ling was a Lady in Waiting of China.
