Alice J. Bounds Chosen Pianist For Orchestra

Musician is Accomplished Artist—Won Music Scholarship 2 Years Ago.

Professor Fred DeRobertis announced Wednesday morning that Alice Jean Bounds will be the pianist for the orchestra this term. There will be no assistant.

Miss Bounds was chosen after a try-out in which Martha Webb, Ann Abel, Caroline Okey, and Janice Graybeal participated.

Alice Jean is only 14 years old. Although a 9A student, she enrolled at high school from Park Jr. high at the insistence of Professor De Robertis.

The new pianist is an accomplished artist. Two years ago she won a scholarship, which she refused because of her age, to the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

Frank Nelson, who has been Alice's sole teacher, regards her as one of the most talented students he has ever taught.

Night School Class Will Present Play

"Easy Pickin's", a one-act comedy written by J. C. McMullen, will be presented by the Knoxville high night school dramatics class in the K. H. S. auditorium Friday, February 28. Admission will be fifteen cents for night school and twenty-five cents for all others.

Included in the cast are:

J. S. Johnson, Mrs. H. H. Lawson, Herman Cate, Miss Carolyn Joyeaux, Orville Reaves, Christian Tubbs, Keith Henry, Mrs. Keith Henry, Mrs. O. E. Sams, Miss Mae Walker, Miss Grace McLin.

This dramatics class grew out of a class in public speaking recently held at night school and conducted by O. E. Sams. There are about fourteen in the class. It meets every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

O. E. Sams, instructor of the class, is directing the production.

"The night school students are working hard on the production and the results of their work will be shown when the play is given," commented Mr. Sams in regard to the success of the class.

Senior Students Will Model Styles In Show April 21

Object is to Give 12A's Chance To Select Clothes For Their Graduation.

To help the seniors select their graduating clothes, a group of boys and girls will model the latest styles in the annual show which is to be April 21.

The girls were chosen by a committee of three senior teachers, Miss Mary Arrants, Miss Guerrant Tatem, and Miss Anne Kent.

They are: Christine Smith, Martha Snavely, Neolene Childress, Bobbie Hull, Helen Marshall, Louise Hickman, Alice Cox, Virginia Eisensmith, Jane Harris, Ruth Anderson, Elizabeth Forrester, Evelyn Waters, Jane Hardin, Mavis Champe, Laura Quinn, Juliet McNeal, Myrtle Lancaster, Elizabeth McKelder, Margaret Albers, Ezelle Ramsey, Helen Brannum, Frances Armistead, Virginia Anderson, Margaret Bailey, Margaret Sisk, Eula Wagner, Katherine Roberts, Ruth Dunn, and Jeane Allen.

KHS RADIO TRYOUTS WILL BE TOMORROW

Try-outs for the K. H. S. radio announcer will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock at WROL. All 12B and 12A boys are eligible for the try-outs.

A manuscript will be given each applicant to read. The selection will be based on the following points: pronunciation, articulation, voice, expression, interpretation, and enunciation.

The faculty committee consists of S. B. Parker, chairman, Edward Hamilton, Miss Emma Becton, O. E. Sams, C. S. Montgomery, and Charles Martin. The decision of the judges will be final.

Tommye Parker Attends 3 Schools During Senior Year

By Ed Mitchell

Miss Tommye Parker, present K. H. S. senior, has, without doubt, established the "Seniorship Endurance" record of K. H. S. She has been a member of three different senior classes of three different schools within the last year. She is also the proud and rightful possessor of two beautiful senior rings and plans to obtain her third ring in the near future.

Tommye's first experience as a senior was in a small Catholic high school of Texarkana, Texas.

The largest graduating class this school has ever known included thirteen students, while the smallest only boasted two members.

Tommye explains that when she was a junior in the school, the senior class was so small that they combined her class with it in order to obtain one fair-sized class. So Tommye became a senior, purchased her ring, and planned to graduate.

But just before graduation time she moved to Knoxville, not yet having received her diploma.

At Knoxville she entered Catholic high school for the summer session. All the seniors received their rings during the early part of the term.

Before the term had expired, however, the "champion of seniors" decided she would rather complete her education at Knoxville high. Now she is a member of high school's senior class and intends to purchase one of the rings. She is hoping for the best this time.

Of all the schools she has attended, Tommye says she likes Knoxville high best. "I suppose I like it best because the other schools were small, and I like to be in a larger school," she smiled.

who covered the Italian invasion of Ethiopia for the United Press. He has been lecturing in Knoxville as guest of the Knoxville News-Sentinel.

That there is still a good chance of the Italian-Ethiopian war causing great international conflict which would affect every student in Knoxville high school today, was the opinion of Webb Miller, famous war correspondent, who visited Knoxville last Tuesday.

Mr. Miller generously consented to an interview by a Blue and White reporter, in which facts of concern to K. H. S. students were primarily discussed.

The interview took place immediately following the journalist's evening meal at the Andrew Johnson Grill. Incidently the meal consisted principally of a tomato cocktail, a salad, country ham, hot rolls, and a glass of milk.

The ace reporter for the United Press demonstrated the patriotism of young Italians by the story of

'Heart Trouble' Is Near Completion

Masquers Begin Rehearsals On Third Act.

Ending the second week of rehearsals with lines of first and second acts memorized, the cast for the Masquers club play is rapidly advancing toward the day when scripts will be cast aside.

O. E. Sams, who is directing "Heart Trouble" as the Masquers club annual dramatic production, explained that the cast would begin work on the final act starting Monday.

"The play is coming along fine and the cast is especially efficient in memorizing the lines," commented Mr. Sams.

"Heart Trouble", a three-act domestic comedy by Howard Chenery, has six principal roles instead of the usual two or four leads found in modern plays. These six main roles will be portrayed by Josephine Lee, Gertrude Meyer, Vera Yon, Robert Walker, Clyde Carter, and Charles Sprankle.

Others in the cast are John Roberts, George Foster, Dorothy Bell, and Linda Robinson.

NFM CLUB SPONSORS MUSICAL CONTEST

Several students in this school are expected to enter a musical contest sponsored by the National Federation of Music clubs. The competition, which will take place in the latter part of March, will be open to musicians of any age.

Elimination contests will be held in various cities in Tennessee and the winners in these contests will go to the state contest in Johnson City.

In order to enter these contests, a student must belong to one of the music clubs in the state. An entry fee of one dollar will be charged.

P. T. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF TERM

The P. T. A. of Knoxville high school held its first meeting of this term Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in the assembly hall.

The Rev. Faye Gibson, guest speaker, used as his subject "The Home in Culture-Spiritually". The Rev. Gibson is pastor of the Central Methodist Church.

Community singing was led by Mrs. H. E. Gallaher and a group of Park students sang. The devotional was led by Mrs. Clarence Beaman.

"The Lady of the Lake", a poem by the well-known author, Sir Walter Scott, was shown to the high school students Wednesday, February 19, during study hall periods. The picture featured Percy Marmount and Benita Hume as leading characters.

The artistic version of this famous poem had a harmonious musical background. The scenes were all filmed among the hills and dales of Scotland in the very places where Scott was inspired to write this beautiful poem.

A short reel on science was also shown.

The present plans of the committee who chooses the films are to bring more pictures like this one in the future. Students were given their last chance to sign up for a movie ticket this week.

A group of students including the Student Council, class directors from each class in high school, and three members of the Blue and White staff, including Elsie Schumaker, chairman; Fred Clayton and Anna Rhodes, will constitute the students of the previewing committee for the ensuing pictures. A committee of teachers, headed by William Ragsdale, will be the faculty advisers.

CHARLES HOFFMAN SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Before the students in upper class chapel Thursday, Charles Hoffman, an attorney with the legal department of the TVA, explained the decision of the Supreme Court concerning the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Mr. Hoffman told of the opportunities for government jobs, open to high school students who will soon be hunting jobs.

"The personnel department of the TVA," he said, "is looking for people who have the ability to express themselves, both in writing and in speech. A liberal education is another requirement."

Mrs. Lelia Hampton Leslie, well-known contralto, sang three songs, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", "In A Luxemburg Garden", and "Speak to Me of Love".

The Park junior high school band played several selections in lower class chapel, Tuesday, including an overture, "Ambition", a march "Aunt Hannah", "A College Boy", and "Normal".

Dorothy Huskey, F. Reeves Write Winning Essays

Bill Luttrell and Roma Spikes Take Second Place in Civitan Club Contest.

Dorothy Huskey and Fritz Reeves, 12A students, won first places in the annual Civitan club essay contest which closed last week. Roma Spikes and Bill Luttrell placed second. Topics for the winning essays included "Character and Citizenship", "My Idea of How to Prevent Crime", and "Civil Rights and Duties". Five dollars will go to each boy and girl winning a first place, and two dollars and fifty cents to each of the second place winners.

The Knoxville Civitan club will award a loving cup to the first winner of the final county contest, and in addition the winner's essay will be entered in the International Civitan contest.

A number of scholarships to good American colleges will be given to the winners in the National contest. Seniors only are eligible for these scholarships. Any winner who is not a senior will be awarded the Civitan Key.

These contests are a part of the international program of the Civitans to help create better future citizens.

English Students Present Program

Using George Washington as the general theme, students of the English department will conduct the radio program today, under the direction of Miss Mary Nuchols and Miss Esther Ellis. Those participating on the program are: Wesley Brown, Arthur Wright, Mary Woodward, and Janice Graybeal. Patriotic music will be furnished by Joe Mark.

The social science department under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Doty, will give discussions on "The Danger Zones in the World Today". A talk will be given on each country, explaining the reasons why that particular country may become involved in war. Those taking part are S. A. Partain, William Dykes, William Browder, Dorothy Beaver, Adaline Hinds, and Mary Ruth Jackson.

Next Friday, Boyd Junior high school will come to K. H. S. to conduct the broadcast. This is the first junior high school to participate on the radio program this year. Other schools will also broadcast in the future.

EXONERATED

We join the general approbation in the Tennessee Valley of the decision handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court which gives the T. V. A. assurance of life as far as constitutional bombardment is concerned.

With judicial integrity, Chief Justice Hughes illucidated that most dubious phase of the T. V. A. which has to do with the production and sale of "surplus" energy created at Wilson Dam. Since Norris Dam, with which we are more familiar because of its proximity, was constructed for purposes not wholly unlike those for which Wilson Dam was constructed, we assume the interpretation applicable to the same activities at this Dam.

In successive order, the ruling proceeded to consider "(1) the nature of the particular property, (2) the character of the 'surplus' disposed of, and (3) the manner of disposition" and stamped approval upon each.

"The government has not less right to the energy thus available by letting the water course over its turbines than it has to use the appropriate processes to reduce to possession other property within its control, as, for example, oil which it may recover from a pool beneath its lands, and which is reduced to possession by boring oil wells."

"Would anyone say that, because the United States had built its own dam and plant in the exercise of its constitutional functions . . . . no power could be supplied to the communities and enterprises dependent on it . . . . ?"

Referring to the erection and purchase of transmission lines necessary to carry the electric energy, the decision read: "We know of no constitutional ground upon which the Federal government can be denied the right to seek a wider market."

In the sanctity of these excerpts we perceive vast industrial possibilities through the development and sale of government power at "yardstick" rates.

Athough Knoxville is strategically located in the area of this yet rudimentary program, we are not so selfish as to regard this section the sole benefactor. Knoxville has truly benefited and will continue to prosper and expand; the rural inhabitants of this section, aided by the T. V. A. experts in preventing soil erosion, in effectively fertilizing their farms, in reclaiming submarginal lands and in the multitudinous phases of scientific farming, are realizing the joy of social security. But the real meaning of success at the Court extends beyond the boundaries of a single section to the nation as a whole where every home may enjoy the same pleasures which have come to the people of the Valley.

SAFETY CONSCIOUSNESS

The awesome spectre of death, striking unexpectedly and with destructive suddenness, hovers over our streets and highways. Last year 99,000 bodies, some without external altercations but not less fatal internal injuries, some crushed, mangled and disintegrated, were strewn over the nation's thoroughfares, the hapless victims of motor accidents.

As a national problem, the wanton destruction of property and the appalling death toll is a challenge to every civic-minded individual to dissipate that inanimate fiend of the roads. As a local problem it is not less deserving of our patriotic concern and here must be initiated the necessary steps to effect a better record nationally. Already this year five traffic deaths have occurred in Knoxville.

Temperance cannot be legislated into the people; neither can laws eliminate the inadvertancy of motorists and pedestrians. At best the laws can merely provide a maximum of safeguards conducive to safety. To what extent those safeguards are protective depends not upon the stringency of punishment for violators but upon the "safety consciousness" of those affected.

It has bee nsuggested that cars be equipped with mechanical devices designed to limit speed. While this suggestion is made with the best of intentions, we hardly deem it desirable. In this mechanical age when the efforts of our mechanics are concentrated upon attaining higher perfection in comfort, endurance and speed, the restraint upon acceleration prohibits the acme of developments to which the people are entitled.

Over half the automobile fatalities in the United States, according to statistics, result from carelessness either on the part of motorists or pedestrians. Realizing the influence of the human element, Knoxville is attempting to lessen her fatality rate through that medium. The night sessions in traffic safety at the University of Tennessee are conducted to inculcate mental alertness to those dangers inherent in carelessness.

Only through education may we arrive at a solution of the traffic problem. As an institution founded for educational purposes, Knoxville high school is an especially suitable place to disseminate those facts pertaining to traffic safety. A report in last week's Blue and White states that "statistics show too many accidents among high school students".

To mitigate the situation, we assidiously lend our support. "Why shouldn't K. H. S. students set an example for other schools to follow?", asked Mr. Evans in an interview last week. We believe they should.

VALLEY FORGE
By Maxwell Anderson
Anderson House, Washington

HUMANITY in its broadest aspect is displayed in this play in three acts. The scenes depict the winter of 1777-78 in General George Washington's camp.

There are thirty-eight characters, all doing their part to make the play engrossing even to those who may not enjoy reading facts of history in any form.

The strong, dynamic character of Washington is shown, when he sees his soldiers ill, hungry and cold, and gives them not only encouragement, but his own clothing to help them keep warm. He is not interested in what others think, regardless of their rank or importance, but duty.

It is not all dramatic, however. There is a great deal of humor where one least expects it. When the plot becomes thickest, someone speaks up, relieving the tense atmosphere in a most pleasing manner.

One night when it was especially cold and the men were condemning their lot as a soldier, one soldier remarked sacrastically, summing up their situation: "We've got everything from the itch to the purple fever, nothing to eat, nothing to wear, and the coldest winter since the lake of Galilee froze over and Jesus walked on the water."

Best Shows Next Week:

"Follow the Fleet", starring Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, Saturday-Wednesday, February 22-26, at the Tennessee.

"Ginger", starring Jane Withers and Jackie Searle at the Riviera today and tomorrow.

BESIDES the dancing team of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, "Follow the Fleet" has a new star, Harriet Hilliarne of radio fame. The background for the songs and dances in the picture is the story of a sailor, Fred Astaire, and his sweetheart, Ginger Rogers, and what happens "when the Fleet's in".

Irving Berlin again furnishes the music and lyrics and there's a broadside of seven new song hits that will have you dancing in the aisle.

Jane Wither, child star, romps through "Ginger", at the Riviera. She is a spirited tom-boy of the tenements. Katherine Alexander takes her in and tries to make a lady out of her, but Jane makes changes herself in Miss Parker's household, which includes Jackie Searle and Walter King.

The cute red-haired girl in the student council room is none other than Irene Brogdon.

I have been marveling for the last week or so over the Transylvania Band concert at high school last Monday night. (Guess it's the desire for that musical talent!) Seen in the crowd: MARY RUTH BIBB, GEORGE CHILDS, RUTH WORD, RUTH ANDERSON, and of course, all the band boys.

I heard some good advice which MISS BEARD gave the other day to one of her biology classes. Here it is: If you have no desire to be DEAF, just be sure and dry your ears thoroughly after every bath!

Boy!—was MISS JAMES (now MRS. SOWELL) surprised this past Saturday afternoon when the Senior Girl Reserves came to her new apartment and gave her a kitchen shower! HELEN BRANNUM, UNA MAE PRIEST, and FORREST ELLISON were among the mischief makers. Here's hoping she knows how to use pots and pans as well as she does French verbs!

Now that the final HILL initiations are over for all the new "Freshmen", we are going to see a lack of CORAL finger nail polish and lipstick around school. I nominate WESTON HYDE for receiving the most "inhuman" treatment.

I counted exactly two thousand and one persons lined up waiting to see Jeanette McDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Rose Marie" last Saturday night. In the crowd I recognized SARA HASSON, HARRIET TODD, CHARLOTTA CHANDLER, and MARGARET THOMPSON, sponsor of "D" company last year, and now the "Venus" of U. T.

Girls' Tourney Nears Close

Ramsey and Giles to Battle for First Place in Finals February 27.

GRIFFIN, HAMMOND LOSE

Six Teams Left To Vie for Third Place Honors.

With the girls' basketball tourney nearing its close, the games are getting more interesting and hard fought. At last Friday's games Caldwell's team outplayed Word's team, ending in a 3-0 score. Vaughn scored all points for the winners. The same afternoon Patterson's team defeated Sutton's team by a score of 8-1. Patterson led her team, making 4 points. Ofden and Adams followed with 2 each. Reed tallied the only score for the losers. Patterson will play Young's team Friday, while Caldwell will battle against Featherston.

Two fast games were played Tuesday, leaving Ramsey's and Giles' teams victors. In the first game Griffin's team held Ramsey's team to a 5-0 score until the last quarter, when Ramsey's team got started and scored 6 points in the last seconds of the game. "Scratch" Bailey starred for the winners, making two goals in succession, and Ramsey scoring the other two points. Griffin led her team, scoring three of five points, while "J" Martin did an excellent job of guarding.

In the second game Giles' team won over Hammond's team by a 10-2 score. Curtis played swell ball for the victors, tallying 5 points. Berney and Hull also played good ball. Jennings and Renfro tied for the scoring honors for the losers, each making 1 point.

Tuesday, February 25, Hammond's team will play the winner of the Featherston-Caldwell match, and Griffin will battle the winner of the Patterson - Young game. These games will be the semi-finals for third place in the tourney.

The finals for first place will be played off Thursday, February 27, with Giles' team slated for a hard battle with Ramsey's team. The winners of this game will receive their points toward the school emblem and will be awarded the basketball letters.

SPORT DOPE

Trojans Win Over Youngs 19-16; KHS Makes No Points In Last Half

By Bob Allen

Last Friday the Knoxville high school Trojans played one of the most unique games ever held in the K. H. S. gym. They toppled the Young high school Yellowjackets by a 19-16 score. However, the Blue and White team did not tally throughout the last half of the contest.

Leading at the end of the first half by the comfortable margin of 19-4, the Knoxville high school cagers came back to find conditions entirely changed. While the Trojans were attempting to register, the Young high school quintet began to roll up points. The game ended with the score at 19-16.

Bob Allen

While on the subject of basketball, it might be mentioned that the game between the U. T. Vols and the University of Kentucky Wildcats, in which the Orange and White team triumphed, was one of the season's most interesting games. A large crowd attended the contest, and practically filled all available seats of the Memorial gymnasium.

The grapplers of the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. went to Chattanooga and defeated the wrestlers of the Chattanooga Y. M. C. A. by a score of 20-18.

The "Y" Pirates won the championship of the Midget loop at the Y. M. C. A., with an undefeated season. The Pirates have a well organized outfit with several stars. The Pirates have established a fine record this season.

At last the New York University Violets have dropped a basketball game. When they lost to the University of Notre Dame, they broke a two season undefeated record. If teams like this could be developed in the South, the hardwood sport would surely gain a great deal of well-deserved popularity.

E. WAGGONER HEADS COMMERCIAL CLUB

THE Commercial club met last Thursday afternoon, February 13, to organize and make plans for the present term.

The following are the new officers elected: Eula Waggoner, president; Margaret Bailey, vice-president; Margaret Cox, secretary; Ruth Anderson, treasurer; Bessie Wright, program chairman; and Reba Hammond, social chairman.

A membership contest will be held in order to make more commercial students interested in the club.

Miss Clara Sweeney, faculty adviser, stated that sometime during the term the club would sponsor a popularity contest among its members.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW

WHILE twilight shadows slowly
Sank into the darkened night
And all diurnal motions
Flickered out of sight,
In my calm repose, a sudden
Thought came to me somehow:
I wondered how our world would
Look one hundred years from now!

I placed my head against a chair
The tranquil muse began;
And I imagined some funny things
To be conceived by man.
I saw a weird airplane
Which ran without control—
Indeed, it was phantasmal like,
And as eerie as a ghoul.

PEDESTRIANS in that modern age
Will surely walk in fields,
Unless they protect themselves
With helmets, guards, and shields.
Principals won't whip students,
Mechanical men will, instead—
An iron man never felt remorse
In his cool, calm head.

I saw many other things,
Each one quite amusing,
Which, if those now are living then,
Will have a hard time choosing.
The only certain things I saw
Was the proverbial death and taxes—
And those are sure to be, if the Earth still turns on its axis!

KHS Trims Alcoa In Easy Win, 42-19

Last Wednesday afternoon in the the K. H. S. gym, the Knoxville high school Trojan cagers coasted to an easy victory over Alcoa high school. The final score was 42-19.

Walter Gaines, center and expert pivot man, led the scoring of the Trojan quintet with fourteen points. Both Captain Leslie Wrifford and Bill Luttrell were outstanding on the defense. Byrum was the leading scorer of the visitors with nine points.

The score at the half was 21-12 with the Trojans leading.

The "B" team triumphed over Stair Vocational school by the narrow margin of 10-9.

THE DUCTLESS GLANDS

By Frank Mullendore

Possibly one of the most important and the least known systems in the human body is that which the ductless glands compose.

The several glands are found well scattered throughout the head and trunk. The blood flows through these glands and their secretions are given off directly into the blood.

The thyroid gland is located in the neck and is termed the "king bee" because its secretions influence the secretions of the others. There may be two conditions resulting from an improper functioning of this gland. If the thyroid functions excessively the individual will become thin, have a rapid pulse rate, and a slight increase in temperature, rapid growth of finger nails and beard, and become both mentally and physically alert. If the thyroid is under-active in the child the condition called cretinism results; a lack of development in the hair, nails and teeth. The mature person becomes fleshy with an under-active gland. This condition also may result in the small child.

The skeleton man, fat lady and midgets exhibited at carnivals and midways are typical examples of these conditions.

Goiter is the term applied to an enlarged thyroid due to an insufficient supply of iodine. One's food should contain a goodly amount of iodine. It is naturally found in the soil and is soluble in water. As the rains and snows dissolve the iodine it is carried by the streams finally to the seas—consequently sea foods are rich in iodine.

More goiter occurs in the mountainous regions where the soil has been depleted of its iodine. Among some of the ancient civilizations of the highlands of Europe their paintings of beautiful women portrayed the goiterous neck, because it was considered a characteristic of beauty.

All these conditions can be markedly improved by proper medical attention. Thyroid secretion is very active and a dangerous principle when administered by a quack or unskilled person. It should be given only under the supervision of a physician.

Hodge Leads Trojans With 14 Points — Suffridge and Reno Lead Bobcats.

MEET AT ALCOA

Trojan 'B' Team Loses Tilt to Bobcat 'B' Quintet by 19-14 Score.

Last Tuesday night Knoxville high school's Trojan basketball five scored their second win of the season over the Central high school Bobcats. The final score was 32-19.

The Blue and White team led at the half by a score of 16-9.

"Puss" Hodge was, as usual, the leading scorer of the game, with 15 points to his credit. Bob Suffridge and Pat Reno led the Red and Black with 5 points each.

A large crowd witnessed the battle between the age-old rivals.

The Knoxville high school "B" team dropped a hard-fought battle to the Bobcat "B" quintet by a 19-14 score.

Today the Knoxville high school Trojans face the Powell Station quintet in the first rounds of the Fourteenth District Tournament this afternoon at 3:45 at Alcoa.

Other pairings are: Everett vs. Townsend; Young vs. Alcoa. Central high school drew a bye.

Lineups for the Trojan-Bobcat game are as follows:

KHS (32)	Pos.	CHS (19)
Hodge 14	F.	Suffridge 5
Cottrell 6	F.	Brown 1
Gaines 7	C.	Reno 5
Wrifford 2	G.	Bailes 3
Luttrell 2	G.	McMillan 3

Subs: KHS—HIGDON, Remine. CHS—Taylor 2, McMillan, Tipton.

Official: Epstein.

Society and Clubs

By PATRICIA WHITMORE

THE Junior Girls' Cotillion club held an informal tea in honor of the rushees Saturday afternoon at the home of Almeda Parker.

Eloise Owens was dressed in a becoming black velvet dress with a corsage of white violets at the throat. Amelia Pelligrinelli was attractive in dark blue crepe with black accessories. Katherine Briscoe wore a white satin blouse and black velvet skirt, while Helen Warwick looked equally lovely in a tunic dress of wine velvet.

Initiation ceremonies for the six newly elected members were held last Thursday night at the home of Martha Jean Osborne.

Those initiated were: Linda Carson, Margaret Ruth Tatem, Eleanor Powers, Dorothy Duggan, Josephine Lea, and Patricia Whitmore.

THE Katonah club of Knoxville and county high schools girls held its latest meeting at the home of Mary Ruth Bibb, Saturday, February 15.

Election of officers was the main feature of the meeting. Mary Ruth Bibb was elected to the responsible position of president, while Ruth Wells was chosen to assist her as vice-president. Betty Anne Murphy will be the club's new secretary, and Mary Eleanor Acuff will serve for this season as treasurer. All of the club's publicity will be taken care of by Jane Stefferner.

All new members of the club were voted in and officials of the club set the date for the scheduled tea, to be given in honor of the rushees. Other meetings for the month of March were also discussed and the dates set.

ONE of the most recently formed social clubs at K .H. S., composed of former graduates and students, is the Rhododendron club which held its initial meeting last Sunday. Dorothy Williams, president of the organization, was hostess.

Other officers elected are as follows: Richard Dew, vice-president; Ed Elder, secretary; Steve Maglio, treasurer.

The club has now almost seventy members. Weiner roast is planned for tonight in Sequoyah Hills. All new members will be officially initiated into the new organization.

HOW would you like to have a big double mirror or a nice compact, lipstick, or perfume? Wouldn't it be nice to be able to get a dozen roses from the florist at any time you might want them? You will have a good chance to get any of these, and others such as theater passes and finger waves, manicures, haircuts, etc., or a 12 pound ham or a pound of bacon if you come to the Blue and White bridge party at the Farragut Hotel, tomorrow afternoon, from three to five. Tickets are 25c each, or $1.00 a table. You will put your name on the back of your ticket and the tickets will be drawn from a box. If your name is drawn you will get your choice of prizes.

NEW officers were elected at the first meeting of the French club Tuesday afternoon. Lillian Webster was elected president; Alex Smith, vice-president; Ann P. Wray ,secretary; Cecile Kavanaugh, treasurer; and Charlotte Colby, song leader.

As the aim of practically every student taking French is to master pronunciation, the club was entertained with French phonograph records which gave lessons in the pronouncing of French. Letters received from French correspondents were also read.

The program for the next meeting will consist of interesting facts about France contributed by each member.

The club voted to have dues of fifteen cents. The money will be used to buy refreshments for each meeting. Any student taking French is eligible and invited to join.

INSTEAD of the annual opera, this year the Glee club will present a musical show, filled with gay costumes, music and dancing. It will be given in April or May.

The proceeds will be used to send a part of the Glee club to the state contest, which will be held this year in Nashville. The club is looking forward to a large crowd, so that it can accomplish its purpose.

The show will contain popular and some semi-classical music.

—o—

THE "Top Hat Club" will sponsor a benefit bridge party tomorrow afternoon at the Andrew Johnson Hotel from two to five o'clock.

Bridge, monopoly, and other games may be played. Some very lovely prizes will be presented to the winners.

Tickets for the party will be twenty-five cents each.

AT the last meeting of the Trialgeo club the election of officers was held. Those selected were: David Clark, president; C. F. Fielden, vice-president; Lawrence Nicholson, secretary; Wanda Jenkins, treasurer; Eugene White, program chairman; and Sam Fincannon, publicity chairman.

Two new members were taken into the club, Lawrence Nicholson and Billy Householder.

Suggestions for following programs were given, after which Bob Clagett, former program chairman, performed three clever tricks. Refreshments were served.

"More interest was shown at the last meeting than ever before and I am sure the club will be a success this semester," stated Miss Gladys Million, adviser for the club.

Anyone who is taking mathematics in any form and all those who have formerly taken math are urged to join the club. The next meeting will be Tuesday, February 27. The club meets every third and fifth Thursday of each six weeks.

AS their first field trip of the year, the Science club visited the Post Sign company last Thursday afternoon. The students were shown the method of constructing neon signs and the materials used.

Officers of the club, selected at the last meeting, are: Tommy Taylor, president; Ruth Word, vice-president; Eleanor Irwin, secretary; and Howard Vaughn, treasurer.

Plans are being made to visit all the important chemical industries of the city, in the near future.

SENIOR, Junior, and Sophomore Hi-Y had a combined meeting last night. "What is Hi-Y?", was the subject of discussion.

Johnny Walker, assistant principal of Knoxville high school, made a talk on, "Relationships of the Hi-Y to the School".

"Relationship of the Hi-Y to the Y. M. C. A.", was the subject of the speech made by L. F. Hurley, president of Y. M. C. A.

KHS Student Council Creates New Committee

Motion Picture Advisers Expected to Give New Impetus to Movies.

To bring about more interest in the pictures being shown to high school students, and thus enable K. H. S. to buy a motion picture machine, the Student Council has created a preview committee consisting of class directors and Student Council members. William Ragsdale is faculty adviser for the committee.

Miss Edith Horton, head of the election committee for 12B class directors, has announced that the election will take place Tuesday morning, February 25, in the group rooms during lower class chapel. The petitions for class directors were due yesterday.

The Lost and Found department's sale, the first three days of this week, proved a success. Many of the articles sold had been unclaimed for more than a year.

This week the Council received a letter from Central high school inquiring about the system under which the Council plans are carried out. The Council has invited them to send over representatives to study the systems, as a more thorough means of familiarizing themselves with it.

MORE ABOUT

a 14 year old lad whose name he remembered as Tony. Tony had not reached the age limit required to enter the army, so he stowed away on a ship bound for the battle area. On the ship's arrival, the lad was discovered in his hiding place. He explained that he wanted to fight for his country. Having no means of sending the boy back home, the officers put him to work carrying food and water to the soldiers.

"The life of the war correspondent is little better than that of the soldiers. The living conditions are quite unsanitary and undesirable. We had to carry our own cots, tents, cooking utensils, and the like. There was a constant fight against insects, wild animals, and the dreaded disease, leprosy. We ate out of cans, carried our own water, and did our own cooking," Mr. Miller explained.

On the subject of Ethiopian customs, he explained all the male natives own a gun. Very few of the guns will shoot, however, but nevertheless one is not considered a gentleman unless he has a gun of some kind and carries it with him on all occasions.

"Why, for one of the natives to be seen without his gun is like seeing an American without his pants," it was explained.

K. H. S. students probably wouldn't enjoy accepting the Ethiopian's dress customs in the least, according to the correspondent's account of this feature. Their garments consist of only a cloth sack with arm holes. Before this dress is worn, it is dipped in melted butter. The garments are changed only on holidays, and the holidays come about three times a year. Thus the prevailing conditions cause the garments to attain a filthy appearance and unpleasant odor during these long periods of wear.

"The women wear their hair in long braids back over their heads. These braids are kept in place by generous applications of mutton tallow. When the temperature gets up to about 110 degrees, and the grease begins to fry, and the butter coated garments begin to simmer, you may well imagine the prevailing odor of the whole country," laughed Mr. Miller.

"The war is hell and probably won't be settled for quite a while," it was concluded.

What's worrying us is who gave Ruth Jett that comic valentine.

LIVES

Of Our Teachers

THIS WEEK—

Miss Jessie Lou Neubert
Head of Social Science Dept.

(Next week C. A. Browning, head of the Knoxville high school Department of Science, is interviewed as the fifth teachers in the "Lives Of Our Teachers" series.—Editor)

By C. EARL WALLACE

Some years ago a little girl who loved to play with dolls, dig in the sand, and go hiking, lived at Neubert's Springs. . . . I can picture her with blue eyes shining brightly, black hair neatly combed, a cherubic smile, telling her dolls a few facts about history and expecting them to remember.

Of course, you know I am talking about Miss Jessie Lou Neubert, head of the Knoxville high school social science department.

She really is an interesting person. . . . Her affable manners, her dignified poise, her liberal point of view, her kind, soft voice, all serve to enhance her personality.

She was born at Neubert's Springs, which was named for her grandparents. . . . . Attended a nearby elementary school and later Central high school. . . . Received a B. A. and M. A. degree from the University of Tennessee. . . . . An M. A. from Columbia University. . . . Also has a teachers' diploma from Horace Mann school-Teachers College at Columbia University. . . . Graduate work at the University of Chicago. . . . Went to another college or two for short study.

Taught in Middlesboro, Kentucky, then Central high school at Chattanooga, Tennessee before coming to K. H. S. . . . Doesn't remember exactly how long she has taught here but was made head of her department about a year ago.

Her family is only three generations old. . . . Grandparents came direct from Germany to the United States and neither was naturalized until the Civil War was over. . . . Admits she has a slight tinge of Scotch, English, and Irish in her nationality. . . . Would rather live in Knoxville than most any other place she could think of because of climate and social conditions.

Is interested in all social science work. . . . Chairman of the Social Economic Forum here in Knoxville. . . . Vice-president of City Teachers' League and is a member of its salary schedule committee. . .

Likes swimming and most all outdoor sports. . . . Thinks hiking is still grand. . . . Thinks Shirley Temple is the cutest movie star. . . Has seen all of her pictures. . . Goes for musical comedies. . . Has visited nearly every state in the union and Cuba. . . . What she would like to do: Operate a farm as a means of livelihood and teach as a sort of diversion.

Now lives at 1404 Laurel avenue.

Constitutionality Of TVA Discussed By Forum Students

Charles H. Martin Appointed as Sub-Adviser for KHS Organization.

With the voting of the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority on Monday, the Open Forum discussed the pro and cons of that subject, at their meeting last Monday.

Since C. S. Montgomery will be spending much of his time assisting the commencement speakers, he has asked Charles H. Martin, history teacher of K. H. S., to help with the Forum work.

"One of the weaknesses of the past concerning a national subject as the Tennessee Valley Authority has been the prevailing attitude of the student group. The encouraging thing to me now, is the fact that students are becoming interested vitally in this type of problem. As students, they are learning that they are not preparing for life, but that they are now living. The T. V. A. is the greatest spot in the history of this section since the armistice was signed!

"The Open Forum is doing a great piece of work in seeking out the truth concerning projects of this nation. It indicates to me a better citizenship of the future," stated Mr. Martin in regard to the bill recently passed and his viewpoints of the club.
