Instructors Obtain Masters Degrees

During the past summer seven Knoxville high teachers completed the required study and obtained their master's degrees. Two of the number, Alfred Jobe and Elvin Bryant, finished their work at Columbia University, while the other five obtained their degrees at the University of Tennessee.

J. A. Hoover terminated his work with a thesis on "The Status of Health and Health Teaching in Knoxville Schools".

Miss Mary Flenniken's thesis was entitled "A Professionalized Study of the Teaching of Spanish". Miss Clara Sweeney wrote "A Professionalized Study of Shorthand in the High School"; B. Student Council Members Hold Retreat At LMU

Dr. Stewart McClelland, L. M. U. President, Speaks At Prayer Service.

For the fifth successive year the incoming Student Council members of Knoxville high school held their annual retreat at Lincoln Memorial University, July 17-19, 1936. The purpose of this trip was for the new members to get acquainted and learn specific duties of their future positions on the council.

Members attending were Jack Joyeux, Barbara Brown, Gertrude Meyer, Anne Mary Able, Arthur Peterson, Kenneth Harrell, Marshall Perry, Ed Story, Felicia Parker, Donald Freeman, Mary Woodward, Jimmie Hodges, and Jean Reeder, a staff member.

Copies of the Student Council song were given to members of each car and the song was learned on the way to the university.

A Saturday afternoon session was held at Duke's Hall where Searle Gillespie, retiring president of the Student Council, and Margaret Smith, ex-vice-president, were among the speakers.

Lost And Found Proves Valuable

With a view of excelling the record of $1500 saved to students and parents of K. H. S. last year, the Lost and Found Department of the Student Council this term, under the leadership of Ed Story and Marshall Perry, has made an excellent beginning.

During the first two weeks of the term, two dollars, a valuable watch, textbooks, and many smaller articles have been found. The department plans to hold a sale next week of articles which were unclaimed last term.

In order to give the school the most efficient service, the department asks that every student give his cooperation by turning in the articles he finds. The department is in room 304 and is open from 8 to 8:30 and from 3 to 3:30.

Leader in Extra-Curricular Activities Here — One of Three to Receive Award.

Tom Pressly, K. H. S. graduate of last spring, will leave the last of September for Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he will enroll for the freshman year in Harvard College as a scholarship receiver.

Tom, who was probably the most prominent and outstanding student of the recent classes to graduate from Knoxville high, was one of three boys from Tennessee to receive the Harvard award. In his three years at K. H. S., Tom made

BROADCASTING ROOM GETS NEW EQUIPMENT

New equipment, including a microphone and an amplifier have been provided by the Parent Teacher's Association for Knoxville High's radio programs.

S. B. Parker stated that better programs, preparation, and supervision are the goals for this year's broadcasts.

The plan is for one teacher to take charge of every broadcast. "All programs will be carefully rehearsed and timed before going on the air," said Mr. Parker. "We hope to have our first program next Monday."

Scout Cooking Among New Courses Added To High School Curriculum

To enable the Knoxville high school students to have a more complete list of subjects to choose their studies from, several new courses have been added to the course of study.

Two new courses have been added to the mathematics department. One is open to seniors only and has been prepared especially for those students planning to attend college. It is a full year course, one term dealing with advanced algebra and the other trigonometry. This study will eventually replace trigonometry as a separate subject. Thirty-one students are now enrolled in the class.

The other course deals with practical mathematic problems and should be of interest chiefly to those who want more math but who are not planning to attend college. It treats some principles of algebra and geometry and gives a general review of arithmetic. Sixty-three students are now taking this course. All students in the tenth grade may take it.

The art department also has several new classes. Because so many students have wanted to take art and could not get into one of the classes, a new teacher, Miss Rebecca Cole, is assisting Miss Virginia Parker with the classes.

A course in Scout Cooking for boys has been aded to the Home Economics department, under the direction of Miss Guerrant Tatem.

The boys will be taught how to cook in the open, what equipment to take on a camping trip, and general camping information. They will also be taught table manners, how to act at hotels and public places, and class room manners. Fourteen boys are now taking this course.

There are many other minor changes that have been made and several new teachers added to the faculty.

Eleven Members Added To Faculty

Several new teachers have been added to the K. H. S. faculty this year. They come from various parts of the city and country, and have obtained degrees from many different colleges and universities.

B. A. Bible, mathematics teacher, was formerly principal of Jefferson City high school. Mr. Bible received his A. B. from Carson-Newman in '27 and his M. S. from the University of Tennessee in '36.

Miss Rebecca Winters, of the home economic department, was instructor at Stair Vocational school.

Wright W. Frost, English instructor, was principal at Rush Strong high school at Strawberry Plains.

KHS MOVIES START MONDAY, SEPT. 21

Since the movies presented in the assembly hall last year proved so successful, a faculty committee, headed by William Ragsdale, has been appointed to arrange programs for this term.

"Dutch Treat", a cartoon; "On the Pacific", a travelogue; and "Love Your Neighbors", a domestic comedy with Charlotte Greenwood, the first of a series of ten programs, will be presented Monday, September 21.

Admission will be five cents and tickets can be obtained from group teachers Monday morning. Holders of tickets will pay their five cents each Monday and see a good show as they did last term on Wednesdays. The change in the R. O. T. C. schedule necessitated the change from Wednesday to Monday.

"We will use the machine in class rooms this term more than ever before," said Mr. Ragsdale.

A Capella Choir Is Organized At KHS

Instead of the regular Senior Glee club, A Capella Choir of fifty members has been organized by Ed Hamilton, music instructor. The choir consists of the group that won high honors in Nashville last spring, and select members of the Junior and Intermediate Glee clubs.

For three years Professor Hamilton has been using some unaccompanied music, but this is the first year that he has been able to organize a class with enough training to major in this kind of work.

Raymond Anderson, of Birmingham, Alabama, who was a judge in the state contest, stated that the A Capella singing of the Knoxville high school chorus was the outstanding musical work of the contest and it should point the way for other schools.

The choir will join the University Symphonic Choir in a concert for the opening night of the East Tennessee Teachers Association.

"We plan to give our winter and spring concerts, and our luncheon and club concerts as usual, but they will be of a different style and will include more advanced presentations," stated Mr. Hamilton.

593 NEW STUDENTS ENROLLED AT K. H. S.

With 430 10-B's and 163 9-A's, the freshman class of Knoxville high school is one of the largest classes ever enrolled.

The majority of these pupils went last term to Park junior high, Boyd, and Rule junior high schools. Many others have come here from Pennsylvania, Texas, the Carolinas, Florida, and several other states.

"They seem to fit in very nicely," J. A. Walker, assistant principal, said. "Mr. Evans and I talked to them before school started and explained the lunchroom system, the rooms, and the teachers. Their schedules were also arranged before the first day of school."

BUYERS OF MERCHANDISE

This morning, before 8:30, approximately one thousand students of the Knoxville high school received their copy of the institution's weekly newspaper, the Blue and White.

The news articles and features of this publication have been compiled by a staff of trained and unpaid students of the school, under the supervision of an efficient and competent instructor.

Throughout the entire day, during study hall periods and other convenient times, the subscribing students will read the paper and many of them, after doing so, will lend their copy to another who is not a subscriber. By the end of the school day almost all of the 2200 students of the school have read the Blue and White.

As these hundreds of students glance through the pages of the paper their eyes are met by the advertising announcements of a number of the progressive business houses of the City of Knoxville. These advertisements are gathered by the business staff of the publication.

It will be noticed that the number of advertisers in the paper is rather small when the size of this city and the fact that Knoxville high school is the only high school in the city is taken into consideration.

The Blue and White contends that the non-advertising firms have overlooked the fact that high school students have the necessity to purchase everything from safety pins to auto tires, and that the majority of them have reached the age where they do a large part of their own thinking and make most of their own decisions for themselves. Then too, the high school students of today will make up the majority of the important citizens of this city within the elapse of the next four or five years, and the things impressed upon their minds at the present will have great bearing in the future. Thus if a firm's advertising is repeatedly placed before these young men and women it will certainly lead them to pay the advertiser some note after they have become bread-earning citizens.

If this theory is not true the mental and moral training of youth is all a mistake: This education will have no effect on the pupil's lives after they enter into manhood and womanhood. If this theory is false the criticism of the American people toward those European nations which instill militarism into their youth is unjust. This instilling of militarism will bring no desire of war to the minds of these youths in the future. If this apprehension is correct, then any firm advertising in a high school publication, providing their goods and efficiency is up to the par their advertising announcements signify, is making a great step to insure it's prosperous being within from three to ten years from now.

Therefore, citizens of tomorrow, we ask that you, in looking over the advertising columns of this paper this year, decide for yourselves which establishments of this city consider your buying power, at present of importance, and what establishments believe your integrity and opinions in the future will have any bearing on the success of their and other business houses.

EFFICIENCY

On Tuesday morning of September 8, twenty-two hundred students crowded through the doors of Knoxville high school to again resume the process of becoming educated. As the hundreds of young men and women surged into the hallways, not one of the crowd had any idea of the schedule he would follow during the term. Not one even had the slightest idea as to the first place he should go after gaining his entrance into the building. Within two hours time, almost all of the number had located home rooms, assigned group teachers, and had satisfactorily arranged a schedule for themselves, by which their procedure of becoming educated would be guided seven hours a day, five days a week.

Within another three days, a schedule had been perfected whereby during a period of two hours and twenty minutes, twenty-two hundred people might enjoy a twenty minute lunch period without promoting crowded conditions in the lunch room. Twenty-two hundred people had been assigned specific seats in which to sit during our periods of devotion and entertainment, known as chapel. Two chapel periods were conducted. All students were supplied with lockers in which to keep their personal property. Squads of moniters were placed in the hallways to guard the lockers from theft and prevent disorder in the corridors. Season football tickets were put on sale and successful sales resulted. The K. H. S. Trojans played their first game and defeated their opponents by the score of 40-0. The great educational machine had snapped into an efficient smooth running mechanism in an amazingly short time, and almost the entire student body was settled and started on the long venture of another nine months of work. During all the rush, the higher officials of our school system had been kind enough to allow a recess during the school day at which time the students might go into town to get a glimpse of the President of the United States.

On the part of the principal, faculty and the office force, this unbelievable feat was the result of expert planning and undying patience. One the part of the student body, it was the result of good discipline and the use of common sense.

Every person in the school, from the principal down to the youngest freshman, is to be complimented.

Trilly Says--

By Trilly the Trilobite

The football season certainly came in with a bang! Among the people who seemed to enjoy the game the most last Friday were: MARGIE ELGIN, MARGARET PORTWOOD, and MURIEL CLARK. Four former cheer leaders of K .H. S. helped out on the cheering—WOODY HUMAN, BILL HERRON, PATSY DALY, and VITCHA MAKRES.

The DeMolay hayride was really a big success. Of course MICKEY and LEN were there together and L. A. and MAXINE. HARRY ELMORE was there with a real sweet little blond. Good old HANK FOSTER was there with MICKY CHILDRESS. Mighty cute couple, don't you think?

The Junior assembly was as big a success as the straw ride. It seems that everyone who wasn't at one was at the other. Honestly, you should have seen that lovely bunch of girls! These were JOSEPHINE COFFIN, LADY GOODSON, INEZ CLAYTON, and so, so, many others looking too pretty for words. And say, were some of those males looking good! Of course, you didn't find anyone with "top hat, white tie, and tails"—they didn't need things such as those to make them look like the "cream of the crop".

It's a funny proposition trying to be funny, especially if it's expected of you. Just when you think you've "put them in the aisles" with a little side-splitting piece of originality someone pops up with the remark, "Yeah, I read that somewhere."

Butler Leads Trojan Attack On Young High In Opener

Boys Make Impressive Showing in Starter—Hold Young To One First Down.

VEO YON INJURED

Snappy Little Center Receives Fractured Hand—Cross Takes Over Position.

Knoxville high school's Trojans opened their 1936 football season by crushing a light but determined Young high eleven last Friday afternoon by the score of 40-0. The Trojans flashed a spectacular offensive drive combined with a stonewall defense to overwhelm their lighter opponents from the South side.

Young was unable to penetrate the Trojan forward wall. Therefore, unable to put themselves in scoring territory or in a threatening position. Only once did their offensive machine click, that being in the last quarter when they produced their only first down of the game on a short pass. The blue and white machine reeled off twelve first downs.

To give credit to any one Trojan player would be snatching the glory away from the entire team. Every player on the team deserves credit for his stellar performance and convincing style of play.

The forward wall of Alley, Captain Luttrell, Tipton, Yon, Johnson, Standridge, and Portridge showed up exceptionally well. Red Cross, who replaced Veo Yon at the start of the game, looked good at his new position. Yon was taken from the game because of a badly injured hand which threatens to keep him on the sidelines for several weeks.

The starting backfield of Randles, Broome, Bell, and Butler, proved themselves dangerous and a serious threat to any eleven. Bob Broome ran the team in grand style and "Flash" Butler, ball carrying ace, led the scoring attack and had the honor of being the first Trojan to cross the double stripe this season.

Substitutions for Knoxville, who shone in the line, were Long, Coffee, and Headrick. Substitute backfield men, who flashed promise, were Carper, Smiley, Martin, King, Bolin, and Evans.

Outstanding on the Young high eleven were Burnett and Michaels in the line and Grooms and Wilson in the backfield.

"Flash" Butler led the Trojan scores with two touchdowns. Others scoring were Broome, Corper, Coile, and Alley, who tallied on a long pass.

Following are the two line-ups:

Young	Pos.	K. H .S.
Michaels	LE	Partridge
Hanvah	LT	Standridge
Galyon	LG	Johnson
Clabo	C	Yon
Dyer	RG	Tipton
Kagley	RT	Luttrell (C)
White	RE	Alley
Johnson	Q	Broome
Grooms	LH	Butler
Wilson	RH	Bell
Hightower	F	Randles

Substitutions:

Young — Tipton, Barber, and Burnett.

Knoxville—Tucker, Coffee, W. Broome, Hendricks, Long, Martin, Corper, Cross, Coile, Manning, Evans, Woodruff, Templeton, and Hewgley.

Forty Pupils Try For Cheer Leaders

Knoxville high football fans received a big surprise last Friday when some thirty or forty would-be cheer leaders, instead of the usual ten or twelve, confronted the crowd and enthusiastically pleaded for response to their leading. There were elbow jabbing and sideward punching in the dense line of arm wavers, for each of the candidates seemed to be trying hard to place as one of the four leaders.

Probably there were also bright hopes and yearning hearts in the eager group, but from the standpoint of the fans it was a different matter. Some of the spectators objected to the solid human wall obscuring the field at times, while others viewed the situation as amusing and entertaining.

The only qualifications required were that the candidate be a student in good standing and passing in at least three subjects—the same requirements for football players. The candidates are:

KHS Athlete Joins St. Louis Cardinals

Carden Gillenwater, one of high school's outstanding athletes, has been signed by the St. Louis baseball organization.

The young high school star attended the Cardinal baseball school at Kingsport in August and was picked as tops out of some three hundred baseball aspirants. He has been ordered to report to the Asheville, North Carolina, club of the Piedmont League next spring.

Gillenwaters has been a valuable asset to the high school baseball team for the past two years as a catcher. He is to play the outfield for Asheville however, due to his long distance clouting.

Gillenwater will play in the K. H. S. backfield this fall.

SPORT DOPE

By Fred Owens

Hello, football fans! Your time of the year has finally arrived. King Football has regained his precious throne and will proceed to rule over the sporting world for the next three or four months.

In a day more suitable for ice cream and chocolate sodas, the football lid was blasted off for Knoxville and vicinity by the Knoxville high Trojans and the Young high Yellow Jackets at Smithson Stadium before more than 1,000 cheering spectators who shouted their approval of the return of the grand and glorious game.

This afternoon the Trojans face a fighting Rockwood high eleven. Little is known of their strength and power with the exception of their 20-0 victory over Spring Hill last week.

Let's everybody be on hand for the game this afternoon and lend our moral support to the team. If you have not already secured your season ticket, do so this morning.

I'll see you at the game.

TROJAN HIGHLIGHTS

Bob Broome was directing the team in grand style last week. If his good work continues it will take a miracle to keep him off the All-City eleven. . . . Captain Luttrell played his usual good game at tackle. He was down under punts and seldom let the ball carrier slip by him. . . . In Standridge, Coach Collins has a real prospect. Watch his work in the game today. . . . Veo Yon showed up at the start of the second half with a fractured hand that threatens to keep him on the sidelines. Tough luck, Veo, we'll miss you today. . . . Didn't "Flash" Butler give you a thrill with his long runs? . . . Coach Collins will worry little about his guard positions this year. It looks as though Johnson and Tipton will be capable of handling the situation this season by their performance last Friday. . . . At the end position, Alley and Portridge flashed the form expected of them and will undoubtedly aid the team to the greatest extent. In the rear works Tony Randles continued his slashing type of play which has made him one of the most reliable men on the team.

Bob Bell, a newcomer, looked great in the passing department. It'll pay to watch his progress.

Billy King's punt, which sailed down to Young high's six yard line in the last quarter, was the best of the game. Nomination for the outstanding, thrill of the game—Dick Evans' long sprint down to the Young high two yard line in the last quarter. And now a salute to the most loyal Trojan supporter. None other than Ronald (Kayo) Robeson. He's always ready to help out in any emergency.

FORMER TROJANS

Gerald Hendricks is making a great fight for an end position at Tennessee. Best of luck to you, Gerald. . . . Big Bill Badgett, former Trojan captain, looks like a cinch for a position on the Georgia eleven. Georgia newspapers say he will be one of the outstanding linemen in the South this year. . . . Remember Goo White? He's playing for Wake Forest now. . . . John Troutman, former Trojan end, is doing a splendid job of quarterbacking for Scrappy Moore down at Chattanooga University. . . . That's all for today.

Trojans Battle Rockwood High This Afternoon

Game To Start At 3 P. M.; Passing Attack May Feature.

Boasting a strong and undefeated eleven, the Rockwood high school football machine invades Knoxville today to battle the Knoxville high Trojans. Smithson stadium will be the scene of battle, and the game will start at 3 o'clock.

Both teams won their starting contests, Knoxville high defeating Young, and Rockwood winning over Springhill. Rockwood boosts a light team that offers tricky plays and a dangerous passing attack. In their start against Springhill they offered a sensational and relentless passing attack that netted them two of their three touchdowns.

The Trojans will be without the services of Veo Yon, regular center, who received a fractured hand in the first half of last week's game. He will be replaced at the pivot position by Red Cross, second string center, who did a great job last week. With this exception the line-up will probably be the same as last week unless last minute changes are made by Coach Collins.

Center—Cross
Right guard—Tipton
Right tackle—Luttrell (C)
Right end—Alley
Quarterback—Broome
Fullback—Randles

MONDAY the Open Forum held its first meeting of the term to discuss the plans for the coming year.

Monday was selected as the regular meeting day. The club voted to join the National Forensic League. Each member is required to pay one dollar and those wishing to join must turn their names in by the next meeting.

The club is to be divided into four groups, each group having one captain and the groups will compete with one another in debates and take time about having radio programs.

Marianna Allen, Jack Joyeux, and Henrietta Bowman were appointed to have charge of the program for the next meeting. The program will consist of talks on the most prominent activities of high school.

JUNIOR Girl Reserves will hold their first meeting at the Y. W. C. A., Monday, at 3:45. Refreshments will be served and all 11-B's and 11-A's interested in joining are urged to be present.

Cabinet meetings were held this week to make plans for the activities of the coming year, and for the coming year, and for the Girl Reserve Conference in Knoxville, October 16, 17, and 18. One hundred East Tennessee girls are expected to attend.

TO students who participate in athletics, clubs, publications, dramatics, R. O. T. C., Student Council, and class organization while in K. H. S., extra-curricular activity points will be given.

The K. H. S. point system has been adopted to simplify the recording of these points and to limit and encourage participation according to the scholarship of the student. The points given are determined primarily by the time and effort required by the activity, rather than the honor of the position.

The Student Council has the responsibility of keeping the point system absolutely correct. The chairmen of the point system for the Fall term are Charlotte Colby and Anne Able.

All freshmen are urged to begin participation in extra activities at once that they may make the required number of points necessary to receive an Extra-Curricular Activity Certificate at graduation.

THE orchestra has elected new officers for the year: Roy Haines, president; Jimmie Witt, vice-president; Anna Bell Chittendon, secretary and treasurer; Russell Hickey, librarian.

The enrollment now stands at fifty with over half new members. Over $100 is in the treasury. They plan a trip soon.

DUE to the regular change in books for the "A" classes every 5 years, the K. H. S. book exchange suffered a very depressing slack in business. Up to this term the book exchange has been staying open two weeks and having more business than they can handle. Last year they sold over 1500 books, while this term not 200 were sold.

SINCE last Monday the library has been open to students wishing to get assignments during their study hall period.

Miss Esther Gilliam is now acting as assistant librarian following her graduation from U. T. She will assist any student in getting information on any subject.

There have been quite a few books added to the already fine collection.

Dewey idolizes his teacher, who is in love with the school athletic coach, another of Dewey's heroes.

When Dewey realizes that his teacher's real life moves on a plane far above his reach, he is grievously hurt. Although his teacher, who is understanding and able to relieve some of Dewey's spiritual torment by talking to him kindly, he has been through a crisis of childhood, and from now on must face life pretty much on his own.

Miss Elizabeth Whaling from Brownlow, who received her B. S. from the University of Tennessee, is assisting Miss Mary House in the gymnasium.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wray, clerk in the office, occupied the same position at Moses school. Mrs. Wray graduated from Knoxville high school and the University of Tennessee.

Miss Esther Gilliam a,ssistant librarian, got her B. S. from the University of Tennessee.

Miss Lulu Tunison, who has her B. S. and is working on her M. A., will take her place in the home economic department next week.

Miss Frances Theile, instructor in retail selling, finished at the University of Tennessee.

There were 66 girls and 21 boys trying out for parts in the play, making a total of 87 students, more than have ever tried out for any junior class play. A great deal of talent had to be turned down, since so much of the selecting was done according to the types of persons. A total of 25 characters were selected.

"I know we have a very fine play, and I believe we have an excellent cast," Mr. Sams stated.

Miss Galbreath Views New Dream School

Model School Has Swimming Pool — All Equipment 'On the House'.

How would you like to attend a school like this?

A beautiful new building with halls and rooms decorated with famous pictures; a large swimming pool where students may swim all summer free of charge; and every book furnished, including paper and pencils, from the first through the twelfth grade.

This kind of school really does exist as Miss Helen E. Galbreath, Latin instructor at K. H. S. and Miss Evelyn Freels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Freels, have found out. It is the Perry high school of Pittsburgh, P.

This school was only one of the many interesting places visited by Miss Galbreath and Miss Freels during their motor trip through the East. At Columbus, Ohio they viewed the state university grounds, a magnificent museum, and stadium with seating arrangements of 100,000. In Cleveland they visited the Great Lakes Exposition, and Niagara Falls in New York. For two weeks they stayed at Dansville, in the heart of the Adirondacks. Returning via Pittsburgh, they were guests at the home of Prof. John H. Adams, principal of Perry high school. Prof. Adams personally guided them through this modern school.

Although there are only 1200 pupils, the school is much larger than K. H. S. Miss Galbreath has corresponded with their Council in regard to our system of student government. She found their monitor and lost and found systems not nearly as efficient as the ones in Knoxville high.

"Pupils who wish to get out of classes sometimes throw their books in the river, so it would be much more economical for taxpayers if students bought their own textbooks," Miss Galbreath quoted Prof. Adams as saying.

cluding the cane he carried the night of his assination, the Indian room, containing many articles made by Indians, and the Holograph Collection, which is a collection of priceless documents, were high points of interest.

A revision of the Charter Group rules and of the duties of class directors was the main topic at the Saturday business session. Plans were made to eliminate the meetings of group presidents and in their place to have meetings of class directors.

On the Pinnacle, a sunrise prayer service was held Sunday morning. Dr. Stewart McClelland, president of L. M. U., was the main speaker. Tennis, picnics, initiation in Soldier's Cave, and a theater party at Middlesboro occupied the remaining time. Chaperones were Miss Helen Galbreath and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker.

KHS Will Choose Four Cheerleaders

If you are a season football ticket holder; if you are a member of the football team or one of its managers; or, if you are a member of the band, a ballot bearing the name of each candidate for cheerleader will be given you during your group period Friday week, September 25.

The candidates will be listed according to classification, as seniors, juniors, etc. By placing a check by your favorite candidates you will vote for a senior boy and girl and a junior or sophomore boy and girl. The two seniors and two lowerclassmen receiving the biggest number of votes will be elected. The election of two lower classmen was arranged this year so that next fall two ex-cheer leaders will still be in high school. These two will not necessarily be cheerleaders again but will assist in organizing the election of new leaders.

PRESSLY

a name for himself by excelling in scholarship, R. O. T. C., and extra curricular activities. His record of all A's helped place him in the National Honor Society, of which he was president in his senior year. His superiority in military training awarded him the titles of Lieutenant Colonel and president of the R. O. T. C. Officers club. He served at various times as an officer in the Hi-Y organization, as president of the Latin club, and as a member of the Student Council.

At graduation Tom served as an alternate commencement speaker, his many other activities not allowing him time to be a main speaker. Tom is remembered by both students and teachers as being a most likable person, modest, sincere, and friendly with all.

In a letter to Principal W. E. Evans, Henry Chauncey, assistant deal of Harvard, spoke thus of the scholarship receiver:

"We were delighted to be able to help Pressly to come to Harvard. He has made an outstanding record in school and I was very favorably impressed by him during my visit to Knoxville last April."

Jess Marcovitch, a K. H. S. student who would have graduated this term, but completed his high school work during the summer, will also enter Harvard this fall.

Brownlow, and Miss Mary House, of K. H. S., they formed a state club which met weekly with similar clubs for dinners and tea parties. At a stunt night, Tennessee won second prize for their act featuring Tennessee Mountaineers.

Reports are that Mr. Bryant made a realistic mountaineer, while the two ladies gave a dance in keeping with their role of flappers from the hills of Tennessee. With the prize money, the club gave a dinner party on the roof of the Central Park Hotel.
