ClassLeaders Selected For Three Groups

Five 12B Directors To Be Selected From Nominees Today.

10B ELECTION THURSDAY

Faye Griffin, Only Candidate For Class Director In 11B Class.

In order according to the number of votes they received Helen Bales, Nell Hall, Ed Manning, Richard Millen, and Janice Graybeal were elected Tuesday, October 6, as 11A class directors.

Because only four students of the 10A grade were candidates to represent their class, no election was held among the 10A's. These pupils were Margaret Adkins, Sara Margaret Adkins, Edna Lord, and Barbara Newman.

In the 11B class, Faye Griffin was the only candidate.

Friday, during group period, the 12B's will vote for five among the following students: Paul Brakebill, W. J. Bolin, John Burkhart, Clyde Carter, L. A. Dick, C. F. Fielden, Bill Householder, Claiborne Hunter, Weston Hyde, Bob Johnson, Billy King, Ed Knowling, Joe Marks, Alvin Smith, Robert Walker, Charles Trentham, and Clem Wilkes.

The 10B class voted Thursday

C. D. Beardsley Sponsors Contest — Papers To Be On Fire Prevention.

To aid the pupils in becoming more alert to the importance of fire safety, C. D. Beardsley, as representative of the city of Knoxville, has asked that every pupil in high school be required to write a 300 word theme on "Prevention of Fires".

As a reward for the two best themes written in high school, a prize of $5.00 will be given as first prize and $2.50 as second.

This contest is being sponsored to not only impress upon the minds of the pupils, but on the parents as well, the necessity of every home doing its part by cleaning up all the debris found around and in the homes that would cause the starting and spreading of fires.

Milton Terry Talks To French Classes

Milton Terry, who was abroad several years ago building monuments for the American soldiers, mostly in France but traveling all over Europe, spoke to the French classes Wednesday.

In comparing our transportation with theirs, Mr. Terry said that all of their roads are good, because of their fear that the Germans might come back. He stated that their trains are coupled together with springs to avoid the jerk that our American trains have.

When asked about dancing, he replied, "They dance very different from our dancing but they sometimes use American music. All of their most important dances are given on Sunday afternoon. They are very religious and go to church on Sunday morning. Sometimes the dances last until one or two o'clock in the morning, but mostly they just last until nine o'clock. When a boy takes a girl to a dance he dances with her almost all the time."

He asked for questions either in French or English. Most of them were in English but he answered them in French, then if he could not be understood he explained in English.

Mr. Terry is now with the TVA.

Many Former Knoxville High School Girls Pledge University Sororities

For the last two weeks carloads of girls all dolled up have been seen rushing around the city from one tea to another. This always happens about this time of the year. These are the sorority girls and their rushees. The sororities have been very fortunate this year in having quite a few of Knoxville high school graduates pledge with them. The following high school graduates were pledged last Tuesday:

Delta Zeta: Frances Duggan, Margaret Edington, Ann Bryant, Helen Harris, Roberta Newman, and Florence Preston.

Alpha Omicron Pi: Margaret Albers, Julia Andrews, Aileen Brown, Emily Buchanan, Elizabeth Childs, Alice Cox, Ruth Dunn, Frances Edmunds, Martha Ijams, Katherine Mills, Fay Poore, Frances Wood.

Phi Mu: Miriam McGuire, Miriam Schaad, Grace Nickerson, Marion Gibson, Virginia Mary, Katherine Hill, Nell Leahy, and Muriel Williams.

Alpha Delta Pi: Virginia Anderson, Jane Hardin, Una Mae Priest, Mary Elizabeth Bomar, Elizabeth Cates.

Chi Omega: Jean Allen, Maxine Bailey, Evelyn Darst, Virginia Eisensmith, Patsy Harrill, Jane Harris, Juliet McNiel, Helen Marshall, Margaret Post, Katherine Roberts, Lillian Wright.

Delta Delta Delta: Martha Peters, Helen Brannum, Mildred Freeman, Phyllis Trenholm, Elizabeth McKelder, Caroline Okey, and Helen Moody.

Sigma Kappa: Peggy Saunders, Helen Kelly, Faye Sterchi, Evelyn Brenneis, Faye Patrick, and Helen Pollard.

ShakespearePlay To Be Presented NextWednesday

'The Merchant of Venice' To Be Given by Avon Players, October 14.

"The Merchant of Venice", a drama by Shakespeare, will be presented in a matinee in the Knoxville high school auditorium, Wednesday, October 14, at 1:30 p. m.

A representative from the Avon players addressed the meeting of the English teachers, and the teachers recommended that this play be brought to high school. Superintendent Harry Clark and Principal W. E. Evans approved of the play and set the date for the show.

Miss Clara Bewley, head of the high school English department, stated that a parellel credit would be given for all those attending.

An admission price of 25 cents will be charged for the pupils. Any adults who wish to attend will be admitted for 50 cents.

The first hundred dollars will be kept by the company and the school will receive 50% of all the money exceeding the first hundred.

Remember The Day Next Most Popular

Word has recently been received from the publisher's headquarters that "Remember the Day", according to official "Player's Magazine" statistics, was presented more times this last school year than any other play, with one exception, by high schools all over the country.

"Such popularity certainly must be deserved," stated O. E. Sams, director of this junior play.

It may be of special interest to the student to know that the play which was awarded first place was "New Fires", the production which the senior class presented two years ago. This presentation by Knoxville high school was fourth among the many selections of this popular play.

Mr. Sams also explained the charging of a royalty fee which must be paid the authors for producing the play, the minimum in the case of "Remember the Day" being twenty-five dollars.

The prologue, epilogue, and first act are now well under way.

The Art department is helping materially, and Miss Virginia Parker's classes are working on posters, to be displayed soon.

CHAPEL TALKS MADE ON FIRE PREVENTION

To impress upon the pupils the importance of fire prevention was the purpose of the regular Tuesday chapel this week. The speakers were City Manager George Dempster and Fire Chief Johnson, of the Knoxville fire department.

Chief Johnson emphasized the necessity of carefulness and very effectively illustrated some of the possible results of carelessness. He gave some of the sensible things to do in case of an accident. Mr. Dempster brought out the importance of the tax dollar and his hopes that the high school students would cooperate in creating safer conditions.

The music was a number of violin selections played by Paul Mendelssohn and accompanied by Miss Mae Holliday, a well known instructor of music.

Boys' Cheerleader Election Declared Void By Officials

U. T. BAND SPONSOR

MISS BESSIE MITCHELL

Miss Bessie Mitchell, daughter of Chancellor A. E. Mitchell, was recently elected band sponsor of the University of Tennessee. She was formerly Honorary Cadet Major of Knoxville high school in the class of '33.

Miss Mitchell, while at Knoxville high, took an active part in many outside activities. She was a member of both the French and Spanish clubs and was vice-president of her class in her junior year.

She is a senior in the College of Liberal Arts, and has held a number of honorary positions on the "Hill". She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Announcement Made Following Probe of Charges Made by Students.

FINAL VOTE TODAY

Rumors of Irregularities Is Cause For Calling New Ballot.

Following an investigation of the Knoxville high school cheerleader election of Friday, October 2, it was announced by W. E. Evans, principal of the school, that the boys' portion of the election will be considered void, and a new election will take place during group period this morning.

The investigation was conducted by Mr. Evans and J. A. Walker, assistant principal, following rumors from several students indicating that eccentric practices were made by some students during the voting. These reports had bearing only on the boys' part of the election.

"There is evidence that there were irregularities in the election, and I am calling for a new vote for the boy cheerleaders so that all our students may be completely satisfied, and there will be no question about the leaders being officially and properly elected," stated Mr. Evans following his declaration that the election would be recalled.

The election to be held this morning will be final. There will be two upperclass boys and one lowerclass candidate elected. The

KHS And U-T Choir To Sing At ETEA

Directed by Ed H. Hamilton, a combination of the Knoxville high school A Capello Choir and the University Symphonic Choir will give a concert for the opening night of the East Tennessee Teachers' Association beginning Thursday, October 29.

The University symphonic choir will sing several numbers directed by Professor Alvin Keene, musical supervisor of the University of Tennessee. Mr. Hamilton will then direct the Knoxville high school A Capello Choir in various choral numbers. The remainder of the concert will be sung by one large group made up of the two choirs, and directed by Mr. Hamilton. As the feature of the concert, the choir will sing the first public rendition of the adopted Tennessee state song.

The Knoxville high school quartet will sing for the association of music teachers of the East Tennessee schools Friday afternoon.

MISS WEBB RETURNS TO VISIT SCHOOL

Miss Katherine Webb, former secretary to Principal W. E. Evans in the Knoxville high school office, returned to K. H. S. last week for a short visit with the members of the faculty and students.

Miss Webb passed the Civil Service examination more than a year ago, and last April she was called to Washington, D. C. to take a position with the Loan and Currency department of the United States government.

S.C. TO PRESENT PLAY ON RADIO PROGRAM

The Student Council presented a three-act play during the radio program today. The play, entitled "A Day With Student Council", gives a humorous explanation of the Lost and Found, the point system, and the monitor system.

The third act was written by Gaynell Simpson. Mack Blackburn will play several violin solos, and Martha Cavaleri has prepared a talk concerning the value of Student Council to the student.

The Council members taking part in the play are Joe Woodruff, Ed Story, Gaynell Simpson, Helen Otto, Gertrude Meyer, Donald Freeman, Marshall Perry, Charlotte Colby, Arthur Peterson, Kenneth Herrill, Bill Browder, Jack Saylor, Jean Reeder, Felicia Parker, and Anne Able.

FIRE!

Tomorrow is the final day of Fire Prevention week. During the past five days people, all over the nation, have been carrying out an extensive program to reduce the fire hazards of their respective surroundings. The reducing of these hazards and the promoting of extra precautions which will take place during this one week's fire prevention program will probably lead to the saving of thousands of dollars and hundreds of human lives during the coming year.

Our school has recognized Fire Prevention Week by sponsoring a contest in which the student writing the best essay on "Fire Prevention" will be awarded five dollars.

There are very few hazards existing in the school which may be amended at the present time. The school officials not only indulge in a program of precise precaution against fire menaces during Fire Prevention Week, but during every day of the school year. Forbidding students to smoke in the building or on the school property, the daily cleaning up of rubbish, the frequent inspecting of parts of the school where fire dangers are most probable, and the drilling of the students in the routine they should follow in case of fire are all excellent examples of these precautions.

It is believed, however, that less talking during fire drills would be a most constructive objective for the school to dwell upon during the coming months. Talking and laughing are not prohibited during fire drills.

Should a fire actually take place, and due to some unseen circumstance or emergency, it might be necessary to direct the students to safety through a different route than that ordinarily taken, the person desiring to give the students directions might have a most difficult time in making himself heard above the quite audible sounds from the chattering students. Absolute quiet would be of utmost importance should an emergency of this type arise.

The Blue and White wishes to compliment our school officials on their splendid and continual crusade against fire dangers. We merely offer this suggestion in hopes that, if heeded, it will be an even greater addition to the safety of the students.

THE RAH RAH'S FADE

"King Football", by this time, has completely taken its place as the nation's leading sport for the next two or three months. In practically every high school and college in America, groups of young men are participating in the rough, but grand and thrilling diversion and in practically every community of America hundreds of persons are continually going to view the games which the schools are playing against one another.

While these crowds are viewing the games, the band is playing and the cheerleaders are leading snappy yells, it will be the tendency of many youths to take unnecessary or foolhearted chances in order to make themselves the heroes of the game or give their all to prevent their school's defeat.

To footballers so inclined, or persons expecting the footballers to be so inclined, may we say theese words:

It must be remembered that after the player has given his all in a daring and dangerous attempt to win the game or gain himself glory, and received a serious and permanent injury in so doing, he is no longer the fan's mortal but is now put aside to live the best he can and overcome the handicap of his injury to the best of his ability.

The crowds no longer come to "back you up"; the band doesn't seem to play any longer; and the cheer leaders aren't there leading a yell for you. They're having the crowds cheer for the new star. That 75-yard run you made against Notre Dame won't even get you a dime bottle of linament to rub that aching leg with now. For some reason or another, you'll sit there and thoughtfuliy call yourself a "sucker".

WE AGREE

Today's Blue and White carries a front page story of the annuling of the recent boys' cheerleader election, and the declaring of a new election by Principal W. E. Evans. The story explains that the election was declared void because of evidence of irregularities on the part of students during the voting.

The Blue and White agrees with Mr. Evans on the fact that such evidence was present. We believe Mr. Evans' move was the best move which could be made in order to clear up any doubt in the students' minds as to the persons whom the majority desire.

May we compliment Mr. Evans and Mr. Walker on holding such a complete and democratic investigation of the matter, and their integrity in deciding on the case.

If the majority desire the previously elected candidates, they will take their places as the leaders of yells for the K. H. S. football fans, and there will be no shadow of doubt hovering above their heads.

VAGABOND'S WARD
By Marjorie Provost
Harpers and Brothers Publishers,
Nem York and London

The Vagabond's ward is a small French waif named Kate. Since she was kidnapped while still a baby she has been taught nothing but pickpocketing. She lives at the Inn of the Golden Sow, run by a cruel, evil keeper.

On one of her thieving escapades Kate is caught by an officer. When it looks as if the end is near she is snatched from the hands of the law by Villan, a vagabond poet of the sixteenth century. He returned her to the Inn of the Golden Sow safely but here she becomes the main character involved in a plot to kidnap a young boy named Andre, son of a wealthy count.

The scheme proves out to be a great success until the Count refuses to pay ransom to have Andre returned home. The robbers decide to sell Andre to a leader of the band as a slave. It is said that this particular leader cuts off the the ears of his captives and sends them to their parents. Kate is aware of this fact and when Villan learns of the plan things really begin to happen.

Each character is described so perfectly one does not need the illustrations in the book to see them.

Several London schools have adopted tramp steamers. The students follow their ship's course and correspond with the officers and crew. I think we should adopt some airplanes. We would really crash the headlines, then. Besides, our teachers say some of us are floating around in the clouds, but they don't have to get up in the air about it because we're just flighty. It's plane to see that this is a good idea if we could land it.

Trojans Journey To Morristown For Night Game

Floodlights May Offer Disadvantage to KHS—To Be At Full Strength.

Knoxville high school's undefeated football eleven invades Morristown tonight to battle Petie Siler's Morristown hurricane. It will mark the first out of town performance for the Trojans and also their first appearance under the floodlights.

The game will start at 7:30 o'clock and as Morristown is only a short distance from Knoxville, school will be dismissed at the regular time.

One of the largest crowds in history to follow the Trojans will be on hand for the Morristown clash, assuring the team that the student body is behind them until the final whistle is blown.

The same eleven that opened the Rhea game will probably start against Morristown with the exception of Tony Randles and Bob Bell in the backfield. The entire team came out of the Rhea County contest in perfect physical condition and will give everything they have in an effort to defeat the high-flying hurricane eleven.

Following is the probable Trojan line-up:

Center—Johnson.
Right Guard—Tipton.
Right Tackle—Standridge.
Right End—Partredge.
Quarterback—Broome.
Left Half—Butler.
Fullback—Randles.

POPULAR FRESHMEN ENROLLED IN K. H. S.

Knoxville high school has many of the popular members of Christenberry's senior cass of last year enrolled this fall.

Many of these students held important places on the staff of the school paper, "The Beacon". They are Charlie Vaughn, editor; Tam May, business manager; Lula Anderson, circulation manager; and Bonny Kate Fielden, advertising manager.

SPORT DOPE

Trojans-Morristown Clash Under Floodlights; Thrash Rhea, 21-0

By Fred Owens

In one of those rough and tumble gridiron clashes where anything is liable to happen, and usually does, Knoxville high school's Trojans remained undefeated and marched to their fourth win of the season by trouncing a rough and powerful Rhea County high eleven, 21-0.

The game was the best on the Trojan schedule thus far, and was marked by hard tackling, vicious blocking, and fancy broken field running. The blocking was so good that on one touchdown jaunt Bob Broome speedily crossed the double stripe without an enemy player being within fifteen yards of him.

Fred Owens

The Trojans were blocking and tackling with machine-like precision and allowed the Rhea County gridders only two first downs, both coming in the last five minutes of the contest, compared with eleven for the Blue and White machine. In defeating Rhea County by twenty-one points ,the Trojans out-scored the Central High Bobcats by eight points, as Central defeated Rhea earlier in the season, 13-0. But it must be remembered by Trojan supporters that Rhea County had two of her first string members on the sidelines.

TROJANS BATTLE MORRISTOWN

Knoxville's Trojans will make their first appearance under the floodlights this season as they clash with the highly tutored Morristown Roosters watched by Petie Siler, one of the finest high school mentors in this section of the country, tonight on the Morristown gridiron.

The Trojans will doll themselves up in their new uniforms for the game. They will wear golden pants with a dark blue stripe down the leg of each trouser, and will have on their new dark blue jerseys with large white numerals.

TROJAN HIGHLIGHTS

Standridge gave one of the best exhibitions of blocking and tackling seen at Smithson stadium this year in last Friday's contest. . . . Bob Alley made a perfect block of the safety man last week only to give the Trojans a fifteen yard penalty for clipping. Tough luck, Bob, there was never a cleaner block. . . . "Flash" Butler and Bob Broome are two of the finest backfield men to ever attend the Trojan institution. Too much credit cannot be given them for their outstanding type of play. . . . Captain Luttrell and Tipton painted a pretty picture as they slashed through the Rhea County line and brought down the ball carriers. . . . Veo Yon receives the nomination as being one of the best linemen to ever wear the Blue and White. . . . When Bob Johnson and Len Broughton tackle, they really tackle. And they tackled hard and often last week. . . . Billy King played a great game and scored his first point of the season against Rhea. Nice going, Billy. . . . George Coile and Bob Bell seem to improve with each contest. They really carried that pigskin last Friday. . . . So long everybody. I'll see you at Morristown tonight.

Elmwood Robinson was the editor of "The Hermes", a Latin paper edited by Latin students.

Ruth McPherson was president of the senior class, Arthur Atchley, vice-president, and Tom May, secretary.

STUDENT COUNCIL CONDUCTS CHAPEL

During chapel period Thursday the Student Council members gave a program concerning the council work to the 9A's of Knoxville high.

Joe Woodruff began the program with a prayer, and then gave a talk on "What the Student Council Is".

Following a history of the K. H. S. Student Council as told by Arthur Peterson, the Knoxville high mixed quartette sang the school song.

The following departments of the S. C. were explained by members: Lost and Found, Ed Story; the Point System, Charlotte Colby; and clubs, Mary Woodward.

Gertrude Meyer told how one may become a S. C. member.

Curtis Gentry of the vocational guidance department, spoke to the students on choosing a career.

K. H. S. REPRESENTED AT AAUW MEETING

Among the delegates named to attend the American Association of University Women convention which is to be held in Chattanooga Friday and Saturday, are two high school teachers, Miss Eunice McCullough, and Miss Jessie Lou Neubert.

Prominent speakers who will be heard include Dean Stapleton of Vanderbilt University and Dr. Mooney.

Social events will include dinner both Friday and Saturday nights, and a breakfast on Lookout Mountain Sunday morning.

Plans for a fall program of the Knoxville group of the association have been prepared and will cover studies of the modern drama, current book reviews, modern novels, and music appreciation.

Girls' Swim Club Meets Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon, October 14, will mark the beginning of the girls' swimming club at the Y. W. C. A. The club will be in charge of Miss Beatrice Mathers, swimming and physical educational instructor at the Y. W.

The girls swimming with the club have an opportunity to improve their swimming as well as pass different tests and receive points toward her school emblem. She will receive twenty-five points for swimming twenty-five yards, any style, and a standing dive from the side of the pool, fifty points for swimming fifty yards by side stroke or American crawl and a standing dive from the board, and one hundred points for swimming one hundred yard by American crawl, breast stroke, racing back, or side stroke and standing and running dives from the board. A girl is allowed to pass any one of these tests.

Any girl planning to attend the club must have a medical examination to be presented at the desk.

VANCE, LLOYD SPEAK TO UPPER CLASSMEN

Using "A Student Without a School", as his subject, R. R. Vance, state high school inspector, addressed the upperclass students at chapel Thursday morning.

Mr. Vance stated that every student should participate in the activities of the school, thereby improving himself and the school. Mr. Vance based his talk on Everett Hale's "The Man Without a Country".

Neal Spahr, president of the Knoxville Peace council,introduced Dr. Ralph Lloyd, president of Maryville College, who was the main speaker on the program. Dr. Lloyd chose for his subject, "Youth and War".

"Although our youth does not make wars, it has to fight them and should by all means know what the wars are about," stated Dr. Lloyd.

"We must keep faith in the possibility of peace and we must remain realistic at all times."

STUDENTS EXEMPT FROM ENGLISH AT U-T

As a result of high ratings made on examinations several days ago, forty-four University of Tennessee freshmen have been exempt from the first quarter of freshman English. Sixteen of this group are ex-graduates of Knoxville high school.

Charles Ewing, former editor of the Blue and White, Ruth H. Bonham, proof reader of the Blue and White, Frances Edmunds, former Honorary Lieutenant Colonel, and Elizabeth McKelder, who was last year's sponsor of company D, are among those exempt.

Other graduates of high school who were exempt are: Margaret Albers, Janice P. Allen, Genevieve Bridges, Emily Buchanan, Guy Goodwin, Jr., Patsy Harrill, Cecil Kavanaugh, Laurence Nickolson, Una Mae Priest, Katherine Roberts, Peggy Sanders, and Margaret Sisk.

Trojans Thrash Powerful Rhea County Eleven

Trojans Take Fourth Win of Season In Rough and Tumble Encounter.

TEAM IMPROVED

Linemen Tackle and Block Viciously—Backfield Men Perform Well.

The Knoxville high school Trojans trounced a rough and stubborn Rhea County high eleven, 21-0, to gain their fourth consecutive win of the season last Friday afternoon at Smithson stadium.

The Trojans flashed their most promising form in handing the Rhea County gridders their second defeat of the season by a Knoxville eleven. The game consisted of hard blocking and tackling and once the ball carrier was tackled, it seemed as though the entire opposing team piled on. In first downs the Blue and White machine ruled off a total of eleven, while the Rhea County boys were able to make only two, both coming in the last quarter.

Standing out in the Trojan backfield were Broome, Butler, and substitutes Coile and Bell. Although every Trojan lineman played heads-up football, Captain Luttrell, Tipton, Standridge, and Yon stood out.

Outstanding on the Rhea eleven were Dodd, quarterback, whose long kicks were forever a threat to the Trojans, Solomon and Henderson were two of the finest linemen to face the Trojans this season.

Line-ups:

Rhea Co.	Pos.	Trojans
Phillips	L.E.	Alley
Griffin	L.T.	Luttrell (C)
Abel	L.G.	Yon
Black	C.	Johnson
Solomon	R.G.	Tipton
Ferguson	R.T.	Standridge
Robinson	R.E.	Partredge
Dodd	Q.B.	Broome
Huffine	L.H.	Butler
Ingram	R.H.	Martin
E. DeVault	F.B.	Cross

Scoring touchdowns: Trojans—Butler, Broome, Coile.

Points after touchdown: Trojans—Yon 2 (placement), King (placement).

Substituttions: Rhea — McDonald, Hogue, Walker, Arnold, White, P. DeVault, F. Able, Henderson. Trojans—Bell, Randles, King, Coffey, Manning, Coile, Evans, Ramsey, Tucker, Bolin, Hendricks, Carper, Long, Bowff.

OPEN Forum had Charles Martin, assistant director of the Forum, give the "Fundamentals of Debate" at the regular meeting.

Mr. Martin stated that he wanted to see the Open Forum have the most successful year in its history and that the club has some of the best material it has had in years.

Twenty debates have already been scheduled for this term, and Principal W. E. Evans says that a portion of the "Joyland" proceeds will be alloted to a fund for going to different schools to participate in outside debates.

The "Public Utility Problem" will be the subject of most interest to the club this year and a committee of three was appointed to collect or register all the material turned in.

—o—

THE third of the weekly shows, which are being presented in the assembly hall, will be shown on Monday, October 11. Songs of Erin, an entertaining musical; Jungle Giants, an interesting study of Nature; and a travelogue, Traveling in the United States, will make up the program. There will also be a feature which will make the usual five reel movie.

CURTIS GENTRY INTERVIEWED ON PROGRAM

Vocational Adviser Speaks on 'Choosing and Planning A Career'.

Featured on the K. H. S. broadcast last Tuesday was an interview with Curtis Gentry, of the vocation guidance department. Mr. Gentry spoke of choosing and planning a career.

The home economics department had charge of the program Wednesday. Miss Lucile Goddard planned the broadcast. As this is National Furniture Week, the department used "Furniture Selection and Use" for the theme of the broadcast. Frances Wiley spoke on the "Utility of Furniture". "Comfort to be Found in Furniture" was discussed by Mary Elizabeth Brakebill. Vero Yon explained the principal woods used in the manufacturing of furniture. "Construction and Finishing of Furniture" was the title of Mildred Maloney's talk. A trio composed of Frances Wiley, Myrtle McWhorter and Janice Smith accompanied by Helen Warrick concluded the program.

HS Senior Has Unique Hobby

Eula Pemberton, a K. H. S. senior, has the hobby of collecting elephants.

Eula has altogether sixty-six elephants. The smallest is one-fourth inch high and the largest ten inches tall.

All of the elephants have their trunks turned up. This certifies "good luck", and though Eula is not superstitious, she is collecting with this sign in mind.

"Another superstition of good luck according to persons who collect elephants as a hobby is to place all of them facing the east," Eula says.

Eula has only been collecting elephants for a year and already has them from El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas, and the City of China at the Texas Centennial. From the state of Illinois her collection comes from Jacksonville and Springfield. Several cities of Tennessee and Bristol, Virginia are represented.

The elephants are made of wool, ivory, china, stone, and glass of all colors.

"My ambition is to some day have a jade elephant in my collection," stated Eula.

CONCERT

Instrumental Department of Columbia University, will give a concert Friday night. Out of the 125-piece orchestra, 27 members are Knoxville high students. Other cities represented in the orchestra are: Chattanooga, Johnson City, Newport, Greenback, Lenoir City, Cleveland, Clinton, Morristown, Oliver Springs, and Harriman.

KHS RADIO PROGRAM WINS HIGH PRAISES

Because of their reputation of being "educational scripts of higher listener appeal," the United States office of Education has paid Knoxville high school the very high compliment of asking that copies of the scripts that have been used in the radio broadcasts be sent to them.

The office wishes to have these on file to send to other cities where schools are giving radio broadcasts.

"High school is very proud of this great honor and hopes that in the future her broadcasts may be as good as those already given," stated S. B. Parker, radio chairman.

Kenneth Hodge is still doing his best with Dot Cates.

Essay Contest Sponsored By Women's Club

All Seniors Are Eligible For Prizes In Essay On 'Conservation'.

Using "What Conservation Means to Me" as a subject, a prize essay contest is being sponsored by the Division of Conservation, the Tennessee Federation of Women's clubs, for the development of better citizenship. Since this is a state wide conservation essay contest, all senior classmen of senior high schools are eligible.

Material for this contest is to be taken from United States Government bulletins, National Parks association ,the American Tree association, or the American Forestry association, T. V. A. literature, and magazines.

Two prizes are offered in each school. The first prize $3.00, second prize $2.00, and one grand prize of $10.00 is offered for the best essay of the prize winning essays from each school.

The contest opened October 1, and closes November 15. The essay is to consist of not more than 500 words typed or written very legibly on one side of the paper. The contestant's name, town, and school must be given. No essays will be returned to the contestants.

The judges for the ten best essays will be named by the Division of Conservation, Tennessee Federation Woman's clubs.
