New KHS Librarian Is Miss A. Scharer

Replaces Miss Bates — Received B.S. Degree in Library Science at Peabody.

Replacing Miss Mary Bates, who left K. H. S. for public library work in Greensboro, N. C., is Miss Agnes Scharer, who started her work in the high school library Monday, October 16.

Miss Scharer has always liked books. Even when a child attending the elementary schools in South Pittsburg, Tennessee, she decided to become a librarian.

Miss Scharer took a freshman Survey Course at Teachers College, Johnson City, after which she came to the University of Tennessee for an undergraduate course. She obtained her B. S. degree in Library Science from Peabody College in Nashville.

Before coming to Knoxville high school, Miss Scharer worked in the library at Brownlow.

Her childhood ambition was to be a teacher; however, because of her love for books she now desires to be a reference librarian.

Salem College Club Honors Josephine Lea

K. H. S. Graduate Is Elected President of Freshman Dramatic Club.

Miss Josephine Lea, who graduated from K. H. S. last spring, was recently elected president of the Freshman Dramatic club at Salem College for Women in Winston Salem, N. C.

The Freshman Dramatic club is one of the new organizations at Salem College and the position of president is quite an important one. The membership is composed of thirty-two girls who are interested in taking part in college plays, which will be outstanding events of the college this year.

While in K. H. S., Miss Lea took part in many plays, including a lead in "Heart Trouble", which the Masquers club presented in the spring of this year. She was also a member of the National Thespian society.

Miss Lea is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Lea, 3043 East Fifth Ave.

Thespians Sponsor Dramatic Contest

Invitations are being sent this week to the principals of three junior high schools urging them to enter their respective schools in the one-act play contest which the K. H. S. Thespians are sponsoring this fall.

The seventh, eighth, and ninth grades of Rule and Catholic highs are also eligible and will be asked to enter a play. Rules governing the contest were compiled by Vera Yon, Dorothy Bell, Bob Walker, and Charles Sprankle.

The plays will be presented sometime in December in the K. H. S. auditorium.

Superintendent Harry Clark gave his consent for such a contest to be held last year.

Four Students Get Awards For Essays

Winners of the Fire Prevention essay contest held in K. H. S., were presented in Chapel last Thursday by Fire Chief Johnson.

Arthur Swaggerty received a gold wrist watch as a prize for first place. Eugenia Franklin won five dollars as second prize, and Bill Browder and Ed Story received awards of two dollars and fifty cents each as third prize.

It was announced by officials of the contest that only two prizes would be given, five dollars as first prize, and two dollars and fifty cents as second, but when the judges tried to select the two best essays, they found so many good ones that the firemen secured enough money to purchase the wrist watch as first prize and give five dollars for second and two dollars and fifty cents each for the other two.

STORY, PETERSON AHEAD IN CONTEST

Ed Story, chairman of the Lost and Found system, and Arthur Peterson, chairman of the monitor department, have been named as honor members for the first six weeks of the Student Council Honor member contest.

A large graph in the council room keeps a record of all work done by members. Each day the graph goes up according to the time spent and the work accomplished by each person. The first person to reach the blue line at the top of the graph will receive the regular Student Council honor member pin.

The faculty adviser and the president of the Student Council decide each day how far each member's graph shall go.

"Since 1932, when it was started, this contest has always inspired Council members to do exceptionally good work," stated Joe Woodruff, president.

King Elected To Presidency Of 37B Class

Mary Eleanor Acuff Is Vice-President—Martha Cavaleri, Secretary.

MONTGOMERY ADVISER

Miss Edith Horton Is Made Honorary Adviser to the Directors.

Bill King, an outstanding member of C. S. Montgomery's group, was chosen Tuesday of this week to lead the class of 37B as president. Mary Eleanor Acuff as vice-president, Martha Cavaleri as secretary, Bob Johnson as treasurer, and Billy Householder as publicity director, will assist Billy in planning and directing senior activities of the present 12B class.

C. S. Montgomery, of the social science department, was elected class adviser. He will supervise the planning of the senior events. Mr. Montgomery has been adviser to several graduating classes in the past and is well experienced in this line.

Miss Edith Horton, adviser to girls, was named honorary adviser of the class.

The directors were elected by members of their class last week. They are five of the most prominent students in their class, and each has made a record of achievements in high school, thereby convincing fellow class members of their worth and ability as leaders.

SENIORS URGED TO CHECK POINTS

All seniors are urged by the Point System chairman to come to room 304 in the near future to check their extra curricular activities points.

Many will find that they lack only two or three points to receive an E. C. A. certificate when they graduate.

"This award is second only to receiving a diploma, for it represents all the work students have done outside of regular school work beginning when they entered K. H. S.," stated Miss Helen Galbreaht, adviser.

The Point System wants to encourage those who lack only a few points to join a club or participate in some other activity to earn those points.

Question Of Whether Knoxville High Shall Again Publish Annual Arises

Do the students of K. H. S. want an annual? Or better still, do they want one bad enough to lend their support to the production of one?

About this time for several years past, in fact, since the discontinuation of the "Voice" in 1931, the rumor has started among the students to the effect "we want an annual".

In the last few years, teachers and advisers have realized the impossibility of this, and have frowned upon the undertaking as an added expense from students that they are more able to support an annual than the senior classes of the depression days.

There is probably no doubt that the present classes can afford to spend money a little freer than could the classes since '31, but it remains to be seen whether they can stand as great an added expense as the publication of an annual would mean?

Miss Emma Becton, adviser of the Blue and White and one of the receiptant of the yearly request for the annuals, explained that the students "didn't realize when they asked for the 'Voice' again that they were asking for at least five dollars to be tacked onto the already long list of graduation expenses."

Though the students consider the buying of the annual, which usually is priced around $1.50, he

ELECTING MISS AND MR. K. H. S.

For the fifth consecutive year, the Blue and White is sponsoring the election of a Miss and Mr. K. H. S. to determine the most representative boy and girl student in the institution.

Our front page story concerning the election gives the rules which will govern the contest. It will be noted by the reader that a few of the old rules have been altered, and several new rules added.

This year the nominations for both honors will be held on the same day, and the final elections will be on the same day. This feature has been added to prevent one title from appearing more significant than the other, and also to prevent the election becoming monotonous by being strung out over a period of several weeks.

The new regulations for this contest requires that before a person may be advanced to the final election, he must have attained an average of at least "C" on his recent six-weeks report card, and have his good character and initiative vouched for by his group and class teachers. This rule is included to necessitate that any person elected for the honors will not only be popular with the student body, but also representative of the school, and at least normal in scholarship.

In the name of good citizenship, it is hoped that every student in school will cast his vote for his choice for these most desired titles.

To the persons upon whom the titles of Miss and Mr. K. H. S. are bestowed, may we say that yours is a position of which to be proud. Being named the most popular and most representative boy and girl in the only high school in a city the size of Knoxville is an honor to be greatly cherished.

21 YEARS

This year thousands upon thousands of American citizens are to vote for the highest executive of the land, the president of the United States.

Thousands of persons have become 21 years of age during the past four years and will vote in this most important election for the first time in their lives. Their vote will be of vital importance as to the outcome of the election.

Those persons who will have their first experience at voting should have previously been educated to some extent in the art of politics, they should have received enough training during their high school and college days to be able to form a substantial opinion on which to base their vote.

But how many of these new voters have received such experience and training? How many will be able to form their own substantial opinions and vote intelligently?

There will be too few. Many school officials throughout the nation have had and still have closed minds toward this phase of education. In many schools, instructors are not allowed to conduct open discussions in which the students may debate the good and bad points of parties and candidates. Their reasons for not allowing this feature do not seem to be quite reasonable or broadminded.

City, state, and national politics is one of the leading features of the average American's public life today, and a school system intending to thoroughly educate the younger generation will do well to indulge in a program to train the students to intelligently participate in such.

Trilly Says--

By Trilly the Trilobite

Well, here's "mud in your eye!", sang out MURIEL CLARK at the beginning of the Kingsport game Friday afternoon to INEZ CLAYTON and JULIA EARLY.

Believe it or not, but superstition certainly prevails in our high school. Just before that last touchdown was made, (the one that saved the day) MARGARET BETTY GILLESPIE and GERTRUDE MEYER called to all of their friends, "Cross your fingers and put your hat on backwards!" They also said to sit on your handkerchief, but no one was sitting down, so this couldn't be carried out. WESLEY BROWN almost lost his R. O. T. C. cap trying to get it turned around and JEANE BROTHER finally got hers turned kind of cock-eyed!

That rainbow that spanned the field must have been for good luck, too. Cheer leaders NORMAN ANDERSON, RED WINSTEAD, FRANK PATE, MARY RUTH BIBB, and JULIA FREELS all wished on it!

Wasn't that a nice dance Friday? The KNIGHT'S orchestra didn't sound bad at all.

I saw a number of K. H. S. grads. There was TODDY BRANNUM in blue chiffon, FORREST and GEORGIA MAE ELLISON in white, PEARL ANDERSON in an attractive black jumper with a white blouse, MARTHA IJAMS in a pretty flowered dress.

Blue and black served to be predominating colors. I looked around and gazed at DOROTHY DUGGAN in blue taffeta, BARBARA THOMAS gowned in blue satin, JANE ADAMS in black velvet with cream lace, KATHERINE BRISCOE in blue satin, and MARY WOODWARD in black and white.

Didn't you like the green velvet dress BETTY CHAMBERS wore, with the zipper all the way down the front? RUTH LONG looked darling in her green dress with tiny black bows.

MARTHA JEAN OSBORNE'S brunette beauty was set off by a gown of deep blue satin, ahem! It sounds good, and it WAS good!

From all I've heard, half the population of high school is going to the game in Asheville. All the band, football boys, of course, and the rest to sit on the sidelines. Good luck!

THE TRUMPETER OF KRAROW
By Eric P. Kelly
$2.50

MacMillian Company, New York

"The Trumpeter of Krakow", the Newberry prize winner of 1929, is a tale of the Charnetski family of the fifteenth century.

Luov, the city of the Lion, was invaded by the Tartars, and the family of Pan Andrew Charnetski was left homeless. They escaped from their home through a tunnel and carried with them a mysterious treasure concealed in a pumpkin shell. This treasure had been handed down from the eldest son to the eldest for several generations and was to be delivered to the king in person.

Scientists discovered who had the treasure and made many attempts to secure it. Charnetski lost it for a while, then found it, and secured an audience with the king and presented to him the treasure, which was the famous Tarnov Crystal.

One of the men in the king's court snatched the brilliant crystal as it lay at the foot of the throne, and running to a nearby river, flung it into its dark and deep depths where no man has yet been able to find it.

SYMPATHY

All members of K. H. S. wish to express their sympathy to the family of Franklin Quigg, who died Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. He was a former member of this school, but was attending Central this year.

At The Theatres

"The Great Ziegfeld", billed for the Tennessee theater starting Saturday and running for four glorious days, will be the hit-of-the-week. For a glamorous, dancing and singing performance with a little clever acting mixed in by William Powell and Myrna Loy, one will want to attend this picture.

Once before "The Great Ziegfeld" was shown in Knoxville with special prices and reserved seats. Now this great musical show is to be brought back by your Tennessee theater at regular prices.

The Riviera will feature another G-man story similar to "Public Enemy", which was shown some time ago. "Public Enemy's Wife", with Margaret Lindsay and Pat O'Brien, is billed for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. This story deals with Pat O'Brien, an ambitious G-man, who sets out to find the wife of a convicted man, and falls in love with the girl, Margaret Lindsay, and marries her in order to catch the former husband convict. The husband escapes, yet the picture works out as it should, in the end.

The Bijou will show "State Fair", featuring Janet Gaynor and Will Rogers, for three days beginning Thursday. This picture needs no introduction. It has been brought back time and again by popular demand.

A second run picture, "The Story of Louis Pasteur", is on the bill for the Booth Thursday and Friday. This picture is the life story in fiction form of the great scientist, Louis Pasteur, played by Paul Muni. "Pride of the Marines" featuring Charles Bickford and Florence Rice, will be shown Saturday.

Typical Notre Dame Finish Wins Battle

Pass From Broome To Alley Wins Thrilling Game In Last Five Seconds.

COILE OUTSTANDING

Trojans' Backfield Performer Runs Wild—Peters Stars For Defeated Indians.

With only five seconds remaining in one of the most thrilling gridiron classics ever witnessed in Knoxville, Bob Broome fired a desperate last play pass across the goal line to Bob Alley, who made a "Dick Merriwell" catch to give the Trojans a cherished 12-6 victory over the undefeated Kingsport Indians, at the Smithson Stadium last Friday afternoon.

The pass was over in the corner of the end zone and batted down by Bob "Dodd" Peters. But instead of being incomplete, it fell directly into the outstretched arms of Alley, who hugged the ball to his chest and fell to the ground with the story-book touchdown.

The Trojans scored first as Johnny "Flash" Butler, who was later carried from the field with a badly sprained back, raced around left end for five yards and a touchdown. The Indians came back at the half fighting and Smith, substitute halfback, caugse one of Broome's long punts on his own 19-yard line and scurried down the east sidelines for eighty-one yards to tie the game at 6-6. Both tries for extra points were missed.

At this point George Coile replaced Tony Carper, who had substituted for Butler when he was injured in the first half. After Coile, assisted by Smiley Martin, had crashed down to the 11-yard line, the typical Notre Dame finish resulted giving the Trojans a well-earned victory.

The Indians were led by Bobby Peters, who lived up to all expectations, and Smith in the backfield. Knoxville's leading backfield performers were Butler, Broome, Carper, Randles, Martin, and Coile, who proved to Trojan supporters that he was one of the hardest chargers on the squad. In the line Captain Luttrell, Yon, and dependable Red Cross were outstanding, but there was not a player on the field that failed to play a great game.

Line-up:

Kingsport	Pos.	Trojans
H. Blessing	L.E.	Alley
J. Blessing	L.T.	Luttrell
Downs	L.G.	Tipton
Burgan	C.	Cross

Hawk	R.E.	Partredge
Peters	Q.B.	Broome
McCaffey	L.H.	Butler
Arnold	R.H.	Bell
Haney	F.B.	Randles

Scoring touchdowns: Kingsport—Smith. Trojans—Butler and Alley.

Substitutions: Kingsport—Rich, Smith, Hale, Showaiter, Vance, and Stair.

Trojans—King, Carper, Martin, Broughton, Long, Johnson, and Coilé.

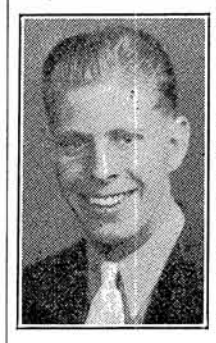
SPORT DOPE

'Dick Merriwell' Catch By Bob Alley Saves Unblemished Record

By Fred Owens

Let's go back to Smithson stadium for the last five seconds of that thrilling gridiron classic of last Friday afternoon between the unscored on, untied, and unbeaten Kingsport Red and Gray, and Knoxville's own beloved Trojans.



Fred Owens

The ball is resting on the Kingsport eleven yard line in possession of the Trojans. It is time out for Kingsport. The whistle sends the Trojans into the last huddle of the game. They're out of the huddle and lining up. The ball goes on a direct pass from center to Bob Broome. Broome fades back. It's going to be a pass. Out of the mud-covered Trojans he hunts for an uncovered receiver. He lets the ball sail into the air. Its coming down and going to be completed to Partredge. No. From out of thin air comes Bobby Peters and bats the ball hard, knocking it downwards. A groan, and then an earth-rocking cheer by the Trojan fans. The ball was batted into the arms of Bob Alley and he fell to the ground with the score.

It as a story-book finish, with all the trimmings for the Trojans and a heartbreaking episode for the Kingsport warriors, who had fought on almost even terms with the Trojans on a mud-soaked gridiron for fifty-five seconds.

BOBCATS VICTORIOUS

While the Trojans were gaining their thrilling victory, the Central high Bobcats were defeating a strong band of Johnson City Hilltoppers, 13-0. It marked the sixteenth consecutive and the sixth victory of the season for the Bobcats.

Although each team made five first downs, the Hilltoppers were unable to gain through the strong forward wall of the Bobcats, when a scoring opportunity presented itself.

Outstanding for Central were Captain Suffridge and Cy Whaley in the line, while in the backfield Red Bailes and Griffith were outstanding.

TROJAN HIGHLIGHTS

Red Cross, versatile performer, played a great game at the pivot position. . . . George Coile turned the game from a tie into a victory for the Trojans with his sensational running. . . . "Flash" Butler, although injured in the first half, gave an excellent performance. Tough luck, Johnny. . . . Bob Broome called a great game besides matching punt for punt with Peters, the Kingsport ace. . . . Veo Yon blocked a punt that led to the first Trojan score outside of playing a great game at his guard position. . . . Captain Luttrell inspired a great team by making tackle after tackle. He is one of the greatest leaders that the Blue and White school has ever had. . . . Park Standridge and Dave Tipton played a great game and deserve credit galore for their outstanding work. . . . Bob Alley and Larry Partredge, assisted by Long, played inspired ball at the terminal positions. . . . Tony Randles and Bob Bell along with with Tony Carper, were forever a threat to the Indian eleven. . . . Smiley Martin smashed the Kingsport line to pieces in hard driving attempts through the middle of their forward wall. . . . All during the game one could turn his attention to the stands and see Frank "Red" Winstead really whooping up the Trojan rooters. Nice work, Frank. . . . Scooter the Trojan, the small white dog with the blue ribbon, was on hand also. . . . Well, so long everybody! I'll see you in Asheville.

Chorus Meets On Tuesday Evenings

The Night School chorus, directed by Edward H. Hamilton, meets each Tuesday night in Knoxville high school at 7:30 in room 319.

Thirty-eight members have already signed up for this chorus. Those outside of high school who are interested in singing are invited to join. Parents of the city school students are especially urged to belong to this chorus.

A concert of Operatic Choruses and solos will be the first presentation of the Night School chorus. They will present "The Bartered Bride", an Operatic Comedy written by Smetana, in April. Tryouts for this operetta will be held the first week of November.

KHS, Maroons Resume Rivalry In Asheville

Johnny Butler To Start Game For Trojans—Johnson Back At Center Position.

BOTH TEAMS UNBEATEN

Captain Bryson and Little, at Quarterback, Are Scoring Threats for Maroons.

The Knoxville high Trojans, 28 strong, invaded Asheville this morning to battle the high school maroons in a class that is expected to attract a capacity crowd of 7,000. It is the homecoming game for the Maroons and will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Maroons, smarting under a 27-7 defeat in 1935, will be out to defeat the undefeated Trojans. The Trojans, on the other hand, cannot easily forget the heartbreaking 2-0 defeat handed to them in the 1934 game and will give everything they have to win over the unscored on Asheville eleven.

The Trojans will center their offensive attack around Johnny "Flash" Butler, ace ball lugger, who has entirely recovered from an injury received in the Kingsport game of last week.

Asheville will offer Captain Bill Bryson, fullback, and Little, quarterback, as their offensive threats in today's game.

The probable line-up:

ANNUAL

does not consider the money he will pay out for each time his picture is published within. For example, a prominent senior would probably have his picture printed several times: as a member of the graduating class, perhaps as an officer of a club, with an R. O. T. C. company, and with several similar group pictures, all of which add up. Most students could get by on five dollars, perhaps, but not less. This is only an estimate, since no prices have been taken, but it is a close one, considering that the cost of printing has advanced since the last K. H. S. annual was published.

"The trend in the larger high schools now is to get away from the annual, but if we find that enough of the students want an annual and will support its publication, a move will probably be made to consider the 'voice' again," said Miss Becton.

Miss Becton mentioned the tremendous work involved in getting out such a publication, and although K. H. S. has capable students who would be willing to do the work, that too should be taken into consideration.

Perhaps the easiest way of getting the correct opinion of all the students involved is by group discussion and vote. Taking everything in consideration, do you want an annual and will you support one? It's you who are concerned.

LOWER CHAPEL SPEAKER WAS MRS. DOSSETT

Spent Four Months in Orient —Describes Clothes and Customs of Japan.

Mrs. O. A. Dorsett, who spent four months of last spring and summer in the Orient, spoke to lower class chapel on Tuesday, October 20.

She mentioned how queer it was to go to bed on the steamer on the day before Christmas and wake up on the day after Christmas.

"The Japanese civilization is entirely different from the western world," she said.

In describing their clothes, Mrs. Dossett explained that all wear the kimonas one sees pictured sometimes, and other times they dress as nicely as any business man of our Eastern world. She told about the socks with one toe which fits over the big toe and the other part fits like a mitten. The shoes are large wooden ones with a strap under the big toe, and over the others. That way the people wearing them just flap around. These shoes are worn by all men, women, and children.

Mrs. Dorsett said that while she was there she and her husband went to dinner with some Japanese friends. The dinner was in a beautiful garden with many flowers. When they went in, they removed their shoes and put on small slippers with one toe and flapped around like the others. She explained that there was only one way to sit so she knelt on the stage in Japanese fashion. There were no knives, forks, spoons, sugar, or salt. One of the little Japanese serving girls brought in a towel and water and the host washed his hands, his arms, and his face. She washed her hands but would not wash her face.

Mrs. Dorsett described her journey to Peking, China and told about the great walls. She said that she rode in a hand cart, and that it was most uncomfortable.

Radio Program Reveals Worst 'Public Enemy'

C. S. Montgomery to Present Play to Determine Cause of Most Deaths.

Weekly programs for K. H. S. broadcasts were directed this week by Miss Clara Bewley, head of the English department, Mrs. Gordon Powers, of the P. T. A., and C. S. Montgomery, adviser of the Open Forum.

Miss Bewley's 12B English class had charge of Monday's program. Hubert Hensley, Glenn Beeler, Harrison Redman, Clayton Bolinger, Charles Trentham, and Charles Walreath gave talks showing that great men in modern history had the same qualities of character as those of the earliest Anglo-Saxon race. Courage, heroism, unselfishness, and gallantry were particularly stressed. When Christianity came into this era the warriors became more for peace than bloodshed. Poems were given expressing the ideal of manhood and womanhood by the two verses, "The Happy Warrior", by Sir Henry Walton, a sixteenth century poet, and "Who Is Silvia", by Shakespeare.

Music was furnished by Mary Jean Clark, Beverly Fisher, Rowena Bailey, and Judith Richards.

Wednesday the P. T. A., under direction of Mrs. Gordon Powers, presented the broadcast during which they urged all parents to join the worthy organization.

Today, C. S. Montgomery presents a play starring Henrietta Bowman, Lloyd Young, Norene Powers, George Armistead, and Jess Hendricks. The play "Public Enemy No. 1", is a kind of debate as to who Public Enemy No. 1 really is. War, whisky, ignorance, and automobile accidents are all put up as the worst curse in the world today.
