Library Sponsors Treasure Hunt

To encourage the reading of better books among the student body, the library is sponsoring a reading contest in the form of a "Treasure Hunt" which will end April 2. A book will be given the student most successful in the hunt.

The contest consists of twenty questions concerning books to be found in the school library. These are to be answered in the fewest possible words and turned in to the library with the contestant's full name, age, group teacher's name, and the names and authors of the books read.

Copies of the contest and further particulars may be secured from the library.

Author Of 'Howdy Boys' Speaks To Lower Classmen Tuesday

"Poverty, physical handicaps, lack of college education, and adverse conditions in life, do not constitute the under privileged boy. To the contrary, it is the boy who has everything done for him," stated J. M. Holmes, author of the column, "Howdy Boys", which appears in the Knoxville Journal, to lower class chapel Tuesday.

Mr. Holmes, a resident of Greenville, South Carolina, and general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. there, came to Knoxville to speak to the Rotary Club.

In discussing the under privileged boy, Mr. Holmes gave a short sketch of the French janitor, Millet. The great artist was so poor the family went to bed to keep warm, yet not many years later only one of his paintings sold for $150,000.

"Robert Louis Stevenson's ill health did not prevent him from reaching the top of his field. Could you call these men under privileged", questioned the speaker. "Under this classification come those who have everything done for them, and those who have no ideals to live by."

"The person who understands the divine meaning of life and makes use of his talents is not the under privileged, regardless of physical handicaps," was Mr. Holmes closing remark.

"Howday Boys" written especially for boys, appears every Sunday in four large publications: The Knoxville Journal, the Greenville News, the Birmingham News, and the Anniston (Alabama) Star.

Mr. Holmes who started this column four years ago, has been connected with boys work for thirty years.

The visitor also spoke to Miss Emma Becton's newswriting class on the "Essentials of a Good Reporter".

Seniors Hear Dr. Thompson

Speaks on Requirements to Enter College—the Cost of An Education.

Dr. R. F. Thompson, registrar of the University of Tennessee, addressed the senior class in the small assembly hall, during lower class chapel Tuesday.

Dr. Thompson divided the seniors into two distinct groups—the ones who would not be able to go to college and those who would attend.

Several things are involved in an entrance to a college. There must be some inclination to enter and some money.

Dr. Thompson said that some students' extravagent expenditure of money did not imply that all students needed to spend so much and that students could earn all the money they spent.

Then too, certain subjects and credits are required for entrance, however if the student is 21 years old or over he will be considered as a special student, and must make up high school work before he graduates.

Dr. Thompson stated that the majority of students drop out at the end of the first quarter, the end of the first year or the end of the second year, and that students should have at least a "C" average before attempting the junior and senior years.

Seniors will meet often during the term, while the lower classmen are attending chapel to hear other interesting speakers.

Essays Due Today; Winners To Compete

All entries in the Civitan essay contest must be in the hands of the contestants' social science teacher today. Teachers will turn all essays in to Jonnie A. Walker who in turn will hand them to a committee appointed to select the school winners.

The school winners will compete in the county contest and the winners of the county contest will be entered in the national competition.

The subject for the essays is some phase of "Better Citizenship". Prizes for K. H. S. winners are: $5.00 each to the winning boy and girl; and $2.50 each to the winning boy and girl submitting the second best essays.

C. S. Montgomery states that although no essays have been turned in to him yet, several students are preparing them and that he expects several outstanding entries as there is excellent material in the school with which to work.

P. T. A. Asks Bands Bought From Bank

The P. T. A. requests that all students leave in the bank the bands from notebook paper bought in the bank. These will be collected and entered in a national contest in which the person saving the greatest number of bands will receive his choice of a bicycle or a radio. In case the P. T. A. should win the prize, it would be sold and the money used for P. T. A. work.

At the last meeting the P. T. A. voted to sponsor a theme contest on "Alcohol" in the near future through the English department. Although complete plans have not been announced, the prizes will be $1.50 each for the best sophomore, junior, and senior themes.

13th CONVENTION

Prominent Men of Journalism Will Speak at Affair in New York City.

At the thirteenth annual convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Convention held at Columbia University in New York City, the Blue and White will again face the judge's consideration for a renewal of the prize rating awarded last year. The Knoxville high school publication was given second place in its respective division.

Ed Mitchell, editor, Gaines Stuart, business manager, Martha King, associate editor, and Miss Emma Becton, staff adviser, will attend the annual newspaper confab representing the Blue and White. Although the convention continues from March 11 to 13, the Knoxville four plan to leave early in the week in order to sight-see in the great metropolis.

The convention proper begins Thursday, March 11, at McMillan theater. The program includes the regular newspaper clinic, general meetings, round table discussions, and exhibits.

Since attendance to the C. S. P. A. has grown to such great numbers, the round tables have been practically eliminated. However, they have proved so valuable that the convention officials have set aside

AMERICA SHALL NOT PERISH

At the American Red Cross refugee center, one of the traveling W. P. A. Federal theater troups gave a show for several hundred negroes last Saturday morning.

The people housed in this shelter were driven from their homes in Kentucky by the great recent flood. They are being kept in Knoxville until provisions can be made to rehouse them in their native state.

A feature of the show given by the government theater group was a community sing. The audience didn't respond very well to the singing of many of the songs, until the leaders swung into the famous "My Old Kentucky Home". Here voices filled the building with a song of loyalty to a territory in which the singers had experienced misery and the loss of homes and possessions.

Every young person in America should have witnessed those people sing that song. Each would have said, "No, America shall never perish; the people are too persistant!"

COOPERATION APPRECIATED

Last week, about sixty Knoxville men and merchants generously added their names to the Blue and White's "On To New York" spread ad. The Blue and White is grateful to these men and firms for their support in aiding the publication to represent Knoxville at the great Columbia Scholastic Press Convention to be held there next month.

Students, now able to make payments on their subscriptions, may also be of great aid in making this representation possible by making such payment as they are able to make. THANKS!

A MAJOR IN THE RANKS

Major John S. Moore, head of the K. H. S. R. O. T. C. battalion, during his short period of service here, has established a practice which should be the practice of the commanders in all schools where there are reserve officers' training corps. That practice is to know the boys of his unit, and be not merely a "stuffshirt", continually giving orders and never witnessing the carrying out of the instructions.

Major Moore may not know all of the boys by their names, but he certainly is capable of distinguishing their appearance and actions.

We were pleased to see the Major personally select his officers at the recent commencement period. This act showed that, through getting out and keeping check on the cadets, he knew them well enough to judge their character and ability.

In many schools where there are R. O. T. C. units, the cadets being drilled or instructed by the commanding instructor is as uncommon as an aristocrat playing marbles with his butler. On "high days and holidays" ,when it is necessary for the head instructor to be present, it naturally puts the cadets under a greater strain than had the commander been associated with them more closely before. The added strain often causes them to carry out faulty drill.

We believe the military unit at Knoxville high school is being steadily improved by the major's closer contact with the individual student.

WELCOME! NEW YORK EDUCATORS

Approximately one hundred school superintendents of New York are visiting our city today. These people are inspecting some of the educational features of our community. We hope they find our system of education at least equal to the average.

May this high school paper welcome them to Knoxville. We hope you enjoy your visit.

The KHS Poll Of Opinion

DO YOU THINK THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS SHOULD BE ADDED TO THE STATES AS THE 49th STATE IN THE UNION?

Kenneth Hatcher: No, I do not think so. The United States has not any state separated by water and I do not believe one should be added. It would put more responsibility on our country, and in case of war, it might cause more trouble. I do not believe it would prove successful.

W. J. Bolin: The Islands do not belong to the United States and I do not believe they should be annexed. There are so many foreigners in the Hawaiian Islands who would have a right to come into the United States and become American citizens.

Horace King: No, in case of war the United States would become involved, if Hawaiian Islands were made the 49th state in the Union.

The Spectator

Dear Julie,

I'm trying so hard to find the girl of my dreams—won't you help me, please?

The Hunter of Ideal

Dear Hunter,

I probably could have been more helpful if you had mentioned the type you prefer and a few desired characteristics. But as it is,well—there's Rachael Patterson who's tall and queenly, and Barbara Foust who's tiny and demure. But if you prefer the brighter type, there's Julia Freels who'd liven up any lonely evening and Betty Martin who's a grand dancing partner. If you like the girls who go in for sports quite a bit, there's Emily King or Elsie Hyde.

If you happen to be a gentleman who prefers blonds, there's lovely Mary Ruth Bibb. But should you like a sweet little brunette, there's Mary Eleanor Acuff or Louise Galloway. Then there are those who are as sweet as can be but who do say the craziest things, you know—like Margaret Moore. Now if you want a girl who is a perfectly grand cook, I'm sure you would like Susan Buchanan or Helen Bales. Still there's always the sweet red headed girls like Margaret Betty Gillespie or the fiery red headed ones like Katherine Briscoe. I think most any of these would be very satisfactory. But mind you—no broken hearts!

Julie

We wish Nita Cooper would make up her mind between Jack and Nick.

—o—

By-the-way have you seen the latest photographs of Weston Hyde and Bill King? I hear they're quite charming.

Dorothy Montgomery and Bill Rinearson are getting along fine. Very nice combination I'd say.

—o—

I heard Jack Rodgers say that he thought Julia Freels and Bob Alley were high school's ideal couple — good sport, Jack.

—o—

Margaret Portwood has quite a few on her string. Dudley Wilson, Ott Lyons, and Sam Newman are a few of her adent admirers.

—o—

Here's another couple that has been going together so long that they have me worried—Margaret Betty and Alvin.

Beryl Malone just won't tell us who she's in love with, but we know who's in love with Beryl. He has the cutest nickname for her.

Julia Freels is still in love with Bob Alley. Wonder how much longer it will last?

BOOKS

'THE DOCTOR'
By Rhinehart

"The Doctor", a story of Chris Arden, is primarily the story of what a man's pride and his love for his life's work did to his personal life and happiness.

Young and poor, just out of a three year's internship, Chris Arden waited anxiously behind his new shingle for his first patient to appear. Beverly Lewis, young and beautiful, and as rich as Arden was poor and equally proud, brought a choking terrier for his treatment. They quarreled and immediately fell in love. Their pride, plus the theft of a crucial letter, defeated their love. Chris married an empty and ambitious little person, who had been scheming to that end; Beverly married a rich and insignificant young man. In spite of his wife, Arden became an eminent surgeon; but when his ability to practice surgery was lost due to her carelessness, she left him. Health regained and prestige within reach, Chris turned to Beverly, now a widow, and at last their tragic comedy of errors came to a rhymed conclusion.

Arden's story sheds a clear light on the demands and rewards of the medical profession, one of the most exacting as well as one of the most honorable and honored of professions. Mrs. Rhinehart, once a nurse, and married to a doctor, has presented a sober and sympathetic portrait of "The Doctor".

Trilly Says--

JELLY LEFTWICH sure made a hit with the dance-goers at the DeMolay last Friday. His style and taste of the different rhythms went over with a "bang". He played a lot of grand old tunes such as "Was That the Human Thing To Do". Enjoying the fast stepping music, I saw ELOIS OWENS; MARY FRIERSON with BOB McCLELLAN; MARGARET PORTWOOD with TOMMY SHOOK; MARGARET MOORE with FRED FORD. At intermission I dropped in on the Inter-Fraternal Dance at U. T. and saw BETTY CHAMBERS and DOT STEPHENSON.

These Saturday night movie-goers! The crowd seems to enlarge all the time. Last Saturday I saw JANE ADAMS with HERBERT MAYES; HELEN HUTCHISON with AL NICHOLS (that SPE is really rushing her); MARGIE ELGIN with BOB OSBORNE, and JULIA EARLY with BLONDIE ROBINSON.

I understand that the heap-big editor-in-chief of the B. and W. has sworn off of girls. But don't weep girls, this can't last long. ED has to take someone with him on his regular Sunday night "beat". Oh, yes! I also heard that BURK RUSSELL is of the same notion.

At the T. N. T. progressive dinner, I saw MARGARET BETTY GILLESPIE with ALVIN SMITH (say, will this ever break up?); MARTHA JEAN OSBORNE with BOB ANDRIDGE; B. J. MORRISON with JOE BROWN; and MARGARET ANNE BROWN with JIMMY MURRIAN.

The A. O. Pit's are giving a benefit bridge party Saturday at 2:30 at the Cherokee Country club. Everybody come!

Seems that the K. H. S. girls have gone on a "measles" craze—(What will they do next?) DOT DUGGAN and MILDRED POLK are the originators. Let's hope FRANK PATE and TOMMY SHOOK don't "carry-on" the craze.

She: "Who do you think you are anyway, you so and so!" Then he just laughed and laughed because he knew that his mother was a seamstress. And then Helen said to me: "Some point, eh? I just know I had you on needles and pins."

She's pretty good, eh? I guess we'll have to make Helen honorary member of the K. H. S. Wits club. Anyway, she just had me in stitches over the whole thing!

Flashing a spectacular brand of passing that has made them one of the finest teams in this section, Knoxville's Trojans walloped the Friendsville Military Academy 51-8 and the Lanier high outfit by the score of 47-10 in the fourteenth district tourney.

Captain Hodge and Frank Higdon, with twelve points each, led the scoring against the weak Friendsville machine. It was one of the finest games that the Trojans have played this year and the huge crowd gave them a great ovation.

In the Wednesday afternoon game against the twice victorious Lanier high cagesters, Lincoln Remine and Walt Gaines, with fourteen and twelve points respectively, led the scoring in a game that saw the Trojans overcoming a 3-0 deficit to grab a 17-4 lead at the halftime.

The Trojans' subs consisting of Clark, Powers, Hunt, Stair, and Sink played in both games and gave a credible account of themselves with their passing and handling of the ball.

Health Chats

By B. E. Sharp

The health committee is cooperating with the physical education department and other departments in giving the pupils a better and more varied progress in health this semester.

A carefully selected list of good books and magazines has been presented for approval. Mr. Hoover will assist pupils in library work.

Many excellent picture films have been reviewed and a broader visual education program is under way for health and the basic sciences of medicine. Watch for announcements relative to pictures other than the regular Monday show. An excellent picture will be shown Wednesday, March 10.

In order that a pupil may have an opportunity to know of and correct any physical defect or know he is free from such defects, the health committee is working with the departments of physical education and the R. O. T. C. in completing records for each pupil in school.

This record when complete will give in addition to the medical and dental records, a physical record. These cards will be filed in the office.

In a recent survey in Detroit schools, 27 percent of all pupils had some form of abnormal curvature of the spine.

During the World War, 96,000 were rejected because of flat feet.

By general and specific exercises most such defects can be corrected.

Are you too fat? George Cheyne of Scotland, by proper exercise and diet reduced from 448 lbs. to 150 lbs. and lived to be 72 years of age.

Every individual should know his physical status and endeavor to retain or improve it.

SEC Tournament Begins Today In Alumni Memorial Gymnasium

By Fred Owens

Knoxville, the capital of basketball tournaments, will again have the opportunity of witnessing the Southeastern Conference Tournament this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, followed by another game at 3:30. Another session will be held tonight featuring the defending S. E. C. champions, Tennessee, against the strong Georgia quintet, one of the finest outfits in the South.

Fred Owens

The eight teams invited this year—Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Alabama, Miss. State, Mississippi, Georgia, and Louisiana State University — represent the most colorful and outstanding teams in the conference, and record crowds are expected to join at the Alumni Memorial gymnasium for each session of the tournament.

The team winning the tournament will be recognized as S. E. C. champions and will have rightful claim to the title as competition this year is much stiffer and the teams were selected according to opinions of coaches in the conference, season's standings, and the grade of schedule played.

LOU AND DIZ

Two of baseball's favorite players, "Columbia" Lou Gehrig, slugging first baseman of the champion New York Yankees, and Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, outstanding pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, are both demanding top salaries of $50,000, and diamond followers of both stars are behind them in their effort to secure the salaries they believe they are worth to their respective clubs.

Gehrig has played twelve seasons with New York and has taken part in over eighteen hundred consecutive games. Another fact upholding his important claim is that the Yankees have sold three first basemen in the past year for a total of $105,000. The most important deals were the selling of Buddy Hossett to Brooklyn for $50,000 and Johnny McCarthy to the Giants for $40,000.

Dean, having a record of one hundred league career for an average of twenty-four games per year, has a just and rightful claim also to the salary of $50,000. It is the opinion of the writer that neither will receive that amount.

ODDS AND ENDS

Bobby Thompson, Passiac high star forward, scored 1,000 points during the 1921 and 1922 seasons. . . . . In 1911, the winner of the first Indianapolis 500 mile grind, averaged but 74.59 miles per hour. . . . Bantam champion Sixto Escobar was both a star baseball and volley ball player in Porto Rico. . . . Art Nehf, famed old-time pitching star, beat the Yankees in a World Series game by pitching opposite John McGraw's instructions from the bench. . . . And "Slinging Sam" Baugh, Texas Christian All-American quarterback, threw the pigskin for a distance of over two miles during his career.

Three Act Play Cast To Complete Tour

"Speed", a three-act farce, given by the Thespians at K. H. S. will finish its tour of county schools within the next week or so. Last Friday night a successful performance was given at Ball Camp school. Tonight it will be given at Ramsey school; Wednesday, at John Tarlton Institute; and next Friday night, at Christenberry junior high school.

Richard Millen, Thelma McGhee, and Bill Browder portray the leads in "Speed".

For these remaining performances, George McKelvy will take Charles Sprankle's part as Slim Williams.

Others in the cast are Ollie Mae Thompson, Mary Lee Smith, Alice Marie Gray, Betty Jane Morrison, Noreene Powers, and John Roberts, who is also director of the play.

Sports Writer Becomes Poet

Descriptions in Journal of Girls' Basketball Games Inspires Rhyme.

In a merry mix-up, scuffling for the ball
The dainty high school lassies tripped, "Chick" short, and Helen tall.
Passing, shooting, dribbling, mid cries of "Are you hurt"?,
While Miss House gives wild pursuit to the flying tail of a shirt.
The quarter ends, they're out of breath, and puffing on the bench,
While Trula and Naomi both believe the game's a cinch.
Again they flash, and poise, and leap, the battle's nearly o'er,
No one who went to see this game could think it was a bore.
Time marches on, the ball flies wild amid determined clouting,
Two minutes more of battling, then—all's over but the shouting!
So ends another tournament, amid wild plaudits loud,
Another team's the winner, another captain's proud.
And so my friends, may I extend congratulations hearty
And say that your fine playing was to us, indeed a "party"!

69 Groups Ask Charter Rights

McLaurin's Group First of Large Number to Apply for Charter This Term.

If a group is put on probation twice during a term, it will not receive the charter which is to be given at the end of the semester.

Officers of charter groups will receive points toward an extra-curricular activities certificate and members will receive one point each.
