Blue & White Sends Girls To S. P. Meet

Thelma McGhee and Gertrude Meyer Are Delegates—To Return Sunday.

Thelma McGhee and Gertrude Meyer left Wednesday morning at 5:45 by train to attend the Southwestern Press convention at Memphis. The Blue and White delegates will return home Sunday afternoon.

The convention proper began yesterday with a luncheon at Neely hall on the campus of Southwestern University. Round table discussions were held during the afternoon. The discussions were headed by Lauren Watson, editor of the Southwestern.

A convention banquet was held last night which was addressed by W. C. Teague, chief editorial writer for Memphis Commercial Appeal. Following this was a tour through the plant of the same paper. A party was held at a sorority lodge from ten until twelve o'clock.

Thelma and Gertrude submitted news stories of yesterday's events which were to be judged this morning. The prize offered was $2.50.

More discussions were to be held this morning with the convention closing at 1:30 p. m. after luncheon and election of officers.

These pictures represent paintings from the old masters on down to the modern period. Many of them are painted by American artists.

Knoxville high school will buy five or six of these pictures. The following selections are being considered, "Silence of the Night", "Rialto Bridge", "Venetian Serenade", "Mother Earth", "Fighting Temerian", "Fog Warning", and "Lifting Fog".

The majority of these pictures are very modern. While the ones now owned by K. H. S. are from an earlier period.

Dr. Cloud Smith Play Presented

Famous Impersonator Gives Davey Crockett Play to Both Chapels.

By Wilfred Gillenwater

Sketching briefly the life of Davey Crockett, the famous Tennessean, Dr. Cloud Smith, widely known impersonator, gave a prologue to his play on the marriage of Davey Crockett.

Dr. Smith stated that Crockett never received six month's education in his life. At the age of seventeen he didn't even know the alphabet. Notwithstanding he served in the Tennessee legislature, in the United States senate, and was mentioned for the presidency of the United States.

Dr. Smith first contracted the desire to give this particular presentation while visiting the Alamo in Texas. Here, when entering Crockett's room, hats must be removed and conversation carried on in a whisper.

Following this brief comment the play was offered with Dr. Smith impersonating six people: Eleanor Vaughn, Mr. Crompton, Davey Crockett, Mother Crockett, Major Ralston, and Parson Jones.

Crockett's (Dr. Smith) nonchalant remarks produced roars of laughter in both chapels.

Best laugh of the day came when "Crockett" remarked to "Mr. Crompton" that he looked "like an accident goin' some place to happen".

In addition to the three-act play, an original poem and impersonation of a Dutchman were rendered.

"I have been connected with stage work for thirty years," was Dr. Smith's answer to the reporter's question.

"Until my health compelled me to leave ten years ago, I was at the University of Nebraska. Before that I gave these plays during the summer."

Dr. Smith's home is in Lincoln, Nebraska.

From here he was to go to Johnson Bible College.

The reporter had a difficult time in obtaining the needed information as the conversation was interrupted continually by admirers, both students and teachers.

Burglars Enter K H S Stealing Two Guns

Two United States Army rifles were stolen from the K. H. S. armory Wednesday night when unknown person or persons broke into the building and ransacked it.

The burglars entered the building through a window of room 208, breaking the glass to unlock the latch. They also smashed the glass of the front office door, and searched a large steel cabinet in the principal's office.

The intruders broke locks off the business manager's desk drawers in the Blue and White office. C. S. Montgomery's classroom was searched and papers scattered about. The store room for the woodwork shop was also visited.

Sergeant W. A. Pratt said that there was no damage done to the locks or door where the thief had entered. He said that the door was usually locked, but that it was found unlocked Thursday morning. He doesn't know who could have unlocked it.

There was evidence that the intruders had prowled over practically every part of the building.

City Detectives Parker and Swanner are investigating.

K H S Band Plays For Lower Chapel

Lower class chapel was entertained Tuesday by the crack K. H. S. band. Directed by W. H. Crouch, they played "His Honor" by Fillmore, "Eleanor" by Deppen, "Triumph of Alexander" by Richards, and "Valse Danneuse" by Miles.

Lieut. Colonel Alvin Smith gave a short talk on the Character Guidance Council, a new organization in K. H. S. The purpose of this organization is to raise the morale of the school. The members are presidents of extra-curricular clubs. At the first meeting, a banquet at the Regas Cafe was held.

Moral problems of K. H. S. was discussed.

Science Students To Receive Plaque

A bronze plaque of honor will be awarded this term, and each following term, by the firm of Bauch & Lomb to the senior boy having the highest science record for three years at K. H. S., according to C. A. Browning, head of the science department.

Similar awards are being made in all the larger cities. The names of the boys receiving the plaques will be placed on a national science honor roll.

"The large manufacturers will draw a large per cent of their research workers from these honor rolls in a few years," stated Mr. Browning. "It is not the value of the plaque that should urge one to try for the award as much as the honor."

The award will be made at the commencement exercises.

Ed Story Elected Council President

Ed Story, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Story of 2355 Linden avenue, was elected last Friday to be the president of the Student Council during the fall term. Nell Hall, daughter of Mrs. T. K. Hall of 2347 Parkview avenue, was elected vice-president.

Ed's only opponent was Marshall Perry, who was the only other boy eligible for the presidency. The other candidates for vice-president were Frances Caldwell and Charlotte Colby. According to the constitution these girls will be eligible to run in the election for regular members.

All petitions of candidates for regular membership were due Wednesday, April 28, in Miss Nelle Henry's room. The election will probably be held early next week.

Style Show May 5

Wednesday, May 5, will produce the first of the senior activities. At a special girls' chapel, the senior girls will give their semi-annual style show under the direction of Martha Cavaleri and Mary Eleanor Acuff. All the mothers are invited.

Linda Robinson will announce and Myrtle McWhorter will sing, accompanied by Helen Ledgerwood at the piano.

Senior Plans Completed By Directors

Banquet and Dance To Be At Cherokee Country Club May 26.

Final commencement plans have been completed and the speeches have been selected. "Mann made Education, Commemorating the Ideas and Ideals of Horace Mann", is to be the general theme.

A short skit will be presented by the alternate speakers: Ben St. Clair, Rachel Patterson, Eula Pemberton, and Edward Mitchell. Then the main speakers will give their vitalized speeches. The speakers and their topics are: "Ideals of Horace Mann", Margaret Betty Gillespie; "Portraits of Horace Mann", Kyle Shown; "Changing Horizons in America", Gertrude Meyer; and "Future Frontiers in Progress", Marvin Kreiger.

DOOM FOR THE MOTORCYCLE COP

A 36 page booklet entitled "We Drivers" was issued to every student in K. H. S. recently. The little book is intended as a series of brief discussions on driving, dedicated to the safety, comfort, and pleasure of the motoring public. It is a gift from the General Motors Company.

In naming the different causes for automobile accidents, the writer of the book, continually refers to speeding as the outstanding cause of so many fatalities.

On page 10 there is a chart which illustrates the distance required for stopping at various speeds. It shows that at 20 miles an hour you travel 52 feet before you can stop after seeing an obstruction, at 30 miles an hour 100 feet are required to stop in, at 40 miles an hour 164 feet are traveled before stopping. IF YOU ARE TRAVELING 50 MILES AN HOUR 243 FEET ARE REQUIRED, says the writer.

From these figures and from other statements of the author we conclude that speed is detrimental to auto safety.

It will be noted, however, that the General Motor Company, the publishers of the little booklet, manufacture cars which will travel at from 80 to 120 MILES AN HOUR. They advertise their cars as having plenty of power.

It seems rather ridiculous to admit that we know speed is the cause of so many horrible deaths, and still allow auto manufacturers to produce cars which will attain such dangerous speeds.

Of course emergency vehicles would have to be made to run at high speed, but as long as speed is the outstanding cause for the dreadful casualty record in automobile driving, and speeding is against the law of practically every city, we see no reason why automobile manufacturers build cars which will exceed the SPEED OF 50 MILES PER HOUR.

A-HIKING THEY WILL GO

Spring has definitely arrived. (We hope.) The outdoors are alive with the beauties of nature. To allow this beauty, which is only present in springtime, to leave without personally going back into the hills to admire it, would be a sinful waste.

In connection with the beauty and opportunities for a good time in the great outdoors offered by spring we are reminded of our Junior Smoky Mountain Hiking club.

This newly formed K. H. S. organization not only gives the young nature lovers a chance to go as a supervised group and see the beauties of spring, but also an opportunity to see the particular loveliness which is present with every season of the year.

There are more hobbies which coordinate with the activities of the junior hiking club than practically any other single organization we can recall. The other hobbies which go hand in hand with hiking are surely obvious to the reader. Think them over: Photography, insect collecting, geology, bird study, weather condition study, and many others.

We feel that the hiking club is one of K. H. S.'s most promising clubs. Luck to you hikers and nature lovers!

Trilly Says--

By Trilly the Trilobite

Well, to start off the social calendar for last week-end, I'll start with Friday night. Of the two dances given, the MILITARY BALL at U. T. and the Hi-Y at Holston Hills, I don't know which was the better. As it happens, the high school crowd rated both. But you should have seen MURIEL CLARK (the lucky gal, she was in the grand march and to top it all, with BOB MATTHEWS, the idol of all girls) at the MILITARY BALL. Also in the grand march was EDWINE POWERS, and did she look swell! Others at the dance were, MARY FRIERSON with MARSHALL PRIEST, and GARRETT PARKER with DOT GREEN. (My, GARRETT, what's happened to TUBBY?)

Although quite a few high school students went to the MILITARY BALL, nevertheless there was a swell crowd at the Hi-Y dance. Among the swingsters were, BEVERLY FISCHER with GEORGE COILE; JANE ADAMS with CLEM WILKES; JUNIE OSBORNE with WESTON HYDE; and MARGARET MOORE with FRED FORD.

Saturday the SIGMA NU's gave a dance at the Cherokee Country club. Quite a few of the good old crowd was there. MARGARET PORTWOOD with "BRICK" HUMPHREYS; JULIA EARLY with "BLONDIE" ROBINSON; and B. J. MORRISON with BEN YOUNG.

Sunday night the TNT's gave an old-fashioned box supper. B. J. MORRISON and INEZ CLAYTON auctioned off the boxes. In the crowd I saw SUSAN BUCHANAN with JAY BOLIN; MARGARET BETTY GILLESPIE with WESTON HYDE; and PATSY CURTIS with FREED JOHNS.

The Thirteen club gave a dance last night featuring Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra. Many Knoxville high girls were there. In the crowd I saw BETTY CHAMBERS with MARSHALL PRIEST; TUBBY WORD with JOE MARKS; and HELEN HUTCHISON with FRED MORRIS.

NETMEN WIN

Trojans Trounce Morristown 6-1—Outstanding Schedule With Teams Arranged.

Knoxville high's flying swimming team handed McCallie of Chattanooga a 49-26 lacing Tuesday afternoon in the Lookout city. The Trojans were paced by W. J. Bolin, senior and letterman, who captured two first places for a total of ten points.

Other members that contributed to the victory were John Crews, Alex Curtis, Tom Crews, Herman Silva, and Irvin Howell. The Trojan tanksters captured seven first places, four seconds, and one third place and proved themselves to be by far one of the finest high school tank teams in the state and the best that has represented Knoxville high.

Coach Sam Jones is trying hard to arrange meets with other schools of the state on a home basis and in the meantime the tankmen are working out daily at the Y.

Knoxville high school's Trojan netmen started the 1937 season by trouncing Morristown high, 6-1, in a crushing display of power by the victors. The only match lost by the Trojans was a single match by Len Broughton to Ed Hill, playing the No. 1 position for the Roosters, but was extended to three sets.

Captain Jack Rodgers, John Clark, Arthur Lyon, and Ed Spencer turned in sparkling victories and Rodgers-Clark and Broughton-Lyon turned in victories in the double matches.

After the match with Kingsport tomorrow the rest of the schedule is as follows:

May 4—U. T. Freshmen, here.
May 7—Johnson City, there.
May 8—Kingsport, there.
May 10—U. T. Freshmen, here.
May 11—Morristown, here.

May 15—Baylor, there.

Baseball And Tennis Tips Valuable To Young Athletes

By Fred Owens

Managers of championship baseball teams tell young baseball pitchers to learn freak deliveries used by major league pitchers. Among them are the slider (a ball that seems to slide horizontally away from the plate), a "raise ball (a ball that curves upward), a fade-away (a slow ball that seems to fade from the plate), and screw ball (a pitch that curves opposite from the way you expect it to).

Fred Owens

Yet few major league pitchers use these freak deliveries. Ask any good pitcher what he needs to succeed on the mound, and he'll tell you: a fast ball, a slow ball, and a curve. These, and control.

The curve may be the usual outcurve or one of the specialties named in the first paragraph. The pitcher mixes up his slow and fast balls to upset the timing of the batter and delivers them with the same preliminary motions.

Control he must have so he can put the ball high, low, inside or outside, and not over the center of the plate, waist high. Many great pitchers, like Bob Grove or Dizzy Dean, by changing pace and cutting the corners, have won games without throwing more than a half dozen curves in an entire nine inning game.

Any manager will tell young mound aspirants to learn control and aim for the corners.

TENNIS

William Tilden, as well as many other champions, has been asked many times the question: What does spin do to the ball? All sportsmen are interested in the spin and curve of the ball. Baseball pitchers and billiard players depend upon speed and spin for their effectiveness. In tennis, spin also plays an important part. There is the top spin, which is like a pitcher's drop, and causes the ball through the air. Remember that for the same amount of effort the more spin the ball carries the less speed the shot has but possibly better control. Top spin is made by the racquet traveling into and over the ball as it strikes it. Back spin, or cut, by the racquet traveling into in under the ball in the stroke.

Back spin is defensive. If you want time to recover position, use back spin to slow up your stroke and give you time to recover. If your opponent comes to the net and you want to bring the ball down at his feet, quickly use top spin. The lift shot, or "loop lob", which is exaggerated top spin, hits and bounds high, while the chop stroke, or back spin, skids and bounds low.

Many tennis fans do not see the art and skill displayed in tennis. Those wishing to enjoy and become more interested in this great pastime should learn the finer points of the game.

SPORT SLANTS

Congratulations to Bob Alley and Willis Tucker for first places registered in the track meet at Chattanooga last Saturday. Also to John Adams and Clarence Joslin for their fine performances. . . . What would Knoxville baseball fans give for a few reliable twirlers. Several years ago when Knoxville had such twirlers as Bob "Lefty" Logan, now with the Detroit Tigers, and Bill Thomas, of the New Orleans Pelicans, not a hitter was in sight. Now reverse conditions exist, plenty of hitting but no pitching. . . . Here's wishing the Trojans best of luck tonight in the East Tennessee track meet. They have been established the favorites along with Kingsport high school.

K. H. S. FAVORITES

Trojans Established Favorites Along With the Defending Kingsport Champions.

Knoxville high school's Trojans will enter the East Tennessee regional high school track meet scheduled for this afternoon and night established as the favorites. The meet will be held in the Roosevelt stadium in Johnson City and will mark the first time in history that the meet has been held at night.

The preliminary events will be held in the afternoon and the championship events are scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. The drawings for heats and lanes, also to be held at Roosevelt stadium, will begin at three and seven o'clock.

Winners of first, second and third places are to be awarded medals and the fourth place winners will receive ribbons.

Teams expected to enter are Knoxville, Kingsport, Tazewell, Powell Valley, Greenville, Elizabethton, Erwin, Morristown, and Boone's Creek. Kingsport, the defending champions and Knoxville, are favorites due to their strength in the field events. Johnson City is the dark horse entry in the meet because of their strength in the hurdles and dashes.

The quarter mile cinder track at the stadium has been put into excellent condition by workmen in the past week and one of the fastest track meets in history is in store for the many spectators expected for the battle between the outstanding high schools of Eastern Tennessee.

Society and Clubs

By MARGARET PORTWOOD

PATRICIA Whitmore, former editor of Society and Clubs column, is now attending Chattanooga high school. Below is an excerpt from a column "Who's Who at City" in a Chattanooga paper.

"Adaptability, leadership and cooperation are the qualities possessed by Patricia Whitmore which have enabled her to become an active and popular member of the senior class. Even though she has attended Chattanooga high school only one semester, she ranks with Ralph Kaset in first position on the senior scholastic roll and has recently been elected into the National Honor Society. During her short stay at City she has participated in and led many important activities.

Recently a letter was received from Knoxville high school commending Patricia highly and telling of the various activities in which she had participated while attending their school. She was associated with the leading scholastic and social organizations and was an excellent worker on the school paper, besides having made all A's in her scholastic work.

KHS Students Return From Trip To Capitol

Representatives of the children of the American Revolution, which is affiliated with the Daughters of the American Revolution, returned Sunday after a trip to Washington. Margaret Portwood and Gene Patton, both from K. H. S., Marilyn Lowery, alumnus of K. H. S., and Mary Louise Kupfer of Catholic high school, represented Knoxville.

All but Margaret, who went via train, drove up with Gene's mother, Mrs. E. E. Patton. They left Saturday, April 17 and were guests of friends of Mrs. Patton during their stay in Washington.

Margaret stated that the first days there they saw the usual things, the capital, Lincoln Memorial, Congressional Library, and the House in session. When asked what she thought about the House, she said, "I wonder how the laws of so great a nation could be made by such a disorderly body."

The group was very much impressed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation which is J. Edgar Hoover's headquarters.

Mrs. Roosevelt received the C. A. R.'s at a tea. Margaret stated that they were impressed mostly by her bright and gracious manner.

The C. A. R. gave a ball at the Washington club. Margaret danced a solo for their entertainment. She was also asked to dance for the D. A. R. ball but other arrangements made it impossible.

A special service at Christ Church was held in Alexandria. Gene Patton was the color-bearer. From there they went to the old Presbyterian meeting house where members of the C. A. R. placed wreaths on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the Revolution. From the meeting house the group went to Mount Vernon, where Gene carried the flag to the top of the hill. Wreaths were also placed on George and Martha Washington's tomb. The trip was especially valuable to the representatives in an educational sense as well as the real enjoyment they got out of going.
