Vote Howard, Tipton To 12A Council Jobs

Student Body Elects Brogden, Woodward, Coulter, Pelton For 12B Posts.

FEW 11B CANDIDATES

Senior Election Final—Second Elimination For All Other Classes.

Joe Howard and Charlotte Tipton were elected in the primary Wednesday, May 5, to represent the senior class in the K. H. S. Student Council during the fall term. Irene Brogden, Mary Woodward, David Coulter, and Stewart Pelton were chosen from the 11A class.

Because of the few candidates in the 11B class only one boy and girl, James Warwick and Stella Tipton, were elected.

The chosen candidates of the 10A class are Charles Easely, Frank Seaton, Marjorie Freels, and Jane Hamilton.

Bill Hodges, Virginia Bibb, and Rachael Faulknew were elected from the 10B class.

The election for the senior positions on the council is final. There will be a second elimination for the other classes.

Weekly Chapels Devoted To Music

In celebration of National Music Week both chapels this week were devoted to the music department.

Paul G. Mendelssohn, violinist, played in lower class chapel Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. May Holliday. The Glee club also sang several numbers.

A string trio composed of Mrs. Ora Kibby, celloist, Mrs. May Holliday, pianist, and Paul Mendelssohn, violinist, played Thursday in upper class chapel. Further music was furnished by the senior chorus.

Thespians Will Have Banquet At Regas

Twenty-two students have been invited by the Thespians to become members of the society at their semi-annual banquet next Monday night at 6:30. It will be held at Regas Brothers Cafe on Gay street.

Pupils who are qualified for membership are Sarah F. Colvin, George Akridge, Joel Whitten, John Burkhart, Charles Walrath, Jack Saylor, Charles Matthews, Ed Story, Rebekah Brown, Alix Smith, Betty Sisk, Muriel McDermott, Linda Robinson, Nell Hall, Beverly Fischer, Gaines Stuart, Ann Wray, Irene Cates, Marianna Allen, Ed Manning, Nadine Wilson, and Don Iddins.

Each of these who desire to become members will go through the formal initiation and then will be required to give a skit. Other parts of the program will include singing, the farewell speeches by senior Thespians, the reading of the prophecy of graduating members, and the election of officers. There will also be a summary of the dramatic activities in K. H. S. the past school year.

Girls Model Latest Fashions At Style Show

Creations Sold by Leading Knoxville Department Stores Shown.

At a special chapel Wednesday morning, May 5, all K. H. S. girls witnessed a style show, with senior girls modeling dresses from leading Knoxville department stores.

The idea of a garden wedding was carried out with all the necessities except the men. Girls modeling evening dresses acted as those who came to see the wedding in which Mary Eleanor Acuff played the part of the bride. She wore a white gown with a white picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of flowers.

Martha Cavaleri was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Beverly Fischer, Elizabeth Chambers, Louise Galloway, Betty Chambers, Julia Early, and Beverly Baer.

The guests were Noreene Powers, Mildred Hillard, Virginia Ingram, Helen Warwick, Ollie Mae Thompson, Mary Frierson, Louise Featherston, Rachel Patterson, Ag-

'Elmer' Wins First Place In Contest

Presenting a popular comedy, "Elmer", the Junior Forum took first place in the second annual intra-mural one-act play contest held in the K. H. S. auditorium Wednesday night. Second place was awarded the sophomore Girl Reserves for their presentation of "Little Black Heliotrope".

In the winning cast were Paul McCammon, Margaret Sanders, Ruth Morris, Jennie Chandler, Harriet Bolinger, Lillian Hampton, Edna Hendrix, and Joe Phillips. Evelyn Bunch aided W. W. Frost in the production.

Other plays entered were "And the Doctor Says" by the junior Girl Reserves, and "Kangaroo Court at the Girls' Camp" by the senior Girl Reserves.

The judges, Ben Houston of Youngs high, Miss Helen Brixon of Park Jr., and Mrs. Jonnie Ross of K. H. S., also chose an all-school cast. On the cast were Nadine Wilson from "And the Doctor Says"; Rebekah Brown and Caroline Huber from "Little Black Heliotrope"; Paul McCammon and Margaret Sanders from "Elmer".

The contest is sponsored each spring by the Thespians. Last year's winner was the Junior Hi-Y club.

MISS COMMERCIAL

RUTH KIRBY,
chosen as the most efficient and popular girl in the Commercial department.

ELECT RUTH KIRBY FOR HONOR

Ruth Kirby was elected "Miss Commercial 1937" Wednesday, May 5. Six girls were eligible for the honor. Only commercial students voted.

Ruth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kirby, 1725 Foresdale avenue. She is a member of the National Honor society, former president of the commercial club, literary editor of the Steno-Chat, and typist for the Blue & White.

The girls' eligibility was based principally on scholarship, efficiency, neatness, secretarial ability, and character, the qualities which go to make up the representative business girl of today.

The other candidates were Muriel Stansberry, who was second in the election, Margaret Horner, Helen Pate, Bessie Wright, and Mary Frances Hogan.

GIRLS MUST DIG DOWN—AFFAIRS WILL BE 'DUTCH'

Believe it or not, the "fems" are actually going to have to dig down and pay for their own "grub" and "trucking space" for once.

The 12A class directors have ruled that each student going to the senior class banquet and dance will buy their own ticket. (Yes girls, this means you too!) No humming and hawing, please! It has been definitely decided that the affairs will be "dutch".

You boys who have been holding out can go ahead and get you dates now. You will only have to pay for your own accommodations.

The Wisecrackers Are At It Again; Help Them And Win Theatre Tickets

The Blue and White banquet is still two weeks off, but Gaines Stuart and Ed Mitchell are already preparing to resume their traditional joke-cracking feud.

Those who have ever attended any of the recent social functions will be familiar with the manner in which this half-witted business manager and editor carry on.

At practically every Blue and White banquet Mitchell acts as toastmaster, and Stuart sits at the opposite end of the table from him. From the minute after the blessing is given until the guest get up to leave, these two use every device, wisecrack, and joke they know to ridicule each other.

The editor usually has the advantage on the business manager, as he is able to get in a word at the end of each portion of the program and call on Stuart to fire back only when he chooses. Often Stuart becomes so enraged at one of Mitchell's cracks he just bawls out in the middle of it all.

Those who attend this year's affair are certainly in line for a heavy blast from both sides. Both already have their noses buried in such magazines as Esquire, 1000 New Jokes, etc., trying to run across some yarn to spill on the other at the banquet.

Both of the joke-cracking veterans are still contemplating on whether they will toe a date to the blow-out. You see, if you have a date along you are left wide open for many extra jabs.

Gaines and Ed admit that their

B&W Wins Prize At Press Meet Held Last Week

Paper Given First Place by Mississippi Valley Press Convention Officials.

Bearing the news that the Blue and White is the South's best high school paper, two K. H. S. delegates returned Sunday night from Memphis, where they attended the fourth annual press convention for Mississippi Valley high schools.

The convention was held on the Southwestern College campus, and was officially opened Thursday morning with a luncheon address by John M. Alden, president of the convention.

The two Knoxville delegates, Gertrude Meyer and Thelma McGhee, attended open discussions of newspaper problems and heard talks on various newspaper subjects by outstanding Memphis journalists.

After a banquet Thursday night they were taken through the large building that is the home of the Commercial Appeal, Memphis' morning paper.

They later attended a dance given in honor of the delegates by the Southwestern student council. The dance was held at one of the several sorority lodges located on the campus.

The convention closed with a luncheon Friday, at which time winning papers were announced. The Blue and White delegates were given a five dollar check and certificate of excellence for having the best paper in class A. First and second places were also awarded in three other classes. The judging committee, composed of Memphis newspapermen, termed the Blue and White as being "the most attractive paper".

David Hill, a delegate from Corinth, Mississippi was chosen from the approximately one hundred high school journalists from five states to be president of next year's convention.

This year's convention was arranged by Lauren Watson, editor of the Southwestern and his staff. Professor A. S. McIlwaine was general chairman. The student service club took charge of the delegates and arranged their lodging and transportation.

'Bridal Chorus' Cast Is Pleased With Play

Rehearsals for "Bridal Chorus", the senior class play, are progressing steadily, according to O. E. Sams, director. It is to be ready for production on the night of May 27, at 8 o'clock.

Several members of the cast have expressed their opinions of the play and according to these opinions, "Bridal Chorus" should be a very successful event.

Betty Jane Morrison says, "It's a swell play, even if Mr. Sams doesn't like the word swell."

John Roberts says, "I think 'Bridal Chorus' is a very good play and everybody will enjoy it."

Thelma McGhee says, "It's a clever comedy, and I think that the senior class won't be disappointed."

Bob Walker says, "A fine play."

Others in the cast say that they think the number of characters is well proportioned for a high school production, and that it is funny and entertaining.

One remark about "Bridal Chorus" isn't exactly clear. It comes from Gaines Stuart who says, "It's the best play I have ever been in—and the first one."

King Resigns Post As ROTC Is Rated High

BATTALION RATED 91.7%

Official Letter of Honor Rating Follows Inspection by Major Chastain.

Following the resignation of Cadet Major Bill King, several new appointments were made by Major John S. Moore, P. M. S. & T. The appointments were effective Wednesday.

Cadet Capt. and Adj. Charles Trentham was promoted to Cadet Major. First Lt. Ed Anderson was promoted to Captain and Adjutant. Ben St. Clair, formerly first Sergeant in Company C, was promoted to first Lieutenant on the staff.

Official announcement from the fourth corp area headquarters early this week announced that the Knoxville high school R. O. T. C. battalion remains on the honor school list together with twenty-eight high schools in eight states of the corp area. Thirty-nine schools were inspected.

The rating given by the inspector was 91.7 per cent.

"This means little of itself as each unit was inspected by a different officer," stated Major John S. Moore, P. M. S. & T.

Major Chastain who inspected the K. H. S. unit several weeks ago stated that the battalion was head and sholders above others he had inspected.

Maher Competing In National Meet

Stuart Maher, 12A student, is competing in the National Forensic League in Jacksonville, Illinois this week.

This is a national contest. Only the first and second place winners in the forty-eight states Big Six contests are entitled to compete. Items in the contest are original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, debate, humorous reading, declamation, and dramatic reading.

The finals of the contest will be broadcast over the NBC network Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

A TEST OF LAW AND ORDER

It's only a matter of days now until the state legislature will decide whether or not liquor will be legalized in the state of Tennessee.

Naturally the eyes of high school students all over the state will be turned to the outcome of this vital situation. It is the type of situation which usually occurs only once in the average lifetime. Deciding whether alcholic beverages will or will not be openly sold is a serious matter, when the effect of alchol on the human mind and body is considered.

Those in favor of legalizing liquor in the state use as their argument the same argument which politicians used several years ago when the United States government made the famous repeal of the 18th Ammendment. This argument was primarily that the United States could not enforce the law so it might as well be repealed and save the expense of trying.

Does it not seem ridiculous for a nation which has been victorious in every international conflict she has entered to be unable to enforce one of her own laws in spite of her army, navy and police forces?

What will be the impression left on the minds of tomorrow's citizens if this law is repealed on the grounds of such an argument? It must be remembered that the manner in which this delicate situation is handled by the lawmakers will have specific bearing on whether many young people develop the drinking habit.

Many will prefer to believe that it will not, but there is no getting around the fact that a young person will be influenced by the way in which his elders regard the subject.

Many wets also contend that there will be added revenue of thousands of dollars collected if liquor is legalized.

IF LEGAL LIQUOR IS WRONG IT IS WRONG, IN SPITE OF THE AMOUNT OF REVENUE IT CAN BRING! SINCE WHEN HAS IT BECOME THE AMERICAN PRINCIPLE TO PLACE DOLLARS BEFORE MORALS?

Practically everyone admits that liquor is dangerous and harmful to all concerned. Then, trivial excuses such as "We can't enforce the law", or "it brings more revenue" are exceedingly childish to be placed before the American people.

People constantly referring to this "can't enforce it" idea will remember that where authority can not enforce the law there exists an anarchy!

If Tennessee can't defeat a crowd of bootleggers and racketeers, we had best call it quits and write over to England for advice. (England has a reputation for being able to enforce her laws). Other states which have been stepped on by the bootlegger can take the same advice.

If the citizens of Tennessee are such "sots" that they must have liquor to comfortably live, then in the name of law and order, let's take about two years off and make Tennessee as a dog biscuit for once, just to show the bootlegger he can be defeated, and to show young Tennesseans that we are still able to enforce our own laws.

There is still hope for youths' learning to respect the law, if the authority can show its power to enforce it.

Only after liquor and racketeers have been defeated, can we with a clean slate and a feeling of satisfaction, make it legal.

THE RULE OF LIFE

Some say, "Life is but a bowl of cherries". Some of us don't seem to be getting many cherries out of the bowl, however.

"Life is but a bowl of raspberries" might be a more applicable phrase, we think. Most of us usually get plenty of raspberries.

The Carnicus at U-T drew a large crowd. I saw a lot of high school students between the acts and a lot more at the dance. Among the dancers I saw HELEN HUTCHISON, ESTHER YOUNG, and MARGARET PORTWOOD.

The annual Bowery ball given by the S. A. E.'s, and Sigma Nu's last Saturday night was a howling success. No one could dance for laughing at the many curious costumes that were worn. I must say that BETTY CHAMBERS really took the cake for being the cutest dressed of any high school girls there. But I mustn't give all the praise to BETTY, though, JULIA EARLY looked darling in Chinese Pajamas, MARY FRIERSON was a scream in that tight skirt,B. J. MORRISON wore a peasant costume and DOT CATES, that darling A Company's last term sponsor,who simply slayed the crowd in her tight skirt and sweater. Among the boys, I saw HARRY ELMORE who was dressed as a sailor (not excluding the tattoo marks), JACK DODGERS looked perfectly entrancing as an old fashioned beau, as did ALVIN SMITH (you'd never have recognized him) WESTON HYDE and GAINES STUART.

The Zeta Tau Alpha sorority gave a luncheon Saturday at the new Highland Grill on Kingston Pike for the pledges and rushees. Among the high school girls I saw BEVERLY FISCHER, MARGARET BETTY GILLESPIE, MARY ELEANOR ACUFF, ELAINE MAUNEY, and RUTH LONG.

By Barbara Rule

"Men Are Like Street-cars," is the title of a book, and such as the case may be—but here is one where you might say "Women Are Like Engines". This essay will explain what I mean. An engine is called a "she" and here is the analogy.

Barbara Rule

A "she" (female) wears a jacket with yokes, pins, hangers, straps, shields, and stays. They have aprons and laps. They have not only shoes but pumps. Hose, too, and drag a train (psgr. and freight) behind; (behind times, and all the time) they attract men with puffs and mufflers and when the draft is too strong the petticoat goes up. This also attracts. Sometimes they foam and refuse to work, when at such times they should be switched. They need guiding—it always requires a manager (Man). They require a man to feed them. When abuse is given they quickly make a scrap.

They are steadier when coupled but are 'way too much expensive. Is this not enough reason for why a woman is like an engine?

—o—

"Uncle Louis", said little Eleanor, "do you know that a baby that was fed on elephant's milk gained 20 pounds in a few weeks?"

"Nonsense! Impossible!" exclaimed Uncle Louis, "Whose baby was it?"

—"The elephant's baby." remarked little Eleanor.

Two high school girls were overheard talking on the street corner the other day. The first one said: "Tom tried to kiss me last night and I wouldn't let him".

"Did you make him mad?" asked her companion.

"I should say so. He said he wished he had called on you."

Combined High School - College Meet Tomorrow

Finest Teams In State Vie For State Honors In U-T Invitation Meet.

INDIANS FAVORED

Kingsport Again High School Favorite—Many Colleges Bid for Crown.

The most elaborate track meet ever held in Knoxville is in store for local track followers Saturday afternoon when the outstanding high schools and colleges of Tennessee tangle in the University of Tennessee's invitation meet for the state championships at Shields-Watkins field, starting at 1:30.

Defenders in the two classes are the Kingsport Indians and the University of Tennessee. The Indians captured the high school meet here last year while the Volunteers won the coveted collegiate title in the meet held at Sewanee University last May.

The number of entries are not yet known but at least twenty-five schools are expected to be on hand, bringing the greatest number of competition that Knoxville cinder fans will have the opportunity of seeing this season.

Kingsport, due to their impressive showing in the regional meet last week in Johnson City, and Tennessee, have been established as the favorites. Other schools favored to make impressive showings are Knoxville high, Nashville Central, Memphis Central, and Johnson City among the high schools with Hiwassee, University of Chattanooga, Maryville, and Milligan expected to make the collegiate meet thrilling and exciting.

The events will start promptly at 1:30 with the arrangement being alternately. First, the high school event will be run, followed by the same event among the colleges. The high school meet last year was very successful and both high schools and colleges are expected to be even more successful this year.

SPORT DOPE

What Will Happen To Today's Amateurs And Professionals?

By Fred Owens

Where will they be ten years from today? In speaking of they we are refering to the many headliners in today's world of sports. Year in and year out this very important question arises among the millions of sport followers. Where will they be, what will they be doing, and why? Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio of the champion New York Yankees; Dizzy Dean of the fighting St. Louis Cardinal Gas House Gange; Bob Feller, pitching sensation of the century with the Cleveland Indians; Joe Louis, feared demon of the great American boxing game and Larry Kelley, All-America football player of Yale, what will they be doing ten years from now? What will be their life occupation? Will they be successful or a complete failure?

Fred Owens

The same goes for the many outstanding Knoxville high school athletes of today. What will happen to Big Bill Luttrell, probably the outstanding athlete in Knoxville high sports today and one of the finest young men that has ever worn the Blue and White; Bert "Puss" Hodge, captain and outstanding basketball star; Bob Johnson and Len Broughton, probably the finest scholars among the Trojan lettermen? What will be their adventure in life and will they stick to sports in college or will they give the time to their studies?

Of one thing we are sure. The boys that take knocks of sports today know the glory and joy of victory and the suddeness and disappointment of defeat. They will be more capable of taking the responsibilities of life in the order in which they come. In other words, using a sport slang of today, they will be able to take it.

SPORT HIGHLIGHTS

Although defeated in the East Tennessee high school track meet in Johnson City Friday night, Knoxville's Trojan tracksters captured second place and won four first places. First places were won by Willis Tucker in the hurdles; Clarence Joslin in the mile event; Johnny Adams in the 440; and Doug Mason in the half-mile event. . . . . Congratulations! . . . . . The largest crowd in minor league history, 31,234 paid admissions, witnessed the Rochester-Jersey City opener in Roosevelt Stadium, Jersey City, April 23. The record-breaking crowd, which filled the spacious grandstand and overflowed onto the field, behind the fence in the outfield, saw a protracted struggle, which required twelve innings of play with Rochester winning 4-3. . . . Frank Isbell, former White Sox star, has started a move to bring Babe Ruth back to the great national past-time as a manager. Nobody can say that Babe ever failed in the pinch. His spirit and instinct would carry him to equal heights as a manager. . . . . "Tiny" Chaplin, former Nashville star who had a fling in the majors with the Boston Bees, has registered four wins out in the Pacific Coast league with San Diego against no defeats. . . . Like Joe, like Vince, like Dominic! The third of the DiMaggio brothers, who at eighteen is playing in the outfield for the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast league. Dominic's hitting can be much improved, but he is the fielding sensation of the league.

Nic Knoph is going to study to be an Attorney General. Could Virginia Bibb have anything to do with it?

Students Will Give Opinions Over Air Today

Poll of Opinion On—Senior Activities and Costs To Be Conducted.

The social science second period class will hold a poll of opinion of K. H. S. students for today's radio program. Questions will be asked and answered concerning the graduation activities of seniors at our high school. The question will be about expenses, cap and gowns, the banquet and dance, the Baccalaureate, and other such exercises.

Ed Mitchell, Gaines Stuart, Beveraly Fischer, Julia Freels, and Charles Sprankle will participate.

Other radio programs this week were conducted by the English, home economics, and social science departments.

Miss Isabel Butler, of the English department, directed Monday's program in which members of her classes took part.

Miss Guerrant Tatem's home economics class had charge of Wednesday's broadcast.

Trojans Battle Johnson City Netmen Today

Kingsport Indians Trounced 5-1 by Classy Knoxville High Racqueteers.

Knoxville high's undefeated racqueteers will journey to Johnson City this morning to face the strong Johnson City team this afternoon. They will stay over in Johnson City tonight and leave for Kingsport in the morning to repay the Indians visit to Knoxville last week.

Last Saturday morning on the University of Tennessee courts, the classy Trojans trounced the Kingsport Indians, 5-1. All the single matches were won with the lone defeat coming in a doubles match. Captain Jack Rodgers, John Clark, Len Broughton, Ed Spencer, and Arthur Lyons swept to victory in their single matches, and Broughton and Lyons were the victims of the heart-breaking doubles loss which needed three sets to decide the winners.

The scheduled match with the University of Tennessee freshmen was postponed Tuesday afternoon to Wednesday, but was then further postponed due to rain and the condition of the courts.

The team will leave for Johnson City this morning immediately after the first period.
