Crowther New Lt.Col. Of R.O.T.C.

Maerker, Major; Manning,
Stair, Wright, Shoemaker,
Company Captains.

BULLETIN!

With the officers appointments for the spring term of the R. O. T. C. only partially completed, Major John S. Moore issued commissions for the staff and also the company commanders.

K. D. Crowther, first sergeant of A company and twice a Morgan medal semi-finalist, was appointed the new Cadet Lt. Col. of the battalion.

John Maerker was selected as the new Cadet Major. Ray West, already a member of the staff, was commissioned as the Captain and Adjutant.

Ed Manning is the new captain of A company. Ralph Stair was made captain of B company.

Clay Wright, last year's semi-finalist in C company, is the new captain of that company.

Mike Shoemaker will be company commander of D company.

Bill Dykes, trumpet player, will head the R. O. T. C. band during the spring term.

Due to the time necessary to give careful consideration to every boy's record, the officials of the office of the P. M. S. & T. were not able to issue the other commissions.

Mrs. Becton Honor Guest At Banquet

With Mrs. Philip Becton as guest of honor, the Blue and White will hold its semi-annual banquet to-night at the S. and W. cafeteria at 6:45 p. m.

Wilfred Gillenwater, editor of the Blue and White, will be the toastmaster. The invocation will be given by Llewellyn Queener. George Carmack, editor of the Knoxville News-Sentinel, will be the guest speaker, and the student speaker will be Mary Ruth Bibb.

The editor and business will engage in an exchange of wisecracks.

Members of the board of education and wives, Dr. Harry Clark, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans, Guy Smith, managing editor of the Knoxville Journal, former editors and business managers of the Blue and White, faculty members of the publications council, and members of the newswriting class have been invited to attend.

DR. CLARK TALKS TO 12A CHAPEL GROUP

Senior Class chapel, the senior's own chapel, with Dr. Harry Clark, city school superintendent speaking, yesterday started the 1938A class into its series of commencement events.

After Hugh Piper, 1938A president, had presented a symbolic key to Townsend Trammell, 1938B president, Felicia Parker, vice-president of the graduating class, detailed its accomplishments.

Emily King, vice-president of the 1938B class, promised her class would be "the most progressive senior class to ever graduate from this progressive high school."

The class song, written by Lythia Boling and Helen Bales, was sung with Lythia leading and Helen at the piano.

Ed Story, Student Council president, presided.

They Head Senior Class

Pictured above are the directors of the senior class who have planned all the senior activities. Top, left to right: Wilfred Gillenwater, treasurer; Helen Chamberlain, secretary; center, Hugh Piper, president; bottom, Felicia Parker, vice-president; and Mack Blackburn, publicity director.

Queener, Adkins, Head Blue And White Staff

Fincannon To Be Associate Editor; Eleven New Members Added.

Llewellyn Queener and Margaret Adkins have been chosen to head the Blue and White next semester, announces E. A. Hancock, adviser. Llewellyn will be editor and Margaret, business manager.

Sam Fincannon has been appointed as associate editor. The new staff artist is Ethel Whittlesey. Mary Ruth Simpson will write "School Daze" and Martha Sanders will be in charge of personals.

New reporters graduating from the newswriting class are: Mary Nell Davis, Marjorie Freels, Eugene Fretz, Alma Jordan, Bernice Wells, Kathryn White, Mary Moore Hudson, and Walter Blaufeld.

Additions to the business staff include Emily Jane Shultz and Jack Rozzell. Elsie Hyde is to be a staff typist.

Seniors Hold Final Dance and Banquet

Graduates of the 1938A class will hold their banquet and dance, Thursday evening, January 20. Hugh Piper, president of the senior class, will act as toastmaster at the banquet which will be held at the S. and W. Cafeteria, at 6:30 p. m.

The Last Will and Testament will be read by Joel Whitten. Joel Anderson will give the Class prophecy in the form of a news broadcast.

George McKelvey will give the Invocation, after which the entire class will join in singing America. The banquet will close with the class song, written by Lythia Boling and Helen Bales.

Following the banquet, the dance will be held in the high school gymnasium. Dick Jones' Collegians will play.

Peep Into Future Shows Former KHS Seniors As 'Gone With The Wind' Cast, Fiddlers

Following is the official 1938A class prophecy written by J. B. Wrinkle with supplements by Louise Michaels, Ed Story, Nadine Wilson, and Frances Caldwell.

America Through a Keyhole
Walter Winchell speaking.

"Hello, Mr. and Miss North America and all ships at sea. Let's go to press—

The big news of the day comes to us from Hollywood, California, where the epic book of 1937, "Gone With the Wind," is still being produced. The latest actress rumored to play Scarlett O'Hara is the Broadway actress, Nadine Wilson, whose southern accent is authentic. In the other roles we find J. C.

Ragain as Rhett Butler, Frances Wylie as Melanie, and Henry Bowling as Ashley Wilkes.

Flash! Big time gangster Richard Millen has just been captured by G-Men Harold Shersky and Charles Minnich. Also picked up was his accomplice, Marie Byrd, who refuses to talk.

Mr. Herbert Turner, America's favorite crooner, has just been named as master of ceremonies at the new Limburger Music Hall. Music on the program is furnished by George McKelvey and his "Kit-Kats".

Since the destruction of China in 1938 by Jap war machines, Foreign secretary to China, "Pete" Piper, has been without a job. We have just learned that he has been detailed to join the Boy Scouts at Panama, where he has sold them on the idea of wearing Real-Silk uniforms.

Miss Esther Young, bare back rider of Joel Anderson's circus, has broken her engagement to America's foremost violinist, Mack Blackburn. Miss Young said he never had any time for her because he was all wrapped up in his fiddle.

We have just received a flash from Washington in regard to the president's plan for the U. S. this year. Although hindered by Supreme Court Justice, Elvin Bryant, President Wilfred Gillenwater plans to raise the gold standard. The President only last week eloped with the Secretary of War, Madam Charlotte Colby.

1938A Commencement To Be Held Next Week

Seniors Offer Yankee King Two Nights

Millen, Caldwell, Moore, Clayton, and Iddins Head
Cast of Fifteen.

Steadily improving rehearsals indicate a smooth performance of the senior class play, "Yankee King", to be given in the K. H. S. auditorium January 18 and 19.

Richard Millen's photograph as Pa Hinkle, carried in last week's Blue and White, is posted in the display windows of Comer's studio uptown and is creating quite an interest in the play.

The senior play is always considered one of the outstanding amateur theatrical productions presented in Knoxville, and due to its popularity, is always presented twice.

Nadine Wilson remarked concerning her part, "I play the part of the duchess who is backed up against the wall to be shot at any time. I also have designs on the throne." Ticket buyers are anxious to see whether or not she is killed.

Tickets can be bought from any member of the cast or from any member of the senior class for twenty-five cents.

Students who wish to sell tickets to the senior class play may get them from Ira Stineman. A free ticket will be given for every ten sold.

KHS Radio Work 'Much Improved'

"Radio programs from Knoxville high have improved one hundred per cent the past term," commented Claude Frazier, general manager of radio station WROL. "They are more compact, more interesting to the general radio public than before."

Selection of topics and programs have been under the management of S. B. Parker, faculty member in the mathematics department. Walter Gaines is the chief radio announcer, assisted by Townsend Trammell and Charles Kelly.

John Reese, program director of station WROL, also commented favorably on the improvement in programs.

Exercises To Be In Knoxville High School Auditorium January 21.

Commencement exercises for the 1938A graduates will be held at the Knoxville high school auditorium at 7:30 p. m., January 21. This year's commencement subject is "Forward With Tennessee".

"Filling Our Food Basket" will be the subject of Mack Blackburn's talk. Dorothy Barber will speak on "Discovering Our Human Resources". "Rebuilding Our State Machinery" will be discussed by Herman Silva, and Charlotte Colby has chosen "Using Our Material Wealth" for her subject.

Dr. H. E. Christenberry, president of board of education, will give the diplomas and Principal W. E. Evans will recognize the honor students.

Herbert Turner, Knoxville high school bass singer, will sing "Invictus" by Huhn.

The senior class directors, Hugh Piper, Felicia Parker, Wilfred Gillenwater, Helen Chamberlain, and Mack Blackburn, and class adviser, Elvin Bryant, arranged the commencement program.

Barbour Will Give Baccalaureate Talk

"Opening Doors to Larger Living", has been chosen as the baccalaureate sermon to be given by Dr. Clifford Barbour. The service will be held Sunday, January 16, at 7:30 p. m. at the Second Presbyterian Church, corner of Church and Walnut, where Dr. Barbour is pastor.

Baccalaureate speakers are chosen each year by the class directors. Graduates will wear their caps and gowns, as is the usual custom.

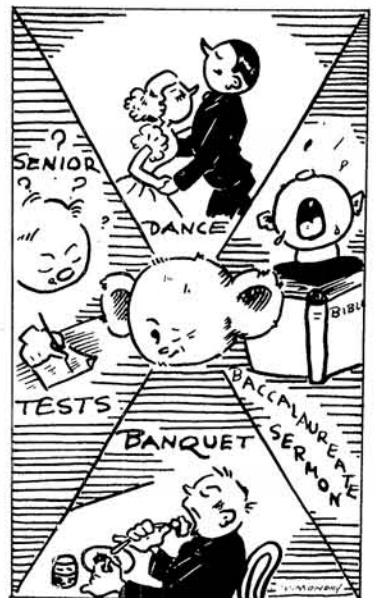

COMPANY C WINNER IN BATTALION RACE

By R. O. T. C. rating systems company C is the battalion's first place company for the term. It took the lead by winning the last monthly inspection of the term with a score of 94.94.

Other company ratings for the inspection were: company A, 93.68; company D, 93.63; company B, 92.71; and band, 89.05.

Company B has the best record for inspections of the term, having won all monthly inspections but two.

AN EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

At the close of the term it is only natural that we should extend our feeling of appreciation to those who have made the work on this paper pleasant and happy. The editor and the business manager of the Blue and White wish to say that the following were truly the kind of people anyone could wish to work with. After we have gone and probably are forgotten, these individuals will remain in our minds as only a pleasant memory can.

To those merchants who signed advertising contracts and to all our advertisers, we extend our hearty thanks.

To Eugene Street of the Tennessee theatre, who co-operated in every way in our subscription campaigns, our utmost appreciation.

To a fine staff who has done great work but who can do even better, all the luck in the world.

To the subscribers and the people who are charitable enough to read this column, thanks.

To the men at Keith Press we want to extend our thanks for their patience and for their help which will not be soon forgotten.

And last in order but first in importance, comes the paragraph which the adviser will attempt to cut but if he does, you won't read anyway. To the adviser, who has a fine sense of humor and a world of patience, we want to say it has been a privilege to work with him.

WHY CAPS AND GOWNS?

It has often been asked why a certain sum of money is always spent for the senior cap and gown. With so much expense for other graduation activities, why not spend that money for something more useful and go to commencement in street clothes just like to any other event.

We feel that the question is a logical one and should be answered.

The cap and gown are worn on two occasions: At the baccalaureate sermon and commencement. For a small sum, all members of the class, rich and poor, are placed on a basis of equality on those most important nights.

The cap and gown arrangement is one of the finest things a school can have (and all of them do). We feel that there is no possible criticism that can be made of it.

A FINE TALK

Scarcely five minutes after W. E. Evans had made his talk to the senior boys, the word spread around the school that it was one of the most constructive talks ever made at Knoxville high school.

Telling of the evils of alcohol, Mr. Evans left a very definite impression on the minds of his listeners—something which they will remember for a long time to come.

The principal showed that most social diseases are connected either directly or indirectly to alcohol.

May we have more talks like these in the future.

The Spectator

Who was it that gave "Biddie" Baldock that grand looking Elgin watch for Christmas?

Curtis Mills and Carrie Lou Sharp were seen getting on the street car last Tuesday night.

Though there seems to be no hard feelings between Joe Phillips and Paul Grissom, their feud over Dorothy Martin is rapidly drawing to a climax.

We wonder why Bill Wade is worrying about his dimples. All the girls are talking about him.

Iva Parsons seems rather blue now. Is it because that certain boy friend is in Kentucky?

Easter York sure is thrilled over her date for the Junior Girls Reserve dance, no wonder, it's Earl Clayton.

Who's the good-looking black headed boy named Glenn that Dot Lloyd talks about all the time? It seems she's got it bad.

What is this between Bill Hunt and Eleanor Shuey?

Who is it, Doug? Muriel or Margie?

Who is the girl who likes Wilfred Davis?

Bob O'Dell and Bernice Wells can always find something interesting to talk about between 8 and 8:15 every morning.

I wonder if Bob Bell will be as thrilled to see Jessie Spangler when he gets back to school as she will be to see him?

It's no good boys, Dorothy Pierce's heart is at U-T.

The old saying "opposites attract" must be true. For instance, look at Ruth Woods, a decided brunett, and Kyle Crowther, a blonde.

Why is it that Eugenia Duff has to follow Rex Cole to keep from getting lost on the hikes sponsored by the Hiking club.

Ruth Jett is the girl for Luther Stapleton. How are you doing, old boy?

So Don Iddins has gone sponsor crazy, too. Well, luck to you.

"How can he be replaced?" is the cry of junior girls and Mr. Hamilton, referring to Herbert Turner.

Nell Huskinson seems to be having trouble. Don't worry, Nelly, everything will come out all right.

Allen Bell and Patsy Curtis are still good friends.

IT'S ON THE SCREEN

By Gaynelle Simpson

Jeanette MacDonald ventures for the first time into musical comedy without the aid of Nelson Eddy and a definite fact is established:

G. Simpson

with a Napoleonic-Spanish background involving spy activities.

Miss MacDonald is seen in the role of a Madrid cafe singer who becomes a secret agent for Spain at the time of Napoleon's invasion. Jones, as a French officer who is Jeanette's rival in espionage, falls deeply in love with the singer and follows her to France. The lovers quarrel and separate but meet again when Spain throws off Napoleon's yoke and it ends happily for all concerned.

"The Firefly", beginning Wednesday at the Tennessee, will leave you with no definite impressions, but at any rate, it's genuinely good entertainment.

Due to the fact that there will be no editions of the paper for the next two weeks, we reach a week ahead and give you a short preview of a great picture, "Conquest".

"Conquest" cost M. G. M. $3,000,000 and it is worth it. A rich story combining history, pageantry and romance, teams together for the first time the magnificent Garbo and the brilliant Charles Boyer.

The story centers around Bonaparte's genuine and lasting love for a Polish countess named Marie Walenska, a great patriot.

Boyer as Napoleon, creates the most vivid portrait of a great man since Muni's "Zola", and Miss Garbo does a splendid piece of acting in the role of Marie. It is one of the better movies.

Allan Jones has been a coal mine laborer, steam shovel operator, choir boy, bank messenger, and opera singer at various stages of his career. . . . Greta Garbo in her latest film "Conquest", wears jewels worth $1,500,000 which were once owned by an empress.

The KHS Poll Of Opinion

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE ELIMINATION OF MID-TERM GRADUATION? WHEN WOULD YOU PREFER TO GRADUATE?

Nadine Wilson, 12A: "I think that the mid-term graduation is very essential since it would be inconvenient for those who are destined to graduate in January to wait three months, although it is immaterial to me which term I graduate."

Ed Smith, 12B: "I don't believe that the mid-term graduation should be eliminated because it would cause hundreds of practically waste a term."

Nick Knoph, 12A: "Why should we be penalized for being born in the spring instead of the fall? Of course I favor the mid-term graduation."

Margaret Moore, 12B: "I am certainly not in favor of eliminating our mid-term graduation. It would crowd the classrooms too much."

Edward Manning, 12B: "The elimination of the January graduation exercises would mean that three hundred or so young men and women would be turned out of Knoxville high school alone, all searching for jobs."

H. Economics Department Very Active

Every Phase of Housekeeping Covered by a Variety of Courses.

Proving itself to be one of the busiest departments of the school, the Home Economics department of K. H. S. closes another profitable term with a creditable record.

In this department the girls' hands have been busy marketing, preparing, and serving meals, canning fruit, packing delicacies, and making observatory field trips as only future housewives could. This has been accomplished in the foods classes.

The household economic classes studied another phase of home-making, that of housekeeping. After a thorough study of the essentials of homemaking, the girls took up housing and furnishings. Included in this were several field trips, one to one of the recently built houses in the city, and others to different furniture dealers, who displayed both modern and period furniture. Several representatives from downtown stores also visited the class and gave demonstrations and led discussions.

The Child Care classes took another phase of homemaking, caring for the family. After visits to several of the welfare organizations of the city, the girls played Santa Claus to the nursery school children. The classes filled two hundred and sixty stockings, which were distributed to nine nursery schools. They also furnished refreshments for the parties given the children.

The clothing classes have accomplished much, in that the girls have learned to make their own clothes. The girls have created street dresses, evening dresses, pajamas, and under garments.

Students in the applied design classes have knitted various garments, including: dresses, sweaters, skirts, and baby clothes. Some of the girls became so interested that they have decided to make a vocation of the study.

The Costume Designing classes have studied consumer education, and have had representatives from several stores to demonstrate cosmetics, gloves, hose, and shoes. The girls also made a short study of personality development, and clothing for types.

The accomplishments of the whole department were brought before the school's eyes in the annual Home Economics style show, which was given January 12 in a special girls' chapel. The idea carried out was consumer education. Clothes made by the girls in the Clothing and Applied Design classes were modeled. Points studied in the various classes were stressed cleverly.

Nell Hall states she's in love with the whole of A Company.

Wilfred Gillenwater who today edited the Blue and White for the last time. He will be toastmaster at the semi-annual banquet of the Blue and White, at the S. & W. tonight.

Science Club Visits Industrial Plants

Visits to important industrial plants of the city have been a feature of the Science Club the past three months. The arousing of interest in chemistry and physics in club members and in the school has been one of the main purposes and achievements of the organization throughout the semester.

The group, headed by Mike Shoemaker as president and J. C. Lowery as faculty adviser, meets twice a month on Tuesday afternoons in Mr. Lowery's room.

Several individual experiments are conducted each meeting in the laboratory by the club members. These experiments are selected in consideration of the members' interest and wants.

Trips were made during the term to several plants in town. Included among these were the Knoxville News-Sentinel, Post Sign Company and the Knoxville Gas Company's manufacturing plant. All of these concerns visited were in some manner concerned in several chemical processes.

"We have all hopes for even better programs during the next term," said president Mike Shoemaker.

Orchestra Plays At Many Events

"With the end of the semester at hand I can look back and say that this has been one of our most successful terms."

Thus stated Professor Fred De Robertis, director of the high school orchestra, in regard to this organization.

Along with an hour for practice every morning, the orchestra has many outside rehearsals. Practically every K. H. S. musician who played in the E. T. E. A. orchestra held first chairs.

Among the local civic clubs the orchestra has played for are: the Kiwanis club, and the Optomists' club. Park Junior high was entertained once, Tyson school twice, and Rule Junior once.

For the first time, a string ensemble has been organized. When soft music is desired, or when there are occasions when the whole orchestra is unable to play, the string ensemble is used. This includes all the violins, cellos and string bass, and sometimes flute and clarinet.

Officers for the term have been: George McKelvy, president; Mary Ruth Bibb, vice-president; Lillian Friedman, secretary; and Luther Stapleton, librarian.

February 1, the regular semi-annual concert will be given. Bill Dykes with his trumpet and Alice Jean Bounds at the piano will be featured.

In the spring the orchestra will go to Memphis where two more concerts will be given.

Elwood Powers and Joe Fritts are looking for dates for the Junior Girl Reserve dance. Two girls certainly will be lucky.

Group Work, Socials Fill Hi-Y's Term

Leaders Take Active Part in Alcoa Conference; Dances, Banquets, Given.

Under the leadership of John Crews, Tom Crews, and George Hines, the Hi-Y clubs of Knoxville high school, have ended another active year. W. J. Smyth, Elvin Bryant, and W. W. Frost, in the senior, junior, and sophomore clubs, respectively, and John A. Walker have represented the faculty.

The clubs as a group were well represented at the East Tennessee Older Boys' Conference, held in Alcoa, December 3, 4, and 5. There, John Crews, president of the Knoxville Senior Hi-Y, was elected first vice president of the conference. Elvin Bryant, the junior club faculty adviser, led one of the main discussions. John A. Walker, adviser at large to the three Knoxville high clubs, led the group discussions on social relationships.

Representatives from Knoxville gave intelligent views on the problems under discussion, according to the advisers and presidents.

During the term, the senior club gave for the members a best dates' banquet, and for the members and friends a dance in the school gym. These dances have become annual affairs.

The junior and sophomore clubs gave a combined best girls' banquet.

All three clubs combined for their final banquet which was held New Year's eve.

Bales, Boling '38A Class Song Chosen

Class song of 1938A was written and composed by Lythia Boling and Helen Bales. The song was selected by the regular committee.

The class song is sung in chapel on class day and at the senior class play gatherings and the senior class banquet.

The words of the song follow:

I
We're leaving the school that's dear to our hearts
Beginning a life that's new,
And beautiful memories that never depart;
Replace all our friends so true.

Chorus
Oh, Knoxville High, we're leaving you,
And memories so dear.
Three years we've spent together,
But parting time is near.
Our teachers have been faithful friends,
They've guided us aright.
So we may say adieu to you
Our School, the Blue and White.

II
The hours we've spent in work and in play,
Forever from us have passed;
But we've looked forward to reaching this day,
And now it has come at last.

Was Sam Hill looking for his heart at the Lost and Found?
After all, Mary Ruth Stone has stolen it.

CHILD CARE CLASS HALL FRAME SHOWS THOUGHT OF WEEK

Mother Goose rhymes and fairy tales have become a subject in K. H. S. That's a topic taken up by the Child Care classes which held a story hour last Thursday and Friday under the direction of Miss Lucy Goddard, for children between the ages of two and five.

But learning to tell stories in the proper manner isn't all the class does. In the past term the members have taken two field trips. The first was during the study of child welfare organizations in Knoxville to observe the routine of its pupils.

During the Christmas season, after repairing toys for underprivileged children, the classes attended several nursery schools and distributed the toys they had prepared.

Thoughtful students who have time to look from right to left as they rush through the corridors, have probably noticed the large frame hanging in the front hall. Each week this contains some helpful motto for the students.

The custom of presenting these worth-while sayings to the school was started when the P. T. A. some time ago purchased a set of the cards. Since that time, most of the graduating classes have added to the collection.

R. H. Coe was appointed chairman for the selection of these mottoes each week.

In the annual Christmas collection from the school, $32.15 was collected to furnish the treats for the children.

Senior Girls Reserves Help Needy.

Living up to a purpose of finding and giving the best, the senior Girl Reserves have finished a successful term, reports Miss Elizabeth Whaling, club adviser. The club strived to develop greater fellowship and higher standards of living among the girls by thoughts from visiting speakers and the inter-club council.

Many services to the community were rendered by the senior Girl Reserves during the term. Among these were the dressing of Christmas dolls and donating Thanksgiving baskets. Also, the club takes care of an underprivileged girl, furnishing her street-car fare and some of her food and clothing.

During the term, many social events were enjoyed by the members. First, in October, a hayride was held when the Girl Reserves went to Emily King's home in Topside. In November, a Big Apple party was held at the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium in the form of a barn warmin'.

A banquet was held at the S. & W. cafeteria during the Christmas holidays, at which Helen Moore, the president, served as toastmistress. Lastly, in January, the semi-annual senior Girl Reserve dance was celebrated.

The senior Girl Reserves have been under the leadership of the following officers: Helen Moore, president; Inez Clayton, vice-president; Alma Bolton, secretary; Charlotte Colby, treasurer; and Miss Elizabeth Whaling, adviser.

R.O.T.C. Ends Semester In Good Order

Company B Best in Battalion With Most Weekly Inspection Wins.

With the announcement of next semester's commissioned officers, the K. H. S. battalion will have practically ended its term's training.

The R. O. T. C. has followed its regular plan of instruction this year with satisfactory results according to the office of the P. M. S. & T. With the new ruling against mid-year enlistment, the instructors expect to develop a better battalion than usual for that unit's Honor School inspection.

Company B has been the outstanding organization this semester, being first in company ratings. The order is: Company B, Company C, Company D, and Company A. Company B has won every monthly inspection but one this term.

The battalion rifle team has been selected by elimination, as usual. Officers and members listed according to their standing are: James Smith, president; Townsend Trammell, vice-president; David Coulter, executive officer; James Bowman, secretary; Lambreth Phifer, treasurer; John Craig, Larry Partridge, Bernard Reid, Victor Klein, Wayne White, Ed Robbins, Kyle Dockery, Daugh Lothrop, Claude Phillips, F. W. Kuhlman, and Donald Freeman.

The Drill Team is another new K. H. S. organization brought out by the R. O. T. C. The platoon of selected cadets showed at several high school football games.

Early in the term Sergeant Emmet Adkins was added to the personnel of the R. O. T. C. The ion staff. This group is composed of Major John S. Moore, sergeant W. A. Pratt, and Sergeant Adkins.

Senior Play Closes Term's Drama Work

Various Units of Dramatic Department Terminate Active Semester.

Several outstanding dramatic performances have been given this term including the Junior class play, Joyland, the Thespian one-act play program, the Masquer's club plays, and the senior class play.

The Junior class play was the first presentation of the term on October 20 in the auditorium with leads taken by Elaine Steffenson, Ann Bradley, Rebekah Brown, Jack Caldwell, and Bill Browder. The play was a fast-moving comedy farce by Glenn Hughes called "Happy-Go-Lucky".

Thespians presented a one-act play program consisting of the three plays, "There's Always Tomorrow," directed by Eve Williams; "Another Beginning," directed by George McKelvey; and "Turkish Wine," written and directed by O. E. Sams, director of dramatics.

Joyland was presented this term in the school gym in the form of a circus. Winners were George Robinson, the "mechanical man" adjudged the best by the judges; and the Band stunt which received the most popular votes. Miss Isabel Butler assisted with the show. At this term's Masquers club meetings one act plays have made up the program. They were student written. Two of them were Eugenia Franklin's "The Human Touch" and Bill Browder's "Rehearsal".

The senior play, concluding the term's dramatic activities, was the "Yankee King". Leads were taken by Frances Caldwell and Richard Millen.

Hiking Club Goes On Many Treks

The Smoky Mountain Hiking club of Knoxville high, has just finished its first year of organization. Last year Miss Jessie Dempster of the K. H. S. faculty and some students, conceived the idea of such a club to resemble the famous Smoky Mountain Hiking club. The club had an enthusiastic membership and a great percentage of member participation in its activities. A definite program was mapped out by the advisers, Mr. W. G. Smyth and Miss Dempster.

The first scheduled trip was to Cove Mountain, on the edge of the national park and an easy hike for the beginners. With the approach of the next trip to Mount Kephart, there came several new members. Snow, fog, rain, gave the members interesting experiences as the hikers became veterans.

A program of hikes was carried out through June, July, and August.

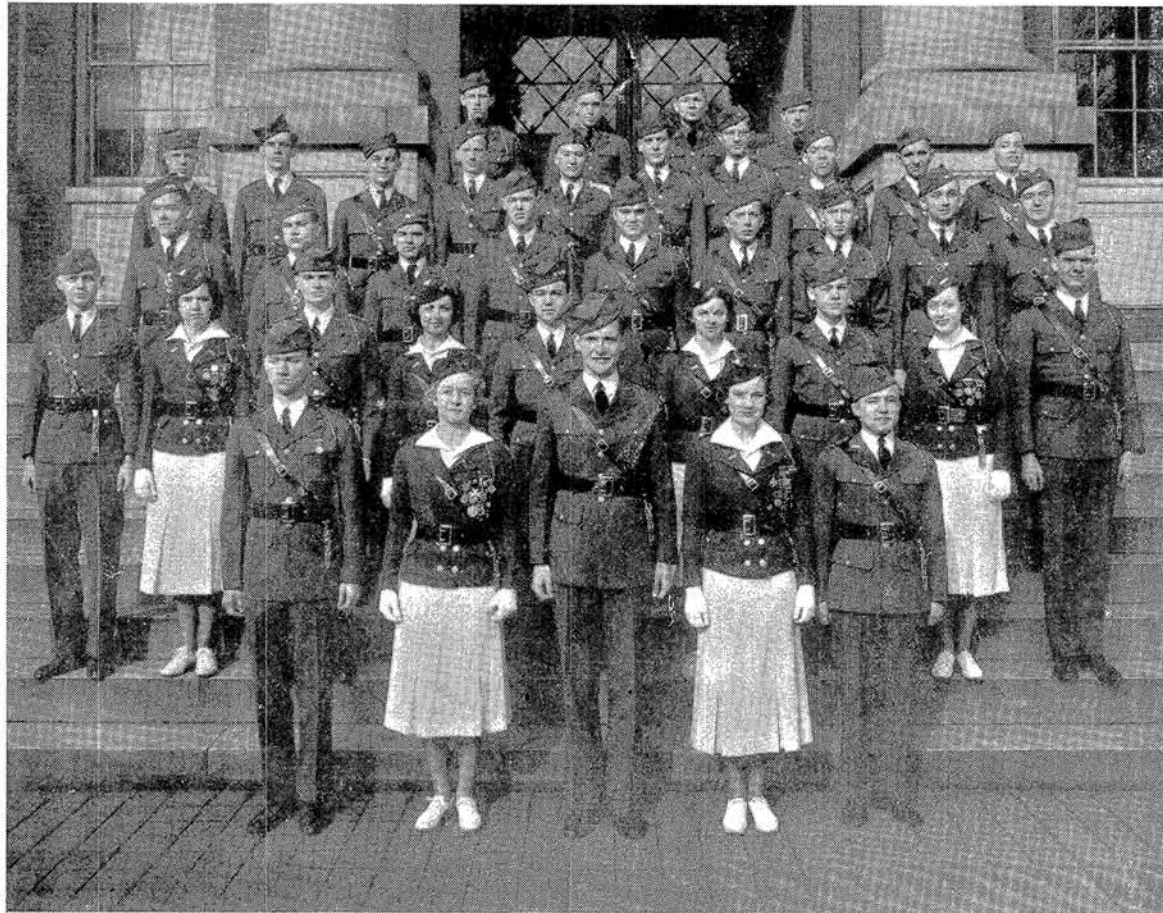

With the coming of school again, a committee was selected to map out a complete schedule of hikes for the club for the next twelve months. Joel Anderson was elected president, and plans were made to have an outside speaker for every meeting. At the beginning of school the membership was almost doubled. Many hikes were made during the fall.

As a special attraction, a holiday trip was planned during the Christmas holidays to Alum Cave Bluffs on the side of Mt. LeConte.

Hikes scheduled for 1938 follow: January: Indian Gap via Sugarlands; February: Rich Mountain; March: Heintooga Bald (the Mt. LeConte of North Carolina); April: Gregory and Parsons Bald; May: Mt. LeConte.

Forum Club Stresses Speaking And Current Events In Talks

Debate Team Developed and Tryouts Held for Big Six Competition.

Forum club of Knoxville high school concluded its work for the semester with tryouts for the Big Six contest. The Big Six is a meet held each spring at the University of Tennessee for competition in the various types of public speaking.

The Forum has a two-fold program of training in public speaking, and the open discussion of present day events. So far this year the latter has been stressed. Public speaking will be taken up more in detail next semester following the Big Six tryouts.

One of the chief activities of the Forum is the developing of a debate team. For several years the club has been responsible for this school's representation in debating.

The Forum has had two socials this semester, a weiner-roast, and a party. The club also presented a skit in Joyland.

Forum officers are: Llewellyn Queener, president; Bob Sterchi, vice-president; Mable McNeese, secretary; Eddie Gilmore, social chairman; and Lambreth Phifer, radio chairman.

C. S. Montgomery and W. W. Frost are club advisers.

Trialgeo Society's Season Ends Well

Its membership having increased, the Trialgeo Society has ended a very good year, according to Miss Gladys Million and Eugene White, club adviser and president, respectively.

The society's purpose is to help increase interest in mathematics in the student body. The name, Trialgeo, was made from the words trigonometry, algebra, and geometry. Members are made up of students in the different branches of mathematics in school.

Games pertaining to mathematics are often played as part of the program. However, one must not necessarily have to be a good mathematics scholar to enjoy the programs, according to President Eugene White.

The officers for this term were: Eugene White, president; Ed Dougherty, vice-president; Geraldine Akard, secretary; Hugh Wilson, treasurer; Margaret Fuller, program chairman.

Frances Bailey is getting away from K. H. S. in more than one way. She's been seen with Bill Hayes from Karns high school.

Both Chapel Groups Hear Fine Talks

Booth, Bass, Hughes, Hamilton Among Term's Outstanding Speakers.

Several outstanding speakers have been presented during the term at upper and lower class chapels.

Charles Brandon Booth, Volunteers of America associate, spoke at a special upper class chapel on the subject of "Clean Living". W. A. Bass, state commissioner of education in Tennessee, spoke to upper class chapel.

Among the various speakers heard were: Dr. J. D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee; Curtis A. Gentry, vocational director of city schools; Dr. Raymond H. Hughes of Ithaca, New York; and Dr. W. W. Hamilton of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Navy Day was observed in chapel with an address by Dr. W. F. Blackard, pastor of Church Street Church, who related experiences in the United States Navy during the World War. Constitution Day, Judge A. E. Mitchell spoke and Major A. K. Kupfer of the American Legion spoke on Armistice day.

The K. H. S. band, orchestra, and glee club were featured at various times. At the end of the football season, a special football chapel was held. Mr. Edward Hamilton arranged a Christmas program featuring music.

Student Council Entertains Convention In Active Term

Ed Story, Nell Hall, Charlotte Tipton, and Joe Howard Lead Work.

EQUIPMENT PURCHASED

Pelton, Franklin, Davis, Caldwell, New Officers, Honored at Banquet.

Carrying out a full program including sponsorship of a national convention, the K. H. S. Student Council has had this fall a term of most satisfactory work under the direction of Ed Story, president; Nell Hall, vice-president; Charlotte Tipton, secretary; and Joe Howard, treasurer.

At the beginning of the school year, the council announced that it had made several important revisions in the point system. The R. O. T. C. sponsor's position was a starred office, and points were raised for class and R. O. T. C. officers. A student may hold only one starred office at a time.

The climax of the fall's work came October 14, 15, and 16, when the Student Council played host to 232 delegates of the Southern Association of Student Government Convention. Fifty-one schools from twelve states were represented. Ed Story, president of the council, held the office of secretary-treasurer of the S. A. S. G. and Nell Hall, vice-president of the council, served as hostess to the convention.

After the convention, council work was resumed as usual. New equipment including a storage cabinet and a typewriter was purchased for the council room, and eight hundred copies of the Lost and Found Bulletin and Student Council Constitution have been published. During the last six weeks, the council published the Student Council News containing items of interest about its members.

The concluding event of the council was the semi-annual banquet complimenting the outgoing and incoming officers held January 7, at the S. & W. cafeteria. Stewart Pelton, next term's president, was awarded the Honor Member Pin for his work as chairman of the Monitor department. An honor certificate for distinguished alumni work was presented to Donald Cooley. Dr. Harry Clark and Rev. B. B. Lavender were speakers.

Out of eighty-five candidates, twenty members have been elected to serve on the council next term. They will be installed at an installation service on January 23. The new officers to be installed are Stewart Pelton, president; Eugenia Franklin, vice-president; Mary Nell Davis, secretary; and Jack Caldwell, treasurer. Miss Helen E. Galbreath is adviser of the Student Council.

Joel Whitten, that modest fellow who never brags, seems to have lost his girl friend to John Conner.

COUNCIL HEADS

Nell Hall, vice-president, and Ed Story, president, respectively, have headed the Student Council for the past term. Under their leadership, the Council has upheld its high standing among secondary schools.

Junior Red Cross Does Welfare Work

Thanksgiving, Christmas, Baskets Given.

Ending a busy term, the Knoxville high school chapter of the Junior Red Cross of America may safely feel that they have accomplished something worthy of the organization.

At Thanksgiving, well over one hundred baskets were passed to the poor and needy of Knoxville. Each group prepared at least one basket and many two. The Red Cross then took over the task of distributing them.

One hundred and twenty dolls were given to the girls of Pickle Nursery, Beaumont and Mynderse schools. The boys of these schools were presented with one hundred and eight toy automobiles and one hundred and eight pairs of stockings. The girls of Knoxville high dressed the dolls. All stockings were donated by the Holston manufacturing company and the Ashe hosiery mills. Three prizes were presented to the Knoxville girls for the best dressed dolls.

Eleven baskets were distributed at Christmas. These baskets were donated by the T. N. T., Yatta, and Ganque clubs of the school and Mrs. Johnson's group.

Two hundred and thirty Christmas cards were made. These were distributed by the local chapter of the American Red Cross to various hospitals.

STUDENTS MANIFEST INTEREST IN FLYING

More interest than ever before has been manifested by the boys at Knoxville high school in aeronautics. Three boys, Henry Bowling, J. W. Henderlight, and Charles Hickman have completed their solo flights.

Instruction for these flights were given at the Island Airport. John Crews and Ed Manning have had some instruction in the air.

Book Exchange Climaxes P. T. A. Work Of Term

Mrs. H. D. Blakely Leads As President; Many New Members Enrolled.

Following their annual custom, the Knoxville high school Parent Teacher Association held a book exchange in the gymnasium during the first days of school.

Mrs. H. D. Blakely, Black Oak Ridge, was elected president of the P. T. A. on September 14, 1937, to fill a vacancy left by the former president, Mrs. Gordon Powers, who resigned. The other officers who are serving this term are: Mrs. George Caldwell, first vice-president; C. S. Montgomery, second vice-president; Mrs. Charles Gale, recording secretary; Mrs. T. T. Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roy Freels, treasurer; Miss Mary Ellen Champe, auditor.

The chairmen of the P. T. A. committees are: adult education, Mrs. Frank Kerr; citizenship and legislation, Mrs. Geneva Humphrey; Mrs. Walter R. Bradley is in charge of health; Mrs. L. C. Abel has charge of hospitality; Juneville protection, Mrs. LeRoy McMullen; membership, Mrs. J. Gordon Powers; Mrs. W. F. Dickey has charge of publication; public records, Mrs. M. L. Black; Mrs. George A. Armstrong is in charge of welfare; social chairman, Mrs. Roy T. Sheridan.

The association enrolled one hundred new members at the annual mixer tea, October 20. Over three hundred guests were present. The drive for members was started in September, and continued until the first of December.

W. A. Bass, State Commissioner of Education of Tennessee, was guest speaker at an "Educational Rally" on Wednesday evening, November 12, in the K. H. S. auditorium.

School To Continue Assembly Programs

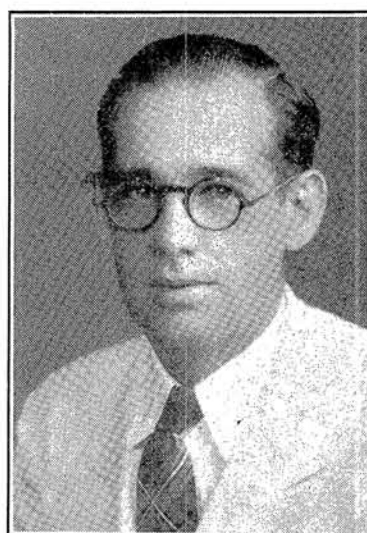

Northwest Assembly programs, produced by the National Program Service, have been presented at intervals during the past term. There are six of these presentations, three of which have already been given.

Jaunita McComb, naturalist; Geraldine Westaby, world traveler; and the Davies Light Opera Company, have already been presented. Those to follow are Bob Bowman, M. Van Rees, and Winds over the Atlantic.

Northwest Assembly programs are given in the auditorium at two o'clock. Five cents for each of the six performances will be the price of a season ticket. A fee of ten cents will be charged for tickets to an individual performance.

Blue And White Concludes Term With Senior Edition

'38A ADVISER

Graduating class adviser is Elvin Bryant, history instructor.

Fellowship Club Has Season Of Service

Club Hears Religious Talks; Aids Needy.

One of the school's Christian organizations is the Student Fellowship club. The purpose of this group is to serve in a two-fold capacity, that is, in religious training and social service. This year the club has had Reverend O. E. Turner, Reverend W. M. Grogan, and Billy Norris as guest speakers. Their lectures covered such topics as Christian character, the development of pleasant personalities, and the relation of modern science to the Bible. Virginia Hussey, Charles Egbert, and Llewellyn Queener took part in the all-student programs.

In its social service work the Fellowship club has given two baskets at Thanksgiving and supplied two families with food and clothing during the Christmas season. The club has also helped a needy student by furnishing that pupil with car tokens for some time.

Officers of the last semester are: Nadine Wilson, president; Bill Wright, vice-president; Della Mae Bailey, secretary; Charlotte Wilson, vice-secretary and treasurer; and June Ward, pianist.

Hugh Wilson and another boy think a lot of a girl in Chattanooga named Mary Simms.

Gaynelle Simpson is receiving fan mail from an Alabamian.

Susan Buchanan is worried about the girl Jay is running around with at Davidson.

Editor Gillenwater and Business Manager Millen Produce Last Paper.

E. A. HANCOCK, ADVISER

Paper Sends Delegates to Two Conventions; Joins Another Association.

Ending a successful term, the Blue and White with Wilfred Gillenwater as editor and Richard Millen as business manager, publishes its final senior edition today. Mr. E. A. Hancock is the new adviser who took over the paper when Miss Emma Becton resigned some months ago.

In October, the Blue and White joined the National Scholastic Press Association, being also affiliated with four other outstanding journalistic groups in the country; Southern Interscholastic Press Association, Mississippi Valley Association, Quill and Scroll, and Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The following members of the staff are old members of the Quill and Scroll: Wilfred Gillenwater, Richard Millen, Helen Bales, Allen Bell, Sam Fincannon, Mary Ruth Bibb, and Geraldine Akard. Knoxville high has been a member of the society since it was organized in 1926.

Wilfred Gillenwater and Richard Millen represented the Blue and White at the N. S. P. A. convention in Des Moines, Iowa, on December 2, 3, 4, 1937.

Geraldine Akard, news editor, and Barbara Newman, reporter, attended the S. I. P. A. convention held in Lexington, Virginia, on October 29, 30.

The advertising solicitor, Richard Millen, and his assistant, Margaret Adkins have been the authors of ads describing the merchandise from several stores.

Through the courtesy of Eugene W. Street of the Tennessee Theatre, every Blue and White subscriber who paid up his subscription was eligible to win a pass when the names were pooled and a winning name was drawn each day.

The staff will have a banquet tonight at the S. & W. cafeteria with Mrs. Phillip N. Becton as the guest of honor. Mrs. Becton is the former Miss Emma Becton, adviser of the Blue and White last year. At this banquet the ten new Quill and Scroll members will be recognized. They are: Llewellyn Queener, Bernard Rubel, Gaynelle Simpson, Lythia Boling, Bill Browder, Patsy Curtis, Barbara Newman, Mary Woodward, Mary Renfro, and Mary Ruth Simpson.

Girls' Sports Are Varied

Physical Education Department Emphasizes Volleyball and Basketball.

The girls' physical education department of K. H. S. has had a very active term. Squad leaders were chosen at the beginning of the term and competition was started. Competition by squads included class inspection, class participation, team games and other class activities.

The squads lead by the following leaders have a ninety per cent or higher average for the term: Jewell Lady, Harriette Roberts, Juanita Coker, Ann Harvey, Dorothy Bishop, Mary Frances Dickey, Virginia Hunter, Julia Michaels, June Buhl, Ann Poore, Ruby Dal-lace, Aileen Sellers, and Louise Carr.

Besides squad competition a great number have participated in the other activities of the department, such as living the health rules daily, presenting dental certificates, medical examinations and walking. Points are also given those attending the swimming and tennis clubs. The swimming club is in charge of Miss Beatrice Mathers of the Y. M. C. A.

In addition to participating in these activities, credit is given to each participant toward the school emblem, school numeral, or the G. A. A. pin.

The volleyball and basketball tournaments are underway. There are approximately four hundred girls participating in these two tournaments.

One of the new features of the department this fall was the girls' drill unit, composed of one hundred and eighty girls. The girls gave a drill between halves of the Asheville and Newport, Kentucky, games, dressed in the school colors.

A triple posture test was also given to every girl in the department. The girls were graded on posture while walking, sitting, and standing.

Walter Sellers surely hates the idea of leaving all of these pretty girls in high school.

K. H. S. Football Team Loses 12 Men Before Next Season

By Guilford Glazier

As this is graduation time and about three hundred students are going to leave old K. H. S., we feel that a tribute is due those valiant boys who are graduating from the football team. These boys have struggled through the past season, undefeated and untied, plowing through a schedule that rewarded them possibly with the coveted title of National Champions. There will be many of last year's squad who will return next season to again see service under the Collins-Jones system, but the bulk and power of the 1937 team will say goodbye to high school football circles forever. Those graduating include the following: Johnny Butler, All-Southern back for two consecutive years, Willis Tucker, tackle and star track man, Larry Partridge, end and California's gift to the Trojans, Walter Gaines, star end basketball man hailing from the big town of Endicott, New York, Park Standridge, tackle and outstanding lineman, Joe Billig, tackle and candidate for Knoxville's heavyweight football title, Marvin Sink, center and basketball player, Ralph Stair, tackle and basketball man, Tony Carper, outstanding backfield man and running mate to Butler, J. T. Manning, backfield man, J. C. Ragain, backfield man, Elvis Wade, backfield man and basketball player, Pip Clendennon, outstanding reserve back.

This column wishes the above all the luck in the world and hopes that they will gain greater laurels in the great American game of football, and that whenever we may be of assistance to them they will look to us.

Band Aids Team

As long as we're handing out tributes, we feel that one of the greatest organizations in Knoxville and also the backbone of K. H. S. football should receive their share. The Knoxville high school band, the noisemakers of Trojan football games, well deserve any commendation which we may be able to give. They are the boys that would always go marching through town the day before the game and play their heads off to get a crowd out to Smithson Stadium. Rain or shine they would turn out when asked to by officials and practice everyday in preparation for this. Their leader, William Crouch, who has been at K. H. S. for many years is always faithfully on the spot although he has suffered from severe sickness. He has undauntedly turned out every time. Mr. Crouch along with his boys has gained the praise of everyone that has heard their music.

Collins Comes Home

That outstanding coach of the football field, Wilson Collins, who brought fame to Knoxville high school not only with a string of undefeated teams, but also by officiating at the annual Rose Bowl game, is back from Pasadena, California, with Mrs. Collins. He is sporting one of those bright California smiles for everyone who asks him about the game. Yours truly was fortunate enough to get a glimpse of him in the news reel and from all appearances he must have had his hands full while watching the Bears trim the Crimson Tide. Coach Collins is now recognized as one of the best officials in the country as well as one of the best coaches.

CARPER LEAVES

Tony Carper, brilliant backfield ace for the Knoxville high school football squad, will don cap and gown instead of the familiar blue and white jersey next week and with some seniors end his eventful high school career.

The Trojan star is unexcelled in good sportsmanship, both on and off the gridiron, as well as in ball-carrying ability. He is twenty-one and has attended classes at K. H. S. for three years. He is undecided as to what he will do after graduation.

Team Wins Game In Jefferson City

Knoxville high's Trojan basketball team traveled to Jefferson City last Friday night to defeat the Jefferson City high 'A' and 'B' teams in two hardfought games. The Trojan varsity took the Jefferson City varsity by an overwhelming score of 52-20. In a fast preliminary, the Trojan 'B's' smothered the opposing 'B' by a score of 29-16.

Team Plans Many Games

Full Schedule Listed Including Home Games and Trips.

Assistant basketball coach Buford Bible has announced the basketball schedule for the 1938 season.

The basketball team is to leave this afternoon to begin a two day road trip that will take them first to Kingsport to play Coach Leroy Sprankle's Kingsport high team. From Kingsport they will drive to Bristol to play the Bristol high quintet. Incidentally the Bristol aggregation are State champions, having won the title last year. Another road trip next week will take the team to Morristown, Cleveland (Bradley high), and Chattanooga, to play Chattanooga Central.

The complete schedule is as follows:

- Jan. 14—Kingsport, there.
- Jan. 15—Bristol, there.
- Jan. 18—Morristown, there.
- Jan. 20—Bradley, there.
- Jan. 21—Chatt. Central, there.
- Jan. 26—Chatt. Central, here.
- Feb. 3—Bradley, here.
- Feb. 8—Jefferson City, here.
- Feb. 10—Maryville, there.
- Feb. 15—Morristown, here.
- Feb. 16—U. T. Freshmen, here.
- Feb. 18—Bristol, here.
- Feb. 21—Alcoa, there.
- Feb. 24—Everetts, there.
- Feb. 25—Everetts, here.

This was the first game that Coach Bible's boys had played since the holidays.

Society and Clubs

By PATSY CURTIS

NATIONAL Honor Society gave a banquet Monday night at the Regas Cafe. Richard Millen, retiring president, acted as toastmaster and introduced the newly elected officers for the term. They are: Hugh Wilson, president; Mary Woodward, vice-president; Margery Evans, secretary; and Patsy Curtis, treasurer; S. B. Parker, adviser of the society, introduced the guest speaker, Dean Massey of the University of Tennessee.

JUNIOR Girl Reserves will entertain with a backward dance tonight at the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium. Hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30, and there will be six no-breaks, including the special Junior Girl Reserve no-break. Dave Wright and his orchestra will play.

SENIOR Hi-Y elected their new officers of the club at their meeting Thursday night, January 6, at the Y. M. C. A. John McAmis is president; Hugh Wilson, vice-president; John Maerker, secretary; Ed Dougherty, treasurer.

SKETCH club met Wednesday, January 5. Following the general business discussion, officers were elected for the coming term. They are: Louise Mills, president; Tom Chandler, vice-president; Alice Richards, secretary; Frances Petree, treasurer. Howard Lane was announced as winner of this term's sketching contest.

RED Cross organization will have a skating party tonight at the Chilhowee skating rink at 7:30 p. m. All students are invited. Proceeds will be used to equip a first-aid room.

THE Senior Girl Reserve dance last Friday night at the high school gymnasium used one of the cleverest decorative effects of the year. Small silvered trees were placed around the room, and a large snowball was suspended from the center of the ceiling, with white icicle streamers leading from it. A white snow wall was placed in front of the orchestra; and a moving spotlight of changing colors flashed over the floor. Much credit is due Betty Baker, who had charge of the original decorating idea.

OPEN Forum held a meeting Friday, January 7, in C. S. Montgomery's room. The meeting was devoted to trials for the Big Six contest.

Flashes—From Border, and Coast to Coast—

The winner of the title "Miss United States of 1938" has just been announced. She is Felicia Parker of Tennessee who was quite popular in her high school days and still seems to be with the judges. The judges who bestowed the title were: Walter Sellers, Lowell Hill, Joe Howard, and Earl Clayton.

Hollywood got its biggest surprise of the season when its favorite glamor girl, Helen Chamberlain, eloped with her cameraman, Clayton Bolinger; the bride's mother swooned when informed, but Hollywood, used to such happenings, just laughed and wished them well.

Misses Sarah Frances Jones, Dortha Mankin, and Janet Martin, the three famous girls who swam the Atlantic, have just announced their engagements to the three Jones boys, comedy stars of Hollywood, whose real names are Sherman Starling, Claude Haws, and Ray Goolsby.

Miss Helen Moore is now touring the U. S. and Canada giving lectures on "How to keep from getting stuck at a dance".

— Oddities In the News —

Five years ago Clayton Naill of Knoxville was arrested by a cop for speeding. Yesterday Mr. Naill, now a cop himself, gave the former cop a ticket for blocking traffic.

And now through the courtesy of my television correspondents, Ed Story, Nadine Wilson, and

PLAY LEAD

Richard Millen, who will play the part of Pa Hinkle, leading role in "The Yankee King".

Louise Michaels we see Don Iddens, Herman Silva, and Joel Whitten, members of the president's cabinet.

Jack Easley, Betty Baker, and Wallace Read are all successful artists. The three of them have just completed a surrealist picture of something—they haven't made out yet what it is.

That will be all for now, but I remain your correspondent J. B. Wrinkle, who wishes, that if prophecies must be written, he could be the one to write them all.

Seniors, Forward March!

For three years you have slowly advanced, step by step, week by week. Now you are stepping out into a new world. Face forward and take advantage of your opportunities. By so doing you will take a rightful prominent place in your community.

Let us all be—

One who never turned his back but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held, we fall to rise, are baffled, to fight better,
Sleep to wake.
