S.C. Meet Is Next Spring In Knoxville

TASC Convention Plans Announced by Galbreath; 200 Delegates Expected For Meet April 27th, 28th

Plans for the Tennessee Association of Student Councils Convention were announced this week by James Lawell, council treasurer.

Between 150 and 200 delegates from schools all over Tennessee are expected to attend the meet on April 27-28. The convention theme has not yet been decided upon, but Council members are discussing possibilities.

Present council members will soon begin training new workers to assist with convention procedures next spring.

Will Spend Night

Delegates will be placed in student homes, and James expressed the desire that all Knoxville High School students cooperate with the council by inviting these visitors to be their guests during the twoday stay here. The sponsors will spend the night in one of Knoxville's hotels.

The last convention held at Knox High was in 1936, when the Southern Association of Student Councils met here

Plans Fairly Complete

"Plans for the program are fairly complete," said Miss Helen Galbreath, council sponsor. Registration will be held in the front hall, Friday from 9 until 2. At two o'clock the first general session will be held in the assembly hall, followed by discussions entered into by everyone in an effort to pool many different ideas. This helps each student council group sep-

At 6:30 Friday evening a banquet will be held in the cafeteria. Following the banquet, will be a square dance in the gym.

Opening the second day of the convention will be a breakfast for the sponsors at one of the uptown hotels. The morning will be taken up with more discussion groups, and at 11 o'clock the last complete session will start. At this final meeting last minute business and the election of new officers will be

KHS Is Secretary

Knox High's student council has one officer on this year's governing body. Nancy Davies is the TASC secretary. Other officers are from Clarksville High in Clarksville and Howard High in Nashville.

Letter Received by Santa

Dear Santa Claus,

We are writing this together because we have run out of notebook paper. Things like this happen when you have Mr. Sanders for English.

While on the subject of Mr. Sanders, could you find room in your bag for two A's? They will fit right into my stocking.

Two shirts in sizes 24 to 26 occupied by their owners, one blonde and the other brunette, would be quite desirable.

Fur coats would be nice, but, if not available, any other type of wearing apparel would be useful. Two ardent believers in Santa

What Happened To My Christmas Spirit?

Have you ever walked across the Gay Street bridge as I did, planning your Christmas list, appreciating in your heart the decorations in the store windows, and had your levely thoughts brought down to earth? This was my experience one afternoon. Coming toward me across the bridge is a little boy. He is a very little boy not more than five or six years old, and all of two and one-half feet tall. His expression is neither bitter nor hopeful.

In his eyes I see the listlessness and hopelessness of poverty. He is very warmly dressed in a pair of blue dungarees, three or four sizes too large for him, and a dirty blue sweater with holes in the elbows. There are two buttons

This child is in no particular hurry to get anywhere for possibly he has no place in particular to go. Surely he has a home somewhere, but I know what a pîtiful excuse for a home it is. It may be a basement apartment or a two room flat where one child more or less is of little consequence.

I turn around to look back at the unhappy little fellow and find that he has stopped and is watching me with no definite expression on his face. He is just watching me. My heart goes out to him at that moment. I wish that I had some money to give him. All I have in my pocket is one bus token and my English book. I wish that I could grab him up in my arms and take him home to my mother like a little stray kitten, and say, "He followed me home. Please let me keep him." But that's not practical. Nobody picks children up off the street and takes them home. He is just one of the millions of poor in this world. My heart aches for him, but that's all the further

Dutch Teen-Ager Thanks Knox High

The following letter was received from Maria A. Mietsemahiens, a Dutch teen-ager, thanking students for the $15 monthly allowance which she receives from KHS. Maria is one of Knoxville High's war orphans.

Dear Foster Parents,

I first want to thank you for the fine Christmas gift you sent me. I needed a coat very much, for that other one was too small. I learn to sew in school, then my mother does not need to spend so much money; besides she has not much time, for we have a piece of land, and we have to look after it. We grow potatoes there. Yes, they cost 12c here. We live near the German border. Sunday the boys played football. One broke his leg, got an infection afterwards, and died! How are you all?

Here all is the same. I'll finish now. Merry Christmas to you from all of us, but especially from your Foster Child,

Maria

Any May Enter Writing Contest

All students enrolled in school between grades 7 and 12 are eligible to enter the Scholastic Writing Contest.

For more than 27 years this nation-wide contest has been conducted by Scholastic Magazine.

Cash Awards, Honorable Mention Certificates, and Certificates of Commendation are awarded to winners in the national program.

Field Is Broad

There are many classifications into which student entries might fit. Eleven different story types are represented in the contest. These are as follows: short stories, essays, poetry, reviews, humorous stories, autobiographical sketches, general articles, literary articles, historical articles, current affairs reports, radio scripts.

There is also a journalism section in the competition sponsored by the Quill and Scroll honorary society in which six classes of newspaper stories may be entered. They are as follows: news stories, feature stories, editorials, sports writing, interviews, columns.

Any student wishing to enter these contests can receive additional information from the Blue and White Room (233) during either fifth or sixth period.

Mrs. Ward Will Not Return

Mrs. Ward, the assistant librarian of KHS, will not be returning here after the Christmas holidays.

Lost Articles Given To Poor

By A. D.

A little more Christmas cheer will be noted in Knoxville this holiday season as a result of a move made by the lost and found department of the Student Council. Contributes Gifts

This department decided to contribute all useable unclaimed articles to the Volunteers of America for distribution to the poor at Christmas. Anything left and not claimed before November 23 was washed, reconditioned, and given to this cause. Unclaimed scarfs, jewelry, fountain pens, umbrellas, and gloves were among the gifts prepared. These things have accumulated in the Lost and Found department since last spring.

The Student Council was planning a sale of these articles, but decided to act in favor of the real Christmas spirit instead.

Seniors Offered 36 Scholarships

Students have expressed a desire to know more about scholarships to universities. For seniors it is an immediate problem. They wish to know if they are eligible to receive scholarships and how much the scholarships are worth. The following list will answer many such questions. Each scholarship is listed in this order: Name of school, location, approximate amount of scholarships, and latest date scholarship applications will be accepted. ## '51 Speakers Are Chosen By Teachers

Robinson, Frazier, Clark, Frerking, High Winners; Christenberry, Massengill, Sawyer, Campbell, Seconds

Four principal speakers and four alternates were chosen on Tuesday, December 12, to speak on the comgraduating class of Knoxville High School—the class of 1951. The judges were faculty members who have senior classes.

Winners of the four main places or chief speakers are: Wesley Frazier, Phil Robinson, Marilyn Clark, Mary Frerking.

Alternate speakers are the four students who were considered the most outstanding among the speakers after the first four, considered best, were selected. Bill Christenberry, Jimmy Massengill, Norma Sawyer, Charlene Campbell won these places.

Other Entrants

Twenty-seven other students tried out as speakers with hopes of winning a berth on the commencement program. Phil Durand, Glenn Privette, Shields Remine, Don Pease, Chester Phillips, Cameron Brackney, Glenn Thompson, R. N. Bullard, Patsy Payne, Sallye Block, Audrey DeVoe, Mary Moore, Myra Corkland, Polly Powers, Ann Chandler, Mary Kelly, Phyllis Rogers, Bobby Thompson, Carolyn Clark, Dorothy Neblett, Gerry Griffin, Barbara Burros, Barbara Smith, Harriet Kelso. Jones, Burney Parrott, and Barbara Brubaker were try-outs in a close contest.

Judges Pleased

Senior class adviser, M. H. Sanders, commented on the excellence of the general ability of the speakers. More than one ballot was taken on most places in order to win a majority, so close was the race for these coveted honors. All were complimented by the judges, and congratulated on their enterprise, ability, and poise in working diligently to prepare themselves.

Basis of Selection

Students were rated on a sheet prepared for the speaking contest. The grading covered the speaker's stage presence, his record in research work since the commencement speakers do much in research, general ability in analyzing a subject, his interpretation of the "Gettysburg Address," and, of course, the voice necessarily was considered.

Winners Accomplish Much

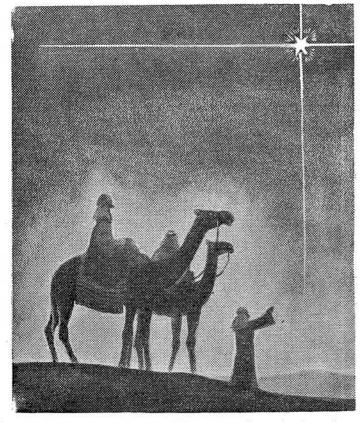

Wesley Frazier was a junior class officer and during his senior year he has been serving as Major in the ROTC, as well as being president of the National Honor Society.

BE A SERIOUS THINKER

Are you a serious thinker? Are you a dippy-dab sort of person who never thinks? But maybe, you're the person who doesn't know what serious thinking really is. To me, the serious-minded person is the person who is thinking about his future, formulating plans for the way he is going to live his life, and he is certainly one who thinks of others.

It is time for some of us, especially seniors, to stop acting like children. We're no longer in our adolescence. We no longer have our parents with us at all times to tell us to stop showing off. Grow up. Become mature. Time's a'wasting.

It is true that today high school students are much more mature than they were 20 years ago. I don't mean that we shouldn't have fun, neither do I think we should try to get too far ahead of our high school level. It is obeying the school's rules, our conduct at performances, and our common sense in knowing when not to be mischievous little children that counts.

Some of us are so wrapped up in ourselves that we never think of others and the things going on about us. With the world situation as it is, and with Christmas nearing, nowespecially, we should think of others. Do something for somebody—the serious thinker will! Come on, let's grow up, team up, join hands, and make it a Merry Christmas for everyone!

WHO'S

By Byrd and Searle

PHILLIP ROBINSON

The first Lieutenant "hogging" the floor at the ROTC hop was 'Jitterbugging Phil" of Company D, who is also publicity chairman of the senior class, a member of the National Honor Society, and a former Junior Cheerleader.

Data on Phil obtained from the FBI reads as follows: Height, 6 ft., (hair 1 ft.), weight: 150 lbs. (body-75 lbs., head-75 lbs.) Ambition: To make the senior mixer and other senior activities, (if not the publicity), the best. Pet peeve: Dirty rifles. Favorite dish: girls. Hobby: Writing poems (we use the word loosely) and playing the piano (his music is out of this world). Favorite color: Brunette.

Phil's favorite song is The Thing and he says "I know the inside dope-Phil Durand." His most desired Christmas present is an "A" from that man (?) in 234. As for sports, Phil enjoys the "rugged" ones-tennis, ping-pong, and chess. He also likes public speaking, debating, and he takes an active part in his history class and citizenship projects.

Be sure to be on the lookout for this character. He is armed with-"poisonallity."

MARY FRERKING

Sponsor of Company D, hailing from Joplin, Mo., is brown haired and hazel (nut) eyed, Mary Frerking. Mary is Miss 5 by 5, that is, 5 feet 5 inches tall (we won't reveal her weight). She moved from Joplin to Knoxville when only 120 months old but says that Knoxville seems more like home than Joplin.

Thumbing through the police records, we find that her pastimes are reading and being a page-at the Lawson-McGhee Library. She not only haunts libraries, but plays the horses, "The Thing," and the piano. She thinks "Thinking of You" and "I'll Always Love You" are tops. Regarding the color "spectacle" she likes green (for Company D).

What Mary wants for Christmas is what most girls want for Christmas, a big, slinky, grey Cadillac, with a male at the wheel. Her Christmas would be made even happier if she got a guarantee that Company D would turn out to be prize Company.

Merry Christmas, Mary! May Santa Claus bring you everything you have asked him for.

Then and Now

By Bill Searle

Thumbing through some 1933 B & W's, I found some of the school clubs and their Christmas activities.

In the December 15th issue, I found that the Torch Club was planning to send some baskets to needy families here in Knoxville. The Girl Reserves, a club correspoding to the Y-teens, were also planning to take the Christmas spirit to a needy family with toys, clothes, and a basket of food.

These projects, as I read about them, made me realize that now they could be every bit as workable as they were then. They make me think that some of our clubs today might follow the examples of those earlier KHS organizations and help some family to enjoy Christmas as Christmas is meant to be enjoyed by everyone.

Students Plan Yuletide Trips

High school students will be found gallavanting here, there, and yon during the Yuletide season.

Destination, Cotton Bowl: will be the terminus of the trip for Helen Baker, JoAnne Cagle, Ronnie and Fred Brackney, Bill Aycock who will also visit alumnus Tiny Aycock in San Antonio in the U. S. Air Force.

Others will be Florida bound-Judy Overholt, Jody Hodges will be in Ft. Lauderdale; Ann Chandler will be in Daytona.

Cartersville, Georgia, will be visited this week-end by Joyce Groseclose and Rose Butler.

"Old Broadway" Calls

New York will be the point of interest of Bobby Hutchins, Barbara Patton. Barbara with her family is expecting to see many good Broadway plays.

Nancy Temple will be visiting a friend in Kingsport.

The following boys are planning to be in Chattanooga for the Hi-Y convention: Ronnie Pearson, David Creasman, Knox Williams.

On December 24 to visit friends will be Bill Skallet wending his way to Chattanooga.

Myra Corkland will go with her family to visit her grandmother in Birmingham, Alabama, and St. Simons, Georgia.

Fry, Cruze, Hall, Are On All-E.T.

Sproul on the Prowl

Every year after each game the football team wins, a member of the starting team receives the ball used in that game. The players and the balls received are as follows: Rule-Bales; Elizabethton-Proffitt; Johnson City-Cruze; Stair-Brown; Oak Ridge-Monroe; Blue Ridge-Corneliussen; Kingsport - Hall; Morristown - Bingham; Manual - Goins; Central-Captain Fry. Eddie Taylor was supposed to have received the Young ball—the only game we lost. Dick Hatcher also got a Kingsport ball (the field was muddy and they used two balls).

Well, there were three KHS players on the All-East Tennessee first team. We just hope that at least two and maybe all three make the All-State first team. They have a very good chance.

Managers Eddie McMillan and Dick Parker have consented, "although it's very unusual," to give a quote about the future of the KHS basketball team. They very pessimistically sobbed, "Under our great management, with the help of a new coach, Buford Bible, the Trojans will go through the season undefeated, win all the tournaments, and, undoubtedly, be the best team in KHS history!" To which this new fellow, Bible, added, "You're dern tootin'."

Seriously, though, the Knox County basketball coaches have selected Knoxville High to be Second District Champions. None of the teams this year seem to be up to last year's par; and so the Trojans, although losing all of last year's starters except Fry, have been picked to win, KHS has much more depth this year with the first ten men of almost equal ability.

Dr. Lit. ended us up in seventh place in the State on the football list. They say that a genius (which is usually a mathematician) is so smart he finally goes nuts. All who think he already has, raise your hand. The vote is unanimous. We beat Central almost three times as bad as we were supposed to, and where are we? Seventh place, Ha!

Bill "Magnificent Mat Mauler" Arnold, local famed YMCA wrestler from Burlington (we claim anyone on the east side of high school) successfully defended his crown in the 121 lb. class in a recent match over a strong opponent, at O'Chloe, N. C. The mauler was quoted as saying, "My victory was due to my superior speed and my overpowering strength."

Bob Crittenden also won a decision over his opponent by 4 to 2. Clever leg wrestling was said to have given him the edge.

As a part of KS's complete sports program, a volleyball team will soon begin play in the Knox County League with other schools of Knoxville and vicinity at the YMCA.

"How did your horse happen to win the race?" a man asked the

Last Trojan Banquet Held

By Gary Adams

Although joy reigned supreme, a faint touch of sadness was noticeable on the part of everyone attending the last annual Knoxville High School Banquet.

The banquet, held Wednesday night, at the S&W, was the last ever to be held as there will be no Knoxville High next year.

Besides members of the squad were parents and dates of the Trojans, faculty members and members of the Board of Education. The press and radio also were

As soon as most of the guests had finished eating, Coach Jones introduced Mr. Leon Gouffon, former Trojan, who served as toastmaster. Mr. Gouffon in turn introduced the speakers who were Mr. Evans and Mr. Hoyle Campbell-the latter a member of the Knoxville Board of Education.

Next several of the outstanding players were recognized and said a few words to the guests. Everyone was happy that Capt. Bobby Fry had recovered sufficiently to be present at the banquet.

The coaches next took the spotlight and praised the boys for their spirit and determination. Each one agreed that this year's squad was the best he had coached.

Mr. Roberts Will Be Greatly Missed

By Searle and Templeton

One of the permanent "fixtures" of Knoxville High athletic interests passed away on Wednesday when Mr. Roberts, known to coaches and players, died.

Mr. Roberts was the well liked little man who lived in a trailer just under the stand of Evans-Collins Field. Mr. Roberts had not always lived under the stands, having moved there at the suggestion of Coach Sharp eight years ago when, due to varying circumstances, it seemed he did not know where to go. During this eight year period Mr. Roberts has been a sort of handy man and caretaker around the field.

A few weeks ago Mr. Roberts became ill and moved in his trailer to a lot on Glenwood where he could be near friends who might lend him a helping hand in case of need. But chronic asthma and a cold proved too much. Mr. Roberts died in the hospital from his illness. He will be greatly missed by the athletic folk of Knoxville

Fry, Satisfactory; To Return Monday

By Gary Adams

Captain "Country" Fry, who received a bruised spleen in the City-County game, is recovering rapidly and is expected to return to school on Monday. Since returning from the hospital, Bob, who won a berth on the All-East Tennessee Team, has been regaining strength and energy.

Three KHS Trojans On All-ET 1st Team; Corneliussen, Bales Make Coveted Squad

By Harvey Sproul

Captain Bobby Fry, Buddy Cruze, and John Hall, the boys who led Knoxville High School to one of its most successful football seasons in its last year, have made the Knoxville News-Sentinel's All-East Tennessee team.

KHS CagersSwat Carter Hornets

Center J. D. Byington, filling in ably for graduated Dick Creech, led the KHS Trojans on a scoring spree to down the Carter High Hornets 85-32.

Byington tallied 20 points, followed by Barry McKinnon with 13. Three Trojans, Captain Bill Hall, Pat Scruggs, and Kyle Testerman scored 10 points each.

Subs, Cruze, with 9 points, Monroe 5, Corneliussen 4, and, Neyland and Luttrell with 2 each, rounded out the scoring. The win was the second straight for the Biblemen.

The Trojans copped the "B" game too, 58-28. Neyland was high man with 14 points, Robinson a close second with 13, and Taylor third with 11. Ayres and Corneliussen each scored 8 points. Bayless added 4 to complete the 58 points.

Although handicapped by injuries and inexperience, the team seems to be rounding out nicely. The defense was more alert against Carter, and showed better style on

Tonight the Trojans will come up against their first real test of the season when they meet Catholic High. Catholic and KHS are both undefeated thus far.

Nine teams were represented in the All-East Tennessee with every team placing one man each except KHS, East Tennessee champions, who had three men on the team.

No Trojan back made the first team-something that hasn't happened since 1938 when the poll was organized. All KHS backs were good but none exceptionally out-

Fry Rates

Fry, who was injured in the Central game, was so outstanding from early season he was taken almost for granted for the all-E. T.

John Hall, regular guard for two years, played much varsity ball his first year at KHS. Probably the most dependable man on the squad, he is a deadly blocker but a much deadlier tackler.

Cruze, only a junior, was the best end in these parts and almost unanimously a choice for the All-E. T. team. An excellent pass defender, and fast down the field on punts, he was also a great receiver. Although sometimes inconsistent, he came through in the clutch to lead other Knoxville ends in total yardage by 300 yards.

Jay Sentell, three times All-E.T., was named captain of the team.

Carl Corneliussen and Charley Bales, both outstanding KHS backs, were named to the second and third teams, respectively. Almost all of the Trojans' first fifteen men were honorable mentions.

をいたりにりにりにうと 28 Eskimos Brave

Last Saturday morning, cold and snowy here in Knoxville, turned out to be exactly the same brand of weather in the mountains. But this did not daunt the twenty-eight hardy hikers who went on the first snowy hike of the '50-'51 hiking year to Rich Mountain Fire Tower. Since an open truck is cold, straw, blankets, and a tarpaulin were used to produce heat.

Gettin' Place Reached

Eventually the gettin' place was gotten to-turned out to be the front yard of a mountaineer's cabin. The hikers were greeted by the lady of the house. Just behind her was "dear husband" with a shotgun-a scene right out of "Ma and Pat Kettle."

The trail was straight up, and the only way that the "ankle-anglers" could get to the top was to follow their noses.

Evelyn Epperson and the Reverend T. Edward Nelson (hiking club jokes) were on top first. Evelyn's lunch had not arrived so, in a huff, she climbed to the top of the Fire Tower where she was at once enveloped in a cloud-much to everyone's joy. In the meantime the Reverend hung a three foot thermometer on a tree to ascertian the temperature. Pretty soon Evelyn's lunch came ambling in so, having nothing to "belly-ache" about, she stuffed herself full of Christmas goodies including decaked fruit cake, lacerated sandwiches, and frozen vapor.

All Reach Top

Everyone eventually arrived on top - everyone except Lela Cross and Eugene Hocutt. They turned back to the trucks early.

The trip down was uneventfuleveryone slid down and thus was thoroughly soaked. Lela and Evelyn burned up all the straw that had been in the trucks to keep themselves warm.

Intense Ideals Unleashed at Xmas

Our most intense ideals are always unleashed at the Yule season. We also have lighter thoughts as to who the joyous old Santa might be; and then we turn back to wondering just why material presents are given on our Lord's birthday.

We can answer our own musings for each knows the true meaning of Christmas as surely as he knows that he hopes for snow on December 25th, and as certainly as he looks for his presents on Christmas morning. Yet, probably we do not know just how the most sacred day of the year has become associated with material thoughts and deeds.

A little school boy was asked to name the four seasons. He replied, Spring, Summer, Fall, and Christmas are the four seasons of the year."

Christmas undoubtedly brings to many an opportunity to have great fun.

The greatest opportunity brought by the Yule season is the time it allows for all to praise the Creator.

Fashion Flashes

By Judy Overholt

This week we'll start off Fashion Flashes saying that the people in the choir who were dressed up to sing at "Ossoli" surely looked mighty nice. The boys had rather "outstanding" ties—Harry Spears' red and white polka-dot one, and Earl Street's red one.

People

Now for other people and clothes walking around the halls: Nancy Brice's sea blue (I still think it's sort of aqua) cordurov dress trimmed with a white collar, and Maud Mooney Bruke's yellow angora (60%, mind you-she beat in in my head) sweater and yellow plaid skirt are two attractive out-

Boys

George Szabo's green shirt with a stripe of yellow is outstanding as he comes down the hall. Another "goof" roamin' around (can't think of his name) wore a bright red corduroy shirt that looked rather (?) good. And I mean it.

Birthday

I'll end this column with Janice Schubert's beautiful tan cashmere slip-over sweater. She reminds me she got it for her "sweet sixteenth" birthday. E. L. (don't ask me who he is) helped her pick it

That's all for now!
